Today

One Kind of Freedom
Columbus Day Once More
B. Franklin's Air Bath
San Francisco Opera

—By Arthur Brisbane—

MIAMI, FLA., Oct. 11—In this state, Florida, you may drive, an automobile legally without taking out a license and paying for the privilege of using your own car. Florida's strange theory is that if a man owns an automobile he has a right to drive it without anybody's permission

It is a pleasure to mention this, in a country where everything is taxed—house, income, personal property, real estate, profits, if you make any.

If politicians in the past had been as ingenious as those of today, you would require a license to push your baby carriage, a license plate for the baby carriage and a license for the baby.

Wednesday will be Columbus Day and the man who found this country and the Indians and provided a location for past prosperity and present depression will be discussed. Some investigators who give excellent reasons for their statement declare that Christopher Columbus was a Jew, and his uncle, also a Jew, helped him financially more than did Queen Isabella. He is supposed to have been one of the Jewish people driven from Spain into Italy by superstitious bigotry, who found it convenient to conceal their Jewish origin and thus escape persecution.

According to the learned Mr. Ripley, Columbus did not believe the earth was round. He thought it was shaped like a pear, and wrote his belief to Queen Isabella.

Possibly he thought it wise to avoid the "round" theory. In his day the church said the earth was flat, t. king literally the Bible statement that angels on the last day would stand on the four corners of the earth.

Moderns who question Columbus' Jewish origin should remember that the Semitic race in ancient days were great navigators. Phoenicians were the first to navigate out of sight of land, trusting to the stars to guide them, before Europe had the compass, and first to sail through the Straits of Gibraltar, out into the Atlantic to work the mines and capture yellow-haired slaves in the British Islands.

A letter written by Benjamin Franklin in 1768 reveals the interesting fact that the wisest of the early Americans believed in taking air baths. The "sun bath" had not yet arrived. "I find it agreeable to my constitution to bathe in cold air. I rise early and sit in my chamber, without any clothes whatever, for half an hour."

Franklin's remedy for insomnia was to have a second bed always ready and move to the second bed, to change the mental attitude in case of sleeplessness.

The statement published here and elsewhere, widely, that New York would have the only grand opera season this year, is mistaken.

On the 15th of this month, in San Francisco's civic center, a new four million dollar opera house will begin its first season.

The opera house, built as a memorial to the soldiers, is by far the finest in the country, and San Francisco and California mean to support it. Forty-five hundred subscribers, who tried to buy seats for the season, had their checks returned. "Everything sold out."

San Francisco deserves credit for refusing to let depression deprive citizens of good music, and for opening, at such a time as this, the most modern and most beautiful opera house in the world.

The Potsdam Tages Zeitung printed yesterday a passionate appeal to the former Crown Prince to take the reins of government and save the German Empire. The writer of the article, a Socialist, says only the Crown Prince can save the fatherland.

This is not much of a compliment to all the scientists and other able men of Germany.

Newspapers in the South print, large size, a photograph by the Associated Press showing President Hoover receiving in Washington a delegation of 150 colored men.

The delegation, pledging support of colored voters to the Republican party and expressing the hope that that party would "uphold the rights of the colored race," is led by Roscoe Conklin Simmons of Chicago.

Simmons, who started his political career under the late Mark Hanna, made a remarkably brilliant speech in the recent Republican convention, beginning with the statement that he had gone, the night before, to the tomb of Abraham Lincoln to find inspiration for his speech.

The picture, by the way, is NOT printed in the South with the intention of helping the Republican party.

Copyright, 1932, King Features Synd., Inc.

FOIL SOCIETY BABIES' KIDNAPERS

WEATHER
Partly cloudy and colder tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy and slightly colder; moderate to fresh west or northwest wind.
Sun rises, 5:52; sets, 5:09.

The American is the only Boston daily paper receiving Universal Service and International News Service dispatches, plus Associated Press.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

VOL. 29—No. 173 Published Daily by N. E. Newspaper Pub. Co. Entered as 2d Class Matter at Boston P. O. BOSTON, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1932 2 CENTS ZONE 3 CENTS

7 PM STOCKS SPORTS

Jobless Shot in Belfast Riot

Latest News Bulletins

TEN LEADING STOCKS CLOSE

New York, Oct. 11—Stocks closed slightly below the highs for the day with gains ranging from 1 to 5 points.

Stocks:	High.	Low.	Close.
American Can	49⅞	47½	49
American Telephone	104½	100⅝	103
Atchison	40⅞	37½	39½
Case	40⅞	37	39⅝
General Motors	13½	12½	13⅜
General Electric	16	14⅝	15½
Union Pacific	60⅝	57½	60
United Aircraft	23⅝	21½	23
U. S. Steel	36⅞	34⅜	36
Western Union	28⅜	25⅞	28

(Complete Financial News on Pages 18 and 19)

MRS. DWIGHT F. DAVIS DIES IN BERLIN

St. Louis, Oct. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Brooks Davis, wife of Dwight F. Davis, former Secretar of War and lately governor-general of the Philippines, died last night in Berlin, Germany. Mrs. Davis was Miss Helen Brooks of Boston before her marriage in 1905.

ELEVATED REFUNDING PLAN OPPOSED BY CITY

Refund of West End St. Railway Co. stock by trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway on a basis of 6½ per cent was opposed today before the state department of public utilities by Corporation Counsel Samuel Silverman of Boston. Silverman asserted the interest rate was too high.

FOUR GREATER BOSTON MEN HURT IN CRASH

Wallingford, Ct., Oct. 11 (AP)—Four Massachusetts men were hurt today in a motor truck collision in a heavy fog. They are T. Harold Moriarty of Jamaica Plain, Joseph Kaiser of Malden, William F. Simpson of Charlestown and his brother, Edward. Moriarty had stopped to wipe the windshield when Kaiser's truck crashed into it from the rear.

MEDFORD OFFICIAL MISSING

ATTY. LEARY VANISHES IN OUSTER

Schoolhouse Board Secretary "Lost in Market Crash and Ran Away," Says Wife

Picture on Page 2

John F. Leary, 35, an attorney acting as trustee of several estates and holding public office as secretary of the Medford Schoolhouse Building Commission, has been missing for two weeks, it was learned today.

His resignation from the schoolhouse commission has been demanded by Mayor Burke. His administration of one estate has been assailed in court and his wife told the Boston Evening American this afternoon that he had lost "other people's" money in the stock market and had fled "because he couldn't face the music."

FAMILY DESERTED

A petition filed in Middlesex probate court yesterday asks for an accounting and inventory in accordance with law, of his administration of the $120,000 estate of Mrs. Annie E. Crockett, formerly of Judson st., Malden. He also handled other estates.

His disappearance became known within 24 hours of the appearance of two other members of the schoolhouse building commission before the Middlesex county grand jury in connection with the affairs of the closed Medford Trust Co.

Leary left his wife and three children virtually destitute in their home, 35 Fellsway West, Medford, upon which a mortgage has been foreclosed.

No police action has been taken, but Police Chief Daniel Connors has issued orders that if a warrant for Leary is left with Medford authorities it be held for him.

Mrs. Leary said she had signed over everything in her own to help her husband out of his financial difficulties.

"COULDN'T FACE MUSIC"

"He said he wouldn't be here when it happened, and now it has happened he isn't here," she said. "He went away two weeks ago tomorrow. He said he couldn't face the music."

She held her six-months-old son Richard in her lap as she talked.

Continued on Page 2, Column 2.

WHAT 4000-FOOT DROP DOES TO PLANE

This is all that was left of a plane in which John R. Ryan, 22, of Brighton, fell into the harbor off Winthrop today. The flier dived 2000 feet to avoid a cloud, but went into a spin at 1000 feet. He was pulled to safety by a boatman as he was losing his grip on a flaming wing. Ryan was severely injured. Coast Guard boat is shown on scene and operations to salvage the plane were attempted. (Staff photos.)

Story on Page 2

NURSE ROUTS KIDNAPER IN TOPSFIELD

Maxwell Foster Home Is Under Armed Guard After Plot Fails; Man Flees as Babies Cry

Picture on Page 2

A daring attempt to kidnap two sleeping children of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Foster, Boston and North Shore society couple, in the same manner the Lindbergh baby was stolen—down a ladder from the nursery window—was revealed today.

The attempt was made at the Topsfield home of the Fosters and the cries of the children, who were awakened by the screaming of the ladder on the wall, foiled the plot.

A courageous nursemaid, Miss Alice McNab, encountered one of the kidnapers at the rear of the house a short time afterward and prevented a second attempt to gain access to the house.

HOUSE UNDER GUARD

The kidnaping attempt, occurring last Friday night, was revealed today only with discovery that private detectives were guarding the house, that grill work had been placed on the nursery windows and that Foster and male employes of the estate had taken out permits to carry revolvers.

Guards have also been placed now on the home of Bradley W. Palmer, millionaire lawyer and sportsman, who is an uncle of Mrs. Maxwell Foster. The Fosters' home is situated on a section of the Palmer estate and faces Asbury rd. on the Ipswich river.

The kidnapers, it was learned, obtained their ladder from the garage of the Palmer estate, and carrying it to the Foster house placed it against the wall under the nursery window.

MISS ENGLISH MAN

At that moment Miss McNab, sitting at the kitchen window sewing in the absence of the parents, heard the children crying. The younger child is 9 months and the other 2½ years.

The maid went immediately upstairs, quieted the children and watched until they fell asleep again. She did not look out the window.

After putting out the light in the nursery, she went downstairs and out to the rear porch to take in some washing. As she stepped out there was a sound of some heavy object falling into the shrubbery.

The man on the ladder had slid hastily to the ground and pulled the ladder after him, and the ladder fell against the bushes.

He came calmly around the corner of the house, however, and told her he was there on order of the caretaker to fix the lights. The girl was suspicious and ran into the nursery, slamming and bolting the door as he rushed after her.

She telephoned the caretaker, Ben Keith, who said he had sent no one to fix the lights. Search then revealed the ladder on the ground, with footprints leading to and from the side of the house, but the man and his companions, if he had any, were gone.

GETS GUN PERMITS.

The Fosters were dining at the home of society friends in Manchester and were immediately called home. After some deliberation, Foster called in private detectives, who in turn advised he quietly notified state police yesterday, when the gun permits were applied for.

Foster is a member of the law firm of Choate, Hall and Stuart of Boston and is a graduate of Yale, '23, and Harvard Law '26. Mrs. Foster is a Bryn Mawr graduate. Both are related to a number of society families in Boston and New York.

Mrs. Foster is the former Elizabeth Vincent of Greenwich, Ct. Her father is Dr. George E. Vincent, retired head of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Belfast Police Fire on Jobless Bread Rioters

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Oct. 11 (AP)—Police fired on a mob of 10,000 unemployed men and women today after having been stoned by the demonstrators, and five persons were sent to hospitals with bullet wounds.

The mob had stoned trolley cars, barricaded car lines, looted shops and seized a city bus after attacking the driver and forcing him to abandon the vehicle.

Scores of tram cars were stoned, the passengers lying on the floors for safety.

A lorry laden with stout was seized, and after quenching their thirst, the demonstrators smashed bottles in the streets. Stones, bottles and every kind of missile obtainable were used in the battle. After a shot had been fired from the crowd the police loaded their rifles and replied.

Reinforcements were hurried in armored cars to the scene of the worst outbreak. Many police found their truncheons useless and drew their revolvers, emptying them over the heads of the mob.

Two policemen, hit by stones, were sent to hospitals.

Two thousand police had been mobilized in anticipation of unemployment disorders. They struggled with the jobless men and women, who demanded additional government relief.

There were disturbances in several parts of the city where bricks were thrown and there was some hand-to-hand fighting.

The Ulster cabinet yesterday prohibited all meetings in connection with unemployment troubles and last night 700 extra policemen were drafted from the nearby towns.

They remained on duty all night, going into action several times to disperse open-air meetings at which unemployed had attempted to light bonfires.

Today's American

American Pattern .....Page 16
Beatrice Fairfax .....Page 16
Betty Alden's Society....Page 15
Births .....Page 21
Classified Ads .....Page 21
Claude Bowers .....Page 22
Collier's Corner .....Page 2
Crossword Puzzle .....Page 20
Daily True Story .....Page 18
Death Notices .....Page 21
Dr. Copeland's Advice....Page 15
Edgar Guest's Poem .....Page 22
Elsie Robinson .....Page 22
Exclusive Comics .....Page 20
Fashion News .....Page 17
Financial .....Pages 18, 19
Girl About Town .....Page 14
Goldberg Comic .....Page 9
Harriet Parsons' Column Page 11
Helen Rowland .....Page 18
Hole-in-One Contest.....Page 9
Magazine Features .....Page 16
"Mary Paish." (Serial)...Page 17
Martha Lee .....Page 7
News Tip Offer .....Page 13
O. O. McIntyre .....Page 12
Political Notes .....Page 4
Presidential Poll .....Page 21
R. E. Rogers Column.....Page 13
Radio News .....Page 10
Skippy Comic .....Page 13
Sobol's Broadway .....Page 10
Sports Column by Underwood, Corum and Conway .....Pages 8, 9, 10
Tad's Sports Cartoon....Page 10
Ted Cook's Cook-Coos....Page 20
Theater Movie News ....Page 11
Towne's Book News .....Page 15
Valentine (Serial).....Page 17

Jury Returns Arson Verdict in Salem Case

Salem, Oct. 11—After having the case 24 hours and 15 minutes, a jury in superior court today found Peter Vorilias guilty on charges of burning his home in Haythorn pl. and the contents of the house, with intent to defraud an insurance company. The jury disagreed in the case of his wife, Mrs. Sarah Vorilias.

Lady Beatty Wills $4,000,000 to Family

London, Oct. 11 (AP)—Countess Beatty, wife of Admiral Beatty and daughter of Marshall Field of Chicago, bequeathed $1,000,000 each in a will filed today to her husband, their two sons and to Arthur Lambert Field Tree, her son by a former marriage. She died in July.

Rain Soaks Boston; Fine Day Tomorrow

Boston was deluged by .1 of an inch of rain in 20 minutes this afternoon, but the weather man predicts sunshine for the holiday tomorrow, with the temperature a bit cooler.

The chill will start tonight and hold over for a day or two, according to the weather maps.

Schoolboy Football Cancelled by Rain

Rain this afternoon caused the postponement of the schoolboy football double header scheduled for Fenway park. Memorial had been billed to face South Boston and Hyde Park was carded against Brighton.

Insull Drew Salaries of Half Million a Year

BULLETIN

London, Oct. 11 (AP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens this evening said Samuel Insull, detained there pending extradition proceedings, had been set at liberty. The Greek judicial authorities, having examined the evidence in the case, decided that there was nothing to justify his further detention, the dispatch said.

Chicago, Oct. 11 (AP)—While Samuel Insull was under technical arrest in Athens, pending extradition in connection with indictments in Chicago for larceny and embezzlement, his former salary was discussed in federal court today.

His total pay was said to have been a half-million dollars a year. Now he is recipient of a pension of $21,000 annually from the three large companies of his interests that are still solvent.

Insull has said he lost his fortune of $100,000,000 when his holding companies were swamped. His former affluence evidently had made him a friend of the richest men in Europe, Sir Basil Zaharoff, for in one of the coded cables sent him during his exodus from France to Greece, he was advised to see Sir Basil if he "thought wise."

Disclosures of the salaries of Insull executives were made before U. S. District Judge Walter C. Lindley by Oliver E. CeCormick, vice president and treasurer of Middle West Utilities.

McCormick testified Insull received $50,000 a year as chairman of Middle-West

"I have been given to understand," McCormick said, "from the administration of his various corporations that Mr. Insull's salary aggregated close to half a million dollars."

He gave other executive salaries he knew: Harry Reid, president of National Electric Power Co., New York, $50,000; Martin Insull, president Middle-West Utilities, $100,000; Samuel Insull, Jr., vice-chairman, $10,000; Walter S. Wyman, Augusta, Me., president of New England Public Service Co., $34,000; Marshall Sampsell, former president of Central Illinois Public Service Co., $25,000; McCormick's own salary was $14,000.

NEW HAVEN TO PUT 1000 BACK

Full time work for at least six months will be provided for nearly 1000 workers at the Readville shops of the New Haven Railroad, it was learned today.

The New Haven road has decided to use all of the $700,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for repair work in Readville.

At present, 375 men are employed there three or four days a week. In addition to these, 400 more workers will be recalled about Nov. 1, and the entire force placed on full time.

Good News

— In the Day's News

(Further details elsewhere in this edition)

INCREASED activity in structural steel buying is announced.

SPOTTY improvement is reported in foundry operations.

NEW YORK factory employment shows a gain of about 40,000 workers in month.

TENNESSEE Eastman Corp. is sold up on yarn production for rest of year.

NEW ENGLAND consumption of electric power, one of the favored business indices, shows large gains.

The EVENING AMERICAN Will Not Be Published Wednesday Oct. 12 Columbus Day

Ether Maniac Excuse Frees Chelsea Driver

Julius Saltzman, 20, of Fifth st., Chelsea, offered a unique defense in Charlestown court for alleged violation of traffic rules. He said a duplicate of his driver's license had been obtained by William Pallin, Chelsea's "ether maniac," and that whoever violated traffic rules it was not he. He was found not guilty.

Pope Urges Drive on Birth Control

Vatican City Oct. 11 (AP)—Pope Pius today encouraged physicians to oppose birth control and propagate sexual morality, in a letter to the Archbishops of Florence in connection with the forthcoming convention of Catholic physicians.

J. H. Dillon, Noted Horseman, Is Dead

New Haven, Ct., Oct. 11 (AP)—John H. Dillon, 75, whose horses have competed for the last 40 years in Grand Circuit and Short Ship Circuit races, died last night after a short illness. In 1921 Dillon, well-to-do wholesale grocer won 23 major prizes in Grand Circuit meets. His widow and two children survive.

Cavalieri's Beauty Shop Robbed in Paris

Paris, Oct. 11 (AP)—The beauty shop of Mme. Lina Cavalieri, former opera singer, was held up and robbed last night by four men who set it afire and took $60.

ELY BOLTED BY SANTOSUOSSO

Atty. Alfred Santosuosso, of Boston, former state representative, bolted the Democratic party today in so far as the gubernatorial race is concerned, issuing the following statement:

"Although a lifelong Democrat and having always in the past ardently supported my party I feel it my duty to follow the sentiments of 30,000 Italian-American citizens by voting for a true American for Governor, William S. Youngman

"Not only did Gov. Ely completely ignore us in the more than 300 appointments made by him but he wilfully discriminated against us in two specific instances. It is now too late for Gov. Ely to redeem himself."

COOLIDGE TALKS ON 51 STATIONS

New York, Oct. 11 (INS)—Keen public interest was manifested today throughout the country in the speech Calvin Coolidge will deliver at Madison Square Gardn tonight in suppor of Prudent Hoover and the Republican campaign. It will be Coolidge's first national address since he left the White House in March, 1929.

Upward of 50,000 persons have applied for the 21,000 available seats. Police reserves will be on hand to see that order is maintained among the thousands unable to gain admission.

Coolidge's speech tonight is interpreted by Republican leaders as bringing the campaign to a turning point in the East. It is expected to furnish impetus to the G. O. P. campaign, which started later in the East than did the Democratic battle for votes.

In breaking his silence, Coolidge will have a nation-wide audience. His address is to be carried over a coast-to-coast radio hook-up of 51 stations. He will begin speaking at 8:45 p. m.

Balances and Receipts

Washington, Oct. 11 — Today's Treasury balance, $718,821,XXX. U. S. customs receipts, $6,880,170.

HOOVER AND ROOSEVELT OUT FOR JOBLESS VOTE

WILL DESCRIBE PLANS TO GIVE WORK TO NEEDY

President Speaks in Cleveland Saturday, Democratic Nominee on the Air on Thursday

By GEORGE E. HOLMES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Washington, Oct. 11 (INS)—The 12,000,000 unemployed and millions of others on part-time employment throughout the nation will hear this week what the rival presidential candidates propose to do for their relief the coming winter.

They will be treated to speeches by both Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Hoover on what the federal government can or should do with regard to social welfare and the problem of getting the worker back to work.

ROOSEVELT ON RADIO

Gov. Roosevelt's announcement in Albany that he would speak on the subject over a national radio hookup Thursday night followed a White House announcement of President Hoover's speech in Cleveland next Saturday night.

Mr. Hoover has chosen as the locale for his speech almost the center of the industrial part of the country, where unemployment is rampant and distress acute. To the east is the hard-hit manufacturing cities of Pennsylvania and New York; to the west the equally hard-hit cities like Detroit, the lesser manufacturing cities of Michigan, and Chicago; to the south lies the densely populated factory towns of Ohio.

The trip to Ohio represents at the same time the Republican high command's supreme bid for Ohio's support in the election four weeks from today.

Newspaper polls and straw votes have shown Gov. Roosevelt running about 2 to 1 ahead of Mr. Hoover throughout the state.

Gov. Roosevelt decided to present his relief program at this time because of declarations made by ten of the country's leading social welfare workers that present conditions are a menace to child health.

ROOSEVELT'S SPEECH

He is expected to discuss the question of larger federal appropriations for public works as a means of relieving unemployment and also the appropriation of federal funds for direct relief to the needy.

His speech will be delivered from the executive mansion in Albany, N. Y. He will go on the air at 10 p. m.

"Of course," he said, "a fellow can't cover a very wide field in 30 minutes, but I am going to do the best I can in that limited time."

On the same day, at noon, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith will make his entry into the present campaign. He will preside and speak at a luncheon meeting in the campaign on behalf of Lieut.-Gov. Lehman and M. William Bray, standard bearers of the Democratic party in New York State. Smith is honorary chairman of the Independent Citizens' Committe., for the election of Lehman and Bray.

Smith has not disclosed the number of speeches he plans to make in this and other states during the next five weeks. It is expected his itinerary will be announced soon.

PARTY ON ROCKS LOG MISSING

A bewhiskered "salty," who went 'round the world in 1907 with 2000 New England sailors, a police officer attached to the automobile department of police headquarters assumed slowly into the press room, today, a sad expression playing around the wrinkled corners of his eyes.

"Boys, I've gone and lost it—lost the log book. And now the boys are getting together for a banquet for that 25th celebration and dance on December 16."

Charles E. Cobb, better known as "Ty" Cobb, solicited help from the police headquarters scribes in locating the book, which contains the names and addresses of some 2000 New Englanders who made the trip. The book is the only record by which Cobb can reach the celebrants and call them together in meeting at City Council Chamber William H. Parker's home at 68 Bayswater st., East Boston.

Crisis Is Passed, Says Hugh Bancroft

Philadelphia, Oct. 11 (AP)—Touching briefly on economic conditions, Hugh Bancroft, owner of the Wall Street Journal, told members of a committee of 100 at luncheon today, that the worst, probability the patient has passed the crisis of his ailment, and in that sense recovery may be said to have begun."

The committee of 100, also called the "Millionaires Club," wealthy men who visit Miami, Fla., in winter, were the guests of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Philadelphia publisher, and Joseph E. Widener, Philadelphia capitalist.

Charity Bridge Planned

Plans for the charity bridge of the Dorchester Physicians' Wives Association, which takes place at the Copley Plaza Nov. 14, were formulated yesterday.

The Legs Have It

By FRANKLIN COLLIER

MINIATURE PHOTOS ON GIRLS' STOCKINGS TO LET THOSE BEHIND KNOW WHAT SHE LOOKS LIKE. THE LATEST.
EVENING WEAR.
WHO CARES?
BUT WHY IN SOME INSTANCES, SPOIL EVERY THING?
REAR VISION MIRROR EFFECT. MIGHT BE MORE ENLIGHTNING
FIRST THING WE KNOW THE GIRLS WILL BE DEVELOPING A NEW FORM OF WALK FOR MALES.
SOME MIGHT SHOW THE WHOLE FAMILY.
IT MIGHT BE USEFUL IN CASES OF AUTO ACCIDENTS.
IT WOULDN'T HELP MUCH IN OTTO'S CASE. HE LOOKS ABOUT THE SAME FROM ANY ANGLE
FOR THE MOTORISTS BEHIND JUST SO THEY WON'T MISS ANY IDEA OF THE DETAILS... PAINT LEGS ON TIRE COVER.

RHODE ISLAND G. O. P. AGAIN PICKS CASE

Nominated on First Ballot by Convention to Be Candidate to Succeed Himself

Providence, Oct. 11 (INS)—Gov. Norman S. Case was renominated today on the first ballot at the Republican state convention.

He received 251 votes against 33 for James G. Connally, Lieutenant-Governor, seeking the gubernatorial nomination. This is the Governor's 44th birthday.

Ex-Cong. Ambrose Kennedy of Woonsocket was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor. Others renominated, all present office-holders, were Atty. Gen. Benjamin M. McLaughlin, Treasurer George A. Clark and Secretary of State Ernest L. Sprague.

The state platform was silent on the soldiers' bonus, but cited state legislation for the benefit of veterans.

A prohibition repeal plank declared that the party in Rhode Island favored the constitutional prevention of the importation of intoxicating liquors into a state which may adopt a counting and/or enact laws prohibiting their sale.

The platform also recommends that the new Providence river bridge bond issue of $5,300,000 be approved by the voters this fall and opposes restriction of night work for women and children as a limitation upon opportunities of wage earners.

Al Smith Short of Brown Derbies

New York, Oct. 11—Something has caused a slump in the free crop of brown derbies that Alfred E. Smith garners every year, sent by admirers in many parts of the country. This year he got only three, and none of them fits.

He had to order one made for the Democratic state convention at Albany.

Lawyer Vanishes

Attorney John F. Leary, 35, secretary of the Medford Schoolhouse Building Commission, who is said by his wife to be a fugitive. His resignation had been demanded by Mayor Burke. Commission members have been called before the Middlesex grand jury. (Whitman photo.)

U. S. MEN TRAIL LOWELL RING

Federal secret service agents went to Lowell today to investigate what is believed to be another ring of counterfeiters operating in Lowell and vicinity.

The federal officers took action following the arrest yesterday of four boys, who were alleged to have attempted to pass counterfeit $10 bills.

Two men were arrested by Lowell police today, charged with having intercepted the boys as agents of the counterfeiters. The pair were late released, but will be seized again if federal officers wish to question them.

The boys are said to have been promised $4 for every bogus $10 bill they passed.

REED HITS FARM PROMISES BY HOOVER

Accuses President of Distorting Truth in His Speech in Des Moines

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 11—"The test of the reliability of a prophet is the way his prophecies have turned out."

Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri so declared in an address before an enthusiastic audience of farmers here last night asserting that President Hoover had failed that test.

LISTS FAILURES

With biting sarcasm, the former senator cited instances after instance of Hoover predictions which he asserted had never been fulfilled.

Reed said Hoover's statements on Gov. Roosevelt's tariff views was "a wilful perversion of the truth," and characterized the President's statement that the United States was nearly forced off the gold standard as "absolutely untrue."

"In his Des Moines speech and elsewhere in the campaign," Reed said, "Mr. Hoover told the people he now plans to restore prosperity and that these plans will certainly work. It will be observed, however, that none of them can be demonstrated until after the election.

"What we are asked to accept, therefore, is Mr. Hoover's prophecies as to the future.

"The test of the reliability of a prophet is the way his prophecies have turned out."

He also spoke of the recent $2,000,000,000 Insull Utilities collapse, blaming the administration for laxity in enforcing the anti-trust laws.

WARNINGS IGNORED

Reed recited a number of prophecies and promises of Mr. Hoover during the 1928 election campaign. Among them he said:

"Prophecy: San Francisco, July 27, 1928—'the outlook of the world today is for the greatest era of commercial expansion in history.'

"At that very moment as were in the wildest era of speculation and prudent men were sounding notes of warning.

"The fulfillment: October 24, 1928—New York Herald Tribune. 'Stocks off five billion in severest break of Wall Street history.' in the face of that calamity, Hoover again the next day prohesied:

"Prophecy: 'The fundamental business of the country, that is production and distribution of commodities, is on a sound and prosperous basis.'

"Fulfillment: November 13, 1928—New York Herald Tribune: 'Stocks crumble to lowest levels.'

"Surely the time has come when we should cease to place confidence in either the prohecies or the course of Mr. Hoover.

"His predictions have come to naught."

Lack of a Boat Costs Boy Life

Five-year-old Frank McKinnon, Jr., of 22 Richardson st., Woburn, was drowned in Horn Pond, Woburn, today.

If there had been a boat on the pond, or if Woburn police had had a boat, there is a possibility he might have been saved, but his body was not recovered for an hour after Patrolman William Foley had driven a truck to Winchester and borrowed a boat from a resident there.

The body was found a few minutes after the boat was put in the pond but resuscitation efforts were futile.

The boy fell from the pumping station dock while playing with Paul Kelley, about the same age, who notified a passerby. Firemen and police responded to the alarm but they could do nothing until the boat arrived, although the body was only 10 feet off the dock.

MEDFORD OFFICIAL GONE

Continued from First Page.

The other children, Junior, 9, and Catherine, 4, stood nearby, solemnly looking on.

"A few days before he went away he came to me," she said." "I knew something was wrong, although he never confided his business affairs to me. He told me he was in financial difficulty and that he was going away so as not to be around when it broke.

"He expected something to happen every minute. He packed a bag and left. I don't know where he has gone. I haven't a word from him since he left. And tomorrow is our wedding anniversary—our 11th wedding anniversary.

CRASHED IN MARKET

"We were getting on splendidly. He was playing the stock market, and when the crash came it crashed over his head as well. If only it had been all our money I wouldn't mind. But to have him take other people's money and lose that! It has all been a horrible nightmare.

"I gave him everything, signed over everything that was in my name to him, to help hi mout. But, now, everything is gone. I have one consolation. I know that I a minnocent of any wrong doing. If it weren't for my children, I don't know what would happen.

SHE URGED CAUTION

"If I had been the grasping, scheming kind of wife, urging my husband on and on to make money, loads of it, it would be different. But I am a thoughby domestic wife, contented with just a little—and to have this break! To have to listen to the insidious rumors and gossip of townspeople! But I am going to hold my chin up and keep my upper lip stiff.

"I am confident that where my husband is, he is all right and taking the best care of himself.

"For four years I have urged him to go more slowly, not to be so grasping after money. We were happy and getting on splendidly. But playing on margin, I guess, got to be a mania. I know of three Medford lawyers who are in difficulty and hot water because of their stock market speculations.

TAKES THEIR PHOTOS

"My husband kept me very much in the dark about his business affairs. I realize he didn't want to worry me or let me know of his actions. If I had put my foot down and refused him help in the first instances, maybe things might have been different.

"I am prepared for the worst, naturally. But I do want to know where he is. He may be headed New York. He has gone there before. But this time, I can't seem to find out anything about his disappearance.

"Two weeks ago tomorrow, I returned home and discovered that he had taken a packed bag, removed three pictures from the livingroom wall—pictures of me and the children—and had gone. That's the last I heard of him. And here I am with three children, a foreclosed house and no means of support."

Leary was appointed administrator of Mrs. Cremmens' estate in July, 1931, and bond of $20,000 was given by the Commercial Casualty Insurance Co.

The claim against him as administrator was filed by Thomas J. Porter, nephew and heir. There are 20 adults and two minor heirs.

MAYOR TAKES ACTION

William Porter, of 2 Tremont st., Charlestown, brother of Mrs. Cremmens, said he and her son, Sergt. Joseph Maraghy, of the Roxbury Crossing police station, had been seeking Leary for two weeks.

"Things didn't look just right," he said. "My sister died a year and a half ago and the estate should have been divided last July."

Mayor Burke announced that tonight he would report to the aldermen on his request to Leary to resign, but he gave no reason for his request. The request was taken to Leary's home by Special Officer James Kane of the Medford police, who, not finding the lawyer at home, left the mayor's letter with Mrs. Leary.

Leary was a trustee for several small estates and has law office in Salem st., near Stevens sq., in the east section of the city.

Crop Prospects Better

Washington, Oct. 11 — A slight improvement in general crop prospects during September was reported by the Department of Agriculture.

Kidnap Target

Mrs. Maxwell Foster of Topsfield, at whose home a daring plot to kidnap the two Foster children was foiled by a maid. Attorney and Mrs. Foster were away for the evening when a man scaled a ladder to the nursery window. The home now is under armed guard.

SUICIDE TALE IN TORTURE CASE

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 11 (INS)—A few minutes before the lifeless body of Arthur Maillefert was taken from its chain gibbet in the "sweatbox" of the Sunbeam chain gang camp he "signalled" to a fellow prisoner intentions to commit suicide, a witness testified in court today.

The disclosure came in the testimony of Herbert H. Schneider, alias Shorty Snider, who took the stand as the first defense witness in the murder trial of George W Courson and Solomon Higginbotham, prison camp officers.

Schneider was named yesterday by Bob Blake, head trusty of the Sunbeam camp, a state witness as one of the prisoners with whom he "framed" the suicide story after Courson asked his aid in clearing the warden of responsibility.

Blake testified:

"Harry Seider (Schneider) was going to testify, I told Courson, that Jersey (Maillefert) had motioned to him he was going to commit suicide that night. Snider was to say he didn't quite understand as the story went. Snider was to tell this to Dawson and Dawson was to rush and tell Courson, and Courson, opening the box, would find it was too late."

Smith Graduate to Wed Malden Man

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Chamberlain Holden of Swampscott, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Doris Margot Holden, to Willard Clarke Welsh of Malden and Marblehead. The wedding is to take place at Swampscott on Oct. 18.

Welsh is the son of Mr and Mrs. Willard Welsh of 60 Greenleaf st., Malden. Miss Holden was graduated from Smith College last June.

Foolish Canards That Bloom in This Fiery Campaign

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

People go' haywire as election time.

That is, not the people as a whole, but the candidates, their managers and those intimately concerned in their welfare.

They make extravagant claims, false statements and conspiracies to deceive the public, on whose good judgment and integrity they must finally rest their case.

As an example of this extravagance, a Republican meeting in Boston said solemnly the other day that, of course, the administrative and financial ability of the country were lodged solely in the Republican party.

Singularly enough, on the day it was published, a committee of distinguished citizens was meeting in New York to solve the depressing problems of the railroads of this nation, and Mr. Bernard Baruch and Mr. Alfred E. Smith, both Democrats, were members of this committee entrusted with this herculean task involving both administrative and financial genius.

The outstanding financial legislation of our time was the Federal Reserve Act. Without it the war might not have been won. Without it, the financial institutions of this country could not have withstood the depressions which have since existed, including the current one.

This act was passed by a Democratic Congress. Our people know that it was men like McAdoo, Glass, Owen of Oklahoma and Phelan of Massachusetts, who were identified with its passage and adoption. In fact, the Republicans opposed it. Even the late Senator Weeks of Massachusetts, a Republican and a banker, expressed the woeful prediction that the Federal Reserve Act would bring havoc and ruin to the country.

Of course, the most stupendous financing in the history of our country was the World War itself. Our war cost was once estimated to me by the late Herbert Lord when he was director of the national budget, at forty thousand millions of dollars. There has been nothing like it in size in all history. This was a war conducted in the name of the American people, and, without their loyal support, it could not have been successful, but the fact remains that it was conducted and financed by a Democratic administration. Which must receive the credit for its success, as it should have received the responsibility for its failure had it been unsuccessful.

The people read lately in the partisan press that the personnel of Democratic committees of the Democratic state committee was so constituted as to effect a deliberate affront to Mr. Alfred E. Smith and his friends in Massachusetts.

Such a statement of partisan design surely must have been without effect upon the thoughtful people of this state. In the first place the dominating figures in the convention were known to be Senator Walsh, Governor Ely, Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Democratic state committee and others who have been similarly zealous in their support of Mr. Smith. In the second place it was inaccurate because the committee happened to have been overwhelmingly Smith folk.

Instituted of men who have been adherents of Mr. Smith.

In the third place, if more were necessary, Mr. Smith happens to be supporting the Democratic national ticket and this was known to those who composed the resolutions committee. Mr. Smith said in his recent magazine article that the Republican party at Washington has utterly failed to solve the problems of the nation.

"The hope of the country," he wrote, "lies in Democratic success."

The motive of the numerous misrepresentations has been to separate and divide the Democratic party in this state. Another instance of this scheme was the published report that the Democratic state committee has decided to "snub" or "affront" Mayor Curley in the matter of registration of voters.

Our people who read the political developments and who keep them in mind must have recalled that Mayor Curley again demonstrated his willingness to promote the registration work just as he had done so vigorously four years ago, during the candidacy of Mr. Smith for President, when he instituted the most dynamic and successful registration within our time. Only a few weeks ago, Mayor Curley sent a check for $500 to the Democratic state committee for its registration work. The state committee promptly turned that check to the Democratic city committee, thereby encouraging it to establish its own headquarters and to engage in a registration campaign on its own responsibility, with the good wishes of the state organization.

These misrepresentations, so common at this time, are scant tribute to the intelligence of the public. They have the effect of the boomerang, because they come back to strike those who utter them.

Mrs. Shmokoluk Indicted for Theft

Mrs. Josephine Nee Shmokoluk, young Dorchester mother arrested recently in connection with larcenies aggregating $10,000 from department stores, was indicted today by the federal grand jury for tampering with the mails.

She is alleged to have stolen mail addressed to John P. and Adelaide M. Sylvester from a mail box at their home, 46 Carlton st., Brookline.

The jury, reconvening this morning after recessing Friday, made a partial report to Judge Lowell this afternoon, returning one secret and six public indictments.

There were three indictments in connection with counterfeiting activities. Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Tomasetti of 26 Vine st., Roxbury, whose home was raided Saturday night, were charged with possessing and passing spurious $10 notes. Harry Pappas of Brooklyn, recently arrested in the North End, was charged with passing $10 counterfeits.

GUY IN $100,000 SHUT BANK SUIT

A $100,000 suit was filed today in Suffolk Superior Court by Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy, in possession of the Revere Trust Company, against the Massachusetts Bonding & Mortgage Company.

The suit seeks to recover $50,000 from the mortgage company on the ground that a blanket bond for that amount was issued by it to the Revere Trust.

The bond was to cover "dishonest acts" that caused losses to the bank, the suit avers. Who committed any dishonest acts was not revealed in the paper.

Losses totaling $65,380.94 were named in the suit, one item being $60,974.

Frederick J. Muldoon of Washington st. is counsel for the bank commissioner.

Democrat Hurls Plot Charges at Moses

Concord, N. H., Oct. 11—Robert C. Murchie, chairman of the Democratic state committee, today charged a plot by Senator George H. Moses in promoting the candidacy of Dr. Joseph A. Coutremarsh of Lebanon for senator on the "Independent Dem cratic" ticket.

Coutremarsh was defeated in the primaries by former Governor Fred H. Brown, a Democrat. Coutremarsh filed a petition with 1200 signatures and his name was placed on the ballot as an independent candidate.

Murchie charged that many signatures were invalid.

He demanded a full investigation and the striking of Coutremarsh's name from the ballot.

"Bad Willie" Admits Holdup in Roxbury

William E. "Bad Willie" Gray, now serving a 20 to 30-year term in state prison, pleaded guilty today in Suffolk superior court to armed robbery, Judge Cox filed the charge and remanded Gray to prison.

Today's charge grew out of a stickup at 229 Warren st., Roxbury, on February 17, when Peshol Pano was robbed of $41 at gunpoint.

BREWSTER ASKS NEW RECOUNT

Augusta, Me., Oct. 11 (AP)—A muddle of political aftermath of the State election of September 12 was further confused today by a demand for a recount of ballots cast for United States Representative in the Third Maine District.

In a petition to the Governor and council last night, Ralph O. Brewster of Dexter, Republican, called for the ecount, charging "more than 1000 votes" were affected by "fraudulent practices, illegal acts and errors."

Brewster was defeated by John G. Utterback, Bangor Democrat, by 274 votes.

on the same day that Republican gubernatorial candidate Burleigh Martin of Augusta, defeated by Louis J. Brann, Democrat, Lewiston, petitioned the secretary of state for permission to inspect all ballots cast for governor.

Joseph E. F. Connolly, Democratic candidate for United States representative from the third district, who was defeated by 1756 votes by Rep. Carroll L. Beedy, announced he would petition for a recount.

Brewster attended the last meeting of the Governor and Council, at which Atty.-Gen. Clement F. Robinson declared his investigation revealed "irregularities," but "no serious crimes."

PEOPLE

Who Interest You and What They Are Doing

Mrs. Melvin Settles Suit Against Film Company

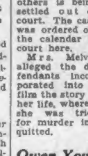
Los Angeles, Oct. 11—Mrs. Gabrielle Darley Melvin's $50,000 damage suit against Mrs. Dorothy Davenport Reid, widow of Wallace Reid, film star, the All-Star Features, Inc., and others is being settled out of court. The case was ordered off the calendar in court here.

Mrs. Melvin alleged the defendants incorporated into a film the story of her life, wherein she was tried for murder in 1915. She was acquitted.

Owen D. Young.

Owen Young's Daughter Is Mother of Baby Girl

New York, Oct. 11—Mrs. Josephine Case, wife of Everett N. Case, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen D. Young, gave birth to a daughter at the Polyclinic Hospital here.



Mrs. Case

Both mother and child were reported as progressing satisfactorily by Dr. Ross McPherson.

Mrs. Case, the only daughter of the internationally famous industrialist, was married in Van Hornesville, N. Y., on June 27 of last year. Her husband is the son of the chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

Dr. Einstein Accepts Teaching Post in U. S.

New York, Oct. 11—Albert Einstein, world famous scientist, is coming to this country as a professor of mathematics, it was announced.

Albert Einstein

He will be a member of the faculty of the Institute for Advanced Study, founded two years ago with a $5,000,000 endowment by Louis Bamberger.

Dr. Einstein is expected to resign his positions in Berlin to take up his duties. He will be assisted by Dr. Walter Veblen and Dr. L. P. Vanderslice of Princeton, near where the institute is located.

Old Fashioned NEW ENGLAND FOOD SHOW NOW OPEN MECHANICS BLDG.
10 A.M. to 10 P.M.
Free Gifts Every Day. Samples. Lectures. Demonstrations. Cooking Every Minute
Admission 25¢
PERSONAL DIRECTION CHESTER LAMPREE

YOUNGMAN CALLED "BANKERS' TOOL" IN QUINCY ROAD JOB

'POOR' ON $800 A MONTH

Seven-year-old John M. Coward, son of the late J. Mortimer Coward, New York and Boston shoe manufacturer. A court in Jersey City, N. J., allowed the boy $9,600 annually of his $90,000 annual income from his share in his father's estate.

Mrs. Audrey L. Carroll, widow of the late J. Mortimer Coward, whose plea for additional funds from the Coward estate was turned down.

$5000 BLAZE IN EVERETT

One fireman was injured and damage of $5,000 was caused to the three-story brick building on Chelsea st., Everett, when a fire broke early today resulting in two alarms and bringing additional help from Chelsea.

Hoseman James Dunn, of Engine 3, Everett, suffered cuts on the hands and body while fighting the flames.

LABOR LEADER ALSO FLAYS ADAMS

Council Votes to Reconsider Rejected Bid, but Ely Withdraws It

Lieutenant-Governor Youngman was accused today of having been "reached" by banking interests intent on having the bid of a Quincy contracting company accepted by the Governor's Council.

The charge was made by James T. Moriarty, State president of the American Federation of Labor.

Charles F. Adams, Secretary of the Navy, and Chester I. Campbell, member of the Governor's Council, were also charged by Moriarty with having interests in the awarding of the contract.

Moriarty's statement was made during a two-hour delay in the scheduled hearing of the Governor's Council on the rejected bid of the Eastern Contracting Co. of Quincy, for roadwork in Lakeville, Raynham and Taunton.

After the Council convened without the presence of Youngman, it voted 4 to 2 to reconsider the bid. But Gov. Ely, fearing that the Council, after its vote to reconsider, might award the contract to the Eastern Contracting Co., withdrew the bid.

Ely's action makes it necessary now to have a new contract submitted or new bids called for.

Those who voted in favor of reconsidering the bid were Councillors Campbell, Schuster, Fraser, and Mrs. Andrews, who formerly was opposed to it. Councillors Brennan and Cote were opposed.

REJECTED AFTER PROTESTS

The firm's bid was originally rejected following protests by the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor, who charged the firm was being hostile and unfair to both organizations.

"I have been informed," said Moriarty, "that Lieutenant-Governor Youngman, who originally voted to reject the bid, would purposely absent himself from the hearing today.

"Youngman knew that this meeting was going to be held, and I charge that he was kept away by the same banking interests which are seeking a reconsideration of the Quincy Contracting Company bid.

"I also charge that Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, sent a Mr. Bruce of the division of roads of the department of agriculture, to make a two-hour investigation of the Quincy firm after which he reported that company was not violating labor laws."

"Adams is tied up with the Quincy Trust Co. which holds a $50,000 mortgage on equipment of the Eastern Contracting Co.

"I also say that Chester I. Campbell, a member of the governor's council, is interested in having the contract awarded to the Eastern Contracting Co., as he is a vice president of the Quincy Trust Co."

YOUNGMAN AGAINST BID

When the bid was originally rejected, Councillors Youngman, Andrews, Cole and Brennan opposed acceptance while Councillors Campbell, Schuster and Fraser voted in favor of it.

Besides Moriarty, representatives of other labor organizations were represented, determined to oppose reconsideration of the bid.

James Rose, state commander of the American Legion, was present to voice the protests of veterans to whom the Quincy firm is alleged to have been unfair.

BISHOP SPELLMAN IN CONFIRMATION

CONFIRMED BY NEW BISHOP

Officiating at his first confirmation, Bishop Francis J. Spellman is shown administering the sacrament to Mary Minichiello in St. Anthony's Church in Everett. Five hundred and seventy-five children were confirmed in the ceremony yesterday.

CIVIL SERVICE RULES BAR 350 CITY WORKERS

Mayor Curley Hints at "Politics" in Explaining Discharge of Group

Before 350 dejected city employes, Mayor Curley today said that all hope for temporary city work must be abandoned because of recent action of the civil service commission.

It meant, to his audience, that jobs they held for three and six months periods must be given only to those on newly made civil service lists.

A broad hint that politics may have been responsible for the action of the commission was given the mayor at the end of his talk when a questioner asked:

"Did a like situation ever exist under previous Democratic governors?"

"I assume certain agencies have been extremely busy," was Curley's reply. But those near enough heard him say before it:

"I can't discuss that."

"I've called you here today to tell you there is nothing more I can do for you," the mayor said in opening his remarks.

"The Civil Service Commission has made up lists for every position of the type to which I could appoint you. So long as these lists are maintained it is useless to look forward to reinstatement as temporary employes.

"Sympathy doesn't do you any good but it is all I can extend. The Civil Service rules have closed practically every appointment of employes by the mayor."

Most of the mayor's audience were temporary draftsmen and rodmen, employed on temporary appointments of three months each.

2 HURT IN CITY HALL ELEVATOR

An elevator in City Hall twice went on a rampage today, injuring John Hassett, the operator, and George E. Byars, 39, Cabot st., Roxbury. They were shaken up, and Byars said he had sprained his back and his left wrist.

They were flung across the car when it shot from the fourth floor to the roof, just above the fifth floor, where a safety device stopped it with a crash that drew officials and employes from every office.

A crowd of 350 temporary city employes, who had been listening to Mayor Curley in the council chamber, where he informed them there was no more work at present, was leaving.

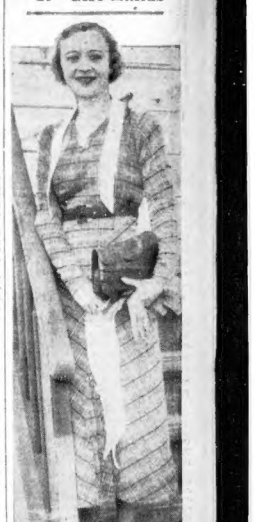
They ran to the fifth floor and police had to force them back.

A repairman released the safety catch and the car shot to the basement with another repairman at the controls. It struck the safety device and the operator was uninjured.

Salem Officer Dies

Salem, Oct. 11 — Police Captain Edwin W. Dennis, 75, is dead here. He had been in the service 46 years.

"It" Girl Lands



Miss Ursula Deans, known as the "It" girl of England, as she arrived in New York aboard the S. S. Europa, en route to California, where she will start work in a picture soon to be released. (International News Photos.)

Ryan Attack on Fair Drivers Stirs Storm of Protest

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Morgan Ryan caused a flurry of excitement and a flood of protest by declaring that it looked to him as if women drivers are worse than men.

But the women drivers of Massachusetts may take heart.

Figures given out by Ryan today show that the balance is only slightly in favor of the men, as far as fatal accidents are concerned, and somewhat more in favor of the women in non-fatal accidents.

It seems that Ryan did not say that women are involved in more fatal accidents than men drivers.

What he meant was that for every ten fatal accidents in which women drivers are involved, they are culpable in seven and a half cases, while men are at fault in a little less than seven out of ten.

It's a complicated way of looking at it, but here are the statistics:

A total of 843 men were involved in fatal accidents last year, and 578 of them were at fault. The percentage at fault was 68.5.

A total of 68 women were involved in fatal accidents last year, and 48 of them were at fault. The percentage at fault was 70.5.

A total of 8234 men were involved in non-fatal accidents, and 56.5 of them were at fault.

A total of 969 women were involved in non-fatal accidents, and 50 per cent of them were at fault.

There are 205,000 women drivers and 1,250,000 men drivers, but Ryan's contention is that as a general rule a woman holding a license covers much less mileage in a year than a man driver.

To October 1 this year 39 women have been involved in fatal accidents.

Down-and-Outers Flay Cruel Poverty for Poor Rich Boy.

By WIN BROOKS

A New Jersey chancellor's decision that 7-year-old John Mortimer Coward must struggle along on $9600 a year caused a stormy indignation meeting of prominent down-and-outers on Boston Common today.

"He certainly is entitled to $15,300 a year and don't hesitate to quote me," said Prof. Delcivar Cunk, a leader of the group.

"The poor little fellow! Our hearts go out to him! You can't make it too strong. And, guv'nor, could you spare a dime for a mug of coffee and a bun this morning?"

The professor is known as Professor because of his ability to read all the large words in the newspapers. It was the professor who discovered the cruel injustice to John Mortimer Coward in the morning press.

ROUSES INDIGNATION

"This is how I happened to learn about it," said the professor. "I was trailing this fellow across the Common because he looked like he was going to lay his paper down, and by and by he did lay his paper down and I got there first. And there was this story on the front page. It says: 'Boy Will Have to Live on Only $800 a Month.' That is how I happened to learn about it."

The rest is history. How the down-and-outers grouped around him in the Parkman bandstand benches while he read the news aloud and how strong men's anguished cries rent the air as they listened to the cruel decision depriving John Mortimer Coward of more dough. Some of the lads even forgot they hadn't eaten since the day before yesterday.

"I make a motion," said Woody Bemis, who is called Woody because he chews splinters from park benches when the going is tough.

SAYS A MOUTHFUL

"You make a motion what?" said the professor.

"I make a motion," said Woody, biting a large piece off the back of the bench in front of him, "that this meeting draw up a resolution of protest and forward it to New Jersey."

"As a matter of parliamentary etiquette," admonished the professor, "the gentleman from the playground section shouldn't talk with his mouth full while addressing the chair. However, his point is well taken and the matter is open to debate."

"This is a dastardly scheme to deprive the little fellow of his dough," shouted one member.

POOR LITTLE RICH BOY

"Think of him havin' to move to an apartment!" said another.

"He won't have no summer home, the poor little tot," cried a third.

"This ain't a debate," said the professor. "Everybody feels the same way. The motion is carried and we will now draw up the resolution."

So they drew up the resolution and this is it:

"Whereas Mrs. Audrey L. Carroll of Glen Ridge, N. J., petitioned the court to have her son's allowance from his father's estate increased from $9600 a year to $17,500 a year for two years and $12,000 a year, thereafter; and FLAY GRAVE INJUSTICE.

"Whereas, Vice-Chancellor Fallon ruled that he cannot see how the son, John Mortimer Coward, would benefit by the aforesaid increase, and refused to grant it; be it hereby

"Resolved, by the convention of down-and-outers here assembled at the Parkman bandstand on Boston Common this 11th day of October, that the ruling of the Vice-Chancellor aforementioned is a cruel injustice to a deserving little fellow; and be it further

"Resolved, that this convention deplores the terrific hardships that will result to the little fellow from the Vice-Chancellor's ruling and hereby takes up a collection to be forwarded to his mother to help defray the expenses of the little fellow's living."

They tightened their belts and took up the collection and the professor said:

"Now that that is over we will proceed to a discussion of the cancellation of the war debts."

NEW BISHOP CONFIRMS 575

Boston's newest bishop, Rt. Rev. Francis J. Spellman, conducted his first confirmation service late yesterday in St. Anthony's Church, Everett.

Five hundred and seventy-five children received the sacrament during the services, and more than 1000 persons were jammed into the little church to see the new bishop in his first big ceremony.

The Rev. Lewis Toma, pastor of St. Lazurus in East Boston, served as deacon.

YOUNG AVERY IS SUICIDE BY GAS

Chicago, Oct. 11 (AP)—Sewell L. Avery, Jr., son of the chairman of Montgomery Ward & Co., was found dead in their apartment today of asphyxiation.

Avery was 31 years old, oldest child and only son of the manufacturer and financier. He was the manager of United States Gypsum Co., of which his father is president.

A policeman called to the Lake Shore drive apartment this morning, found young Avery dead in the library, gas pouring from a fire log in the grate.

Avery was unmarried.

Today was the 33d anniversary of the wedding of his parents, who were prostrated by the tragedy. Young Avery's mother was the former Hortense Wisner of Pontiac, Mich.

His father, besides heading the two big corporations, has become one of Chicago's foremost public leaders as head of Mayor Anton Cermak's civic advisory committee.

He is also director of U. S. Steel, Armour & Co., the Chicago Daily News, the Chicago Great Western Railroad, the Northern Trust Bank and other corporations.

Lieut. Geary of the inhalator squad said he would report the death as suicide while despondent.

JAPANESE SLAY 300 CHINESE

Mukden, Manchuria, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Japanese army, with bombing airplanes, cavalry, infantry and light artillery, continued today its onslaught against the 30,000 former warriors of Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang in the Tungpien area who for months have played havoc with the Hailung-Mukden-Antung Railway.

In the first encounter, near Hailung, the Chinese left 46 dead on the field as they fled. Most of the Chinese are armed with spears, swords and rifles, but many are without weapons. They met no quarter from the Japanese, who charged them with having terrified the 1,700,000 Koreans who live in the Tungpien district.

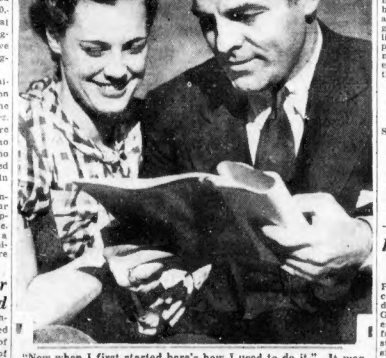
A band of 1000 Chinese volunteers attacked the Japanese near Chismusun, where 500 armed Japanese emigrants expect to settle. The Chinese lost 260 men and a considerable amount of ammunition. The Japanese casualties were reported negligible.

N. Y. Nomination for Mayor Protested

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Katherine Rogers, as a taxpayer, filed an objection with the Board of Elections today to acceptance of the nominations of John P. O'Brien and Lewis H. Pounds, Democratic and Republican mayoralty candidates.

The objection is based on the allegation that the certificates of nomination were not filed within the time allowed by the election laws.

READY FOR FILM DEBUT



"Now when I first started here's how I used to do it." It was Antonia Moreno, popular hero of scores of film dramas, telling Eleanor Holm, world-famed swimming star of the 1932 Olympics, what to do, as they were caught by the cameraman in Hollywood, going over the script for Eleanor's film debut, which takes place shortly. The swimming beauty took home most of the women's events prizes for Uncle Sam at the recent Olympic games. (International News Photos.)

English Princes End Their Swedish Visit

Stockholm, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Prince of Wales and Prince George concluded their visit to Sweden today and left on a special train for Gothenburg. King Gustaf and several other members of the royal family bade them farewell at the station while crowds cheered outside.

Woman Dying, Police Aid in Hunt for Son

Police of the Roxbury Crossing station are seeking Henry Boshmo, 36, a chauffeur, of Arklow st., Roxbury, who disappeared last Christmas Day. Police were told that Boshmo's mother is dying.

Soviets Expel 20 as Foes of Regime

Moscow, Oct. 11 (AP)—The central control committee of the Communist party today expelled 20 of its members, some of them prominent leaders of the Soviet regime since the days of the revolution, on a charge of having organized a counter-revolutionary movement advocating the dissolution of the collective and state farms.

Kennebunk Bridge O. K.'d

Washington, Oct. 11 (AP). The war department today approved plans of the Maine highway commission for a bridge across the Kennebunk river in Kennebunkport Village.

NEW TRICK IN FLYING

Bernt Balchen, famous flyer, who hopped to the South Pole with Admiral Byrd, inspects the new controlable propellor which has been installed on his new plane, in which he will hop to the South Pole on an expedition of his own early next summer. The new prop can be used for changing speed by changing the pitch of the blades. Balchen will make test flights in his plane at Los Angeles, Cal. (International News Photos.)

Firebug Tries Twice to Set Lynn School

Two attempts to burn the Bruce Grammar school in Lynn while 276 pupils were in session were revealed today by Miss Gertrude Connors, principal.

Miss Connors found both the front and back doors of the school charred last Monday after classes had left for the noon recess.

Paper fires had been set.

Story of $195,000 Robbery Checked

Flint, Mich., Oct. 11 (AP)—Police are checking a story told by Napoleon B. Partin, 52, that he and two other men robbed a train near Stevenson, Ala., 28 years ago and escaped with $190,000, of which $50,000 still is hidden near the scene of the robbery. Partin told officers his conscience had been bothering him.

Political Advertisment

TONIGHT
7:15 WBZ 7:15
HEAR
GOVERNOR
ELY

J. Paul Keefe,
183 Russett Road,
West Roxbury.

In Politics

Gossip About People You Know

BASKET FUND WHIST

Members of the Quincy Club, oldest Democratic political organization in East Boston, will give a whist party in the headquarters Friday evening. Proceeds will go to their Christmas Basket Fund.

REP. DAILEY WEDS

Rep. Francis D. Dailey of Ward 8, South End-Roxbury, and Miss Marion Cunningham of Blanche st., Dorchester, are to be married in Holy Cross Cathedral tomorrow. The ceremony will be performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Neil T. Cronin, administrator of the Cathedral. Dailey retires from politics at the end of this year, having recently been appointed to the city law department by Mayor Curley.

Rep. Dailey

DR. LUCAS MAY RUN

Dr. Julian D. Lucas of 168 Warren st., Roxbury, may be a candidate for School Committee next year.

McLAUGHLIN BOOMED

Gossip has it that Fire Commissioner Edward F. McLaughlin may be a candidate for Mayor next year.

ROAD FIGHT LOOMS

At today's special meeting of the governor's council fireworks are expected in connection with reconsideration of the rejection of the bid of Eastern Contracting Co. of Quincy for the $350,333.00 federal-aid road construction job in Raynham, Lakeville and Taunton. Councillor Chester I. Campbell of Quincy says a squabble over proposed purchase of gravel is the real cause of the objection to the Quincy concern getting the contract.

C. I. Campbell

BANK STUDY NEAR END

George E. Barnham, secretary of the special legislative commission which for 18 months has studied co-operative bank laws, with a view to revision, says a report will be made to the legislature the first week in December. The last hearing will be held Oct. 28. One recommendation will be that Massachusetts co-operative banks be permitted to become members of the Federal Home Loan Bank.

ONLY THREE PASS TEST

The State civil service board announces that of 39 men and two women who took examinations for accountant-investigator of the Somerville board of public welfare, only three men passed. They are William F. Fitzgerald, 30 Summer st., Paul E. Tierney, 84 Albion st., and John H. Varney, 329 Summer st.

ROOSEVELT TIE

Roy Dasher of the municipal employment bureau is wearing a Roosevelt for President necktie. The tie itself is blue and bears the picture of Governor Roosevelt in colors and the inscription, "Roosevelt and Prosperity." Dasher says the tie is of good quality and still will be good after election; better, in fact.

Roy Dasher

PRE-PRIMARY DRIVE ON

Despite rejections of the pre-primary bill in the last Legislature, many Republicans, including Speaker Saltonstall, President Lowell of Harvard, former Atty.-Gen. Herbert Parker, ex-Gov. Allen and Attys. William G. Thompson and Bentley W. Warren, are hoping for a big vote on the initiative measure favoring this method. The people will vote on the pre-primary method measure at the State election.

Democrats of Ward 4, Back Bay, today opened an intensive drive for registration of voters.

ROMANCE RUMOR OF AB WALKER AND LIBBY HOLMAN REFUTED

A stirring drama, involving love, prejudice and politics, is to be unfolded before the world next month, when Libby Holman and Ab Walker are brought to trial on a charge of slaying the former's husband, Smith Reynolds.

But was the tobacco heir slain, or did his own hand fire the death bullet? Is this case one of suicide, or did Libby and Ab actually conspire to remove young Reynolds?

It was to find an answer to these mystifying questions that the Boston Evening American sent a special correspondent, Joseph Cowan, to Winston-Salem, N. C. The seventh instalment of this narrative is published today.

By JOSEPH COWAN

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 11—Libby's slippers and sweater were found in young Ab Walker's bedroom. Libby and Ab were discovered together on the first floor of a private room in the hospital while Smith Reynolds was dead.

You think this is proof that the pair was having a love affair, don't you? Libby is going to have a baby and you have an idea Ab Walker might be the father of it. Didn't she testify Smith realized he was a physical failure as a husband and urged her to have an affair with another?

ONLY EVIDENCE COUNTS

Well, let's see what the evidence is. Remember you are on the jury trying these two for murder. You demand proof.

Bear in mind that even if proof indisputable is presented that such a relationship existed between Ab and Libby, it doesn't follow that they had anything to do with the death of Smith Reynolds.

Nowhere will you be able to dig out the slightest bit of competent evidence that Ab was making love to Libby.

When the grand jury heard the story on which it indicted Ab and Libby for first degree murder, it wasn't given any evidence of this either.

So we go into the evidence to find how much proof there is.

It was around 9 o'clock in the morning of July 8, eight hours after the tragedy, that Sheriff Scott walked into Walker's room with Ab. Scott saw Libby's slippers under Walker's bed. On the floor of the bathroom was her sweater.

TELLS OF VISIT

At this moment, said the sheriff Walker remarked:

"Oh, by the way, I forgot to tell you that five minutes before Smith and his wife went to their room they were in my room."

When questioned at the inquest Ab said that Libby and Smith were in his room about 15 minutes. As far as he knew, he said Libby didn't make a practice of going into his room.

Libby, on the stand, however, declared this was nothing uncommon. Before Walker occupied the room, Smith had made it his.

She and her husband would go in often, she said. Sometimes she would remove some of her clothing and lie on the bed. Apparently that's what she did the night of the shooting. She couldn't remember, of course, for this happened during the three-day period in which she can recall nothing.

If Walker's story is true, Libby must have taken off all her clothing except her underwear in his room that night. For there were the slippers and sweater. But how did her beach pajamas, which she had worn the whole evening, get downstairs in the reception room? That is a mystery. They were picked up there three hours or so after the shooting.

"LIBBY DRUNK"

Remember Libby was drunk when she went into that room with Smith, if she did go there. In one theory that the State is trying to develop—a theory for which no proof has been obtained—Libby did not go into Walker's room that night.

But unless evidence to this effect is secured, the State will have to try its case on Walker's story.

Ab says Smith and Libby had a quarrel in his room. He, downstairs, could hear angry voices.

She was drunk then, during the quarrel. So drunk she might have thought she was in their own room and started to disrobe. Then, when Smith angrily told her where she was and ordered her to the sleeping porch, Libby might have rushed out with the pajamas in her hand and tossed them over the balcony rail to the floor of the reception room.

In lieu of being able to show otherwise by competent proof this is the story the state must accept. You must accept it, too, for Libby and Ab are entitled by justice to the benefit of the doubt.

Isn't it reasonable to suppose that a woman dead drunk on corn whiskey wouldn't be able to tell one room from another?

You may ask, as the state does, why she didn't undress on the sleeping porch. According to Walker, she had gone to that room when she first came in to the house.

The state can't answer that question. There is no evidence in which to base an answer.

Perhaps Smith began to scold her at that time. Maybe he told Libby he was going to kill himself. Walker says Smith had made this statement to him when he came back down stairs.

So when Smith didn't return after 20 or 30 minutes, Libby began to worry. She left her room, intending to find him and take him out of the suicide idea, as she says she had done many times.

Walker testified that Smith started up stairs at about the same minute. Libby and her husband met, he says, at the head of the stairs, and he, looking over the balcony, saw them go into his room, Smith first and Libby after him.

IN BATHING SUIT

Ab explains he thought perhaps Smith went into his room to get Walker's gun.

Even with the belief that his friend was going to kill himself, Walker says he didn't make a move to stop him because he was positive Smith did not intend to do it right then. Smith, he says, had told him he was going out that night. Walker was so sure that he waited for him.

When Smith came down, Walker says, he was going to go along with Smith and prevent him from carrying out the threat.

Here is a question that Walker wasn't asked at the inquest and which he probably will be asked at the trial.

"Why, if he felt so certain Smith was going to get a gun and go out and kill himself, didn't he (Walker) go into his room to get his clothes?"

He was still in his bathing suit, you know. Smith had to pass Walker's room to go down to the sleeping porch to get his own gun. Ab could have grabbed his clothes and caught Smith on the way back.

If he thought at all, Ab must have thought Smith intended to go to the hotel to commit suicide. How did he think it would look for him to go to town and into a hotel in a bathing suit.

This, of course, is purely rhetorical. Maybe Ab did not think of this. Perhaps his only thought was to prevent Smith from carrying out his plan.

However, it is evidence we are dealing with, not conjectures.

Let's take up that scene in the hospital room with Libby and Ab on the floor together. What is the evidence?

Ethel Shore and Ruby Jenkins, nurses, gave this testimony. They corroborate each other. Miss Jenkins testified:

Q—Did you hear any noise in the room? A—I heard them when they fell off the bed.

Q—Did you go in the room? A—Yes, before they got up.

Q—What did you see? A—Both were on the floor. They were both trying to get on their feet when I came in.

Now there is an inference of misconduct, but no proof.

The nurses are angry with the prosecutor for not having questioned them more thoroughly. They want to explain, it is reported that a mother, Walker fell off the side of the bed while sitting there talking to Libby. She got out of bed to help him.

Now what is the evidence that Ab or any one else but Smith is the father of the baby Libby expects?

There is none.

All there is, is Libby's own testimony. You read it.

"There was another thing that worried him terribly and he told me. It was on Monday night (the night before he was shot) after we had gone to bed. He said, I want you to go out and have an affair with another man.'

"I said, 'I never would touch another man except you.' He said: 'I will have to do something to break our marriage if you won't do that.'

"I said, 'I couldn't ever in my life, no matter what happened to you, ever touch any one else and I won't. That is a very little part of our love. The rest of our love is so big and so great it really doesn't make any difference."

You see, there is no evidence there that it was impossible for Smith to have been the father of Libby's baby. She had reason to believe, she said, for the week before his death, that she was to be a mother.

IMPEACHMENT FOR VON PAPEN

Berlin, Oct. 11 (INS)—A resolution threatening impeachment of Chancellor Franz Von Papen's cabinet was adopted by the Foreign Relations Committee of the Reichstag today.

The cabinet was charged with refusing to defend its disastrous foreign policy, especially regarding arms equality, before the committee as required by the constitution.

The committee was particularly incensed over the action of Baron Constantin Von Neudath, foreign minister, in leaving Berlin for a deer hunting expedition in Wuerttemberg during the present arms crisis.

GOLDEN GARDEN
14½ CANAL STREET
COLUMBUS DAY EVE. CELEBRATION
Choice Italian and American Food
DINE AND DANCE
No Cover Charge at Any Time
Res. LAFAYETTE 9265

DAVIS IS TO FACE COURT NOV. 28

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Retrial of United States Senator James J. Davis on Federal lottery charges today was set for Nov. 28 by Judge Francis G. Caffey.

Davis will be tried with three co-defendants, who are Raymond Walsh, Bernard, C. McGuire and Theodore G. Miller.

Louis Mead Treadwell, prosecutor, also called another lottery case against Conrad H. Mann, director general of the Eagles.

You Want SECURITY
Established in 1843, this Company has gained steadily in outstanding insurance and assets, and has maintained its position as one of the strongest Life Insurance Companies in America.
John Hancock
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS
U.S.A.
Over $½ Billion Insurance in force

RIDE 'EM, COWBOY

"Nature in the Raw"—as expressed in the famous rodeo cry; inspired by the picture in the July issue of the National Geographic Magazine taken at the Ski Hi Stampede, Monte Vista, Colorado. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"

That package of mild Luckies

Copr. 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

LET US FIGURE YOUR BUILDING MATERIALS
CURTIS & POPE LUMBER CO.
Phone GARrison 8100

$5 ONE WAY FARE 50 DIRECT—Without Change to New York
Via the Cape Cod Canal on the Luxurious Liners
ACADIA and BOSTON
The only daily direct all-water-route. Brilliant dining and dancing salons, broad promenade decks, comfortable staterooms as low as $1.00.
$9 ROUND TRIP Good for 30 days
$7.50 WEEK-END EXCURSIONS Leave Sat., return following Sun. or Mon.
Sailings at 6 P. M. DAILY, including Sundays, from India Wharf, Boston
EASTERN STEAMSHIP LINES
Tele Corp tickets and reservations apply 443 Boylston St., Tel. Kenmore 0228; Circulator Franklin St., Tel. Liberty 3586, or India Wharf, Tel. Hancock 1700, Boston.

DOLLAR DAY TO RAISE FUND FOR DEMOCRATS

Marking the peak of the Democrats' "Shareholders in America" drive for campaign funds, a dollar day will be observed throughout the nation on Saturday, Oct. 22, with the expectation that fully 500,000 Roosevelt-Garner medallions will be sold.

In the Democratic drive for funds to finance the Roosevelt-Garner battle for White House occupancy, every person who donates a dollar is being given a certificate by some member of his local organization committee who visits him, and is entitled to receive and wear a medallion.

This campaign is already under way throughout the country, and interest has been added through a donation of $10,000 in prize money by Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, to inspire active women in America to make the fund a success.

General and district, time, city, county and congressional district prizes, ranging downward from top prizes of $1000 each, will be awarded to the women who sell the largest number of medallions under various conditions, and who make quickest returns.

Details of the women's contest may be obtained by writing to the Finance Division, Democratic National Campaign Committee, Hotel Biltmore, New York city.

TAX VALUES CUT FOR RICH JUDGE

While Saugus assessors were skyrocketing the valuations on nearly all property, they reduced by $2000 the assessed valuation on the home of Judge William C. Ludden, one of the wealthiest residents in the town, it became known today.

Efforts of newspapermen to get the exact figures before and after the reduction were met with a refusal by the clerk in the assessor's office who said they were not to be given out on orders of John J. Mullen, chairman of assessors and former mayor of Everett.

Judge Ludden, reached at his law office in Boston, said there had been "considerable reduction" but that he couldn't recall the figures.

"They are public records and there is no reason why they cannot be obtained at the assessor's office," he added.

Mullen had stated that the increased assessments, some raised as much as 4400 per cent, were aimed at "millionaires" and that "no place where a poor man lays his head will be raised in value."

True to Type

Ogden Mills Falls Under G. O. P. Political Influence

By GILBERT SELDES

Secretary Ogden Mills was acquiring a reputation in the Treasury when the campaign hit him and he is now suffering from the persistent ill-luck of politicians generally and Republicans in 1932. The general theory has been that he would be the best of the party's speakers, and he has, in fact, distinguished himself by knowing the name of Mr. Hoover's probable successor, whom Mr. Hoover alludes to vaguely as the nominee of the Democratic Party.

But it is unfortunate that in attacking Mr. Roosevelt Mr. Mills should have chosen the soundest piece of reasoning and by far the most important bit of political philosophy as the point of attack. Mr. Roosevelt has had the courage to say to men with votes a thing which is hard and unpleasant to hear, but is true; he risked votes by telling voters that we had a hard time ahead of us and would have to think and struggle to win our way clear.

Gilbert Seldes

After three years in which voters have been told lies and heard nothing but silly optimism, Mr. Roosevelt's direct hard truth was a relief; but Mr. Mills wants to go back to pap for grown men.

* * *

The Truth

The words of Mr. Roosevelt are so important that, although Mr. Mills has already given them a second circulation, they should be printed again. In San Francisco he said:

"A glance at the situation today only too clearly indicates that equality of opportunity, as we have known it, no longer exists. Our industrial plant is built. The problem just now is whether, under existing conditions, it is not overbuilt.

"Our last frontier has long since been reached and there is practically no more free land. . . . There is no safety-valve in the form of a Western prairie to which those out of work by the Eastern economic machines can go for a new start. We are not able to invite immigration from Europe to share our endless plenty . . .

"A mere builder of more industrial plants, a creator of more railroad systems, an organizer of more corporations, is as likely to be a danger as a help.

"The day of the great promoter, or the financial titan, to whom we granted anything if only he would build or develop, is over. Our task now is not discovery or exploitation of natural resources or necessarily producing more goods. It is the soberer, less drastic business of administering resources and plants already in hand, of seeking to re-establish foreign markets for our surplus production, of meeting the problems of underconsumption, of adjusting production to consumption, of distributing wealth and products more equitably, of adapting existing economic organizations to the service of the people."

* * *

The Illusion

Mr. Mills protests against this, not saying it is untrue, but contrasting it with Mr. Hoover's belief in steady development and expansion and unlimited opportunity. Mr. Hoover's belief in unlimited opportunity is one of the major causes of the depression which followed the Wall Street crash; for belief in what does not exist is a fatal obstacle in the way of doing what should be done. If Mr. Hoover still believes that it is a good thing for America to build thousands of factories in order to produce millions of gadgets, not one of which we need or can pay for, his economic philosophy is even more of a menace than his worst enemy has believed.

Mr. Roosevelt is on the side of the hard-headed economists who are facing facts. Most of them seriously believe that come way will have to be found to pursuade millionaires to spend their money instead of investing it in new factories which cannot sell their output. Mr. Hoover is on the side of Mr. Mills.

(Copyright, 1932.)

Taking of Roxbury Land Is Protested

After listening for an hour to the protests of West Roxbury residents over land taking for the new parkway in the Center st. section, Chairman Theodore Glynn of the street commission ordered minutes of the meeting referred to the Park Department. The residents also opposed the plan substituted by Park Commissioner Long for that enacted by the Legislature, claiming Long's plan included dangerous curves.

BEER OR SALES TAX NEAR, SAYS SENATOR REED

Washington, Oct. 11 (INS)—Congress, on its return after the elections, will be confronted with the problem of legalizing beer or adopting a general sales tax in order to meet an anticipated deficit of $500,000,000, Senator David A. Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, predicted today.

Reed declared he expected beer to be legalized at the short session, because both presidential candidates have approved modification of the Volstead act. He so interpreted President Hoover's acceptance speech.

"I think Congress will modify the Volstead act at the short session," said Reed. "I think the action of the two parties in convention, as interpreted by the presidential candidates, shows that modification is imperative. I don't believe Congress will delay until the new Congress meets. I believe a change is imperative because the people demand it. The country as a whole has decided that present enforcement conditions can't go on any longer."

Reed said Congress would be forced to pass a new tax bill this winter because the 1-cent federal gasoline tax expires with the end of the present year. This tax was expected to raise $145,000,000 in revenue. On top of this, he added, the Treasury will have a $500,000,000 deficit at the end of the fiscal year, necessitating new taxes.

Reed predicted modification, despite the Senate votes on that issue at the last session. Then the Senate defeated the Bingham 4 per cent beer bill, 23 to 60, and the Tydings 2.75 beer bill, 24 to 61. Later, it rejected the Bingham 2.75 beer tax, 26 to 55. But on its last day it agreed to consider the Glass resubmission amendment, by a vote of 27 to 21, with enough other Senators paired in favor of it to give the resolution 53 votes, a clear majority.

"That was the first wet vote in the Senate since before national prohibition," said Reed. "It came after the conventions and showed the trend of thought."

On international affairs Reed predicted France and Great Britain would meet their war debt payments in December.

Garner Sees Legal Beer by Next March

New York, Oct. 11 (INS)—Legal beer by next March was predicted today by Speaker John N. Garner, Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

"My guess is," he told reporters, "that there will be legislation on the prohibition question this coming session. I think there is a strong probability of having beer before March 4. There will be a sufficient number of Democrats in Congress to make this possible."

Garner will leave late today for Albany to confer with Gov. Roosevelt about a speaking tour for Garner, who thinks himself that "it isn't necessary." He does not plan to call on former Gov. Smith

BAKER IS FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

Washington, Pa., Oct. 11 (INS)—Finis was written to a tragedy of modern college life today when the body of Dr. Simon S. Baker, 65, missing former president of Washington and Jefferson College, was found in a field near here, a bullet in his temple and a gun at his side.

The famous educator resigned after a five-day strike of 350 students because of his alleged "autocratic" policies. There was no explanation of Dr. Baker's presence near Washington, scene of his early triumphs. He vanished from his Pittsburgh home yesterday.

Dr. Baker had been broken hearted" over the strike, his friends said. It was an aftermath of his dismissal of two professors and a threat never fulfilled, to expel two football players involved in a hotel brawl.

After the strike Dr. Baker resigned.

2 Boston Taxpayers Win Federal Rebates

Rebates totaling $160,670 were allowed today at Washington to two Boston income and estate taxpayers and to one from Worcester. Jacob F. Brown of the Boston wool firm of Brown & Adams, former commodore of the Boston Yacht Club, received an adjustment of $80,329, while the estate of Leslie McG. Morrison of Boston, was given an adjustment of $45,905.

The estate of William Bacon Scofield of Worcester, the late millionaire sculptor, poet, newspaperman and manufacturer, was given an adjustment of $34,236.

HURRY! THE END! THE FINISH!

THE TIME IS SHORT! BUY NOW!

NEVER BEFORE AND PROBABLY NEVER AGAIN WILL YOU HAVE SUCH A PIANO BUYING OPPORTUNITY

$1 WEEKLY PAYS

Choose Any Piano in Stock, New or Used—

STORY & CLARK
BARNARD
LORD
SARGENT
GULBRANSEN
HUNTINGTON
EDWARDS
TENNYSON
ESSEX
WELLINGTON
DECKER & SONS
MENDELSSOHN

Choose Any Piano in Stock, New or Used

Grands! Uprights! Players! Reduced!

PLAYER PIANOS $29 and up

100 Grands, Uprights, Players Traded in Your Old Piano—Hurry

Remember after this Greatest Lord Sale these prices and terms are positively withdrawn. Think of purchasing a fine brand new Grand or Upright Piano at only $3 down and $1 per week. None higher; you may pay more if you wish. Your old piano, radio, phonograph or band instrument will be acceptable in trade at a liberal allowance, if you have one.

NEW GRANDS $3 DOWN

Free Delivery 60 Miles

LORD PIANO CO.
757 Boylston St.
Boston, Mass.

Open Every Evening!

OPEN ALL DAY TOMORROW UNTIL 2.30 P. M.

COCOANUT GROVE

PRESENTING WINI SHAW
Eddie Chester With Company of 25 Broadway Artists
TWICE NIGHTLY—7:15-12:00 P. M.

Special Theatregoers Dinner—5-9 P. M. Except—Sat.—Holiday & Pol. Ten. $1.50-$2.00

THEATRICAL GUEST NITE TONIGHT
Special: Columbus Day Dinner
Joe Salomon's Cocoanut Grove Orch. Direction Ted Roy
Special rates for banquets and parties
Radio Guest Nite Every Thursday
Reservations: Arlington 1.7000
Liberty 8340

THE WORLD'S 3 MOST FAMOUS COFFEES SPECIALLY PRICED

for this week only!

8 O'Clock LB. PKG. 20c
Red Circle LB. PKG. 23c
Bokar LB. TIN. 26c

A&P STORES in Metropolitan Boston will be Open until 9 P.M. TUESDAY October 11th

A&P STORES in Metropolitan Boston will be Open until 1 P.M. WEDNESDAY Columbus Day October 12th prices effective in Boston & Vicinity

AT A&P MEAT MARKETS

Corned Beef LB 15c
Lean, Rolled Sticking Pieces, Lightly Corned and Firmly Tied.

HIGH QUALITY STEAKS
Top Round LB 35c
COOK ONE MINUTE ON EACH SIDE
Cube Steaks LB 29c

LAMB CHOPS
GENUINE SPRING
Rib LB 23c Kidney LB 33c

GOBEL'S SKINLESS—CELLOPHANE WRAPPED
Frankforts LB 23c
UNTOUCHED BY HUMAN HANDS—SANITARY

FRESH SLICED
Halibut LB 25c
FRESH SMALL
Mackerel LB 5c

FRESH FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Bananas 5 LBS. 15c
Sweet Potatoes 6 LBS 9c
Native Cabbage 3 LBS 5c
Native Carrots BCH 3c
Tokay Grapes 4 LBS. 25c

PILLSBURY'S Cake Flour
You'll like the new cake flour better than any you've ever used.
25c PKG.

PALMOLIVE SOAP
And a Pkg. of Super Suds with each purchase of 3 Bars 19c

MILCO MALT
A Football With Each Purchase
CAN 39c

WHITE HOUSE—AN EXCEPTIONAL LOW PRICE
Evap. Milk 4 cans 19c

AUNT JEMIMA—FOR COOL AUTUMN DAYS
Pancake Flour 3 pkgs 25c

BE SURE TO SERVE THIS WONDERFUL SYRUP
Syrup VERMONT MAID bottle 19c

EASY RUNNING—CONVENIENT PACKAGE
Shaker Salt 2 26 oz pkgs 15c

FOR THE FIRST THING IN THE MORNING
Ralston's BREAKFAST FOOD pkg 19c

WHITE—COLORED—PIMENTO—AMERICAN
Cheese 2 ½ pound packages 25c

CAMPBELL'S—SERVE BEFORE EACH DINNER
Tomato Juice 3 cans 25c

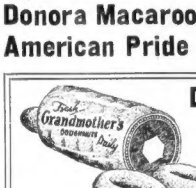
ENCORE—IN EITHER GLASS OR TIN
Spaghetti glass jar 10c-3 cans 19c

MANY FLAVORS TO SELECT FROM
Rajah Extracts 2 oz bot 25c

CHOICE OF INDIA CEYLON OR ORANGE PEKOE
Nectar Teas 3 oz pkg 5c

HERE IS A REAL COMBINATION VALUE!
Dixie Broom + 10 qt. Pail both for 49c

Statler Toilet Tissue 3 ROLLS 18c
Knox Gelatine MANY FLAVORS PKG 19c
Grandma's Molasses CAN 19c
Worcester Salt PKG 5c
Kirkman's Soap Powder PKG 5c
Wheatsworth SELF RISING Flour 2 PKGS 19c
Donora Macaroons N B C LB. 23c
American Pride N B C ASST. PKG 29c



DOUGHNUTS
Grandmother's—cellophane wrapped in packages of six to assure freshness
DOZ. 15c

NEW LOW REGULAR PRICES
Campbell's Beans 3 CANS 17c
Quaker Maid Beans 3 16 OZ. CANS 15c
Michigan Pea Beans 3 LBS. 10c
Elmwood Chicken Broth CAN 10c
Marshall's Kippered or Tomato Herring CAN 15c

A&P FOOD STORES of NEW ENGLAND
The Great ATLANTIC & PACIFIC Tea Company

$2,500.00 Cash Awards In The Movie Player Identity Test

START NOW—All previously published pictures reprinted here—$1,000.00 First Award—110 OTHERS

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

You Can Start With These 34 Pictures Here

Rules and Details of the Movie Player Identity Test are given in the Daily Record and Sunday Advertiser. Do not send in your identifications until the end of the Test

The next two pictures, 35 and 36 will appear in Wednesday's Daily Record

Order your Sunday Advertiser and Daily Record now from your newsdealer.

The editions are limited and you might not get your copy.

GO ON WITH THE TEST WITH THE PICTURES IN WEDNESDAY'S

DAILY RECORD

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

This is ..... name of player here ..... This is ..... name of player here .....
MY NAME .....
ADDRESS .....
CITY OR TOWN .....

MARTHA LEE'S PAGE

Deep Dish Apple Pie Recipe Is Economical

DELICIOUSLY DIFFERENT---HARLEQUIN CONSERVE

ALL INGREDIENTS SHOWN — PARE THE VARIOUS FRUITS — COOK FOR 20 MINUTES — COVER WITH PARAFFIN

INGREDIENTS:
25 yellow peaches
1 lb. white grapes
1 orange
Sugar
10 red plums
1 pineapple
¼ lb. blanched almonds

METHOD:

Wash all fruit thoroughly. Pare the peaches, plums and pineapple and cut each fruit into small pieces. Halve the grapes and remove the seeds, using a small pointed knife for the purpose. Slice the oranges as thin as possible without removing the peel and cook all the fruit together over a slow fire until soft and well blended. Measure and allow three-fourths of a cupful of sugar to each cupful of fruit. Cook very gently for 20 minutes; then add the almonds, chopped, and continue cooking very slowly, stirring occasionally until the conserve is thick and clear. This will require two hours or longer. The fruit should be well blended, with no one flavor predominating. Pour into hot, sterilized glasses and seal with hot paraffin when set.

Even 'Beginners' Can Make This Tasty Deep Dish Apple Pie

Here's a recipe that mothers will find helpful. "As easy as pie" may be an old expression, but it's a snare and a delusion to most people. The ability to make good apple pie is something of an art. Many a famous cook has built a reputation on nothing more than a trick of making flaky crust, a certain little "way" with apples. Trick though it may be, it is the envy of every housewife, and of every little girl with aspirations to cook.

Apple pie is one of the favorite practice dishes of domestic science classes in school, and when mastered, is frequently taken home and introduced into the family circle.

And Mother learns all over again from daughter how the sacred rite should be performed.

Even more popular, perhaps, than regular apple pie is the deep-dish variety, with its abundance of juice and topping of cream. Here is a recipe for deep dish apple pie which is a find for mothers. It is a good start for the young cook who is just trying her hand, since it involves no complicated crust-making.

Instead of crust, the apples are sprinkled with crisp, flaky cracker crumbs, which turn a beautiful golden brown after a few minutes' association with the oven. This recipe is economical—calls for only half the usual amount of shortening. And it's GOOD—as you'll see for yourself when you try it.

Creme Caramel Rich Dessert for All

If he delights in desserts, and you want a special rich and satisfying one to please him, try this one:

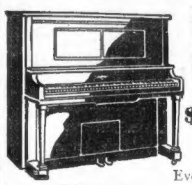
CREME CARAMEL
1 cup condensed milk
2 cups boiling water
3 eggs
Few grains salt
½ tsp. vanilla.

Mix condensed milk and water and add slowly to the slightly beaten eggs. Add salt and vanilla. Pour into small molds or custard cups, well coated with caramelized sugar. Stand in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow, 325 deg. oven for 45 minutes, or until knife comes out clean. Makes six. To caramelize the sugar, put 1 cup of sugar on the stove in a heavy aluminum or cast-iron spider. Let it melt to a light brown liquid. Lift the pan from the stove occasionally to prevent burning, but do not stir. Pour a little of the syrup into a custard cup and turn and twist the cup until it is thoroughly coated with the syrup. Then fill the cups with the custard mixture and bake.

DEEP DISH APPLE PIE
¾ cup sugar
3 cups cooking apples, peeled and sliced
¼ tsp. nutmeg.
20 champion flake butters, rolled fine
1-3 cup butter
1 pkg. cream cheese
⅓ cup cream
½ tsp. salt

Reserve 1 tablespoon sugar for crust. Mix remainder with apples and nutmeg. Put into a shallow buttered pudding dish. Mix crackers with softened butter and 1 tablespoon sugar, and spread mixture in an even layer over apples. Cover and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) until apples are tender, about 30 minutes. Uncover and brown lightly. Blend cheese with cream and salt until fluffy and serve on pie as a garnish. Six portions.

Sale!
Player Pianos



For this sale we have selected 25 beautiful player pianos—you may have your choice at $195
Everything Included

FREE ROLLS
FREE DUET BENCH
FREE TUNING
FREE DELIVERY

$10.00 DOWN - $2.00 Weekly

UPRIGHT and GRAND PIANOS—Demonstrators and floor samples up to 50% Discount off Regular Prices

C. C. HARVEY COMPANY, 144 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.
Gentlemen—Without obligation on my part, please send me particulars on your special offer of Player-Pianos for $195.
Name .....
Street .....
City ..... AM.

C·C·HARVEY·C·
144 BOYLSTON STREET. TEL. HAN. 5180

Col. Payne Predicts Republican Victory

Stockbridge, Oct. 11 (AP)—Col. Frederick H. Payne, assistant Secretary of War, who believed "the nation would have experienced a Democratic victory if the national elections had been held in July," today saw a Republican victory in November.

"Reports from all parts of the country," he told a Republican rally, "lead me to believe that the situation today is by no means as serious as it appeared two months ago."

Mexican Law Maker Dies for Shoe Shine

Cuernavaca, Mexico, Oct. 11 (INS)—A quarrel over payment for a shoe-shine today resulted in the fatal wounding of Agapito Albarran, a member of the Mexican congress, and Francesco Alvarez, secretary-general of the state department. The fight took place at the fashionable American-owned Hotel Swastika. American guests narrowly escaped injury when the duellists pulled pistols and started firing.

Virginia District Act Ruled Illegal

Richmond, Va., Oct. 11 (AP)—The Virginia redistricting act of 1932 was held unconstitutional today by the Supreme Court of Appeals.

The court granted a writ of mandamus to Dr. William Moseley Brown and Charles C. Berkeley, compelling the secretary of the commonwealth to certify their names to electoral boards as candidates-at-large for Congress. R. Lindsay Gordon, another candidate-at-large, will also be certified.

chops have new zest when spread before cooking with GULDEN'S Mustard

FIRST NATIONAL STORES Inc.

"DON'T OVERLOOK A CHANCE TO SAVE"

LOOK OVER this LIST OF FOOD VALUES

First National Store buyers are constantly making savings for you. Through scientific study of markets and sources of supply they "time" their buying to get the most for their money. The savings are passed on to you. "Time" your buying to take advantage of the bargains they make. Save money on the many low priced specials offered weekly in your local First National Store.

MEAT MARKET SPECIALS

This special effective in both markets and grocery stores

Serve a HAM — ARMOUR'S STAR or DORACO SUGAR CURED - SHORT SHANK LB 16c

BEST TENDER CUTS OF PRIME BEEF

Rump Steak LB 59c
Pork Chops LB 19c
BONED AND ROLLED IF DESIRED
Lamb Fores LB 9c
MILD CORNED BEEF
Lean Ends LB 23c

Mackerel FRESH CAUGHT LB 5c
Halibut FRESH SLICED LB 25c

Stores Open This Evening Until 10 P. M.

Mild Cheese	WHOLE MILK Lb	17c
Baked Beans	FINAST OR B & M	2 Lge Tins 27c
Tomato Catsup	FINAST	2 14 oz Bots 23c
Blue Rose Rice		3 Lbs Bulk 10c
Evaporated Apricots		2 Lbs Bulk 23c
Split Peas	GREEN OR YELLOW	2 Lb Pkgs 15c
Red Salmon	ALASKA	2 Tall Tins 27c
Haffenreffer's	LIGHT or DARK Contents Only	5 Bots 25c
Ralston Cereal		Pkg 19c
Grape Nut Flakes		2 Pkgs 19c
Chesterfield	Cigarettes	2 Pkgs 27c
GOLD DUST		Lge Pkg 15c
FAIRY SOAP		5 Bars 17c
PALMOLIVE	Free with each 3 bars —1 Pkg of Supersuds	3 Bars 19c

FRESH FRUITS and VEGETABLES

New Carrots	Bunch	3c
New Beets	Bunch	3c
Apples	Native MacIntosh	6 Lbs 25c
Celery	Native	Bunch 10c
Squash	Native Blue Hubbard or Red Turban	3 Lbs 9c

A Sweet N. B. C. Plain Appetizing Cookie — Vanilla Susans — 1 Lb Pkg 25c
A chocolate covered marshmallow cookie with nuts and fruit — Imperial Cookies FRUIT AND NUT — Lb Bulk 25c

Raspberry Layer Cake — Delicious Sponge Layers covered with Vanilla Frosting filled with Raspberry Jam — Each 15c

SPECIAL NEW OFFER
1 Pkg Wheatsworth Cereal
1 Pkg Wheatsworth Self-Raising Flour
Both for 19c

FANCY HAWAIIAN PINEAPPLE
FINAST SLICED (Dole No 1)
DELMONTE SLICED
DELMONTE CRUSHED
2 Lge Tins 33c

PAN BISCUITS — Light Fluffy Golden Crusted Biscuits - wrapped in waxed paper — Doz 7c

DOUGHNUTS — Made with the best Doughnut Flour known — Doz 15c

Fuji Bean Sprouts	No 2 Tin	15c
Homeland or Golden Rose Tea	¼ Lb Cts	25c
Campbell's Beans		3 Tins 17c
York State Pea Beans		3 Lbs Bulk 10c
Richmond Peaches	Sliced or Halves	2 Lge Tins 25c
Heavy Cream		2 ½ Pt Jars 25c
Brookside Milk		Qt 9c
Prize Bread	SLICED OR REGULAR	Lge Loaf 7c

PRICES FOR BOSTON AND VICINITY

FIRST NATIONAL STORES Inc.

MRS. DREAR AND MRS. CHEER

Mrs. Drear: For mercy's sake would you look at my Polly and your Molly? Playing in that mud puddle and I haven't a clean stitch for Polly to put on.

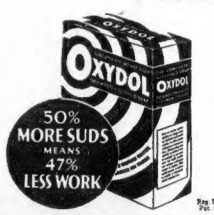
Mrs. Cheer: Well, they've both got rosy cheeks and that's something to be thankful for. As for the dirt, Oxydol will take that out quick as scat.

Have you tried this new washing soap?

● Made by the same folks who make Ivory Soap, Oxydol is a real blessing for women who dread the dishpan and the washtub. Oxydol is easy on hands, and it gives half again as much suds. It doesn't ball up or leave a scum—every particle dissolves instantly into foamy suds—that's why it's so economical. See for yourself, it gets rid of dirt and grease in a jiffy and takes the backache out of housework.

Procter & Gamble

LET OXYDOL DO THE WORK



Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

CENTRE HERE FOR HOLIDAY TILT WITH B. C.

FANNING

With GEORGE UNDERWOOD

The Praying Colonels. | Flights of the Geese.
Grandson of Kilrain. | The Song of the Swan.
Early Winter Coming. | Brouillard's Mistake.

Braves Hitting Real Gait Under Lud Wray

MUCH WATER HAS flowed under the bridge and many wreckers have gone down the hatch since little Center College came up out o' Nowhere, to flash the slippery, twisting, turning catapulting Bo McMillan before surprised Boston eyes and humble haughty Harvard as seldom before or since. But the memory lingers on. That defeat of Harvard gave the Praying Colonels a name. The boys from the Blue Grass Country come to Boston today, with a name, and what Bill Grimes and other experts tell us is a fair to middlin' football team. They'll have to be better than fair to middlin' to beat B. C. tomorrow, and perhaps they are, for that 21 to 0 victory over Transylvania would hint the Colonels have hit their stride. Joe McKenney has the Maroon and Gold squad up on its toes and playing some great football. Even if handicapped by the absence of Pete Chesnulevitch, this year's sparkplug, the Eagles are likely to repeat last year's triumph over Center. Pete is O. K. again, but McKenney may hold him back until he has to "shoot" with him. You'll see a great game, no matter the outcome. The Praying Colonels went down with their boots on last season, keeping the result in doubt until the last whistle blew. Just as fast, fierce and thrilling an encounter is expected at the Heights tomorrow.

LOOKING OVER the Eagles in scrimmage yesterday, we were struck by the work of a big, rangy 6 foot 1 inch, 210 pound black-haired tackle. He looked like a "real" football player. "What's his name, Joe?" we inquired of the coach, pointing to the husky youngster, and with a grin McKenney answered, "His name is Reynolds and you should be particularly interested in him."

"Yeah?" we queried. "How come?"

"You know that story you wrote about John L. Sullivan being the father of the stiff arm in football," explained the head coach of the Eagles, "and how football players of the early days took lessons from Sullivan, Dominick McCaffrey and Jake Kilrain. Well, that kid you're looking at is a grandson of Jake Kilrain!"

AN EARLY WINTER, pardners. The ducks have been coming over for a fortnight. Sunday, near sun down, high up in the blue we thought we saw a flight of geese. Training our glasses on them, imagine the surprise when he found them to be wild swan. The noblest of all creatures, the wild swan. If the eagle is the king of birds then the wild swan is the Emperor. A long time ago we were up on their summer breeding grounds, the shores and inlets of James Bay, that long, looning inlet of the cold, inland sea you know as Hudson Bay, and we had a chance to study and observe them. There we heard the "swan song," the last trumpet call of the male swan leaving his mate and going to his Maker. Wounded unto death in a battle to save its young from the depredations of a polar bear the great bird, the red of its life blood crimsoning its white breast, rose up and up in labored flight. Suddenly it flung down to the barrens its eerie death call. Clear as a trumpet it sounded on the Northern silence. Then like a plummet the great bird fell, plunging into the gray, green Arctic waters. We've never forgotten the wild, eerie music of that swan song. No great organ in a cathedral volumning the somber Dead March from Saul ever could equal the ineffable sadness, and albeit the glory, of it. Like a true warrior the feathered white emperor of the Northern wastes welcomes death when it will come.

THE EARLY SOUTHWARD flights of the ducks, the geese and the swans—doesn't that forecast an early winter? We think so. But long hours at the old Remington, years with the cave dwellers of the cities have dulled our feel of the open. The winds don't sing the same songs and the trees, the feathered and furry creatures, and Mother Nature herself, don't tell us the same stories as during the nomad days. Tomorrow however, we hope to see one to whom Mother Nature does tell the true tales. We hope to motor up to Camp Helen Winter in the Swift River Valley, up there beyond Wachusett. There Warden Dennis F. "Scoop" Shea, who "finds longies in trees, books in the running brooks, sermons in stones and good in everything," will tell us all about it. If Mother Nature tells "Scoop" Shea that winter is coming early, you better get your coonskins out of camphor as sure as you're born!

DID YOU KNOW that the wild goose, like the wild swan, never remates? There is an old fellow up in Algonquin Park who has been studying the wild geese for more than 40 years, and tagging them. Never has he seen a wild goose that has lost its mate take a new one. Which may mean nothing or much.

ANDY CALLAHAN is a great little fighting man. We're strong for him. But without dulling the lustre of his victory over Lou Brouillard, we believe the rugged French Canadian will prove Andy's master if they meet again. Brouillard fought a wretchedly judged battle last Friday night. He "rated" himself along too slowly and kept on trying to outbox the little Lawrence Celt long after he should have seen the only way to beat him was to outslug him. If they meet again you will find the rugged son of the Habitants making his strength and ruggedness tell from the opening gong. Lou will not again make the mistake of waiting too long.

THAT WAS "SOME" football the Braves exhibited in beating Cric Cagle's New York Giants. The local pro stars are hitting their gait under Lud Wray. Those who like to see football played as it should be played are going to Braves Field Sundays in increasing numbers. It is dawning on the populace that big league football outclasses college football in the same measure that big league baseball outclasses college baseball. No one who yet has attended a Braves game has complained of not getting his money's worth.

A Phair View of Sports

By GEORGE E. PHAIR

Gone are the sultry summer days, the shirt sleeves bloom no more.
The baseball boys have gone their ways from Harlem's rock-bound shore.
Bill Terry's boys no longer smite the hapless pill in vain.
But sadly at the fall of night we hear the old refrain.
The pigskin rides upon the gale above yon white-lined glen.
And still we hear the same old tale: "The Giants lost again."

Like a breath of summer comes the headline: "Braves win opener from Giants." Likewise the said Giants are in the cellar, indicating that they are in mid-summer form.

It took a long time, but the Fort Dearborn massacre has been avenged. Notre Dame 75, Haskell Indians 6.

What the wrestling game needed was a kick. So Jack Curley ups and imports a load of Sherry.

That 34 to 25 game between Tulane and Georgia must have been a pitchers' battle.

Clark Griffith is trying to pull another Bucky Harris stunt. A few years back he surprised the populace by making Bucky the youngest manager in big league baseball. Bucky rewarded him with a pennant. Now Joe Cronin will endeavor to repeat, on the theory that lightning sometimes strikes twice in the same place.

At any rate, Manager Cronin will not have to worry about a shortstop.

Lon Warneke is having his tonsils removed by a surgeon. The Yanks knocked him loose from everything else.

LIONS GAME TEST HARVARD NEEDS, CASEY

Penn State's Nittany Lions, in the opinion of Coach Eddie Casey, the director of Harvard's gridiron destiny, will offer the Crimson just the test it needs before clashing with the big objective foes who will come to the Stadium on the next four following Saturdays.

Casey absolutely refuses to become overconfident because the Lions suffered a one-point defeat from Waynesburg in their second game last Saturday. The Crimson mentor points to State's opening game in which it ran up nearly 30 points to whitewash a powerful opponent.

He expects the Lions to come back strong during the next week and, with two hard battles under their belts, as contrasted to the pair of easy contests engaged in by Harvard, make the Crimson eleven extend itself to the limit in order to win.

CRIMSON OUTLOOK ROSY

The opinion at Cambridge is that Casey has developed, or has in the course of development, a team which is bigger and faster than last year's near-champions, and potentially one of the greatest elevens in Crimson football history.

The boys have confidence in themselves and most of all in their coach, and they believe that he is going to lead them through a great season. But lest they start to get overconfident, as a result of their pair of overwhelming victories, Coach Casey and his assistants are conducting short blackboard talks, pointing out the various mistakes made thus far this season.

After Casey had finished probing their weaknesses in the first of these talks, the lads came back to earth and instead of dreaming of an undefeated season are now planning to take a fall out of Penn State. The entire varsity squad will participate in a hard scrimmage this afternoon with either the junior varsity or the newly-formed freshman outfit.

The Crimson is liable to present a rather makeshift eleven Saturday if injuries and scholastic difficulties continue to take their toll. Roger Hallowell, varsity quarter, has given way to Warren Casey in the Team A line, and is sporting a white shirt, which limits him to easy work.

IMPORTANT EXAMINATION

Jack Crickard has been given a couple afternoons off again this week to prepare for his divisional examination in psychology which is listed for Thursday. The big halfback had little or no practice last week, but it did not seem to interfere with his pointing against New Hampshire. If he succeeds in clearing the scholastic obstacle, he will be ready to start. But if he fails, it seems he is through for the year.

SECRET DRILL FOR ELI SQUAD

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 11 (INS)—Frankly disappointed, he said, with the exhibitions of the Yale football varsity in their six games with Bates and Chicago, Head Coach Mal Stevens ordered a secret practice in the bowl today. Stress was to be placed on end play, regarded as a weak spot in the Elis thus far.

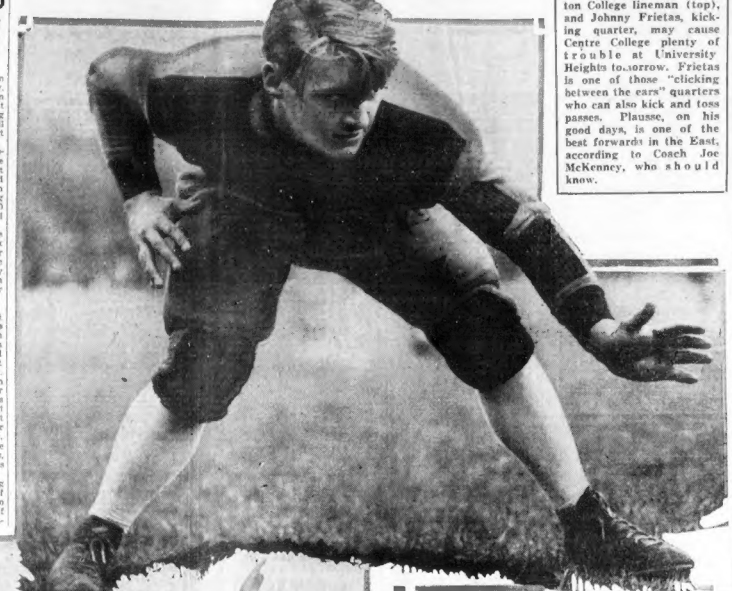
Charlie Heim, Bill Browne and Stratford were promoted officially to the varsity squad.

Donate Autographed Ball for Penny Sale

In order to increase interest in the penny sale to be held in Nazareth School Hall of St. Eulalia's Church, South Boston, Henry J. Sullivan and Atty. John B. Wenzler have donated an official league baseball autographed by every member of the Boston Braves, Ki Ki Cuyler and Marvin Gaudat of the Chicago Cubs and Supt. Michael H. Crowley of the Boston Police. The sale will be held on next Monday evening.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

WHY COLONELS MAY NEED PRAYERS



Henry Plausse, giant Boston College lineman (top), and Johnny Frietas, kicking quarter, may cause Centre College plenty of trouble at University Heights tomorrow. Frietas is one of those "clicking between the ears" quarters who can also kick and toss passes. Plausse, on his good days, is one of the best forwards in the East, according to Coach Joe McKenney, who should know.

BRAVES SEND RUST TO STICKS

Reg Rust, ex-Oregon State fullback, has been released from Boston Braves pro football team. Manager Jack Potter expects to place the Oregonian on a minor league club subject to recall.

Rust received a head injury in Sunday's game with New York Giants, which, added to his sciatica trouble, makes him an unplayable risk, according to Coach Wray. The Oregon star loomed as a potential regular up to a week ago. He may be seen in action here later in the season.

The Braves start tuning up today for the clash with Chicago Cardinals next Sunday. Jack Chevigny, assistant to the late Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, will bring a perfectly coached team here.

CHANGES DUE IN B. U. LINEUP

Realizing that the Providence game next Saturday is the toughest game the Terriers will play this season, Coach Myles Lane intends to work his charges harder for the rest of the week than he ever has before.

As the Terriers did not click as well in the Rhode Island game as the mentor wished, it is expected that there will be a few changes in the lineup against the Friars.

Herb Semino and Johnny Murphy, veteran ends, will be back at their regular jobs. Although Semino is still favoring a bad ankle and Murphy has a rib taped, Trainer Joe Gilmore has assured Coach Lane that he will have both ends in good shape by Saturday.

PATERNO HAS STEADY JOB

One substitution which was made Saturday and will probably stand indefinitely is Johnny "Rama" Paterno for John Ulman, 1931 regular, at fullback.

Rama is a transfer from the University of Alabama, where he was a substitute tackle on the frosh team. Last year he was ineligible but he played in the scrub line to keep in shape.

This fall, due to a scarcity of backfield material, Paterno was shifted to fullback and apparently found his natural position. Against Rhode Island last Saturday he gave one of the best exhibitions of defensive football and hitting a line that has ever been witnessed at Kingston, R. I.

BERTOLINE FIGHTS BACK

Hugo Bertoline, veteran guard, is far from satisfied with losing his job to Stan Gilmour and is out to get into the regulars' lineup this week. The scrimmages which are scheduled for today and tomorrow will determine which will start against the Friars.

Facts You Might've Missed

Ben Ticknor is studying finance at N. Y. U. nowadays . . . there's a Garbo on the St. Mary's eleven . . . Kentucky has a 6-foot, 10-inch center . . . but he's a basketball center . . . Joe Sekyra will sub for Jack Dorval against King Levinsky Thursday night at Minneapolis . . . Carnera's playing the Grapefruit Circuit now . . . Bowled over Ted Sandefur in 4 at Tampa . . . There's no curfew for the Harvard grid veterans and you'll see plenty of them out late at night . . . Sunday games to realiege elevens are growing in popularity, especially with the small colleges, who can't compete for gates with neighboring universities on Saturdays . . . And in the third season of night football, which everyone predicted would be a turkey, the attendance under the arc lights is generally larger than ever . . . With a flock of star holdovers from last year, Dr. Mal Stevens is having plenty of trouble mixing a winning prescription at Yale . . . They're just beginning to realize what the Mighty Atom meant to them last year . . . Lead by Crickard, Grady and Locke, Coach Eddie Casey, of Harvard, has so many star backs he can start a fresh star every five minutes without losing either power or speed . . . Billy Ames, of the Garden, is gunning for a title scrap between Sammy Fuller and Tony Canzoneri . . . Looks as if he will land it, too . . . Ames has offered Pop Foster a guarantee of 10 G's for Jimmy McLarnin to meet Andy Callahan here . . . Being encouraged by the $18,000 gate at the Brouillard-Zachow bout and the $20,000 tab at the Callahan-Brouillard go . . . No depression there . . .

FLYNN CHOICE OVER WALLIS

Jim Wallis of Holy Cross and Art Flynn of Boston College finished training today for their two out of three falls match at Mechanics' Building tomorrow night.

Flynn will be a slight favorite to beat Wallis in this match of the Eagle and Crusader. But Wallis is a tough matman to beat and Flynn will have plenty of trouble.

The special bout on the Mechanics' program is very attractive and one that the followers have been clamoring for—Mephisto vs. Dick Grow.

Ex-Harvard Grid Heroes Asked to Play Prisoners

Amid the band-blaring strains of "Up the Street" former Harvard football heroes may march onto a gridiron surrounded by cold, gray walls, of the Norfolk Prison Camp to play a convict team.

Vic Harding, Bernie White, Eddie Mays, Johnny Schereschewsky, Vahan Moushegian, Henry Meyerson, Frank Lales and Murdock Finlayson—all Crimson heroes of the gridiron past, today were being asked to oppose a Norfolk eleven. The date for the game has not been arranged as yet.

WYKOFF FACES WILKIE AT RINK

Les Wykoff, former University of St. Louis football star, is a favorite to win over Bob Wilkie of New York in a finish bout, best two falls out of three, at the Rollaway Rink, Revere, tonight.

In the semifinal, Scotty Dawkins of Louisiana will clash with Fred Carone of Lynn.

There will be a couple of prelims. Nick Skolos of Greece will oppose George Linnehan of this city, while Regis Siki of Abyssinia will take on Sam Skoreki of Chelsea.

COACH KUBALE HAS STRONG, LARGE SQUAD

By BILL GRIMES

Accompanied by a large delegation of rooters, the Centre College football team, which meets Boston College tomorrow afternoon at University Heights, arrived in Boston this morning.

After breakfasting at the Hotel Lenox, which will be the Gold and White headquarters, Coach Ed Kubale and his gridsters went on a sight seeing tour before holding their final workout, which will be held at the Heights this afternoon.

Anxious to regain the national reputation enjoyed a decade ago, Centre has pointed towards Boston College. The Praying Colonels did not open up against Murray, Xavier or Transylvania, due to the presence of Boston College scouts. According to Coach Kubale they "will shoot the works" tomorrow.

Not only has Centre resorted to the simplest of plays but it has held a couple of its most promising sophomores in reserve. Also, Centre has apparently taken a leaf out of Yale's pre-Harvard game book, for all reports have centered around the numerous injuries and sicknesses which befell the Colonels this season.

STRONGER THAN LAST YEAR

Although handicapped by injuries to two of its stars, Centre held Boston College to one touchdown a year ago. The Praying Colonels have lost many of their outstanding luminaries, but most of the replacements have come up to expectations and, if anything, they are more formidable than on their last visit here.

Dallas Long is back at fullback. Though he has been handicapped by the effects of an attack of malaria, he is now in prime condition. Long is a giant, tipping the scales at 210. He ripped the B. C. line to threads at times last year and is expected to duplicate that performance tomorrow. Long will work with Martin Kottler, Rud Eline and Lecil Hamilton, the last two being sophomores of much promise.

GOOD RESERVES

For reserve backs, Coach Kubale has "Buck" Moody, who has been often likened to Albie Booth. Moody is likely to break loose at any time and the predictions are that he will give the B. C. ends and secondary a busy afternoon. Elmer Hendren, who starred with the freshman team last season, has been out of the game with a blistered heel. He has not been in action since the Murray game but he will get in against the Eagles. Vivian Nemecek, who was well on his way to a regular berth, until he met with an injury in the Murray game, is also back in shape and rarin' to go.

The left side of the Centre line is composed of a veteran trio. Capt. Yater Breeding, Lancaster and Barksdale but the opposite is true of the right side, for ex-Capt M. J. Anderson, John Horkey, Fred Arnicar and Art Ruffin, who strangely enough played side by side from their high school through their college days, went out with the class of 1931. Reed Wooldridge will be at centre, Bob Snyder at guard, Bull Edwards at tackle and Fred Hinn on the flank.

B. C. AT PEAK FOR GAME

With the exception of Pete Shenulevich, Coach Joe McKenney will have his entire squad available for Centre. Upon the verdict of X-ray plates today rested the hopes that Pete Chenulevich would be able to play. "Chessy" suffered a slight brain concussion in the Loyola game.

Flavio Toci and Paul Donohue will be assigned to start on the ends for the Eagles. Capt. Phil Coughig and Reynolds will be the tackles, O'Lalor and Slamin the guards and Romano, the snapperback. Eddie Kelly will be at fullback flanked by Johnny Dougan and possibly Pete Chenulevich, with Johnny Freitas directing the attacks.

Also, the Eagles are well supplied with better than average replacements and all in all are set to give the Praying Colonels a busy hour.

FITTONS GOING TO ABINGTON

East Boston football fans will stage a crusade to Abington, where the Fittons play an ancient rival, the Old Town Team, tomorrow afternoon.

The Fittons, with Jackie Fisher running the team in great style, should come through with a victory, but not an easy one, for the Old Town Team is always stubborn.

The University of Peabody also makes a holiday journey away from home, going to Portland, Me., to tackle the Portland, A. L., eleven.

The feature game in East Boston will be a clash between the East Boston Brains and the Harding Club of Brighton at American Legion Park.

Al Weston, Pere Marquette quarterback, is directing the Reading Town Team and his production has stirred up a lot of football interest in the town. The Town Team games are played at night under floodlights.

So What?

By JOE MOONEY

"So Harvard wants to play Norfolk Prison," writes Whittlehark, '05. "Is this another game to satisfy the alumni?"

"When I was in Harvard, the coach worried about his players going on probation. Up here they worry about them going on parole.

"We don't pay any attention to lettermen here. What's a letter more or less, when you have six numbers on your shirt anyway?

"Norfolk has plenty of deception. How is Harvard going to stop our running guards when they're up on the parapets?

"We don't go in for the rah-rah stuff, but you should hear the strens blow when one of our backs gets loose.

"You may think you have seen some long runs, but just wait. Up here we don't call it a long run until a guy has gone 35 years at least."

LATIN AND RINDGE TOP HOLIDAY SCHOOL CARD

SPORTS

By BILL CORUM

Honesty Best
Policy Finds
Baseball, Boxing.

Horse Racing
Must Learn It
Or Sport Is Doomed.

New York, Oct. 11

Baseball, best managed of the highly commercialized professional sports, sees its World Series wound up in four games for the third time in six years at a cost of thousands of dollars to the club owners.

Honesty is the best policy, say the magnates, as they develop writer's cramp from signing checks to return money already in hand, and we'll get all this back with interest through the years.

Boxing, not always as pure as the driven snow, but generally purer than it is given credit for, sees Benny Leonard and Jimmy McLarnin offer a thoroughly earnest and honest fight, smack in the face of a thousand whispered rumors that they had agreed to engage in a humpty-dumpty.

Honesty is the best policy, say the boxing people. An old-fashioned waltz may be graceful and charming, but it makes and keeps no cash customers: and it's cash that we need to keep our sport going in these hard times.

What About Horse Racing?

But what of the third big commercialized sport, my friends? What of horse racing, the sport of kings and bankers and multi-millionaires and Society (with the capital S, if you please, Mr. Printer)? Yes, what has horse racing done in these parlous times to maintain the confidence of the public?

A part, at least, of the answer is to be found in a story by Tom Tohrp in yesterday's New York Evening Journal. He writes:

"The action of the stewards of the Jockey Club in suspending the licenses of Trainers James McTague and Elmer Fred pending the identification of thoroughbreds in their charge, and the refusal of the further entries of thoroughbreds owned by Mrs. Mollie H. Segal and trained by McTague, will have far-reaching results in halting the action of those responsible for the reported "ringing" of thoroughbreds about the metropolitan tracks this fall.

"It was reported that plans were under way to run the horse Don Pedro as the horse Surtees."

They Make You Guess What Horse Is Running

And further along in the story:

"Trainer Fred has not been about the New York tracks since he saddled the two-year-old Saintlite for the fifth race on the opening day of the present meeting. Saintlite, the medium of an attempted killing and backed from 30 to 1 to 10 to 1, finished fifth after breaking down when racing second to the winner.

"An investigation was started shortly after the running when it was suspected that the three-year-old Regula Baddun was sent postward under the name of Saintlite."

That, then, is what the so-called sport of kings is offering as depression fare in New York State—a series of ringers to add to the gayety of nations. Not content with allowing the customer to guess which horse will win, they make him try to guess which horse is running.

None of which is surprising except for the fact that the boys got caught. They haven't always been so unfortunate. I never go to a New York track but what I have the impulse to take along a banner to hang on the stewards' stand which will read:

Don't wake 'em up, boys!

Nice and thoroughly honest old gentlemen all, they just can't resist the impulse to doze. And who can blame them, since they are connected with a sport that has been sound asleep around here for 20 years

Customers Tell Why They Deserted Tracks

At least five years ago this column began sounding warnings about conditions on the New York tracks. Our outspoken championship of mutuel betting as a solution to the problem made some enemies. It also made some friends.

Had we kept the letters we received after these outspoken discussions of the racing situation in New York they would run into the thousands.

Hundreds of would-be customers told us why, much as they might like to under other conditions, they didn't patronize the New York tracks: they couldn't stand off that exorbitant $3.65 admission charge for six frequently inferior contests; they couldn't afford to bet at the prices offered by pinhills who asked too much the best of it; they hated to bet cash and, therefore, take whatever price their bookmaker offered, even when it was two and three points lower than the man next to him had posted; they couldn't stand the attitude of gatemen and attendants who had more rules about what they could and couldn't do than a traffic policeman.

This last may seem unimportant. But nobody will ever know how many paying customers it has disgruntled and driven away from racing.

End of Horse Racing in Sight

All these things, and others equally obvious, we pointed out off and on for five years, suggesting mutuels. It can't be done, said the boys. No?

Well, last month in a talk to the Turf Writers' Association, Joseph E. Widener, the most important figure in racing in the East, agreed with us that it either would be done or racing in New York State would be done. Now we see where Jamaica and Aqueduct probably will not open their gates next year, and of this you may be sure, if they don't open next year they will never open again.

And what is even more important, unless some drastic action is taken now, not next spring, or next year, there will be no horse racing of any kind, save possibly hunts meets and the like, in New York State in 1935.

Son, hang my prophet's robes back in the closet and pour my coffee in the saucer so I can drink it in style.

Heard on Alien Gridirons

Pittsburgh—There's no telling what the Pittsburgh Panthers will be able to do from an offensive standpoint once they start using their full repertoire of plays. Against their first three opponents the Panthers have gained 1300 yards, using only six running plays.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Followers of Syracuse's football fortunes probably still are wondering how the Orange came to win in Ohio Wesleyan. Syracuse gained more than 400 yards against the Ohioans yesterday, 19 to 12.

Annapolis, Md.—Rip Miller can see little but grief ahead of Navy in the Tars' battle with Ohio University. The Buckeye conference team has won 26 of its last 29 games and permitted the opposition only 60 points in that period.

Princeton, N. J.—On the sidelines most of last season with injuries, Jack James, Princeton halfback flash, is getting all the football practice he can this year. The Tiger first team was given a holiday yesterday but James appeared in uniform and helped the second team beat the third eleven by three touchdowns.

New York—There's at least one speed merchant on Georgetown's team that New York University will have to watch. He's Al Kelly who has won the national indoor sprint championship.

New York—Under Lou Little's coaching, Columbia has high hopes of turning in an undefeated record this year. Since Little arrived at Morningside Heights, a little over two years ago, the Lions have won four major games. His three immediate predecessors won only three major games over a span of ten years.

Storrs, Ct., Oct. 11 (INS)—Cliff Merrill, end, who has been on the sidelines nursing injuries since the Wesleyan game, was expected to report for work with the Connecticut Aggies Varsity again today, thus strengthening Aggies' hopes for a good showing Saturday against Massachusetts State here.

TANNERS TEST POWER OF BEVERLY

By BILL CONNELL

Civil warfare catches the fancy of Cambridge folks tomorrow when Leander MacDonald hurls his Cambridge Latin eleven at the Rindge Tech cohorts of Tommy Murphy at Russell Field.

Once each season these two coaches and teams forget their everyday friendship and proceed with much vim and vigor about the business of snaring the city grid title. Though the game is an early season matter, it always is a notable scrap, and this year the pair should put on one of their finest battles.

These are two evenly matched groups. Maybe Rindge has an edge, for since beating Lawrence a week ago last Saturday the team has had only preparation for the "Cantab" to worry it. Cambridge Latin tripped Marblehead Saturday by an 8-6 count.

Coach MacDonald and his boys laugh that game off, however.

"Just a scrimmage, one of the youngsters said to us. 'We're not fired. Watch us tomorrow.'

Plenty of Cambridge fans will watch the teams go. And be well repaid for the time spent at the game.

TWIN BILL AT FENWAY

The two Boston games at Fenway tomorrow a. m., will draw well, with English facing Trade and Dorchester playing Mechanic Arts. Bill Ohrenberger's English students seem headed for another win. Quarterback Bill Timmins of English, all around ace of the team, may prove too much for Trade to halt. Bill is a seasoned gridster, with a Brookline High and Newton High football background. He is a good blocker, carrier, and can pass or kick or take care of any other little job which crops up.

The Dorchester-Mechanic Arts scramble will be a see-saw scrap, if the records of the teams mean much.

Bodger Carroll sends his Beverly high team to Malden tomorrow. Here is the Framingham visit to Norwood.

Marblehead at Amesbury, Braintree at Bridgewater, Natick at Wellesley, Ashland at Millis, and Reading at Belmont are other 75-minute Day scraps.

And the Catholic High School League has its fine holiday tilts on the bill. St. Mary's of Brookline plays Immaculate Conception High at Braves Field, Clements of Somerville goes to the South End to face Cathedral High; and Mission High of Roxbury tangles with St. Charles High at Waltham.

BARRIERS TO CANTAB TITLE RUSH

Paul "Moose" Manning, guard, left, and Jack Stobe, quarterback, are staring at something. What? Why, it's the Cambridge school football crown, which these two will help win, if they can, against Cambridge Latin tomorrow morning at Russell Field, North Cambridge. The "Cantabs" have title ideas, too. All of which makes for a brilliant duel.

INJURIES FAIL TO HALT TUFTS

Coach Law Manly, finding that his Tufts eleven suffered only minor bruises and scratches in setting Bates Saturday at the Oval, is giving the boys their first scrimmage of the week this afternoon in preparation for a tough assignment against Bowdoin at Brunswick, Me., Saturday.

A small array of fans is planning to make the trip, for Bowdoin has the strongest team in years, having beaten Williams and Massachusetts State in two starts, and a close, thrilling contest is expected.

Gordon Grinnell, sophomore end, whose kicking was remarkable against Bates, is suffering from a sore foot, but is reporting for practice at the Oval minus his shoes. Even in his socks, with no other foot protection, he punts the ball just as far as with the heavy shoes on.

Lawrence Boy on "Public Enemy" List of B. C. H.

Boston schoolboys keep the grid fire hot this afternoon at Fenway Park when they serve up one of their very excellent double headers. Memorial against South Boston, and Hyde Park against Brighton, is the program.

Eddie Hankard and Mark Kelley Southie backs, will be difficult to halt. And Skip Sherlock has his Hyde Park engine turning over at high speed now, which makes the prospects bleak for Brighton.

Cambridge Latin's scheduled game with Somerville, for Saturday, has been shifted to next Monday. The Cantaba defeated Marblehead last Saturday, and tomorrow they hope to trip Rindge Tech. But another game so soon after the holiday was figured as too much for even the dauntless Latin scholars. Hence the shift.

Fullback Medelinskas of Lawrence will be the boy for B. C. High gridmen to watch next Saturday at Lawrence. The young man can pass and run with any of the current crop of backs.

Rud Hoye, Latin halfback, is the third of the stalwart Hoye brothers whose names have been oft repeated in Latin reports. Rud is one great kicker, say the boys who make it their business to know who's who among the schoolboys.

Jack Britt, Cambridge Latin back, who was smashed up at the start of the 1931 season, now will be eligible for Cantab play, the birdies are whispering. Jack is rangy and heavy enough to be a great help to the team for the rest of the year.

To Meet Leominster

Concord, Oct. 11—The Concord high school football eleven, fresh from its victory over the Chelmsford high outfit, Saturday, is polishing up for a game on Columbus Day afternoon with the Leominster high eleven, to be played on the latter's gridiron, in Leominster.

Bouts Last Night

At Holyoke—Eddie Reed, Hartford featherweight, defeated Lew Parker, Brooklyn (10).

At Toronto—Bobby Latham, Montreal bantamweight, defeated Tony Marino, Pittsburgh (12).

At Charleston, W. Va.—Chuck Burns, San Antonio, light heavyweight, defeated Johnny Roberts, Charlestown (10).

At Albany, N. Y.—Frankie Petrolle, Fargo, N. D., lightweight, scored a technical kayo over Mike Sarko, Boston (7).

At Manchester, Eng.—Johnny Alty, Manchester, defeated Dick Corbett, Nantanweight champion of England (15).

At Terre Haute—Tiger Jack Fox, Indianapolis, outpointed Meyer (KO) Christner, Akron, O. (10).

NAME 26 HORSES FOR BIG RACE

Newmarket, England, Oct. 11 (AP)—Twenty-six horses today were named as probable starters in the Cesarewitch Stakes, great autumn handicap to be run here tomorrow over the 2¼-mile course.

Sandwich and Nitsichin are joint favorites at the long odds of 100 to 9, indicating a wide open race. The veteran jockey, Steve Donoghue, will ride Blue Vision, an outsider in the betting.

The probable starters: Sandwich, Nitsichin, Son O'Mint Pahoke, Sandain, Blue Vision, Bonny Bright Eyes, West Wicklow, Rio de Paris, R. B. Bennett, Manditsara, Blandearna, Sandy Lashes, Prince Oxedon, Gainslaw, Fire Away, Air Pocket, Tor, Joyous Greeting, Saphir, Popsie II, Chelmarsh Boldero, Manbo, Mac's Choice and Claymore.

CRIPPLES BACK AT DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 11—Dartmouth varsity players who saw action against the stubborn Lafayette Leopards last Saturday were given a much needed rest while the scrubs were given a stiff workout against the freshmen scoring six touchdowns to win 39 to 0.

Dartmouth's prospects for the Pennsylvania game next Saturday brightened considerably with the appearance on the field of several veterans whose injuries kept them out of the Lafayette game.

Ward Donner, veteran right end, clad in shorts, went through warming up exercises, although he still favored his injured ankle, and Fu Hulsart, substitute left guard who has been out with shoulder injuries for a week, was in uniform and officiated in the scrimmage as head linesman.

The condition of Al Baldwin, veteran tackle who played for a short time last Saturday, is improving. His leg should be such that he can see full time service against Penn. Jack Donovan of Norwood, Mass., speedy halfback, is still on the bench with a partially dislocated shoulder, but will be back in the lineup by the end of the week.

Ten Stock Prices

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

Ten active major issues on the New York Stock Exchange Monday closed with a total market valuation of $3,540,820,348.

GRIFFITH IS IN TRADING MOOD

Washington, Oct. 11 (AP)—Power in the pitching box and brawn behind the bat stood forth today as the primary aims of Clark Griffith, veteran baseball pilot, new manager of the Washington baseball club, for entering the 1933 campaign.

Cronin, who at 26 succeeded Walter Johnson as pilot of the American League Senators, talked things over with Griffith a while and then Clark Griffith yesterday. That was their decision.

"I'm not willing to do any talking about the identity of the regulars we think we might improve upon," Griffith said, "but I will say that we agreed that we need strength in the box and behind the bat if we are to be serious contenders in the coming race."

First-baseman Harley Ross was indicated as the most likely man on the Senator string to be disposed of first, since the club has the veteran Joe Judge and the youthful Joe Kuhel on hand for the job.

Griffith said he hadn't any particular deals in mind right now, but that "we hope to pick up a promising pitcher or two and another catcher, by trade or cash, before next season."

Cronin, shortstop of the team for several seasons, left the capital yesterday for his home at San Francisco.

TODAY'S RACE SCRATCHES

SPORTSMAN PARK

1—Santa Rosa, Belle Price, Sunny Flower, Phil Orchard, Angora Ward, Jane Boggess, Lugenluggage.

3—Dick Chevely, Black Lightning, Mersnuff Modern Maiden, Norma D., Noel Blase, War Time, Tender Sneezer, More Power.

5—Wily Girl, Probationer, Sun Low, Alma S., Joe Macaw, Merovech, Ruth Jelinek, Avail.

4—Nazdar, Princess Black, Kranella, Courier, Silverman, Sir Romeo, Jargon, Redline.

Weather clear; track muddy.

LAUREL

1—Yankaway, Tremendous, Madame Snob, Changeable, St. Christopher, Conspray.

2—Some Knight, Dainty Step, Porter's Dream, Blimp, Silverdale, Hyman.

3—Face to Face, Parade Step, Once Chance, Learoyd, Gadaround, Ennis.

4—None.

5—Seattle,

6—Gay Party.

7—Delight, Syrlac, Ruane, Buhoia, Bide a Wee.

Weather clear; track good.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the For Rent columns.

SHANTY HOGAN MAY CHANGE UNIFORM

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—"Memphis Bill" Terry has hauled out the big broom, swept four players westward to St. Louis and started a clean-up campaign that threatens to make the New York Giants all but unrecognizable when once more they begin their labors.

In a straight player trade, Terry sent Bill Walker and Jim Mooney, southpaw pitchers, Outfielder Ethan Allen and Catcher Bob O'Farrell to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for Ray Starr, rookie right-handed pitcher, and Gus Mancuso, young catcher.

Other deals are "on the fire," it was revealed at Giant headquarters and not a player on the team except Mel Ott and Terry himself, seems certain of remaining on the roster for 1933.

SOUNDED OUT BRAVES

There were rumblings that the Giants were trying to do business with the Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds and one rumor linked the club in a swap with the National League champions, the Chicago Cubs.

The names of Freddie Lindstrom, Hughey Critz and Francis (Shanty) Hogan were freely mentioned, with the Giants casting covetous eyes in the general direction of Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, Pat Malone and Frank Demaree.

When he was signed recently to a two-year contract as manager of the Giants, Terry said he would rebuild the club from the ground up. The Giants, picked in the spring as almost certain contenders for the pennant, never got started and wound up in the depths of the second division.

GIANTS BENEFITED

The deal with the Cardinals adds much needed battery strength to the Giants. Hogan, a hard hitter but slow, did the bulk of the Giants' catching last season. But Mancuso is expected to share that job about equally with Hogan next year if "Shanty" is not traded.

Starr is a promising right-hander, trained on the Cardinal Rochester farm. He had a banner year with Rochester in 1931 and was taken to the Cardinals' camp this spring.

He was not expected to be kept as a relief pitcher, but asked instead to rejoin Rochester, where he would be certain to have plenty of work. Lack in the campaign he rejoined the Cardinals and pitched impressively in several games.

MOONEY DISAPPOINTMENT

Walker and Mooney, sensations in 1931, were big disappointments last season, winning 14 games and losing 23 between them. Allen is a fleet outfielder, but a poor hitter, and O'Farrell, once one of the league's greatest catchers, now is long past his prime in a baseball sense.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

MORRIS LEMOINE is an unusual type of manager. He admits that Andy Callahan outscored Lou Brouillard in their 12-round bout at the Boston Garden.

Lemoine, however, does not admit that Brouillard is the better fighter. Let us quote Lemoine:

"Callahan won from Brouillard by getting an early lead. I do not believe that anybody will question the fact Brouillard won the last three rounds. Over the 15-round route, Brouillard would have won.

"Lou made the mistake of not getting started earlier. I am ready to match Brouillard for a return meeting with Callahan. In the event of such a bout taking place, I feel sure Brouillard will win. Lou is still the world's best fighter at 147 pounds."

I asked Lemoine if he intended to send Brouillard against Young Corbett, Pacific Coast welterweight champion.

"Why not?" demanded Lemoine. "Corbett is probably the outstanding challenger for a title bout with Jackie Fields. If Brouillard can win from Corbett, he will be in position to get the Fields match. I am sure Brouillard will be the best welterweight champion of the world."

* * *

Using Good Judgment

I BELIEVE LEMOINE is using good judgment in pitting Brouillard against Corbett. Although Lou lost to Callahan, he put up a great battle. He didn't lose any standing. The bout enhanced Callahan's rating, but it left Brouillard as one of the stand-out men in the welterweight division.

The Garden can make a ton of money as well as help the boxing game in this city if it continues to feature welterweights. This class has always been popular here. Welterweights are big enough to furnish real punching power, while they don't carry enough tonnage to produce dreary bouts.

Let's see McLarnin, Corbett, Fields and the rest of the sharpshooters in the welterweight division.

* * *

Sparring Partners Needed

EVEN IN THESE days of the so-called depression, sparring partners for outstanding heavyweights can still earn $25 a day. And have their hotel bills paid in addition.

Ernie Schaaf has hired Frankie Sims of Cleveland and Tiger Henderson to step a few punches while he trains for his 10-round bout with Unknown Winston, which will be held at the Boston Garden on the Arena on October 20. Schaaf wanted to make sure that he will have sparring partners if cold weather a rough training period.

Fans Razz Old Style Tactics as Lewis Wins

Madison Square Garden, New York, Oct. 11 (US)—That part of the heavyweight wrestling title fiasco simple by the New York boxing commission was retained by the old champion, Ed Strangler Lewis, when he defeated Jack Sherry of Minnesota in 1 hour, 24 minutes and 15 seconds.

Sherry succumbed to a succession of four headlocks, the hold made famous by Lewis.

It was an old style wrestling bout, devoid of the flying tackles, flying mares, airplane spins, left hooks and right crosses with which the modern school of grapplers regale a new generation of mat fans.

Lewis and Sherry attended strictly to business. The customers did not like it and said so often, loudly and at great length.

Mat Results

At New York—Ed "Strangler" Lewis defeated Jack Sherry, Minnesota, and recovered world's champion. Sammy Stein, Newark, defeated Mike Romano, Italy.

At Chicago—Jim Londos, Greek title claimant, pinned Abe Coleman, New York; Joe Stecher, former heavyweight champion, defeated Jim Clinstock, Oklahoma Indian.

At Camden, N. J.—Fred Grossmeier, 208, Iowa, defeated Pat McRay, 210, Memphis, one hour 21 minutes 25 seconds.

At Lincoln, Neb.—Pat Mc'ill, Winner, Neb., threw Charles Peters, Nebraska, straight falls.

At Battle Creek, Mich.—Buck Weaver, Indianapolis, won in straight falls from Sailor Watkins, Los Angeles.

BELL NEW TECH TRACK CAPTAIN

Richard Bell, '34, of St. Louis, recipient of the Technique Cup award at Technology, has been elected captain of the 1933 track team.

Bell, sprinter, was chosen to succeed Everett Coon, who did not return to the Institute this year.

Goalie Gardiner Signs on Dotted Line

Chicago, Oct. 11 (INS)—Goalie Charley Gardiner has signed on the dotted line for the coming season, it was announced today by officials of the Chicago Blackhawks. The star goalie has been given a 10-day layoff by order of doctors from practice which was started yesterday by the team at training quarters in Duluth, Minn.

Santerre in Draw With Beaudett

Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 11—Rugby Santerre of Suncook, welterweight champion of New Hampshire and Al Beaudett of Manchester, fought a six-round draw in the main bout of the Arena A. C. in Sugrue Hall here.

Reed Victor Over Farber at Holyoke

Holyoke, Oct. 11—Eddie Reed of Hartford won the decision over Lew Farber of New York in the 10-round main bout at the Valley Arena here.

GOLDBERG'S CARTOONS — A Sad, Sad Story

A SAD, SAD STORY
CHRISTOPHER BUTTS, OLD-TIME BAR-TENDER, WAITED AROUND SINCE 1918 FOR PROHIBITION TO BE REPEALED-
HE WAS DELIGHTED WHEN HE READ THAT BOTH POLITICAL CONVENTIONS HAD COME OUT AGAINST THE EIGHTEENTH AMENDMENT-
HE TOLD HIS OLD SWEETHEART HE COULD NOW MARRY HER BECAUSE HE'D SOON BE MAKING BIG DOUGH MIXING COCKTAILS & SERVING WINE-
WHILE I AM RUNNING ON A WET PLATFORM STILL THERE ARE CERTAIN COMPLICATIONS- ETC. ETC.
THEN HE HEARD THE CANDIDATES STRADDLE THE ISSUE AND HE KNEW IT WOULD TAKE YEARS TO PUT DRINK ON AN HONEST FOOTING
YES, MY DAUGHTER'S GOING IN THE MOVIES AS SOON AS SHE REACHES HOLLYWOOD
SHE DON'T KNOW FROM NOTHIN'
McNaught Syndicate, Inc. W. Y.

POWERS WINS ACE TILT

1700 GOLFERS FAIL TO MAKE HOLE IN ONE

By JOE MOONEY

From the welter of competition offered by exactly 1700 contestants John J. Powers, Franklin Park golfer, emerged victorious in the Boston Evening American's Hole-In-One tournament at Franklin Park.

A harvest moon hung high in the heavens, and a blood red sun was 15 minutes below the horizon when the 1700th competitor blasted his final shot at the elusive cup, 115 yards away in the clearing.

The tournament was over.

1500 SEE FINAL ROUND

A Yom Kippur throng of 1500 witnessed the final round. They saw the last 133 contestants file to the tee to do their best over the 115 yard layout. They watched the haggard eyed Tommy Murray, once first place holder, finish his 10-day death watch on the field until he was led away, slightly delirious in the knowledge that he had finished third.

The ace tournament established beyond all doubt that your average Boston golfer is far beyond the duffer class when it comes to handling a No. 6 iron. The tournament proved that about one in ten golfers can hit a 115-yard circle 115 yards away at least once out of five tries from the tee.

Success rode the tournament from the first foggy morning to the final bright, blue October day. Every one of the 1700 golfers was accounted for. There were less protests, second guesses, and general despairing than there would be demand for snow shovels in the Sahara.

BLUE HILLS C. C. WINS

Blue Hills Country Club, whose members concentrated on winning the team prize almost to the exclusion of individual fortunes, won the object of their desires, and the Mayor James M. Curley trophy is theirs to have and to hold forever.

Four Blue Hills golfers averaged 35.1 inches apiece for best balls. Individually, they were Tom Brady, 2 ft., 3 in.; Bill Raynor, 2 ft., 3 in.; Ed McAuliffe, 3 ft., 2 in., and Art Billingham, 4 ft., 3½ in. They total 12 ft., 8½ inches.

This noses out Scarboro for the team prize by more than an aggregate 3 feet. In this team were Tom Loughman, 3 feet 4½ inches; Walter Phipps, 3 feet 10 inches; Mike Casey, 4 feet, and Joe Murray, 4 feet 8 inches. This aggregates 15 feet 10½ inches.

The Houghton-Dutton team golfers won the Retail Stores trophy over a field of some 30 entrants.

All over the city last night holiday spirit prevailed in the homes of the winning golfers.

WINNER CELEBRATES

At the home of John Powers, relatives and friends acclaimed the winner.

To Henry C. Lynch, second place winner, of West Medford, came swarms of well wishers to offer congratulations.

To Tommy Murray, the Red Sox trainer, came friends bearing cheers and ice bags for the fevered brow of the third place winner.

But greatest of all celebrations was that given by Norko McCormack, loyal brother of Congressman John W. McCormack of South Boston.

It was recalled how 165 players hit the little circle. The winning shot of John Powers was dramatized richly. The gallant bid of Miss Kathryn Halfhan, star of the women golfers, was recalled with zest.

The Hole-In-One tournament is now history.

All that remains is the presentation of the prizes, the announcement of which function will be made Thursday morning.

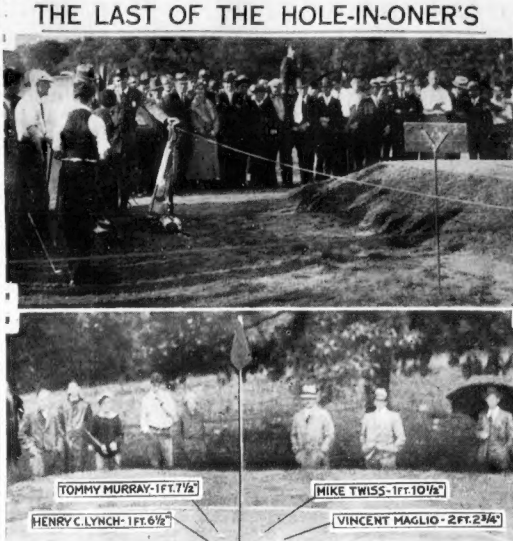
Coast Baer Tries to Rid Self of Parasites

New York, Oct. 11 (INS)—Madison Square Garden officials today sought Max Baer, California heavyweight, to box Primo Carnera, giant Italian, in the 15-round feature event of the New York Christmas Fund show. The charity bouts will be staged on December 9.

Carnera has agreed to the bout, but Baer was reported suffering from "manager" troubles. He was said to have so many managers cutting in on his purse that little remained for himself.

Garden officials said Baer had threatened to quit the ring unless the shareholders agreed to compromise their claims.

THE LAST OF THE HOLE-IN-ONER'S



Up there at the top you see part of the tremendous gallery of close to 1500 golf enthusiasts who, as dusk settled over Franklin Park, watched the last of the Aces send their five shots winging toward the elusive cup, 115 yards away. And (below) an American artist has placed the winning shots at their relative distances from the cup.

The Winners

NAME	DISTANCE
1—John J. Powers	1 ft. 5¼ in. (Sport Wrist Watch.)
2—Henry C. Lynch	1 ft. 6½ in. (6 clubs and leather bag.)
3—Tommy Murray	1 ft. 7½ in. (10 clubs and leather bag.)
4—Mike Twiss	1 ft. 10½ in. (Kennedy Sports suit.)
5—Vincent Maglio	2 ft. 2¾ in. (Three matched woods.)
6—Tom Brady	2 ft. 3 in. (Five matched irons.)

Blue Hills Country Club won the Mayor James M. Curley club trophy.

Houghton and Dutton won the Boston American Retail Stores Trophy.

MAT CHAMP IN TOWN TO TRAIN

By RINGSIDE

Henri DeGlane, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, popped into town today ready to finish training for his title bout, best two falls out of three, with Al Morelli, which will be staged at the Boston Garden on Friday night.

DeGlane made a trip here last week and asked Paul Bowser to postpone the tussle. The champion asked for more time in which to train. Bowser refused DeGlane's request.

Dr. Fred Meyer of Chicago, who tackles Nick Lutze of California in one of the 20-minute semifinals, is of the opinion he will win. He is a finished grappler, and intends to carry the battle to Lutze from the opening gun.

"Gentleman" Jack Washburn, with his new bride, the former Dorothy Dawn, will arrive here tomorrow Washburn will clash with Pat Fraley, Irish heavyweight. They will battle for some kind of a rough man's championship.

Jim Browning is flying here from St. Louis for his tussle with Charley Strack.

SAULSPAUGH IS FIT FOR RACE

With a classy array of pilots of international fame to fly the course's flag at the new Readville Speedway, Hyde Park, tomorrow afternoon, New England sports fans should witness the greatest speed classic ever held in the East.

Bryan Saulspaugh, half-mile dirt track champion and holder of the Woodbridge, N. J., speedway championship heads the list of the topnotch drivers who are favored to win the big prize money offered.

Saulspaugh recently cracked up on the Jersey track, which confined the youthful daredevil in a New Jersey hospital for ten days. Bryan wired the Readville management last night that he was O. K and is bringing a new Miller Special to Readville. The race is owned by a wealthy Philadelphia sportsman.

TAP'S TRIPLE COMBINATION

Number, please. That's all Tap has to say to his assistants, and with a searching glance to the heavens, they pop up with three figures daily. These numbers will dominate all transactions, or so the star gazers fondly hope.
HOW CROSS GOID SQUAD USES REVOLVER AND PISTOLS TO GET RANGE FOR FOURTH QUARTER PASSES. (NEWS ITEM)
OF COURSE, WEAPONS AGAINST ALLOWED ON THE FIELD—BUT THIS IS HOW THE LINEMEN THROW DAGGERS AT EACH OTHER
OH-WELL, EVERY TEAM HAS IT'S BIG SHOTS
MY HERO
COACH—I THINK I'M A PLAYER OF HIGH CALIBER
YEAH—22 CALIBRE, YOUR MIND'S A BLANK!

Eve. American Thanks Six Fine Sports

By RAY HELGESEN

Well, it's over.

The Boston Evening American's Hole-In-One tourney, a Noble Experiment if ever there was one, required ten days and, as in the case of a more publicized Noble Experiment, failed of its objective.

Or did it?

We started out to try and prove whether a hole-in-one is skill or luck. We wanted to know just how much skill a golfer needed to step up there and say, "here's a hole-in-one"—and then sink it. Or if luck just how much luck he needed.

PLENTY OF ARGUMENT

We didn't find out. But we did provide plenty of material for argument around golf club fire places this winter.

Seventeen hundred golfers fired 3000 balls at the pin, 115 yards away, and not one found the can. But it may be different next year.

And in the meantime we want to pass along our thanks to those who helped make the tourney a success.

Park Commissioner William P. Long comes first. His splendid cooperation in allowing the American to use one of the sportiest holes on any golf course can't be too highly praised.

Mayor Curley donated the trophy for club competition that went to the Blue Hills C. C. He also rewarded to "Ace"—and failed. We'll go overboard for the mayor, too.

THREE GOOD SPORTS

Then there are Joseph Gilman, president of the Boston Garden, Dick Dunn, Boston's popular independent promoter, and W. J. Kenney, president of the Kenney Stores. Those three donated the second, third and fourth prizes and added their personal support to insure the success of the event.

And to Mr. George Wright, of Wright and Ditson. A. G. Spalding Co., we are indebted for his cooperation in the selection of some of the finest clubs ever given away as prizes. All the clubs were purchased at the Wright and Ditson store.

It's all over until next spring when we expect to go again. In the meantime, perhaps you can figure how it can be done—an Ace in five shots. Good Luck!

DEAD BALL RULE HERE TO STAY

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Oct. 11 (INS)—It's a bit early to start crowing, but the man is an optimist or he wouldn't be secretary of the football rules committee, and so William S. Langford feels today that he might like to chirrup a few treble notes on his half of the new rules.

With fingers crossed and eyes on high in mock piety he points out that after more than 800 college games played since the start of the 1932 season, there have been almost no major and somewhat less than the customary run of minor injuries and that, as a result things the maximum of casualties comes early in the season, not late.

He added that, if all went well, there would be no further changes in the football code this winter and at least for several to come.

"We've checked on the reception of the new game in all parts of the country," said he, "and everywhere our reports are distinctly favorable. These have come in from the Pacific Coast, from the conference towns of the mid-west, from our own observation here and from Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans and other parts of the South. Almost without exception the approval has been whole-hearted and generous."

The exception in question has been raised in connection with the now "dead ball" rule, of which he himself is the blushing author.

It says, in effect, that the ball is dead at the point where any portion of the carrier's anatomy, his feet excepted, touch the ground, with prompt penalties provided for attempted evasion and outright violation.

What it's critics have been saying is chiefly locker-room dialogue and not for literal publication. He even had a petition from the Big Ten coaches to lighten it severely, but when the rules committee took a vote, its negative was unanimous, and Mr. Langford thinks the time is coming when everybody will feel much the same about it.

"We can't take a chance on interpretations creeping in," he went on. "As soon as we did that, we'd be up in a mess chaos with a dead rule on our books. No, we have to be strict with it, because we have to show we mean business.

"Once they get that idea firmly in their minds, the players will cease trying to get that extra yard and the injuries will cease to pile up."

Anyhow, that's the gentleman's story.

Lagorio Low Man in Newspaper Golf

John Griffin of the Post and Joe Lagorio of the Globe shared Class A in the Newspaper G. A. tournament at Wee Burn with 89—70 won him low gross while Lagorio's 79 was the best gross score. Bob Kennedy and W. C. Stanley, both of the Globe, had second and third best net.

Expect McCarthy to Sign Up Today

New York, Oct. 11 (INS)—Joe McCarthy, manager of the world champion New York Yankees, was to confer today with Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yanks. McCarthy may sign a new contract today, and it was reported he will receive a boost of about $20,000 in salary.

PIEROTTI ON THE AIR

Former Braves Star Gives Grid Points

Among early Tuesday and Friday evening features found on Boston stations looms one about which sufficient hasn't been said. Meaning the twice-weekly WLOE sport talk by Al Pierotti, former Braves hurler and an all-America football star. His detailed description of each position held by 11 gridiron men is not only interesting but instructive no little.

* * *

Governor Joseph B. Ely is launching his own Massachusetts gubernatorial campaign by radio tonight (WBZ) at 7:15.

* * *

NETWORK NOTES

Georgie Price sings songs to his dog first before deciding on broadcast brand new ones. If the mutt wags his tail, it seems, George uses the tune. N. Y. columnist Nick Kenny writes declaring the practice downright cruelty to animals. Verily, it is . . . Kate Smith broke another theater attendance record in Baltimore last week, so the management gave her a silver loving cup . . . Arthur Allen and Parker Fennelly (The Stebbins Boys) conclude their present series Oct. 21, after a solid year at NBC microphones during the popular "Backyard Point" programs . . . By jingo, it's going to be great hearing Floyd Gibbons regularly again, beginning Friday night (WEEI) at 10:30. Sure enough, the famous Headline Hunter is all set, ready and willing to get his snappy new series under way.

Now to pin a praiseworthy rose on Vic (Tattler) Whitman, staff sketch sculptor at WEEI. He's doing an excellent job with that nightly "Tattler" turn he takes at 6 o'clock. Those "Charlie and Willie" characters portrayed by Vic and Announcer Fred Hawkins are funnier by far than some of the New York talent getting more money than NBC and CBS ought to pay for certain so-called comedy . . . Tommy (Hum and Strum) Currier insists he and his partner never listen to Ronnie and Van vocal harmony. He seemed quite visibly upset because the "colyum" once said they did. Imagine how excited Tommy might get were a suggestion made they should—eh? Members of the "Cat and the Fiddle" musical show, now behind Shubert Theater footlights, will hold forth for a half hour (WNAC) Thursday afternoon between 4:30 and 5 o'clock, aided by Charles R. Hector and his Yankee Network orchestra . . . Henry Busse, accompearing in person for RKO this week, provokes a laugh a minute with his "Red Riding Hood" story in dialect. Eddie, the office boy here, hopes Henry decides to also tackle "Bluebeard." As for Eddie puts it ala Burbig, the "Heestry from Beefalow Bully" . . .

FLIERS TO RACE AT AIR SHOW

Ability to sprint and to blow toy balloons will decide the issue for the speed pilots in one of the features of the air show at the municipal airport in East Boston tomorrow, when 20,000 persons are expected to witness one of the season's biggest airplane exhibitions in New England.

In a two-lap race around the airport, the fliers must land at the end of the first lap, stop their motors, and sprint to the nearest telephone. They will be given balloons, which they will blow until the balloons burst. Then the contestants must race back to their airplanes, start the motors and fly the final lap.

Twenty-five ships will compete in a derby to the Wellesley-Natick airport and return. About 10 other events, including a race for pilots to each plane, will be run. Deadstick landings, acrobatics, bomb dropping, land landings and autogiro exhibition and a parachute jump also are scheduled.

PAIR WIN DANCE AT 2602 HOURS

Ending a grind they began June 24, Joe and Mary Landiso, husband and wife, of Chicago, won the Gold Slipper dance marathon Monday in the Marathon arena at Revere Beach.

The end of the contest, which had narrowed down to two couples for a week, came at 3:10 a. m., when Anthony "Speedy" Barringer of Milwaukee, broke his required dance position and was disqualified, which also disqualified his partner, Mary Pappas of Waterhill st., West Lynn.

The two couples had battled 2602 hours and 10 minutes. They were in their 109th day of dancing. The winners will receive $1000 and the runner-up $500, during a closing show for Revere's unemployed in the Marathon arena tonight.

Lord Somerset, Song Writer, Dies Aged 83

Florence, Italy, Oct. 11 (AP)—Lord Henry Somerset composer of many songs and comptroller of Queen Victoria's household from 1873 to 1879, died today aged 83. One of his best known compositions is the song, "All Through the night."

"Rattlesnake Pete" Dies

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 11 (AP)—Peter Gruber, 78, whose knowledge of venomous snakes made him internationally famous as "Rattlesnake Pete," died at his home today.

Bi-Weekly Sports Talks a Feature

WNAC—Abe Lyman Band.
WBZ—Your Government.
WEEI—Crumit and Sanderson.
8:15 P. M.
WAAB—Harmonistic trio.
WNAC—Edwin C. Hill.
8:30 P. M.
WAAB—Dictators.
WNAC—Hawaiian Echoes.
WBZ—Republican Campaign, Calvin Coolidge.
WEEI—Wayne King's music.
8:45 P. M.
WAAB—Book talk.
WNAC—Tanks Mixed Quartet.
9:00 P. M.
WAAB—Le Paradise band.
WNAC—Music that satisfies.
WEEI—Ben Bernie orchestra.
WLOE—Carroll's orchestra.
9:15 P. M.
WAAB—Master of Mystery.
WNAC—Threads of Happiness.
9:30 P. M.
WNAC—Crime Clubs.
WBZ—Friendship Club.
WEEI—Fire Chiefs.
10:00 P. M.
WAAB—Republican campaign.
WNAC—Frankie Smith's music.
WBZ—Country Doctor.
WEEI—"Magic Carpet" hour.
10:15 P. M.
WNAC—Garmetville Sketches.
WBZ—Joe Rines' Orchestra.
10:30 P. M.
WAAB—Dance Matinion.
WNAC—Joe Solomon's orchestra.
10:45 P. M.
WAAB—Piano duo.
WBZ—News.
11:00 P. M.
WAAB—Y. M. C. A. talk.
WNAC—News.
WBZ—Sports review.
WEEI—Forecasts; news.
11:15 P. M.
WNAC—Al Starita music.
WBZ—Candullo's Orchestra.
WEEI—Leo Reisman's Orchestra.
11:30 P. M.
WAAB—Isham Jones' Orchestra.
WNAC—Moore's Orchestra.
11:45 P. M.
WBZ—Organ.
12:00 MID.
WNAC—Don Redman orchestra.
WBZ—Whiteman's Orchestra.
12:30 A. M.
WNAC—Stern's orchestra.

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Evening American on the Air

of the Boston American and Hearst Metrotone News

A complete radio daily newspaper—75 minutes of news, markets, fashions, features, sports and special entertainment.

213 M.—STATION WAAB—1410 Kil.
256 M.—WORC, Worcester—1200 Kil.
211 M.—WMAS, Springfield—1420 Kil.

7:45- 8:00 A. M.—CITY EDITION OF THE AIR.
11:00-11:15 A. M.—FEATURE PERIOD.
Mon., Wed. and Fri.—Martha Lee's Homemaking Class.
Tuesday—Uncle Ted, Farm and Garden Talk.
Thursday—Ann Arden on Fashions.
Saturday—Feature Forecaster; News Flashes.
12:30-12:45 P. M.—PEACH EDITION OF THE AIR.
3:00- 3:15 P. M.—SEVEN STAR EDITION OF THE AIR.
Stock Market Quotations; News Flashes.
7:00- 7:15 P. M.—SEVEN O'CLOCK EDITION OF THE AIR.
News Flashes; Features.

Ten High Spots

6:00—WAAB—H. V. Kaltenborn.
6:45—WAAB—Piano Pictures.
7:15—WBZ—Governor Ely.
7:45—WNAC—Georgie Price.
8:00—WBZ—Your Government.
8:30—WBZ—Calvin Coolidge.
9:00—WNAC—Street Singer.
9:30—WEEI—Ed Wynn.
10:00—WAAB — Republican Campaign.
11:00—WAAB—Y. M. C. A. Day.

Boston Stations

Kilocycles	Meters
1410 WAAB	213
1230 WNAC	244
990 WBZ	303
590 WEEI	508
1500 WLOE	200
830 WHDH	361
920 WBSO	326

Ed Young, Yankee Philosopher.
WNAC—Myrt and Marge.
WBZ—Amos 'n' Andy.
WEEI—Jack Beauvais, songs.
WHDH—Song pictures.

Tuesday, October 11

6:15 P. M.
WAAB—Reis and Dunn.
WNAC—Novelty Four.
6:30 P. M.
WAAB—Jack Miller Orchestra.
WNAC—Big Brother.
WBZ—Dance music.
WEEI—News; Cap'n and Widder.
WHDH—Wabash boys.
WLOE—Bennet's Orchestra.
6:45 P. M.
WAAB—Piano Pictures.
WNAC—Chandu.
WBZ—Lowell Thomas topics.
7:00 P. M.
WAAB—American Globe Trotter; Sports.
7:15 P. M.
WAAB—Joe Monty's Orchestra.
WNAC—Noble Sissle's Orchestra.
WBZ—Governor Joseph B. Ely.
WEEI—Dramatic program.
7:30 P. M.
WAAB—String Quartet.
WBZ—Stebbins Boys.
WEEI—Ray Perkins.
WLOE—Variety program.
7:45 P. M.
WAAB—Sullivan's Shamrock Band.
WNAC—Georgie Price program.
WBZ—Johnny Hart in Hollywood.
WEEI—Rise of the Goldbergs.
8:00 P. M.
WAAB—Gossipers.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By LOUIS SOBOL

Down Memory Lane!

(with Mickey Mouse.)

Well, here I am back on Broadway, this time to celebrate my fourth birthday. Think of it! Four years old. Gosh, how time flies! Why it doesn't seem a day over a century ago that I made my debut in the Colony Theater at 53rd st. (Is it still the Colony?)

American readers may remember that day—it was the day that the trap drummer had to keep his trap closed while I held my mouse warming, a thing unheard of up to that time. That was October 1, 1928, and not September 29, as some jealous cat once announced. You see, a rather resourceless press agent had to write a story about me some time back, and he hit upon the idea of having me born on Michaelmas Day, because my name sounds like Michaelmas when you say it quickly. Michaelmas Day, you know, was named in honor of St. Michael the Archangel. But if that press agent had only stopped to think he might have known that it would have been more appropriate to name me after a Fallen Archangel.

Of course, I'll admit that the religious implication was there, for I was the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Field Mouse. We were church mice, you see, and as poor as they come, too. But we always had lots of fun, particularly when mother used to tell us bedtime stories, ending up with the one about Mamma Bear, Papa Bear and Camembert. But a lot of cheese has floated across toasted sandwiches since then.

One day some white mice who had traveled with a circus visited our part of town and told me about a place called Hollywood, adding that "there's cheese in them thar Hills." I always was a venturesome child, and I decided to go, so when I heard that our pastor was being transferred to California I crawled into his cuckoo clock and went along. In Hollywood I encountered an old friend—that is, an old friend of my great-uncle, the one who used to live in a hole under the floor of a commercial art shop in Kansas City. The friend's name was Walt Disney and he used to work in that shop. The poor guy was burdened with a lot of fatherless waifs, all trying to make money drawing pictures of silly old cats and dolls and fairies and things. So I came into his life, and now look at him.

You know, in the old Kansas City days Walt, who is now referred to as "His Monster's Voice," was as poor as any church mouse in the country. My great-uncle used to write to my father about him. It seems that Walt was employed at a very small salary to draw pictures for a farm journal—cows and things. To his innocent joy at the prospect of licking somebody's patent salt sacks, chickens and manure, I reported with enthusiasm at the sight of Whoozit's Lay-More-Egg Feed and lots of silly things like that.

Walt used to work until midnight some nights, and on those occasions he'd see my great-uncle and members of his family come up through the hole in the floor in search of crumbs dropped by noon-day luncheon. Walt, a friendly guy, picked up an acquaintance with my great-uncle, and in the end my family got to hear felt into the habit of sitting on the drawing board while Walt drew his picture. My Alter Ego didn't know it at the time, but the drawing of those pictures of animals stood him in good stead when I came along.

But even after Walt and I got together things didn't go very well. He and I knew that we had something great, but we were unable for a time to get that enthusiasm over to people who counted. Everybody turned thumbs down to us, and in the end there were so many thumbs that they looked like a passel of stalactites from the Mammoth Cave. The result was that my first picture was made in Poverty Row.

Of course, those days are gone forever, and I now have my own studio, the best of its kind in Hollywood. But that doesn't make any difference in our modes of living. Walt, you know, is the quietest guy in Hollywood. His only hobbies are playing with his chow dog and snapping pictures of animals with his camera. As for Minnie and me, we know nothing of Hollywood life, either. The Brown Derby might be Al Smith's hat for all we know.

But, at that, I am presumptuous enough to believe that I have it all over those stars who insist upon being seen in public places. Rudy Vallee may be able to play a saxophone, but playing a sax is only the beginning with me. I can, then fold it up and use it as a kimona. Dou, Fairbanks thinks that his old-fashioned fairy tale to the limbo of crinolines and he bicycle-built-for-two. In fact they insult me terribly by telling me that I am Puss-In-Boots, adapted to the jazz age. Imagine me being any kind of a puss!

But, seriously, it's all very well for a Lewis Carroll to write about the things Alice saw in Wonderland, but how much more convincing it is to see me enact those fantastic things right before your very eyes! Of course, I take liberties. For example, the time I escaped from a slave ship and, enlisting the aid of a swordfish, drove him against the side of the ship, thereby circumventing that slave-driving cat who had made my life miserable.

Of course, I've had my frustrations, too. I'll never forget on of them, "that was the time my piano, which up to that moment had been very docile, attacked me from the rear. You probably remember the incident. I was merely cruising over the keys—and maybe I did pound a little too hard. But, anyway, just as soon as I had turned my back, that piano transformed its keys into teeth and bit me. I was mad enough to be tied. But I got thinking the thing over and decided that I was taking myself too seriously. After all, everybody in my studio is subjected at some time or other to some goofy escapade, so why am I to complain. Any day I'm in one I expect my pencils to grow legs and shake their sides with emotion; pianos dance and sing; inkwells assume a mythical ply on their little bellies; fish do their daily dozen; baby seals take their exercise on the mustache of walruses; a polar bear cub, seated on a cake of ice, uses his little tail as a propeller and sails along; and a lot of other crazy things.

We have to watch our steps. Just the other day censors have found things in our pictures which we had no idea were there. The first time that this came from Canada a couple of years ago. It seems that Clarabelle Cow's udders were too large. Walt, poor fellow, did the best he could and put Clarabelle into a dress. But in less than a month there was a complaint about that, too. You know, none of our company smokes, drinks or capers suggestively, but many of the things we do innocently come in for opprobrium. There was the time, for example, when the censors objected to Clarabelle Cow—again the Cow—reading Elinor Glyn's "Three Weeks." Then there was the time that Berlin objected to the fact that an army of cats in one of my pictures were German helmets.

I have to watch my diet, too. For example, I have had only complaints about me eating ham or bacon, for that's objectionable to my Mohammedan friends. But I don't eat oranges, lemons or grape fruit in my pictures, because once I was accused of playing up propaganda for California. And, of course, any kind of intoxicating liquors is out.

There's one thing in my pictures, though, which few outsiders have guessed. Probably it has occurred to few people that every member of my company is a copy of a flesh-and-blood actor or actress in Hollywood. Yep, that's the truth. It started when Walt was casting about for a character to suit me. He wanted a small animal, one with the wistful appeal of Charlie Chaplin—a little fellow trying to get along the best he could. So he copied Charlie. That went along very well. And then, when he wanted a rough cat villain we fell into the habit of drawing a caricature of Jimmy Durante in cat form. And when a polished cat villain was required, Erich Von Stroheim served as the model. And that goes for every member of my company, right down the line.

The idea must have been good, for now every country in the world knows me intimately, and, I am proud to add, fond of me. I am now a producer member of United Artists, with such distinguished stars and producers as Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, Joseph Schenck, Nicholas M. Schenck, Samuel Goldwyn and D. W. Griffith. And my fans are legion. In this connection, also, there are nearly one million members of the Mickey Mouse Clubs, and I have a different name in every country I am shown in. The Germans call me Michael Maus, the French Michel Souris, the Spanish Miguel Ratonocito, the Japanese Miki Kuchi, the Greeks Mikel Mus, the Italians Michele Topolino and the Latin-speaking peoples Michael Mus.

"THE MIKADO" REVIEWED By Nicholas Young

Harriet Parsons' DAILY HOLLYWOOD NEWS

Roxbury Boy Among the Newcomers Who Score in Popular Operetta

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

There may be scant, if any novelty at all, in "The Mikado," but it always seems to boo up at critical moments in the lives of earnest playgoers. While not exactly perennial, this Gilbert and Sullivan message in clever comedy and coaxing tunes has been fussing around our playhouses since 1885, the year in which it started the Hollis upon its eventful journey as a temple of the theater's best arts. Now it comes back to the same stage—not with Richard Mansfield as Ko Ko, but still showing excellent wares with Frank Moulan in the same old role.

* * *

Any set review of "The Mikado" would be futile. It has been done to death by the world's critics for 47 years. Gilbert and Sullivan have gone to their honest reward but they have left something in musical refinement and satirical observation that even time, prohibition and the jazz revue cannot efface. If "The Mikado" was not even modern in its own years of youth and plenty, it can hardly be looked upon now as anything more than very clever entertainment of the older school of expression. Originality it had political consequences, but these have passed, and it becomes just a costume play of an almost mythical period. Its music, however, remains outstanding in the field of comic opera. The world may thank Sir Arthur Sullivan for that.

Frank Moulan

* * *

As the presentation at the Hollis last evening is almost identical in detail with that which carried four weeks of good business at the Colonial last season, freshened interest in the performance must rest chiefly with Mr. Milton Aborn's new comers in the personnel of the Civic Light Opera Company. These are Roy Cropper, a Roxbury boy, who finally reaches artistic heights with voice and personality, and Anne Yago, a more or less unknown, who plays the kind of Katisha that would have pleased both of the departed Messrs. Gilbert and Sullivan. Mr. Cropper possesses both voice and manner and makes the role of Nanki-Poo fully as romantic as any of his numerous predecessors. A gallant figure, a rollicking minstrel and a loyal lover is his job; and in him there is no hesitation. Miss Yago presents a Katisha with new charms—not only the historic dimple in the elbow but others as well. Her musical numbers are above reproach.

The Cast

The Mikado of Japan ..... William Danforth
Nanki-Poo ..... Roy Cropper
Ko-Ko ..... Frank Moulan
Pooh-Bah ..... Herbert Waterous
Pish-Tush ..... Frederic Persons
Yum-Yum ..... Vivian Hart
Pitti-Sing ..... Ethel Clark
Peep-Bo ..... Mabel Thompson
Katisha ..... Anne Yago

* * *

Familiar Faces Across the Footlights

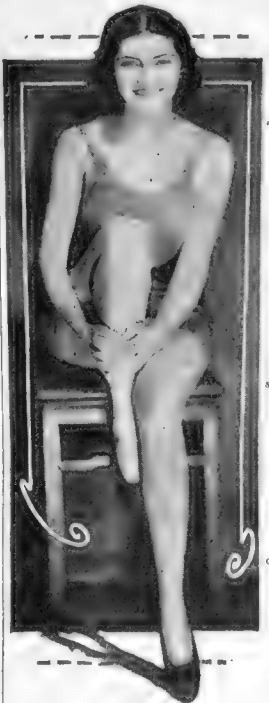
Beyond these, old and familiar faces make gestures across the footlights. Frank Moulan is the comical Ko Ko, with all the accumulated arts of years, and William Danforth, wild-eyed Mikado, runs true to form. But most of us have seen these pudding tollers before. There is nothing new in their performances, but there is sustaining quality in their work. The ponderous Herbert Waterous is the same old Pooh-Bah. In feminine interest, Vivian Hart, Ethel Clark and Mabel Thompson turn in an honest presentation of the three little girls from s

* * *

"Show Boat" for the Shubert Stage

If the theater world was surprised at the announcement that J. J. Shubert would take over the Colonial for the presentation of his new musical play, "Cyrano," what may be said of the next move of the United Booking Office, which sends a former Ziegfeld show, "Show Boat," to the Shubert? Surely, the present day show business is topsy-turvy. The present occupant of the Shubert, "The Cat and the Fiddle," will remain until October 22, and on the following Monday, A. C. Blumenthal and Peggy Fears will move into the big Tremont st. temple with "Show Boat." It is idle to speculate on what would have happened if Mr. Ziegfeld were alive, but it is quite certain that "Cyrano" might not have found a haven of refuge in the Colonial, and it is more than certain that the revival of "Show Boat" would not have been sent to the town's most important Shubertian residence of incoming drama.

CUPID RINGS THE BELL



A glance at this pose of Mary Williamson, who graces the stage of Philip Merivale's "Cyrnara," which comes to the Plymouth next Monday night, would seem to suggest that the show to be musical in texture but one is reliably informed that "Cyrnara," while there is considerable gayety in this piece, it has no music and deals with a modern story of married life and offers many serious moments in the telling of the tale of a husband's infidelity. However, we also are as well informed that pretty Miss Williamson actually appears as costumed, which might also suggest some of the motive for the "faithful" husband being led astray, even if he slips reluctantly.

All-Comedy Revue on Stage; Barthelmess Star on Screen

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

Laugh and grow fat was the Tiny Tots' That's the cue, for these "tinies" range in weight from 250 to 268 pounds, and the aggregate avoirdupois is a ton and a half But you should see them in action on the Scollay stage, just one of the many reasons for laughter at the funniest footlight show we have seen in many a moon. The bill is nonsensical for the most part, it's a attraction being the Gotham troupe, known as the Village Grove Night Club Revue.

This show is the big thing the Vaudeville house has had since last winter. It is heavy with talent. It is fast, and tossed among the comic elements are outstanding specialties. Buddy Walker and John (Nutsy) Fazan are the efficient masters of ceremonies, two of the best we have seen The Tiny Tots are amusing performers and, to the surprise of the audience, prove astonishingly agile. They too sing cleverly

Ole Olsen and Ollie Bingham begin the rolling of the comedy ball. Alfred Brower has a novel dance which brought him much applause. The Four Mullen Sisters sing and Joan Sinnett does her top-drawer dance, and proves one of the high points of the program. Herbert Rosenblatt sings and clowns along. Madge Whitesides leads in a fan dance. Olsen and Bingham score with a number of snappy blackouts, Anita toe-dances nifitily, and the Excelsior quartette sings operatic numbers

The military dances of the Three Samuels Boys, the singing of Jacqueline, with a background of clowning, a burlesque of the Florodora Sextette are other features

It's an all round good show On screen Richard Barthelmess is seen in "The Cabin in the Cotton."

Joel McCrea's Next Film Will Be "On Parade," West Point Story

By HARRIET PARSONS

(Copyright, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

Los Angeles, Oct. 11—Joel McCrea, who seems to be very much the white-haired boy over at Radio, will have a West Point yarn titled "On Parade," for his next starring vehicle. Red Cagle, famous football hero, will handle the technical direction although story is not a gridiron epic. In fact, there won't be a pigskin in the entire film. And that, my friends, is news A college story without football! Unheard of!

Have a strong bunch radio will team McCrea and Connie Bennett again soon Hell be opposite her in the new version of "Rockabye" and they'll probably put him in "Always Wrong," which she'll make next.

* * *

Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville, slated for "A Pair of Sick Sticking," will do "Happy Dollars" instead. It's an original by Hyatt Lehon and H. M. (Bemie) Walker Walker has long been responsible for much of the material in the Hal Roach comedies, so it's a cinch there'll be plenty of laughs

Harriet Parsons

* * *

Russell Mack Signs

Russell Mack has signed a new contract for three more pictures with Universal. He directed "All-American" and "Once in a Lifetime." Marian Nixon goes in the femme lead in "Back to the Sky," which Charlie Farrell will do at Fox when he finishes "Tess of the Storm Country." Lilian Bond signed for "The Truth Racket," new tag for "Billion Dollar Scandal." Charles Rogers is producing it for Paramount release

* * *

Heard and Overheard

Stanley Smith and Tommy Lee will have their own orchestra at the Biltmore beginning with the first week in November Stan will handle the baton. It's long been an ambition of Tommy's to have his own band and he and Stan have some unique ideas Kay Francis flew up to San Francisco for husband Kenneth MacKenna's opening. He's playing on the stage in "The Bride the Sun Shines On."

Snapshots of Hollywood

JEAN MALIN throwing a super-party at his Hollywood Knickerbocker apartment. TALLULAH BANKHEAD'S ANDY LAWLOR, POLLY MORAN (who did a rumba the like of which you've never seen) the DONALD OGDEN STEWARTS, FIFI DORSAY, INEZ COURTNEY and her new husband, PHIL HOLMES, and a slew of others enjoying JEAN'S grand hospitality Most of the party adjourn re to the Club New Yorker afterwards—(and what a show that MALIN put on!) JEANETTE MacDONALD giving a party Sunday night in honor of LILY PONS. JOSE MOJICA autographing tortillas for a group of his fans at the Colonnades Cafe on Orange st. JOHN BOLES, JETTA GOUDAL, ESTELLE TAYLOR and others at the last matinee of the opera. EDDIE CANTOR and party, JOAN BLONDELL, HELENE COSTELLO, HUGH TREVOR, RALPH GRAVES n BLANCHE MERHAFEY making merry at the newly opened Frolics.

Dixieland Cue in Burlesque

The lightweight boxer, Sammy Fuller, shares with the burlesque "queens," the honors in the new Howard program Fuller appears on stage with sparring partners and goes through some exciting "squared circle" pantomime

Among the leading figures in "Girls from Dixie," a lively show, are Jean Williams, Bumbo Davis, John Barry, George Lewis, Joyce Clair, Dot Alexander, Bee Keller and Evelyn Brooke The comedy is above the usual burlesque run In the vaudeville bill the principal acts are those of Ollie Eaton, a talented violinist, who has played big time and is one of the best solo fiddlers of the kind; and Joseph Santos and Company, jugglers

Movie Clock

FENWAY—"Hat Check Girl"; p. ms. 1:09, 4, 6:51, 9:42

MODERN—"Hat Check Girl"; a. ms. 10:16; p. ms. 1:04, 3:52, 6:40, 8:28.

GAIETY—"War Correspondent"; a. ms., 9:50; p. ms., 1:00, 5:45, 9:40.

UPTOWN—"The Phantom President"; p. m., 1, 3:05, 5:15, 7:25, 9:35.

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—"Klondike"; a. ms., 9:30; p. ms., 12:30, 3:40, 6:50, 10.

BOWDOIN SQ.—"Bird of Paradise"; a. ms., 9:10; p. ms., 1:10, 5:10, 9:10

METROPOLITAN—"One Way Passage"; a. ms., 10:45; p. ms., 1:05, 3:25, 5:45, 8:05, 10:30

MAJESTIC—"Strange Interlude," p. m., 2:30, 8:30.

BEACON—"Rasputin"; a. ms., 9:56, 11:56, p. ms., 1:58, 3:56, 5:56, 7:56, 9:56

FENWAY—"Un Soir de Rafle"; p. m., 1, 3:07, 5:14, 7:21, 9:28

EXETER—"Doctor X"; p. ms., 2:25, 5:10, 7:55

RKO-KEITH—"The All American"; a. m., 9:00; p. ms., 12:31, 3:38, 6:45, 9:52

RKO-KEITH BOSTON—"Hell's Highway"; a. m., 9:45; p. m., 12:46, 3:47, 6:48, 9:49.

PARAMOUNT—"The Phantom President" a. m., 9:15, 11:20; p. m., 1:30, 3:35, 5:40, 7:45, 9:50.

HOWARD—"Law and Order"; p. m., 12:58, 4:46.

SCOLLAY—"Cabin in the Cotton"; a. m., 11:20; p. m., 2:29, 6:49, 9:59.

LOEW'S STATE—"Konga"; p. m., 12:35, 2:55, 5:15, 7:30, 9:45.

Dr. Beacon Theater

"Rasputin, Saint or Sinner?" is the t over at Beacon Theater for a week's stay. The companion feature will be the Tragedy of Mt Everest" story by the wife survivor, Lady Jane Noe. The picture was taken on top of the world and cc t the lives of 11 men.

Holiday Matinee

The Copley will have a holiday matinee performance of "The Squeaker," tomorrow afternoon. The play, with E. E. Clive heading the cast, is now in its fourth week.

French Star in Sterling Role

By HARRIS MORGAN

These Frenchmen can cook the cheapest cut of meat and make it taste like a planked steak. In making movies they can take an old theme and dress it up so that it sparkles with drama and its humor Thus is the case with "Un Soir de Rafle (Night Raid), currently at the Fine Arts. In the first place, one does not have to know de Rafle to enjoy the fun the suspense and the pathos of the story. Then Albert Préjean, regarded by many as superior to the great Chevalier himself, has the principal role, and Préjean a shows as a superlative actor unequaled by more of the Hollywood actors.

Préjean has able assistance from the cast especially the comedy Annabella, a lovely introduced to us on this same Fine Arts stage when Jeanne Gale came directed with taste and great skill

Beacon Theater

"Rasputin, Saint or Sinner?" is the t over at Beacon Theater for a week's stay. The companion feature will be the Tragedy of Mt Everest" story by the wife survivor, Lady Jane Noe. The picture was taken on top of the world and cc t the lives of 11 men.

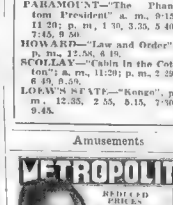
Holiday Matinee

The Copley will have a holiday matinee performance of "The Squeaker," tomorrow afternoon. The play, with E. E. Clive heading the cast, is now in its fourth week.

Amusements

METROPOLITAN — LAST 2 DAYS OF THIS GREAT SHOW!

REDUCED PRICES 35c Till 1 P.M. 50c Till 6 P.M. 75c Till Close



Tuesday's Happy!
TED LEWIS IN PERSON and Jubilee Show
SI VITZKY and ORCHESTRA MARTEL at the ORGAN
Coming Friday — BURNS & ALLEN Sensational Stars of Radio, Screen & Stage

MIDNIGHT SHOW—TONIGHT—COLUMBUS DAY EVE.
STUART ERWIN, LEILA HYAMS, BURNS & ALLEN, BOSWELL SISTERS, ARTHUR TRACY, VINCENT LOPEZ, CAB CALLOWAY, BING CROSBY, KATE SMITH, MILLS BROS.
"BIG BROADCAST"
A Paramount Picture

PARAMOUNT UPTOWN
NEW Reduced Prices Paramount Prices Effective Now
Mat. 1 P.M. 25c
Till 6 P.M. 35c
Eve. 6 P.M. 50c
Sun. Included
Children 10c
Mat. 1 P.M. 25c
Till 6 P.M. 35c
Eve. 6 P.M. 50c
Sun. Included
THE PHANTOM PRESIDENT
GEORGE M. COHAN
CLAUDETTE COLBERT
JIMMY Schnozzle DURANTE
Paramount Picture

SCOLLAY RKO ORPHEUM
"Cabin in the COTTON"
RICHARD BARTHELMESS
VILLAGE GROVE NUT CLUB
A GALAXY OF GORGEOUS GIRLS

FENWAY-MODERN
"HAT CHECK GIRL"
SALLY EILERS-BEN LYON—
Marlene DIETRICH
"BLONDE VENUS"

PARAMOUNT PUBLIX THEATRES NEAR HOME

ALLSTON
ALSTON — Gala Anniversary Week Burgoyne Mat. Today 25c — Barbara Stanwyck-Joel McCrea in "THE PURCHASE PRICE" — THE DOOMED BATTALION
CAPITOL ALLSTON — Marjorie Wells in Person, Wed. Only — "Love Me Tonight" — Jeanette MacDonald — Maurice Chevalier — Frank Buck's Bring 'Em Back Alive"

BRIGHTON
STATE & BOSTON THEATRE BRIGHTON — Phillips Holmes-Chas. Ruggles — Dorothy Jordan — "70,000 Witnesses" — Monroe in "Night Club Lady" — Wed. 25c Eves. 40c

CAMBRIDGE
CENTRAL SQ. PORTER 5360 HARVARD SQ. — Walter Huston — "SPEAK EASILY" — Tallulah Bankhead-Gary Cooper — "Devil and the Deep"
HOLLYWOOD CAMB. 3300 — Warren William-Guy Kibbee — "THE DARK HORSE" — Conrad Nagel-Leila Hyams — "THE MAN CALLED BACK" — Stuart Erwin-Sally Eilers
THOMPSON'S SQUARE THEATRE — ADD THE NEWS, 25c — "Night Club Lady" — T N T — "Cornered"
EGLESTON SQ.
THE EGLESTON Main St. at Eggleston Sq. — Barbara Stanwyck — "THE PURCHASE PRICE" — "The Doomed Battalion" — with Victor Varconi-Sebastian Shaw-Nigel Bruce
MALDEN
CAPRICE MALDEN Tel. 0055 — Maurice Chevalier in "Love Me Tonight" — Dorothy Dell Rin on "Bird of Paradise"
LYRIC MAL. 1230 — Ann Harding — "Age of Consent" — Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen — "Bird of Paradise"
STRAND MALDEN — "Bring 'Em Back Alive" — Phillips Holmes in "70,000 Witnesses"

REVERE
BOULEVARD and REVERE — "Blondie of the Follies" — with MARION DAVIES — "RACING YOUTH" — "Sins" Gamerville-Lionel Barrymore
ROXBURY
HOWARD ATHENAEUM — JAMES CAGNEY — "Winner Take All" — Richard Crowell
SOMERVILLE
CAPITOL SQUARE — Janet Gaynor-Chas. Farrell — "THE FIRST YEAR" — Victor McLaglen — "White Cargo"
ENLOWE'S ASSEMBLY THEATRE — "Man About Town" — with Warner Baxter — "Sweepings" — with Beth Toomey-Hugh O'Connell
VIRGO SOMERVILLE — "Tom Brown of Culver" — "Texas Gun-Fighter" — Ken Maynard — Mat. 10c Eve. 15c and 25c
SOUTH END
MAT. 10c EVE. 15c-25c — "WILD WOMEN OF DORNEY" — Adolphe Menjou — "Bachelor's Affairs" — Wed. — VAUDEVILLE
NATIONAL — Continuous 12:30 to 11:00

WATCH THIS DIRECTORY
PATRONIZE YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRE

JAMAICA PLAIN
JAMAICA — 2-E 7-3-1 — WALTER HUSTON "AMERICAN MADNESS" — Tallulah Bankhead "SPEAK EASILY" — Stage Show Wed. Eve.
CAPITOL — Marjorie Wells in Person, Wed. Only — "Love Me Tonight" — Jeanette MacDonald — Maurice Chevalier — Frank Buck's Bring 'Em Back Alive"
ORIENTAL — Blanchard 1700 — MAURICE CHEVALIER "LOVE ME TONIGHT" — Stage Show Wed. Eve. — "Bring 'Em Back Alive" — Frank Buck's — Wed. Eve. 8 — BROCK — STADIUM — 40c

NEEDHAM
PARAMOUNT — NEE. 1213 — 6 MARX BROTHERS "HORSE FEATHERS" — Reserved Seats — with Marion Shilling

NEWTON
NEWTON — 2-E 7-3-1 — WALTER HUSTON "AMERICAN MADNESS" — Tallulah Bankhead "SPEAK EASILY" — Stage Show Wed. Eve.
PARAMOUNT — NEW. 4300 — "BACK STREET" — ERIC LINDEN in "Age of Consent"

ROSLINDALE
RIALTO — Tel. 3300 — Tallulah Bankhead-Gary Cooper — "DEVIL AND THE DEEP" — Walter Huston — Stage Show Wed. Eve.

ROXBURY
RIVOLI — HIGH. 0100 — Maurice Chevalier — LOVE ME TONIGHT" — Jeanette MacDonald — Marion Davies in "Blondie of the Follies"
SAVIN HILL — SAR. 1370 — "BACK STREET" — Irene Dunne-John Boles in "Back Street" — Wed. Eve. 8:30 — Stage Show Wed. Eve.

WALTHAM
EMBASSY — WAL. 1700 — Irene Dunne-John Boles in "BACK STREET" — Marion Davies in "Blondie of the Follies"

WOLLASTON
WOLLASTON — WOL. 0900 — James Gleason-Lee Tracy in "Blessed Event" — Joan Blondell-Chester Morris in "Make Me a Star" — Wed. Eve. 8:30

WATCH THIS DIRECTORY
PATRONIZE YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRE

Amusements

KEITH'S — 30c — Greater Than "The Spirit of Notre Dame" — "ALL AMERICAN" — INTERNATIONAL VAUDEVILLE BILL — 6 — ALL-STAR ACTS — 6
KEITH'S BOSTON — 25c — RICHARD BIX — In "Hell's Highway" — BIG VAUDEVILLE BILL — Mat. 25c Eve. 40c

HOLLIS — Phone TONIGHT at 8:15 Lib. 1271 — $1 Mat. Today — CIVIC LIGHT OPERA CO. — With the Greatest Gilbertian Cast — The MIKADO — Next Week "GONDOLIERS" — Wk. of "TRIAL BY JURY" & "PINAFORE" — Wk. of "PIRATES OF PENZANCE" — NIGHT PRICES: Eves. 50c, $1, $1.50, $2 — Wed. Mat. 50c, 65c, $2. Sat. Mat. 50c, $1, $1.50 — Seats Now On Sale

WILBUR — NEXT WEK 3 WEEKS ONLY — SEATS NOW SELLING — LE GALLIENNE-SCHILDKRAUT — And The Permanent N. Y. Company — Mon., Wed., Fri. Nights — "LILIOM" — Tues., Thurs., Sat. "CAMILLE" — Nights and Wed. and Sat. Mats. — Prices 50c to $2.50 — Mats. 50c to $2

COLONIAL — MAT. TODAY 2:30 — Curtain Eves. at 8:30 — LAST 3 WEEKS — "THE GREEN PASTURES" — THE WORLD'S FINEST PLAY — Good Seats Mat. Tu. Wed. Fri. at All Performances

SHUBERT — THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE — MAT. WED. — A MUSICAL LOVE STORY — By JEROME KERN and OTTO HARBACH — Evs. 55c Partial Telegraph will deliver you Seats at Box Office Prices. Phone (to 10 a.m.) Evs. 75c to $3—Mats. 50c to $2.50. Plus Tax.

PLYMOUTH — TONIGHT 8:30 — The American Theatre Society and The New York Repertory Co. Present — JANE COWL — In a Romantic Comedy — "THE MAN WITH LOAD OF MISCHIEF" — Evs. (Except Columbus Day), 50c to $2.50. Thurs. and Sat. Mats. 50c Plus Tax.

NEXT MON.—SEATS NOW — (2nd Prop. of AMERICAN PREMIERE SOCIETY Series) — PHILIP MERIVALE in CYNARA — Years and Years of Divine Comedy — WITH SIR GUY STANDING — MARCY McGUIGAN — Evs. 50c to $2.50 — Thurs. & Sat. Mats. 50c to $2.00 — Plus Tax

1000 GOOD SEATS AT ALL MATINEES — 50c & 75c Others at $1.00 — EVES. 50c to $1.50 — ALL SEATS RESERVED — Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer — NORMA SHEARER — CLARK GABLE — in — STRANGE INTERLUDE — From Eugene O'Neill's Great Prize Winning Play — MAJESTIC — Tremont Street — Twice Daily 2:30 & 8:30

COPLEY — Evs. 8:30 — Wed., Thurs. & Sat. 2:30 — 50c to 2.50 — 4th WEEK—Holiday Mat. Tomorrow — THE SQUEAKER — By Edgar Wallace — with E. E. Clive and Notable Cast

PUBLIX BEACON THEATRE — HELD OVER SECOND BIG WEEK — RASPUTIN — SAINT OR SINNER — The True Story of Russia's Mad Monk — Also Tragedy of Mt. Everest — Daily A. & R. Prices 25c Tel. J. P. M.

THE OLD HOWARD — SAMMY FULLER — AND HIS GIRLS FROM DIXIE — ALL NEW SHOW — ALWAYS A CROWD — NO DOING — THIS WEEK — SNOOKIE & WOODS AT MIDNIGHT SHOW TONIGHT AT 11.30 AND ALSO MIDNIGHT SHOW FRIDAY.

Today at YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATER

CAMBRIDGE
CENTRAL SQ. PORTER 5360 HARVARD SQ. — "SPEAK EASILY" — Tallulah Bankhead-Gary Cooper — "Devil and the Deep"
HOLLYWOOD CAMB. 3300 — "THE DARK HORSE" — Conrad Nagel-Leila Hyams — "THE MAN CALLED BACK" — Stuart Erwin-Sally Eilers
THOMPSON'S SQUARE THEATRE — ADD THE NEWS, 25c — "Night Club Lady" — T N T — "Cornered"
EGLESTON SQ.
THE EGLESTON Main St. at Eggleston Sq. — Barbara Stanwyck — "THE PURCHASE PRICE" — "The Doomed Battalion" — with Victor Varconi-Sebastian Shaw-Nigel Bruce
MALDEN
CAPRICE MALDEN Tel. 0055 — Maurice Chevalier in "Love Me Tonight" — Dorothy Dell Rin on "Bird of Paradise"
LYRIC MAL. 1230 — Ann Harding — "Age of Consent" — Edmund Lowe-Victor McLaglen — "Bird of Paradise"
STRAND MALDEN — "Bring 'Em Back Alive" — Phillips Holmes in "70,000 Witnesses"

REVERE
BOULEVARD and REVERE — "Blondie of the Follies" — with MARION DAVIES — "RACING YOUTH" — "Sins" Gamerville-Lionel Barrymore
ROXBURY
HOWARD ATHENAEUM — JAMES CAGNEY — "Winner Take All" — Richard Crowell
SOMERVILLE
CAPITOL SQUARE — Janet Gaynor-Chas. Farrell — "THE FIRST YEAR" — Victor McLaglen — "White Cargo"
ENLOWE'S ASSEMBLY THEATRE — "Man About Town" — with Warner Baxter — "Sweepings" — with Beth Toomey-Hugh O'Connell
VIRGO SOMERVILLE — "Tom Brown of Culver" — "Texas Gun-Fighter" — Ken Maynard — Mat. 10c Eve. 15c and 25c
SOUTH END
MAT. 10c EVE. 15c-25c — "WILD WOMEN OF DORNEY" — Adolphe Menjou — "Bachelor's Affairs" — Wed. — VAUDEVILLE
NATIONAL — Continuous 12:30 to 11:00

WATCH THIS DIRECTORY
PATRONIZE YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRE

Amusements

Exeter Theater

Lionel Atwill in "Dr. X" and Wheeler and Woolsey in "Hold 'em Jail," are the attractions for today and tomorrow at the Exeter. The last half of the week Edmund Lowe will be seen in "Guilty as Hell." George Bancroft in "Lady and Gent" will also be shown.

See Them Here Tonight and Every Night

JIMMIE GALLAGHER — RUSSELL HOWARD — AND — AMERICA BEAUTY REVUE — Gay Holiday Eve Celebration. No Cover Charge

Palais Royal — 261 HUNTINGTON AVE. — BIGGEST SHOW IN TOWN — 20—ARTISTS—20 — DE LUXE DINNER — RESERVE YOUR TABLE NOW — Ken. 0170 Ask for Walter

MAH JONG — "Lucky Bird" — TREMONT AT WARRENTON ST. — COLUMBUS DAY EVE. CELEBRATION — ALWAYS A BIG FLOOR SHOW — SAM RITTEL AND HIS RADIO ORCHESTRA — Free Parking — No Cover Charge — Winton Boe, Mgr. — Hub. 4567

Emotional Tide Will Run High

The eighteenth anniversary of the first presentation of "Camille" will be celebrated in Boston when Eva LeGalliene brings Dumas' famous play to the Majestic, Monday evening, Oct. 17.

Exactly 80 years ago in Paris in 1852, at the Vaudeville theater, "The Lady of the Camellias" was first produced. Then gas jets flickered as footlights, the scenery was of another age, but the story of Marguerite Gautier was the same.

Molnar's masterpiece "Liliom" will also be played during the engagement, with Joseph Schildkraut and Miss LeGallienne appearing in the roles they created in America in 1921.

In the casts of these two plays appear Josephine Hutchison, Beatrice de Neergaard, Beatrice Terry, Leona Roberts, Ruth Wilton, Florida Freibus, Paul Leyssac, J. Sayre Crawley, Robert H. Gordon, Donald Cameron, Harold Moulton, Charles Ellis, Walter Beck, Robert Rose, Nelson Welch.

Howard's Midnight Show

"Snookie" Woods dancing star of the burlesque world, has been engaged to present Oriental dance numbers at the Old Howard for the midnight show tonight and also for the Friday night midnight performance.

"Brockton Night"

Brockton Night is observed at the Shubert this evening. Bettina Hall of "The Cat and the Fiddle" cast, being a native of that city. Her friends have organized a party to attend tonight's show.

Branson De Cou

The Branson De Cou Screen Pictures open their season at Tremont Temple, Friday evening, and there will be another showing Saturday afternoon. The Canadian Rockies are treated.

Amusements

LOEW'S STATE — MAKE SAT. YOUR DAY AT LOEW'S — KONGO — WALTER HUSTON — EXTRA! OUR GANG COMEDY — Fri.—Dust Fishkin's in "Dr. Robinson Crusoe"

LOEW'S ORPHEUM — Wash. St. & Hamilton Place — ON THE SCREEN — SOPHIE TUCKER — IN PERSON — Other Big Acts — Thelma Todd — Capt. Frank Hawks — in "KLONDIKE" — EXTRA! — Our Gang Comedy — FRIDAY—LAUREL & HARDY in "Pack Up Your Troubles" and Other Features and All Good

EXETER — Lionel Atwill in "Doctor X" — Edmund Lowe in "Guilty as Hell" — Wheeler & Woolsey in "Hold 'em Jail"

BOWDOIN SQ. — 7 VAUDEVILLE ACTS — IN PERSON — "BIRD OF PARADISE" with DOLORES DEL RIO — "THE CROONER" with DAVID MANNERS—ANN DVORAK — ON THE STAGE "PETE" FOR OUR GANG COMEDY FOR 'EM BOSTON "DELMO" IN BACK ALIVE "—"DIVORCE IN THE FAMILY"—Also Revere Beach Marathon Dance Contest Winners in Person

BOOKS SEATS 15¢ ANY TIME — NEW GAYETY — JACK HOLT "WAR CORRESPONDENT" — 3 VAUDEVILLE ACTS — LORETTA YOUNG WEEK END MARRIAGE for LESS money!

MORE SALES

The SOCIAL REGISTER
of
AMERICAN BUSINESS

A partial list of Important Advertisers in The American Weekly during 1930, 1931 and 1932

Alemite Corp.
All-Year Club of Southern Calif.
Affiliated Products Group
  Edna Wallace Hopper, Inc.
  Ingert, Inc.
  Louis Philippe, Inc.
Aluminum Cooking Utensil Co.
American Hard Rubber Co.
American Tobacco Co., The Angelus-Campfire Co.
Anheuser-Busch, Inc.
Armand Company, The Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers, Inc.
Association of Hawaiian Pineapple Canners
Auburn Automobile Co.
Babbitt, Inc., B. T.
Bauer & Black
Beech-Nut Packing Co.
Bon Ami Company, The Borden Co., The Bristol-Myers Co.
Brown & Williamson Corp.
California Fruit Growers Exchange
Cal. Lima Bean Growers Ass'n
California Packing Corp.
Cheesebrough Mfg. Co., Cons'd
Chrysler Corporation
Church & Dwight Co.
Clorox Chemical Co.
Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc.
Coca-Cola Co.
Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co.
  Super Suds
  Palmolive Beads
  Palmolive Soap
Congoleum-Nairn, Inc.
Corn Products Refining Co.
Corning Glass Works
Cory, Inc.
Dole Hawaiian Pineapple Co.
Duofold Health Underwear Co.
Eastman Kodak Co.
Elgin National Watch Co.
Enna Jettick Shoes, Inc.
Ethyl Gasoline Corp.
Federal Enameling & Stamping Co.
Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., The Florida Citrus Exchange
Fredenes, Inc., E.
Frigidaire Corporation
General Cigar Co.
General Foods Corp.
  Bran Cereals
  Calumet Baking Powder
  Diamond Crystal Shaker Salt
  Jell-O
  Log Cabin Syrup
  Maxwell House Coffee
  Post Toasties
General Mills, Inc.
General Motors Corp.
  Chevrolet Motor Co.
  Fisher Body Corp.
  Oldsmobile
  Pontiac
Glenny Company, Inc., The Good Dust Corporation
Goldman, Mary J.
Goodall Worsted Co.
Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Inc.
Heinz Co., H. J.
Hill's Bros.
Hinze Ambrosia, Inc.
Hubinger Co., The Hudson Motor Car Co.
Hump Hairpin Mfg. Co., The Iodent Co., The Jell-Well Dessert Co.
Johnson & Johnson
Johnston Co., Robert A.
Kaufmann Bros. & Bondy, Inc.
Kellogg Company
Klemert Rubber Co., I. B.
Knox Gelatine
Kolynos Co., The Kotex Company
Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corp.
Larus & Bro. Co.
Learning & Co., Inc., Thos.
Lehn & Fink, Inc.
Leonard Refrigerator Co.
Lever Bros. Co.
  Rinso
  Lifebuoy
  Lux
  Lux Toilet Soap
Libby, McNeill & Libby
Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.
Luden's, Inc.
Luft Co., Geo. W.
Mars, Inc.
Mennen Company, The Model Brassiere Co.
Mueller Co., C. F.
National Biscuit Co.
Northwestern Yeast Co.
Norwich Pharmacal Co., The Numismatic Co. of Texas
O'Cedar Corporation
Old Dutch Cleanser
Park & Tilford
Parker Pen Co., The Patent Cereals Co., The Pepsodent Co., The Pequot Mills
Planters Nut & Chocolate Co.
Pompeian Company, Inc., The Pond's Creams
Popular Mechanics Magazine
Premier Malt Sales Co.
Procter & Gamble Co., The Quaker Oats Company, The Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc.
R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.
Salada Tea Company
Schnefel Bros., Inc.
Scholl Mfg. Company
Sears, Roebuck and Co.
Simoniz Mfg. Co.
Smith & Sons Carpet Co., Alex.
S. O. S. Mfg. Co.
Spool Cotton Co., The Stanco, Inc.
Standard Brands Inc.
  Chase & Sanborn's Coffee
  Chase & Sanborn's Tea
  Fleischmann's Yeast
  Royal Baking Powder
  Royal Gelatin
Studebaker Corp.
Swift & Co.
  Quick Arrow Soap Flakes
  Sunbrite Cleanser
Texas Co., The Union Oil Co. of California
United States Rubber Co.
Utica Steam & Mohawk Valley Cotton Mills
Vadsco Sales Corp.
Vanity Fair Silk Mills
Vick Chemical Co.
Wander Co., The
Warner & Co., Wm. R.
Warren Corp., The Northam
Warren Featherbone Co.
Waterman Co., L. E.
Watkins Co., The R. L.
Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co.
Willys-Overland, Inc.
Wright & Sons Co., Wm. E.
Young, Inc., W. F.

What $16,000 buys in The American Weekly

A full page in color more than twice the size of any other magazine page in the world . . . 5,500,000 families at a cost of less than ⅓ cent per family . . . The attention of the entire family instead of a single buying factor.

ITS repeatedly demonstrated ability to make more sales for less money has established The American Weekly as the most potent force in the magazine field today.

That's why in times like these you see one advertiser after another turning his back on tradition and concentrating in this Mighty Magazine.

For $16,000 an advertiser in The American Weekly can reach one-fifth of the families of the United States with a full-page advertisement printed in four colors.

That means he can address 5,500,000 families located in the richest buying areas of the nation at the incredibly low cost of ⅓ cent per family.

The page itself is a BIG page. Measure it—twice as big as any other magazine page on the market; an eye-smiting page that compels the attention of both consumer and retailer.

These advantages are concrete and subject to audit.

But there is another great factor in making The American Weekly the great advertising medium it is.

We say to you The American Weekly is the most interesting magazine in the world; to wit: a circulation twice as great as that of any other magazine.

To capture and sustain the interest of 5,500,000 families calls for a great understanding of people, of what interests them and why.

Turn through the colorful pages of this magazine and see for yourself how each issue contains something to challenge and hold the attention of every literate person in this land.

Sensational? Perhaps. Since people are interested in people The American Weekly devotes space each week to intimate glimpses into the triumphs, tragedies and romances of life.

But the editorial menu offers wide selection. Archaeology, astronomy, philosophy and the wonders of science are treated by world authorities in words the layman can understand.

On its magic carpet, the stay-at-home can ride to the fascinating isles of faraway. Here one can read of strange lands and the stranger people who live on the other side of the globe.

Fiction, too, in absorbing serials written by the outstanding authors of our time.

These are the ingredients that go into this Mighty Magazine that out-performs them all.

Where this Magazine goes

The American Weekly is the largest magazine in the world. It is distributed through 17 great Sunday Newspapers. In 558 of America's 995 towns and cities of 10,000 population and over, The American Weekly concentrates 70% of its circulation.

In each of 136 cities, it reaches one out of every two families
In 105 more cities, 40 to 50% of the families
In an additional 153 cities, 30 to 40%
In another 164 cities, 20 to 30%

. . . and, in addition, more than 1,750,000 families in thousands of other communities, large and small, regularly buy and read The American Weekly.

Where can you spend your advertising dollar more effectively?

THE AMERICAN WEEKLY
Greatest Circulation in the World

"The National Magazine with Local Influence"

Main Offices: 959 Eighth Avenue, New York City

Branch Offices: Palmolive Bldg., Chicago . . . 5 Winthrop Square, Boston . . . 753 Bonnie Brae, Los Angeles . . . 822 Monadnock Bldg., San Francisco
11-250 General Motors Bldg., Detroit . . . 4138 Hanna Bldg., Cleveland . . . 101 Marietta St., Atlanta . . . International Bldg., St. Louis

FIRST WITH LATEST NEWS

BOSTON AMERICAN

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

GREATER BOSTON NEWS

BOSTON, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1932

POLICE PARADE TO BE FEATURE OF HOLIDAY

THIS IS LIFE

Lowell's Book New Light on Conflict of Principle vs. Circumstances

By Robert E. Rogers

I CAN THINK OF NO SUBJECT more interesting for the person who likes to brood on political matters than that of President A. Lawrence Lowell's latest gook "The Conflict of Principles" (Harvard University Press). For before Mr. Lowell became an ardent advocate of the Japanese Boycott and other works of propaganda, he was a student of government. His book on the English system of parliamentary government is held to rank with Bryce's book on our American system. His scholarly experience makes him particularly competent to deal with the problem he states in his book, the problem of principle vs. circumstance in highly controversial matters of politics.

R. E. ROGERS

Extremities in Opposing Thought

There is a school of thought that holds that principles have nothing to do with the trend of history. The Determinists believe, following Marx, that all history is a matter of economic forces. The individual great man does not matter. H. G. Wells once pontificated to the effect that if Alexander, Caesar, Charlemagne, Napoleon, Bismarck and Lincoln had been changed at birth, the course of history would have run in much the same channels. (I may have got some of the names wrong, but the thesis is the same).

By the same argument, principles, beliefs, idealisms, convictions and so on have had little effect on history, compared to the slow, relentless, continuing pressure of economic forces. Or to put it differently, the principles are merely the functions of the forces.

Then the modern psychologist steps in and adds that the principles are probably merely the facades, or false fronts of our desires. We want to do something and—presto!—the intelligence automatically begins to manufacture the high idealistic principles necessary to persuade others—and even more, to persuade ourselves—that what we want to do is righteous and noble and idealistic.

The most famous example in Mr. Lowell's book is that of the two rebellions, that of the Thirteen Colonies against England in 1775 and that of the Confederate States against the Union in 1861. A hasty and cynical critic might remark that Mr. Lowell is a New England Yankee and that the New England Yankees won both times, both in rebelling and in crushing rebellion, and that therefore the one outcome seems just as right to him as another. A man of equal learning and intelligence, whether born in England or south of the Mason-Dixon line, might disagree with him and bolster up his conclusion by equally good arguments.

Economic Necessity Perhaps

The Marxian would say that both conflicts had their rise, not in a desire for freedom but in economic necessity—the necessity of the colonies to manage their own commerce and the necessity of the North to get rid of southern competition in the cotton business. Similarly, the psychologist would say that John Hancock's passion for liberty was only a false front for his concern about his smuggling business and that the northerner's concern for the slave was only a false front for his determination that wage slavery in the North must not suffer because of the competition of chattel slavery in the South.

Nevertheless, to President Lowell as a consistent conservative of the older school, as to a great many people who are a good deal younger than he, principles and ideals are hard facts, which must be taken into consideration and accounted for, just as hard facts as economic forces or psychological false fronts. In some respects, even harder facts to deal with, since they are the "irreducibles" which even Bismarck himself recognized could not be left out of the calculation. The very fact that they are irrational and emotional in their origin and behavior makes them harder to evaluate and handle. But they are not non-existent.

One thing appears clearly enough to me; that any such deep-rooted conflict of principles is never settled until it is fought out to a finish. That is why I have little faith in what the boys and girls of the John Reed Club call revolution. Internal revolutions seldom settle anything permanently. They mean usually the temporary triumph of one minority over another minority, with the great majority equally dissatisfied with either but, also, equally willing to live quietly under either, provided conditions are not too utterly bad.

The American Revolution settled something, not because it was a revolution but because it was a war of secession. The Civil War settled something permanently, not because it was a revolution but because it was a war of secession. But the French Revolution was betrayed from within and overthrown within a decade. It is not impossible, if the five-year plan stretches out to ten and living conditions are no better than they seem likely to be this winter that the Russian people will shrug the Communist system off as the French people shrugged off Republicanism, once they were bored with it. The Third Republic was really a creation of the War of 1870, an instrument of self-defence. That may be why it has lasted so well.

Conflict of Principles Necessary

The only other thing that will produce a lasting status quo is a long, slow peaceable conflict of principles, over a long period of time, in which no quarter is given, every advantage is taken, everything is tried out either to survive or be defeated, until a reasonable balance is arrived at. That has been the British method. That looks still to be the American method. It is doubtful whether we shall be stampeded into anything more hasty and violent by the muddle European minority.

Compromise and conciliation, in spite of the fact that they are today fashionable fads, seldom bring about a permanent settlement. No more than revolution do they seem to be final in their effects. Only a stand-up fight, accepting no compromises, determined until the end, whether the fight be a peaceful or a bloody one, seems to have lasting significance. In our elementary physics we were told that the resultant of two opposed forces is always greater than either of the two and is always exerted in a new direction.

In revolution one force destroys or cripples the other and the result is waste. In compromise the resultant is less than either force. Only in the steady, continuous, peaceful pulling of two opposed forces—both useful, both probably right—will you get a resultant which is profitable, useful and lasting.

Copyright, 1932, by the Boston Evening American

OUTLINES FIRE PREVENTION PLANS

DEPUTY WILLIAMSON COMMR. McLAUGHLIN DEPUTY CAULFIELD CHIEF FOX

It was a busy day at Fire Commr. Edward F. McLaughlin's office at Fire Headquarters yesterday. The commissioner had called his aids to a meeting, at which he discussed plans for a tour of all schools, lecturing on the seriousness of fire waste, and to employ the co-operation of the school children in preventing the great losses that occur from fires. The photographer caught, left to right, Deputy Chief Edward E. Williamson, Fire Commr. McLaughlin, Deputy Chief Albert J. Caulfield and Fire Chief Henry A. Fox, as they went over some fire prevention "don'ts." (Staff Photo.)

MEMORIAL MASS PART OF K. OF C. OBSERVANCE

Procession in Cambridge Also in Long List of Events Planned for the Day

With two parades and scores of religious and social events, Columbus Day tomorrow promises to be the most widely celebrated since its inception as a legal holiday here 22 years ago.

The annual parade of the Boston police department and a memorial mass in St. Cecilia's Church, Back Bay, provide the morning features.

The mass was arranged by Massachusetts State Council, K. of C., in memory of its deceased members.

Cambridge is the scene of the other parade, scheduled to start at 2 p. m. from the Cambridge side of Harvard Bridge.

The city of Boston celebration is scheduled on Boston Common at 3 p. m. with Joseph M. Kirby, State deputy of the Knights, as principal speaker.

The police parade, headed by Supt Crowley as "Colonel," will get under way at 9:50 a. m. over a route that starts at Commonwealth ave. and Dartmouth st and winds through downtown Boston to the Common.

Part of the Knights of Columbus program opens tonight with the observance by Pere Marquette council, South Boston, of its 25th anniversary. The same council will hold a major degree tomorrow and follow with a long program for the rest of the week.

Cambridge council is in charge of the Cambridge parade in which more than 10,000 are expected to be in line.

Among the other observances in Columbian circles are a public concert and exercises in the Municipal building, Roslindale, under the auspices of John J. Williams council; a program in Hibernian hall, Roxbury, by Jamaica Plain council, scores of memorial masses in the morning and entertainments in the evening.

Route of Tomorrow's Police Parade

Start at 9:50 a. m., Commonwealth ave. and Dartmouth st. South side of Commonwealth ave., to Arlington, Boylston and Tremont sts., Temple pl., to Washington st., to School st., to Beacon st., to Charles st. entrance of Boston Common.

The parade will be reviewed at City Hall by Mayor Curley at approximately 10:20. Governor Ely will review five minutes later at the State House. The Boston Common review is scheduled for 10:15 a. m.

CADDY VIEWS TROPHIES

A $50 hill, golf ball, and her picture, bearing the words, "To the best caddy I ever had," are the trophies that Alec Andreadis, Peabody boy, treasures. He received the prizes from Virginia Van Wie, for whom he caddied in the women's amateur championships at Peabody. The lad hopes to go to Chicago next year to caddy again for Miss Van Wie (Staff Photo.)

Peabody Boy Shares Golf Glory as Champ's "Best Caddy"

Fifteen-year-old Alec Andreadis is all aglow. The world is a great place to live in and golf is its sweetest game. For Alec caddied for Virginia Van Wie, new women's champion, all through the recent fracas at Peabody and she gave him a $50 bonus for his work, a new golf ball, and a picture of herself signed, "to the best caddie I ever had."

Alec was to have been a junior in Peabody high school this year, but his family suffered reverses, and he's trying to help in the little home at 10 Winthrop st., Peabody. So the $50 means a lot.

"She's the greatest person I ever caddied for," he said, speaking of Miss Van Wie, "and I've been carrying clubs for two years.

"We only had one argument," he went on, "and that was on the fourth hole Saturday afternoon. She wanted to use a midiron, but I advised a number three iron. We had a little spat about it.

"Which one did she use? . . . Oh, the three iron, and she was hole high. She's a sweet golfer, right down the middle every time. My one aim in life right now is to get out to Chicago next year and caddy for her out there."

CITY SCOFFS AT GARRETT PLEA

Persistent reports that Oliver B Garrett, one-time czar of the Boston police liquor squad, would battle for renewal of his city pension after his release from Deer Island prison drew something akin to snorts of derision from official quarters today.

While admitting that Garrett might present a strong argument for the pension which was his until Mayor Curley summarily suspended it, there is an ace in the city's sleeve which can be hauled forth if the occasion demands.

That is an old charge of defrauding the city, a charge upon which the ex-raider has never been tried. The pension situation, for the present at least, rests entirely upon Commissioner Hultman, for Garrett was retired under the old police pension system which had the commissioner as its chief tribunal.

Garrett having been appointed a patrolman prior to February 1, 1923, is not under the jurisdiction of the present retirement system governed by a city retirement board and the mayor.

If, therefore, Garrett decides to fight for the $100-odd dollars per month, the city might first appeal to Commissioner Hultman to lend an official hand. In that event, Garrett might submit himself to the medical board and be pronounced fit to resume police duty.

Then Commissioner Hultman would probably go before the Civil Service Commission and request Garrett's reinstatement long enough to get him before a trial board on one charge or another. Such a hearing might result in his discharge without a glimmer of a chance of collecting any more pension money. And again—it might not.

Norfolk Convicts Turn Down Harvard Grid Offer

The Norfolk prison colony convicts today refused to play Harvard at football, the most direct snub in gridiron negotiations since the Harvard-Princeton falling-out.

"Nothing doing," was the word out of Norfolk today in answer to the proposition that a prison football team meet an eleven of former Harvard stars at the prison sometime in November.

It isn't that the convicts draw the line at Harvard so much as the fact that they haven't any football team and don't want any football team.

The Sing-Sing gridiron influence hasn't made itself manifest in Norfolk, where, it appears at first glance, the boys in stripes are just a big bunch of sissies.

This lack of the manly urge among the Norfolk "students" would seem even more apparent from the disclosure that it wasn't real football, anyway, it was proposed to play—it was just "touch" football, or "tag" for big.

But it may be that that's just the reason the Norfolk boys won't play. They might leap at the chance for a good rough contest accompanied by mayhem in the best (according to Harvard) Princeton manner.

The whole thing started from an idea of Jack Faude, former Harvard lacrosse player and student of sociology at the Norfolk camp.

Faude said he'd get Vic Harding, Bernie White, Red Pinkham, Henry Myerson and a bunch of others into a Harvard team for a game with Norfolk and he put the idea up to Allen Pollock, director of sociology at the Norfolk camp.

"But I was unable to get up enough enthusiasm among the convicts to form a football team," said Pollock. "We haven't any team and anyway there is a medical ban against playing even touch football, although this ban might have been lifted if the boys had displayed any enthusiasm at the suggestion they meet a Harvard team."

RUNAWAY WIFE, SUITOR HELD

Running away to New York with the "other man" according to her own admissions, Mrs. Rose Rose, 27, of Third st., Chelsea, was taken into custody today in Providence, R. I., with Theodore White, 35, of Winnisimett st., Chelsea.

Mrs. Rose, who left two children at home, told Providence police she was running away because her husband was unkind to her.

The runaway trip ended when a motorcycle policeman stopped the car in which they were riding, recognizing it as one reported stolen by the Massachusetts state police.

The driver, Albert E. Marchand, 29, of Shawmut st., Chelsea, was also held. Mrs. Rose said Marchand offered White and her a ride to New York, and neither she nor White knew the car was stolen. Police say the owner is Mrs. Mary Basson of Revere.

$40 More for City's Conscience Fund

Two $20 bills were received at City Hall today by City Collector McMorrow.

What they represent will always be a mystery, for they came in an envelope without explanation.

The $40 was turned over to the "Conscience Fund."

Carnival to Boost Elks' Charity Fund

A charity carnival will be held by Somerville Lodge of Elks Friday and Saturday evenings at the Elks Home on Central st., Somerville, to raise a fund for those in distress during the Christmas holidays.

Missing Collectors Are Feared Slain

Failure by police to discover any trace of two missing collectors who have been gone nearly a week strengthened the belief today that they have been slain. Both were said to have been carrying large sums of money.

Stephen B Hardy of Middleboro was employed by Florey's Milling Co. of Middleboro to collect bills between Middleboro and Brockton last Friday night.

Walter S. Hermes of Atlantic, an insurance collector left his home for Wollaston last Thursday and has not been seen since.

Shield at Food Show Sign of Inspection

Visitors at the New England Food Show in Mechanics building are finding out the meaning of the blue and gold shield which they have seen many times on their auto trips along New England roads.

The sign is the official emblem of farmers who conduct roadside stands, and is a guarantee that all produce sold has been inspected by the state, and that quality of the goods is of the highest and the price is fair.

Maine, Rhode Island and Connecticut have also adopted the Massachusetts plan of state inspection.

Bishop Lawrence to Ordain Mathers

Thomas Mathers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mathers of Warren ave., Milton, will be ordained to the Episcopal deaconate Sunday at the Church of the Holy Spirit, Mattapan.

Bishop William Lawrence will officiate with the Rev James Thayer Addison of Harvard, the Rev. Frank H. Stedman of Jamaica Plain and the Rev. Jacob Clemens of Church of the Holy Spirit. Mr. Mathers is soon to be married to Miss Annette Ernest of York Village, Me., a teacher in Norton.

BANDIT SLAYER IS REWARDED

Patrolman Joseph R Johnson of Medford who was commended yesterday by a grand jury in the killing of Charles Marino 18, Chelsea high school fullback during a Medford store holdup was commended today by Chief Daniel W Connors at roll call.

The patrolman was also given three days' vacation with pay for breaking up the robbery attempt single-handed and capturing Marino and in the group of bandits commendations were also given at roll call to Lieut William J. McLaughlin and Sergt Michael J Brown for their work in connection with the holdup in the store of Richard Demerjian in Medford last Thursday.

Firm Will Get New Hearing on Contract

The Governor's Council will reopen public hearing today on the contract originally awarded to the Eastern Contracting Co. of Quincy for construction of state highway in Raynham, Lakeville and Taunton.

The council once refused to approve the contract. Councilor Chester I. Campbell of Quincy had asked for a rehearing.

Community Theater in Malden

Malden is to have a community theater enterprise. The Malden Community Theater was organized with Everett C. Rea as president last night.

CRIMSON RAGES AT YARD TRUCKS

The situation with regard to the annoyance of delivery trucks in the Harvard yard is becoming perfectly unbearable, the Harvard Crimson points out in an editorial today.

The Crimson speaks of "a growing number of autos and trucks . . . quietly coming up behind unwary students who have to walk along the driveways, and forcing them onto the grass.

"All day long an unending stream of waiters and laundry trucks pass to and fro, often blowing impatiently at pedestrians, and again plowing their way through without reduction of speed.

"The careless student who runs down the steps of Widener is too often thought to be a fool sized by a large delivery wagon bearing down on him."

Curley in Demand for Campaign Talks

The success achieved by Mayor Curley on his 10,000-mile speaking tour of the west for Franklin D. Roosevelt, has brought him further demands to speak at Democratic meetings.

As a result, he will go to New York Friday to confer with the Democratic national committee members regarding assignments proposed for him for the remainder of the campaign.

3 Held in $60,000 for Back Bay Holdup

George Grosse, Arthur Frink and Theodore Chimiklis, all of Harvard st., Brookline, were held in $20,000 each for the grand jury when arraigned in Roxbury, charged with robbery while armed.

They were arrested Sunday by Brighton police as the bandits who, on Oct. 7, robbed Ernest Yates of $50 in his fruit store at 367 Huntington ave., Back Bay.

Fake Check Passer Sought in Everett

A warning of a bogus check passer in Everett was sent out by police today.

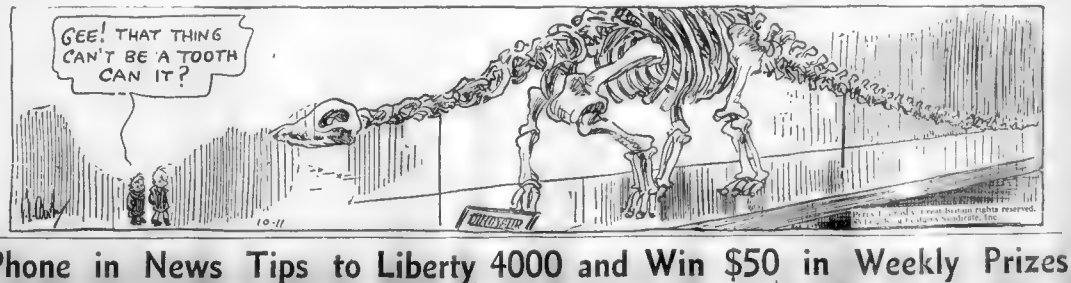
The latest victim of the fake check passer is John Golden, who owns a store at 400 Ferry st.

Wellesley Welcomes New Faculty Group

The annual reception to new members of the Wellesley College faculty was held last night with President Ellen Fitz Pendleton extending welcome.

SKIPPY—A Painful Sight

By PERCY CROSBY



Phone in News Tips to Liberty 4000 and Win $50 in Weekly Prizes

STATE ECONOMIES THEME OF ELY'S OPENING SPEECH

Girl About Town

—By ALYCE SIEMENS—

Summing Up

Possessed of all good things that women fall for—
You strut your stuff,
On your celestial throne you perch, to reign,
What low down bluff!

Your subjects, female cops I dub them,
Your praises sing—
I thank the Lord that I am not a Queen
To such a King. —M. A. G.

True Story

While kibitzing at a bridge session the over ave we heard a young Jamaicaway medico and his wife who were playing together, become slightly exercised with each other's playing . . . He was trying to be patient with her but finally said, "You're impossible! You have so much to learn." . . . "Of course, I have a lot to learn," she snapped back . . . To hear her fond mate retort, "You said it—you have EVERYTHING to learn."

Pickups

Chelsea's hello-gal, Eileen Brennan, is skipping heartbeats over Jim Trombley. . . . The Albert Jallens -he's the pool champ of Derry, N H—are pecking over the bassinet at their new eight-pound son . . . Frank McGrann back in the Hub looking for miniature golf courses, finally gave up and played his first game of 'eal golf in 14 months, Sunday at Woodlawn with Charlie Howard . . . Who trotted him about those links in such speedy fashion that Frank was achey for hours

Big Boy Falls!

Big Joe "Base Wizard" Carbonero, the Coconut Grove's newest musicman, has let Cupid count out those 10 figures over his love knockout by Lawrence a pretty Jannie Campopiano! . . . Texas Guinan's show is still as hot as it was when she played here in vaude . . . With the acts following her over the same circuit cussing the Queen of Broadway up and down because the censors, who woke up after Tex left each town, now haunt the backstages, purifying the acts' . . . Here in the Hub, Frederick and Florence Leaman will be one-minus-ones! . . . Have you ever noticed how much that Belmont druggist, Harry Hepenstall, resembled Gotham's Jimmy Walker? . . . Knitting is the rage with the lady screen stars out in Hollywood right now, writes one of our West Coast fans . . . New York's Imperial Felce flew here for the opening night of "The Cat and the Fiddle" because he never had time to witness it in the Big City! . . . At least, that was the way we heard it! . . . Nick Lucia is one whose features are much better looking up close than in pictures or on the stage

He Can't Miss!

Right under the very noses of radio heads and agents is a real voice find! . . . J. Clinton-Smith of Hollywood . . . Called "Melody Jack" by "The Gossipers" who are introducing him to their air-devoters . . . Remember the speaking parts he turned out with Bill Farnum in "Ten Nights in a Barroom" . . . With Karl Dane and George K. Arthur in their features . . . And the tramp in the Mickey McGuire kid comedies . . . And his deep, soft whispering voice should bring balm to the ears of localites who've bit fed up with the average barytoning or tenoring . . . And he has a certain different twist to his guitar accompanying, too!

Things You Should Know

That Katherine "Of the Movies" Hepburn's brother is a Harvard lad this year . . . That a phone call during our Sunday night broadcast brought the news that Roxbury's electrical inspector, Jimmie Hennessy, will be missing from his old time cafe's haunts now since he tripped up to the altar yesterday . . . That they'll pay to keep the Copley ballroom empty on the night of Oct. 21 so that all the Harvard-Dartmouth celebrants can dance to the combined rhythms of two bands at the Statler . . . Where Ruby Newman's music chaps and Claude Hopkins hot-cha boys will battle away . . . With red headed Ann Boland warbling tunes and flirting shoulder straps in her fascinating manner which should send those collegers home with something more than the football game to think about' . . . The following night, Saturday, Hopkins will move over to the Copley to draw 'em in for a dance . . . Smiley Jerry Means began yesterday as the Famous Music concern's New England representative and drawing our attention to the tune "Here Lies Love" which you'll hear in "The Bix Broadcast if you go to that midnight show at the "Met" tonight . . . The more daredevilish of the drivers in Dick Dunn's auto race festival at the Readville track tomorrow will be goodlooking Bryan Saulspaugh of Rock Island, Ill. . . . Who took Brent, one of those perilous chances when he doubled for the racing lead in the movie, "The Crowd Roars" . . . And he's scared to drive us around the track . . . But we prefer roller-skating! . . .

Rah-Rah Servers!

An innovation when George Fuller's Beanery and Tuffe College open Saturday night will be the corps of handsome waiters, recruited from "Tech" and Tufts College . . . Can't you just picture the gals busy ordering the ent.e menu? . . . Incidentally early membership received in the club are those of Harvard Golfer Dwight Baldwin of Dedham, Ralph Stewart, Webb Hyde, Paul Thurlow, the Bernard Gerrishes of Wellesley, the Harmon Elliotts, Newton's Fern Mollis, Ray Stanley, New Bedford's Jack Herberts and John Pratt, and Super-Host Stephen Casey of Liberty Square.

GOVERNOR GOES ON RADIO TONIGHT

To Give Account of Stewardship, Emphasizing Reduction Achieved in Appropriations

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY

Governor Ely will fire the first gun in his campaign for re-election tonight in a radio address to be delivered at 7.15 o'clock over station WBZ.

In his opening the governor will discuss the economies of his administration, pointing out that he has accomplished the first reduction in state appropriations in at least a dozen years. His speech in the main will be an account of his stewardship since he took office in January, 1930.

DEMOCRACY UNITED

In striking contrast to dissension within the opposition ranks, dissension which threatens to split the G. O. P. wide open, the initiation of the Democratic campaign by the governor finds a united Democracy at his back.

The charge of Frank A. Goodwin that John Richardson, Republican national committeeman, had entered a deal with Democrats detrimental to the success of William S. Youngman, the Republican candidate for governor, has brought some sharp exchanges between the defeated G. O. P. gubernatorial primary candidate, and Republican leaders.

Richardson brands the Goodwin charges as "absurd" and Chairman Amos L. Taylor of the state committee calls them "ridiculous."

In addition, Taylor, who is making no secret of his intense annoyance over the affair, says:

REGISTRATION DRIVE ON

"Anyone who is familiar with the progress of the campaign knows that his (Goodwin's) picture of the situation is completely inaccurate and untrue."

To which Goodwin replies

"Taylor couldn't say anything else but I have some information of what is going on behind the scenes. Perhaps my statement will have a salutary effect."

Aside from Governor Ely's speech tonight, every Democratic effort is being directed to piling up a record registration list.

Former Senator Joseph J. Mulhern, appointed registration director in Boston, has already organized his force for this important work. Tonight at the City Club Mulhern will meet at dinner all the Democratic candidates for state office in the city, the Democratic members of the city council and the Democratic city committee.

TELEPHONE CANVASS

Headquarters have been established at the Statler, Hotel [illegible] more than 50 young women have volunteered their services for a telephone canvass of Democratic voters. Two large "loud speaker" trucks, urging Democrats to register so that they may protest present economic conditions at the voting booths on Nov 8, will tour every section of the city.

District headquarters are being opened in strategical sections of the city, and in addition, Mulhern plans to broadcast registration appeals nightly over WNAC immediately following the news period shortly after 11 p. m.

National Committeewoman Mary H. Ward, active in organizing the women of the state, announces that the first of a series of women rallies will be held next Thursday night in Faneuil Hall.

Men may attend and speak, she says, but these rallies are organized and officered by women. All speeches will be limited to five minutes

ELY TO SPEAK

And Miss Ward promises that the Thursday night meeting will "explode the false theory that women are not interested in politics."

Governor Ely and all the statewide candidates for office will be there. The guest of the evening will be Miss Carol Miller of Pennsylvania, well known anti-prohibition campaigner

Dr. Helen I. Doherty, vice-chairman of the state committee, will preside.

Former Governor Alvan T. Fuller, according to a Republican State committee, has agreed to take the stump during the final week of the campaign.

He is scheduled to speak in Newburyport and Gloucester on the night of Nov. 3. Sharing the platform with him will be Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, presidend Judson Jennings of the Republican Club of Massachusetts and Congressman A. Piatt Andrew of Gloucester.

Advertisement

77 MILES ON 1 GALLON?

Gas Saver Laboratories, B-269, St. Wheaton, Illinois, has brought out a new auto Gas Saver—Oiler that is said to save 50% of gas and OILS inside of engine at same time. THERE IS NOTHING ELSE LIKE IT. It fits all Cars. Easy to put on. LOW PRICE. Sold on 10 days mon. ey-back guarantee. They want Users, Boosters, agents everywhere to earn up to $1,500 a month helping introduce it. 700% profits. THEY OFFER ONE FREE TO START. Send your Address and Name of Car by Postal or Letter, NOW.

TRIO LINKED TO NARCOTIC SYNDICATE

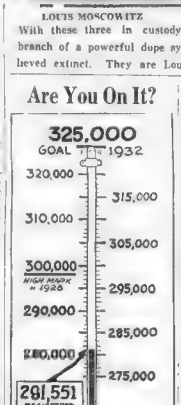
LOUIS MOSCOWITZ

MRS. MOSCOWITZ

ABRAHAM MILLER

With these three in custody, the Boston branch of a powerful dope syndicate is believed extinct. They are Louis Moscowitz, his wife, Rose, and Abraham Miller. Police and federal operatives hid under sacks in a mail truck and followed the trio to a hide-out in Hewins st., Dorchester.

Are You On It?



325,000
GOAL for 1932
320,000
315,000
310,000
305,000
300,000
HIGH MARK in 1928
295,000
290,000
285,000
280,000
275,000
291,551
REGISTERED VOTERS YESTERDAY
DO YOUR DUTY! REGISTER!
Register to Vote
It Is Your Duty. You Know It.
Don't Be Left High and Dry on Election Day.
Do It Now.
Unless You Voted in the Primary on September 20, or have otherwise checked Your Name on the Voting List, You Don't KNOW that you Can Vote next month.
If You Are in Doubt, Find Out.
You Can Register at City Hall every day except Sundays and Holidays Until October 19 5 p. m. to 10 p. m.
You can Register in Your Ward Every Day Except Sundays and Holidays Until October 19 5 p. m. to 10 p. m.
There is One Registration Place in Every Ward. Look up Yours.
Register to Vote
Do It Now
Don't Wait Until It Is Too Late and Then Regret It 10,000

Advertisement

MONEY-BACK GLAND TONIC

Restores Vigorous Health

We guarantee to restore your pep, vigor, vitality; or we refund every cent. That's how sure we are that we have the best gland remedy known. Thousands of tests have proved this to our full satisfaction. Now WITHOUT RISK, you can prove it to yours. Glandex is the last word in modern science. In convenient tablet form, Glandex contains extracts from the glands of healthy animals and stimulates ALL THE GLANDS to healthy activity. The effect is astonishing—almost magical. You feel and look years younger! You return to the full vigor of manhood or womanhood. Your interest in life returns. Vigorous health is necessary for success in all activity today!

Do not confuse Glandex with other so-called gland remedies. It is entirely unlike others—IS A REAL GLAND PRODUCT and carries an UNLIMITED GUARANTEE OF SATISFACTION OR MONEY BACK. You owe it to yourself and family to try this new day gland remedy. 10 day treatment, $3, at Liggett's Stores, or by mail from Jos. A. Fiorita, Los Angeles.

CURLEY AID FOR REGISTRATION

Registration this year in Boston will reach the largest figures ever known Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Democratic State Committee declared today after a half-hour conference with Mayor Curley.

Maynard said that the closest harmony existed between his office and the mayor. He announced the mayor will send out 40,000 registration notices to those not on the lists next Thursday. The mayor will pay for these out of his own pocket.

Maynard pointed out that the registration figures today were over 10,000 ahead of the corresponding figures for 1928.

The check list that the Democratic City Committee has been using has been placed at the disposal of former Senator Joseph J. Mulhern, Boston director of registration.

With nine days yet to go, Boston's registration for the presidential election was recorded as 281,-551 today in figures announced by the election commission.

A total of 1548 new voters registered yesterday.

Officials are striving toward a goal of 325,000 by the time registration closes at 10 p. m. October 15.

Curley Hasty in Praise as Hoover Quits City Post

Mayor Curley took a sly jibe at President Hoover today on the occasion of awarding certificates to 10 retiring men and women city employes for "faithful and meritorious service."

He was reading the names alphabetically and read the name "Herbert C. Hoover." Laughter from the gathering increased when the mayor added:

"Pardon me, I'm a bit too hasty."

The mayor described the city pension system which he originated in 1923. He said 1690 have benefitted and of that number 1157 are now receiving pensions

Brennan Blames Bigotry for Defeat

James M. Brennan, member of the Governor's Council and defeated candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman in the recent primaries, wrote to Chairman Joseph A. Maynard of the Democratic State committee today, denouncing bigotry

Brennan said his political enemies in the Democratic party used his support of Franklin D. Roosevelt as an excuse for attacking him on religious grounds

Langone Accuses Light Companies

A protest was filed today with A. C. Webber, of the department of public utilities, by Rep. Joseph A. Langone against the Boston Edison Co. and the Boston Consolidated Gas Co.

These two companies are alleged by Langone to have discontinued their service to several families who are on the welfare list

Agents Plan a Dry Columbus Day Here

An attempt will be made by dry agents to mop up illegal liquor resorts planning for a big holiday trade, it was learned at the federal prohibition administrator's office today

Particular attention will be paid to the "drug store trade" about the city and watch will be kept on areaways adjoining such places where autos are parked

NOTICE

WARNING: Color alone is not sufficient identification. Look for the correct and genuine of King C. Gillette on the package.

The domestic help problem is solved by taking a kitchenette apartment and the best are advertised daily in the Fine Food columns.

MAYOR MURPHY IN FIERY TILT ON EXPENSES

Defends City Purchases; Says He Spurned Bankers' Plea to Cut Salaries 10 Per Cent

Several clashes today marked the appearance of Mayor John J Murphy of Somerville before the legislative committee on public expenditures, headed by Senator Samuel H. Wragg of Needham with whom Murphy has been at war recently.

One clash occurred when Senator Charles A. Stevens of Chelmsford charged Somerville has already received more money from the state to aid it than the city has paid in to the state

Mayor Murphy said that he had refused advice of bankers to cut municipal salaries 10 per cent, but believed that municipal employes should contribute to welfare work from their salaries.

He denied unnecessary purchases of fire trucks and ash trucks in Somerville, but declined to give the total of Somerville's budget, and he charged that suggestions made for legislative action by mayors, to assist cities and towns financially had not been acted on

$30,000 BAIL IN DRUG CASE

Mr. and Mrs Louis Moscowitz and Abraham Miller, arrested in a raid by federal narcotic agents on a house in Hewins st., Dorchester, last night, were held today in a total of $30,000 bail for hearing Oct. 17 on charges of concealing drugs. They pleaded not guilty before U. S. Commissioner Jenney

Miller, one of the trio, brought about by officers who hid in a mail truck which trailed them from the South End, is believed to have smashed one wing of a powerful drug ring

FLIER SAVED IN 4000-FT. DROP

John T. Ryan, 22-year-old Brighton flier, dived his plane 3000 feet to avoid a cloud bank, was unable to bring it out of the resulting spin, and then plunged another 1000 feet into the harbor today.

Ryan snapp struck off the Winthrop yacht Club, between Point Shirley and Snake Island, its tanks apparently exploding

Ryan was flung clear of the wreckage, which burst into flame in the morning sun, back and grasp a wing tip. The flames were licking at his fingers when aid came.

He was rescued by Gus Johnson, of 57 Beacon st., Winthrop, superintendent of the Winthrop Yacht club, who heard the crash and put out in a tender

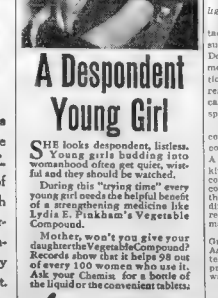
Ryan was weakening and one of his hands slipped from the wing tip as Johnson reached him.

Safety Warning for Holiday by Ryan

Motorists are warned today to be especially careful on the highways by Morgan T. Ryan, register of motor vehicles

Ryan points out that there were 12 fatal accidents on Columbus Day last year and urges motorists to be careful lest there be a repetition of road fatalities again this year.

So Listless... What's the Matter?



A Despondent Young Girl

SHE looks despondent, listless. Young girls shedding into womanhood often get quiet, wistful and they should be watched.

During this "trying time" every young girl needs the helpful benefit of a strengthening medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mother, won't you give your daughter the Vegetable Compound? Records show that it helps 98 out of every 100 women who use it. Ask your Chemist for a bottle of the liquid or the convenient tablets.

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

PICKS TALENT FOR RADIO

Miss Gloria Braggiotti, social registerite and member of old Boston family, has been since April, conducting auditions in New York for society girls in a quest for voices for Jack Denny's radio debutante orchestral presentations. Through Miss Braggiotti, a dozen or more society girls have made their radio debut.

Society Buds Get Air Tests to Sing With Jazz Band

New York, Oct. 11—The Waldorf-Astoria through mediumship of "Jack Denny's radio debutante" orchestral presentations in the Empire Room, has introduced a dozen or more leaders of the younger social set to the radio audiences of the country since spring

Now the scope of the idea is to be enlarged, reaching to the social centers of the continent for more talent.

Since April, Miss Gloria Braggiotti of Boston, a member of one of the oldest social register families in that cultural center of the nation, has been conducting auditions in New York and other east coast cities, to select the voices to have microphone appearances with the Denny Orchestra in two-week periods, from the hotel here.

Mrs. Wm. R. K. Taylor, Jr., Miss Louise D. Lynch, of Greenwich, Miss Jean Lang of St. Louis, the Misses Mimi and Natalie Kounz, Miss Gwendolyn Fisk, and Miss Ruth Macer of New York, Miss Nancy Whirman of Boston Mrs. Robert Ash and Miss Jean Peeples of Washington and Miss Jeannet e Dobbin of Smithtown, are some of those who have been through their auditions successfully and been on the air with the Jack Denny programs from the Waldorf

Several of them are with the orchestra in Washington now and will be at the Waldorf Astoria on Oct. 27 when the "Radio Debutantes" return there

"The idea," Miss Braggiotti said today, "is to give the young women of social prominence who have talent, a chance to appear and win a public audience. Their parents do not agree to their appearing on the stage Night clubs, for appearances of the debutantes are, of course, barred. But radio, it seems, is something different. And when appearances have been in an atmosphere and location such as that of the Waldorf-Astoria, there are no parental objections.

"Some of the young women who have appeared in the radio presentations with the Jack Denny Orchestra have already received radio broadcasting offers that are extremely gratifying to them and to the Waldorf-Astoria as sponsors for their appearance on the air.

"And now, to still further carry out the idea, I am sailing tomorrow (Wednesday) on the Vulcania, for Europe, to see if some of the young ladies of Continental society are interested in coming to New York as guests of the Waldorf-Astoria for similar appearances."

Miss Braggiotti is to go first to Rome, where she has already arranged conferences, by cable, with Princess Lola Grovarelli, Isabella Perrone and Irene and Nadyla Barzinjiers. From Rome she goes on to Florence for a conference with Gabriella Monte Mario

Then the trail will lead on to Vienna, Berlin, Paris and London

Just who will be interviewed in these cities has not yet been decided.

"But America, interested in the American debutante radio appearances by our own society register girls," says Miss Braggiotti, "may rest assured that some of the girls of European prominence who will come, I am sure, will be equally charming and equally talented."

Fish Dealers Urge Ely Name Desmond

A delegation of fish dealers called on Gov. Ely today to urge the confirmation of William D. Desmond, whose appointment as a fish inspector at Commonwealth Pier has been held up.

The delegation was made up of F. J. O'Hara, L. H. Young, H. F. Phillips and David S. Choate.

Don't Drive a COLD in!

Drive It OUT With a Remedy That Gets At It From The Inside!

Treat a cold quickly, but intelligently

Remember a cold is a germ attack—an internal infection—and, as such, calls for internal treatment. Don't attempt to knock a cold merely with local or out-side applications External treatments can't reach the seat of the trouble and can't prevent the infection from spreading within the system.

Don't attempt, either, to relieve a cold with a cure-all. A cold is a cold and calls for a COLD remedy A preparation that's good for all kinds of ills and ailments besides colds can't be equally effective for colds. Many people take remedies that actually make a cold more difficult to relieve because these remedies are constipating and also make the system acid

The thing to take for a cold is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine As your doctor will undoubtedly tell you, he couldn't write a better prescription for a cold if he wanted to.

4 Important Effects

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is prompt and decisive relief for a cold because it does four important things.

First, it opens the bowels, gently but effectively—the first step in routing a cold Second, it kills the cold germs in the system, drives out the poisonous infection and reduces the fever Third, it relieves the headache and that grippy feeling Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies it against further attack

This is the treatment a cold calls for, and anything less is inviting serious complications."

No Bad After-Effects

Grove's Bromo Quinine contains no narcotics and is absolutely safe to take It produces no bad after-effects It does not upset the stomach, nauseate, or make the head ring or swim. Its safety, as well as effectiveness, has made it the standard cold tablet the world over.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine comes in handy, pocket size boxes, cellophane wrapped and is sold by every drug store in America. A few of the tablets taken promptly on catching cold will usually expel the cold overnight and banish the danger of its setting in your system. Therefore, at the first sign of a cold, take Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. A wise measure is to keep it within reach all winter. Be suspicious of any dealer who tries to sell you a substitute.

BEACON HILL

—by—

Betty Alden

MRS. JAMES S. RUSSELL of Milton gave a very delightful and interesting talk on her favorite topic, Japan, out in Concord yesterday afternoon . . . Mrs. Russell is cousin of W. Cameron Forbes, officiating as hostess at the Tokio embassy while he was our official representative in the Land of the Cherry Blossoms . . .

Beautifully gowned in the Japanese native costume, even to the soft little shoes which fit like a glove, Mrs. Russell knelt on a satin cushion during the entire speech and very comfortable and winning she did appear . . .

CHARLOTTE YOUNG

Old But Ever New

The various views of Japan which she threw on the lantern screen were old but ever new . . . it is a great treat to be able to see these ancient Oriental countries as they are and have been . . . the cities are so rapidly becoming Europeanized, there may be a day when their architectural history may be crumbled to dust . . .

The pictures of Charles and Anne Lindbergh on their arrival in Japan were especially interesting . . . she said, "It seemed as though the Japanese lost their self-control for the first time." You know that even as children one of their first lessons is the discipline of repression . . .

Miss Sarah Goodwin, beloved principal of Milton Academy for years and intimate friend of Mrs. Russell's, introduced the speaker . . . and we could not help thinking what a lovely, gracious person Mrs. Russell was to represent America abroad . . .

* * *

Ellen Emerson Plans Debut

WE HEARD THAT A PRETTY, light-haired Concord debutante, Ellen Emerson, will make her bow on Sunday, October 16, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Emerson. Mr. Emerson is the grandson of our beloved poet, Ralph Waldo Emerson, which makes Miss Ellen a great-granddaughter Ellen is very fond of horses and is of the out-of-door type.

* * *

We heard much gnashing of teeth and wails of despair when the provisional membership of the Junior League was announced . . . and there is going to be only ONE election this year, we believe. We cannot tell at this writing Who is Who . . . but it is bound to leak out The busy tabbies already are meowing over the fact that one of Boston's most prominent buds did not get IN . . . she wore her finger-nails too long, maybe?

* * *

We are pleased to inform you that one of our most ravishing debs, Charlotte Young, is recovering from her slight illness and will be seen around again at parties SOON . . .

* * *

Ushers for Bridge Tournament

AMONG THE NOT-YET-FORGOTTENS of the past seasons who will usher at the bridge tournament tonight are Louise Sawyer, Ellen Cushing, Mary Wight, Catherine Bowden, Grace Roberts, Elizabeth Stephenson, Mary Ives and Barbara Heyward .

On the last of these tournament evenings which takes place next Tuesday night, October 18, Helen Crosby is putting on a fashion show, featuring a group of this season's buds . . . Mrs. George S. West has taken over the chairmanship of the committee during the absence of Mrs Bernard Weld . . .

* * *

Mrs Morgan Butler is presenting her debutante to the world at the Dedham Polo and Country Club on October 27 . . .

* * *

Mrs. I. Tucker Burr and Mrs. William A. L. Bazeley will be hostesses at the English Speaking Union on Friday, October 14, when the guests will be the Rt. Rev. Lord William Gascoyne-Cecil, Bishop of Exeter, and Lady Florence Cecil .

* * *

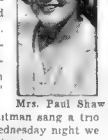
Society Broadcast Planned

WE DROPPED IN AT THE Egyptian Room yesterday for lunch in time to hear Nancy Whitman and a group of society girls warbling in try-outs for a radio night . . .

Nancy's trip to New York and experience in singing at the Waldorf roof has improved her style; she was great!

Betty Pope Shaw was one of the crooners . . . not bad; and she looked very pretty in a Kelley green wool dress. Jean Hall also did her "mike" stunt in a green sheer wool crepe.

"Cherry" Collens . . . isn't that the perfect nickname for this rosy-cheeked, laughing-eyed little girl . . . sang a solo, and Elizabeth Stephenson jazzed hers . . . we think "Stevie" was a little scared, eh, what?



Mrs. Paul Shaw

Emma Kidder, Jean Hall and Nancy Whitman sang a trio and how much of all this will be heard on Wednesday night we do not know . . . but we will be THERE to applaud

* * *

Smart in Black Costume

SAW JANICE VAUGHAN SMITH handing out pamphlets for the Economy League on Tremont st. the other day . . . she looked very smart in her black costume. She is recovering from a fall from her horse in which she sustained a broken arm but she expects to mount again in the near future . . .

* * *

We are off for the first meeting of the Vincent Club at the Brookline Country Club . . . tell you about the new fall costumes on Thursday . . . with illustrations.

VICKS COUGH DROP
. . . All you've hoped for in a Cough Drop—medicated with ingredients of VICKS VAPORUB

Sears, Roebuck Stock Listed in Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 11 (AP)—Attempts by local traders to broaden the activities of the Chicago Stock Exchange were rewarded yesterday with the listing of 4,946,000 shares of no-par common stock of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

News and Gossip of Greater Boston Society

CATHERINE BARTOW TO WED ON HOLIDAY

FAITH CHIPMAN BARBARA BACHELOR JANE LOCKE JANE WHEELER LOUISE M. RUSSELL

MISS FAITH CHIPMAN, Miss Barbara Bachelor, Miss Jane Locke, Miss Jane Wheeler and Miss Louise M. Russell are among the post-debutantes who will sell cigarettes and programs for the benefit of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children at the first annual bridge tournament in the Imperial ballroom of the Hotel Statler this evening. The first night of the tournament was held last Tuesday night and was a great success.

Late Afternoon Bridal for Miss Bartow

In St. Stephen's Church, Cohasset amid floral decorations of pink chrysanthemums and laurel, Miss Catherine Cragin Bartow becomes the bride of Mr. James Dean, Jr. at a 4 o'clock ceremony. The will be united in holy matrimony by the Rev. Howard Key Bartow, the bride's father, and her brother, Mr. Howard Bartow, will give her in marriage

Miss Bartow has chosen a wedding gown of dull white crepe with silver garniture, a cap of net and scant tulle and veil to match She will carry a bouquet of white lilies

Wine Colored Crepe

The maid of honor, Miss Barbara Dean, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Dudley S. Dean a cousin will be gowned in wine colored crepe and hat to match, and will carry a bouquet of wine chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids will wear gowns of pink crepe and wine colored hats and will carry bouquets of pink and wine chrysanthemums. They form a group of four charming young ladies, Miss Ada Dewson and her sister, Miss Dorothy Dewson of Cohasset, Mrs. William Bartlett Eaton of Brookline, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Frank Monroe Bremer of Cambridge, the former Virginia Badger

Reception

Mrs. Bartow will attend the ceremony in a gown of brown crepe and wine colored hat, accompanied by Mrs. Dean, bridegroom's mother, who has selected a gown of red crepe for the occasion

Mr. Paul Bird of Boston and Cohasset is officiating as best man, and a group of eight gentlemen are serving as the ushers. They include Robert Little of Boston, Philip Dean of Brookline, Samuel Bartow of Quincy, John Bottomley of Brookline, Edward Fay and Robert Bremer of Milton, Frank Bremer of Cambridge, and Pierce Edmunds of Wellesley

The reception, which will be a brilliant affair, will be held immediately after the ceremony at Sandy Cove, the summer estate of the bride's parents at Cohasset. Much celebration is taking place at Cohasset and elsewhere in connection with this important wedding Last night a dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett Bacon, at the Snow Boat, at which all the ushers and bridesmaids were guests

Among Guests

Tonight there is to be another large dinner for the entire wedding party and house guests given by the bride's parents, and tomorrow the ushers and bridesmaids will be the guests of Miss Ada and Dorinda Dewson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Dewson at Cohasset

Out of town guests attending will be Mr. and Mrs. James DOrier, Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Bartow and Mr. and Mrs. William Williams, all of Quincy, Mr. and Mrs J. P. Gardiner, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason of Boston.

Miss Bartow, a well known and popular leader among the younger set on the South Shore, is a graduate of the Knox school. She also attended Miss Mann's school, and has studied abroad at Grenoble, finally taking up a course of study at Miss Sacker's school of Design, from which she recently was graduated

Mr James Dean, Jr., attended St. George's school and was a member of the class of '32 at Harvard.

Books---And a Number of Things

By CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

I have never owned a dog But I have always envied people who did. There are many country houses where I go and see huge, lazy, friendly canines sprawled all over the floor, and they seem to me always to lend dignity to a country home; to give it something remutlich; something established, something even almost sacred.

Now, I know there are many people who do not like dogs. I fail to understand them. It is happens that I like cats; yet I know why others do not. There is a vast difference; and perhaps it cannot be explained.

In one of Eleanor Hallowell Abbott's earlier short stories she speaks of someone who preferred dogs that jumped up on him. In fact, they must jump up in order to win his whole affection That always struck a responsive chord in me But I do not care for dogs that do tricks; that roll over and beg and pretend to say their prayers. These get too close to human beings, maybe I prefer a dog to be entirely dog

* * *

Dog With Manners

In thinking it over, I do not remember disliking anyone who was fond of dogs; and there is only one person I know who dislikes them who retains a warm place in my own affection. There is a good reason for her fear of all animals but I confess that until I found it out I looked upon her with a little suspicion. If the lady reads these lines she will know they are directed at her; and she will forgive me, I am sure

When I first went to Connecticut this past Summer—not to become a gentleman farmer, as my confrere, O. O. McIntyre, was kind enough to state—but to get some good, clean, clear air into my city lungs, I became acquainted down in a small but comfortable little house that there came loping over the hill a large hunting dog. He was white and brown, with long, drooping, dark ears, and those cloyingly gentle affectionate eyes peculiar to his breed. He swaggered his tail as he barked at my door, and I had not the slightest hesitation in asking him in. Yes, asking. For I know at once that he would understand every word I said

He was a dog after my own heart; and he got in in two seconds. My only regret was that he could not tell me his name. I am sure he knew mine. None of the human beings in the neighborhood cared upon me for several days; but my hunter had manners, and I hoped beyond hope that he liked me well enough to call again

* * *

Stays All Morning

He did. The very next morning while I was having my coffee, and after several visits, I discovered, to my joy, that he did not come any too many people come to one for favors, or, in his case, food Evidently he was well taken care of where he was; but I understand, because he wanted to do so; and on the few days when he has not dropped in I have felt a lack that it would be difficult to put into words

Once a neighbor was with me when the dog strolled in

"Hello, Count" she said, and he wagged his tail

So that was his name. And how it suited him—for I had long since guessed that he was of noble birth It was good to find out that I was right. And he was no spurious Count. He was the real thing.

There are moments when he speaks to me as plainly as any person I know. He will take it into his head that he desires to spend a whole morning with me, and he tells me so. He curls up under my desk, watching me out of one eye as I put foolish words on paper; and I know he wonders why I do it and what it is all about. If I lease the room for a cigarette he will instantly follow me. I tell him, sometimes, that I shall be right back. Often he is satisfied with my explanation, but more frequently he distrusts me and throws it on off for my train When I do return he seems relieved.

Then he has mornings when I am sure he is telling me of his ancestral adventures, or that he did not sleep well in his master's garage On several occasions he has decided that he would spend the night with me If I try to force him to go home, as all decent people should at such an hour as 11 o'clock in the country, he will lie up at me with his sad eyes and there is no resisting the appeal I see there. He chooses a certain spot and lies there quietly until morning He would not think of moving until I arise to take my bath

He hears the croquet box on the lawn, and instantly jumps down to join the game. But he never gets in our way. He is a true gentleman, you see. He comes to my porch a little late and hears the click of my typewriter from under the window where I work I am sure he knowing full well what that means enough. Then he climbs the steps a few words to me of greeting and gets at my feet He is here now.

* * *

Easily Fluttered

How easily we humans are flattered by a good dog's attention and lavish affection And how proud we are when an animal unpredictingly likes us

Count supports something this morning He sees my maid, Prairy, packing bags and putting my shoes in the hall He blinks at me, puts a paw against my knee and actually says, "I hope it isn't so"

But it is," I have to reply "This is my last day here" And I wonder how I am going to get along in New York without Count The car is at the door to take me to my train I can't look back at Count behind that screen door. And I cannot go into the thoughts and feelings that surge up in me I shall have to quit right here

(Copyright, 1932.)

Eck of Bridgeport Heads N. E. Civitans

Fitchburg, Oct. 11 (AP) F. Edward Eck of Bridgeport, Conn. was elected district governor of the New England Civitan Clubs today at the opening business session of the two-day convention chosen are C. Ewart Cowdrey, Fitchburg; Frank S. Hamilton, New Haven; C. C. Wilbur Carey, Hartford, Conn., and Clarence A. Brown, Portland, Me.

Friends for 40 Years Decide to Marry

Friends for 40 years, Michael J. Keaney, 60, of 21 Park pl, Newtonville, superintendent of the Newtonville postoffice, and Miss Adella A. Sneideker, 60, of 67 Hazard st., Newtonville, have decided to marry

The couple applied for a license at Newton City Hall

Vendale Associates Hold Dance Tonight

The annual frolic and dance under the auspices of the Vendale Associates of Roxbury will be held tonight at Intercolonial Hall, Dudley st. The affair is directed by a committee under the supervision of Bernard Keenan

Two-Week Mission at St. Catherine's

A two-week mission is being conducted by members of the Oblate order at St. Catherine's in Charlestown. The first week is for the women and the second for the men.

Tea Dance for Miss Bettina Eshleman

At the Milton Club tomorrow afternoon, an interesting event of the debutante calendar takes place at 4 p. m. when Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Eshleman present their charming daughter, Miss Bettina Eshleman, to society

Miss Eshleman will receive guests in a becoming gown of white net trimmed with blue velvet and will wear a corsage of autumn flowers She will be assisted by her mother in a fashionable gown of dark blue velvet

Debs to Pour

The affair is to take the form of a tea-dance as popular this season One hundred large group of young debutantes are coming as pourers under the direction of Miss Anne Peabody, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fordman Peabody of Ruskin Hall, who was presented last year

The pourers for this important function are Miss Katherine Peabody a debutante of this season and a sister of Miss Anne Peabody Miss Jane Lee Miss Helen Richardson and Miss Marian Ware all of Annisquam at Milton Miss Lucy Ladd and M. Eleanor King, also of Milton; Miss Edith Locke of Boston at Miss Dorothy Hallowell of Bush Hill Road Reading, Miss Elizabeth Reese of, Chestnut Hill, Miss Edith Seabury of Weston and Miss Martha Rice of Readville, all of whom are being presented this year

Milton Grad

Among out of town guests who will be attending are Mr. Wyllys R. Read and her debutante daughter, Miss Anne Read of Philadelphia; also Miss Eshleman's aunt Miss Helen Grace Smith of Torrington, Conn. Miss Read was graduated from Milton Academy in June last

Sickness Committed Like Sin, Says Christian Science Lecturer

"We commit sickness just as certainly and for exactly the same reasons that we commit sin," said William Duncan Kilpatrick, C. S. B., of Detroit, in a lecture entitled "Christian Science Its Demonstrable Application," delivered last evening to a capacity audience in the First Church of Christ, Scientist. Mr. Kilpatrick said in part

"A man cannot commit sin without first thinking sinful thoughts. No more can a man become sick without first thinking those thoughts which emanate from the so-called carnal or mortal, mind We commit sickness just as certainly and for exactly the same reasons that we commit sin

"The body is never guilty of sickness, in and of itself. It has no more power to become sick than this table. It has to be thought into a state of sickness by its owner

"Our material bodies, our material homes, our businesses, our environment, are all of our own creating, through thinking those material thoughts which come to us from one common source, and which do not originate in us, but which are expressed by us in our individual thinking. So it is not clear that to the extent that we bring God into our lives by expressing the divine Mind, or God, in our thinking, we are excluding that which makes for inharmony, unhappiness, sickness, poverty, and the like?

"If we express love in our thinking, and our experiences are determined by what we think, we shall meet only love in our daily contacts. The same with honesty, abundance, peace, et cetera So all our experiences of life exist in our own thinking, and we regulate those experiences for good or bad in the degree that we eliminate the carnal from thought and substitute therefore the divine."

Mr Kilpatrick was introduced by Mr. Gordon V. Comer first reader in the Mother Church

Navarro, Husband of Mary Anderson, Dies

Warwick, Eng., Oct. 11 (AP) Antonio de Navarro, husband of Mary Anderson, the actress, died today at their country residence He and Miss Anderson were married in 1890, a year after her retirement from the stage.

Townsend Postmaster Dies

Townsend, Oct. 11 (AP)—Postmaster George A. Wilder, 73, appointed by President Harding in 1922, died at his home today after several months' illness.

Latest Notes of the Fashionables

By Dorothy Whipple Fry

There is another very interesting scale of color among the types that make the beautiful women we see moving in the social circles about us They add so to the lustre and glamour of the days, and each and every one has her metier in clothes, jewels and flowers, and for each there is some special point of charm and allure that should be cultivated and built about to the furtherance of her beauty.

There is the auburn haired woman who is different and much more adaptable than the red haired beauty. Nature may have given her a dark mahogany head with eyes to match, or nature may have left her with brown hair lighted with red when she stands by the window and even that are brown, blue or gray, to accentuate these lights is quite permissable and may be very lovely

* * *

Brown Gowns

IN EITHER CASE the auburn haired woman can wear the browns that match her hair, choosing them now on the copper tone, now on the brown of that strange autumn blend that is both brown and copper. In the evening this auburn haired woman is wonderful in gold; she can also wear brown white and fir color She should have as her own individual flower a chrysanthemum, and if she would wear these lovely little bouquets in the lapel or on the shoulder let it be a tiny bunch of button chrysanthemums

A topaz should be her stone and she may wear amber too but always her gems should be simple, not ornate or flashy but clear and of the warm tones

If one would visualize her and how distinguished she may be one need only think of Mrs James Stearns of Clark rd Brookline She is a striking example of the auburn haired type. She is tall, slender and very graceful; she has a lovely poise and great charm of manner. Her glory is her beautiful wavy auburn hair that she wears cut in a very becoming bob, quite long now since it is thus that fashion dresses it, and she has beautiful brown eyes that are such a nice compliment to her auburn hair.

She dresses well always and is especially attractive in her golden brown lace evening dress with gold slippers and a necklace of gold and amber

Mr and Mrs Stearns have spent the summer at Plymouth where they are very popular members of the social set there

Then, of course, there is charming little Mary Esther Cooper. Incidentally, her debutante tea on Friday was one of the brightest spots of the season She is a very attractive girl with a well cut dish between and spare kind of a little twinkle in them. It's all says "After a time every body knows that very well why not enjoy it" She is doing that very thing, unless appearances are exceedingly deceptive She was one of the pourers at Miss Priscilla Phelan's brilliant affair earlier in the week and looked well in a cardinal red afternoon frock, with a saucy little brown turban hat; in fact, the entire costume was one of chic and plenty of style

Mary F. Cooper

* * *

Knows Clothes

ANOTHER YOUNG MATRON who has very lovely auburn hair is Mrs. Deane Freeman of Waltham st., West Newton She has blue eyes. In her good looking mulberry sport suit, with a natty hat to match she is just the last word in chic. Mrs. Freeman knows clothes, she is always beautifully dressed and enjoys good looking clothes on others which is really a gift

Then there is attractive Mrs. Prescott Cummer of Cypress st., Brookline, who has lovely wavy auburn hair, exquisite skin, and blue eyes. She is tall and slender and has a delightful "facon de parler" She hailed originally from Texas and has that unique charm of speech and the drawl that keeps you simply fascinated listening to it, and makes you want to think up things to keep her talking She is looking exceptionally well this fall in her deep red sport outfit and a modish little brown felt hat

* * *

Graces Tea Table

AND SPEAKING OF LOOKS, another attractive little deb comes in for praise—namely Miss Milda Allen, she is one of the season's charmers. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allen of 231 St. Paul st., Brookline. She graces a tea table in a very fetching manner

We happened to see her pouring the other day, wearing a dark green duveteen frock trimmed with sable, and a delightful little hat that was just the last word in style. She wore an orchid and all in all was quite the most delightful little person' She is very gracious in manner with lovely poise and a dimpled "savoir faire," which is always a great help

Another of the season's debs who goes to many of the social functions and always looks charming, is Miss Anna DeCormis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reddington DeCormis of 321 Beacon st. She looked most attractive the other day in a black and ashcroft frock with emerald and flesh trimmings, and a very modish little black hat with a bow on the side, and a jaunty air to the whole effect

Chatty Notes of Social Circles

MRS. HAROLD PEABODY of Berkeley st presides at the first meeting of the ladies visiting committee of the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary held at the Infirmary this morning, when general plans for the fall season will be discussed

* * *

THERE WILL BE A HUNT breakfast tomorrow for the members of the Norfolk Hunt Club at Assington the Sherborn estate of Mr and Mrs. George Lewis, Jr who are acting as hosts to their mother, Mrs. Richard M Saltonstall The riders will start from Millis common at 11 a m

* * *

DE C E A WINSLOW OF the class of members at Yale and Dr Edward Warner, will speak on problems of the problem- tomorrow morning in connection with the welfare conference being held by the Boston Junior League at the Y. W. C. A where a luncheon will be given following which there will also be several dinners given in the various hostesses for purpose of discussion on this subject.

* * *

MISS VIRGINIA JOHN Y WAINWRIGHT has now returned to her residence in Otis-ney rd Brookline after spending the summer at Kennebunk Me

* * *

MR. AND MRS. ESTABROOK who were married last Thursday at Trinity Church will make their home at 206 Newbury st on their return from a short wedding

* * *

Debutante Tea Dance Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon at the Hotel Statler, Miss Elizabeth Bachelor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bachelor of Commonwealth ave, will be presented to society at a tea dance given by her parents. Miss Bachelor will receive in a gown of white satin and lace, and will wear a corsage of white orchids. She will be assisted by her mother, who will wear a gown of black velvet and lace.

Miss Bachelor will be attended by Miss Jane Locke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Locke of Commonwealth ave, who will wear a gown of pink satin and lace, and a corsage of pink orchids; and Miss Jane Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler of Commonwealth ave, who will wear a gown of blue satin and lace, and a corsage of blue orchids.

Miss Bachelor will be assisted in receiving by Miss Louise M. Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Russell of Commonwealth ave, who will wear a gown of green satin and lace, and a corsage of green orchids.

Miss Bachelor will be assisted in pouring by Miss Faith Chipman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Chipman of Commonwealth ave, who will wear a gown of yellow satin and lace, and a corsage of yellow orchids; and Miss Barbara Bachelor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bachelor of Commonwealth ave, who will wear a gown of blue satin and lace, and a corsage of blue orchids.

Miss Bachelor will be assisted in serving by Miss Elizabeth Bachelor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bachelor of Commonwealth ave, who will wear a gown of white satin and lace, and a corsage of white orchids; and Miss Elizabeth Bachelor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bachelor of Commonwealth ave, who will wear a gown of white satin and lace, and a corsage of white orchids.

Gray Hair
Best Remedy Is Made At Home

Cave in Which Rome Was Born Is Found

Naples, Oct 11 (AP)—Discovery of the ancient cave in which, according to the Roman poet Virgil, the Cumaean Sibis foretold the birth of Rome, was claimed today by Prof Amedeo Maiuri, superintendent of antiquities

The cave is 40 feet long and hollowed out of solid rock in the bowels of Cuma Hill Leading into it from the hillside is a gallery 450 ft

TOO YOUNG TO DESPAIR

Ghost Fears Have No Foundation

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Girl Seemed Defeated in Life

THEY'VE FOUND the body of that pretty, attractive school teacher, who chartered a plane in Washington, D. C., and when it was 2000 feet up, jumped to what she hoped would be forgetfulness.

She had felt herself defeated by life at 35, because she had been unable to find employment.

It's hideous to feel that an one at 35 should feel done. Whatever life has been, a man or woman can still be young, even though boys and girls of 18 will not agree with me.

If people don't find some place to go, some tried friend to be with when they get the tidal wave of despondency rising, the suicide toll of the last three years would not have mounted so terribly.

TERRIFYING MILESTONE

In the lives of many women particularly if they've not married, 35 looms a terrific milestone. But their fears are largely imaginary, ghost fears that have no foundation in fact. Many women write to me and say: "I am 35 and feel that life has passed me by."

But life doesn't pass us by at that age, unless we deliberately close our eyes and give life the cut direct.

A normal woman's good looks should by no means begin to fade at 35 if she has taken reasonable care of herself. She can be and she ought to be, more interesting as a companion, more charming even than a girl of 20. If then, a woman of 35 wishes to marry, why not?

TAKE IT ANYWAY

If one is in that most fruitful of traps—that of being jobless—better to knock at the door of every social agency—federal, civic, religious, political or private charity—till something forthcoming. It may not be what you want, or what you're accustomed to, but take it. It will keep body and soul together till better times come along.

Few people have accomplished any important life work at 35. Some whose names are inscribed on immortal scrolls were hunters at that age. But, as a great man has said: "They did not quit their posts."

Less Popular With No Job

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

I care a lot for a girl I've been going with for almost a year. We often talked of getting married till I lost my job. Since then she hasn't seemed the same. I can't take her to many places now. While she was away on her vacation this summer she went to several dances, and now she's always talking about dancing.

DINGUSTED.

Dear Disgusted: Perhaps losing your job, with all the mental suffering that implies, has made you a bit sensitive. I'll admit such a loss is enough to make anyone sensitive, even touchy. But try not to add to your troubles by letting yourself be a victim of jealousy and other fears. This girl of yours may never have had a chance to indulge in this most delightful exercise before this vacation, and it's only natural that she should want to dance. My advice to you is to learn how.

A Problem

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

I am 21 years of age. I years for the companionship of a decent girl. Unfortunately I go to find her. I've met several fine looking girls, but they turned out to be fickle petters. Shall I go on with these cheap petters, or should I wait for the decent sort of girl? I have a perpetual fear of being a bachelor. I make a good salary as a [illegible] engineer. Are [illegible] still right in the class with the fabulous ostrich. If any woman is deceived by a man, it is because she succeeded in deceiving HERSELF. Lots of married women go all through life with the idea that a man who soothes and caresses and at the same time [illegible] to undeceive them.

It was Anthony Hope or was it Oscar Wilde?—who remarked that as long as a man is in love with a woman she can do nothing wrong; the moment he ceases to be in love with her, she can do nothing right."

* * *

When a man has tired of a woman just the sight of her, just the knowledge of her presence gets on his nerves. Just the sound of her footstep irritates him and arouses his resentment. He feels injured and exasperated that she should still be anywhere around, and regards it as a personal affront that she should go on loving him—against his will.

* * *

And that's where woman's "suspicion" comes in. Many a woman might never dream or suspect that her husband had looked at another woman, if he would only go right on being pleasant around the house. She might cheerfully swallow all his alibis and sympathize with him for having to waste part of the office on many evenings, if he would come home bringing flowers instead of the [illegible] [illegible]

* * *

But any woman can tell just by the disapproving and critical way in which he looks at her, by the way he snaps at her or corrects her or frowns at her or jeers at her, that a man is thinking of another woman. She doesn't have to SEE the other woman. She knows that a man MUST love someone and she knows that it is no longer herself. Poor ostrich! He is the chief witness against himself!

* * *

A woman is much cleverer—and more impatient. When she is [illegible] a man she soothes and caresses and at the same time [illegible] to undeceive them by being particularly nice and sweet to his faults, praises sudden strides and triumphs and [illegible] And, of course, as a woman once [illegible] never occurs to him that she could possibly find anybody ever more attractive than [illegible]

* * *

All of which is suggested by a recent wife murder, in which the gentleman, simply couldn't wait for his wife to divorce him, so burned her in the cellar, and then gave a party to celebrate. Why, Why can't men be PATIENT? If the stronger vessel were filled with patience, the weaker vessel would not be filled with suspicion!

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

The Beauty Box

WHEN SHAMPOOING the hair, massage around the hair line with a small nail brush that has been dipped in rich soap suds. Spread out fingers and thumbs, friction briskly. If the soap doesn't foam up into heaps and pillows, the hair will not be clean. Rinse with a bath spray and a strong, rousing current of water. Soap scum makes the hair oily. Every bit must be rinsed away, so the hair will have a live feel, carry a sheen.

"THE STUDENT"

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

DID YOU KNOW that one of the meanings of studious is "docile"?

Johnny knows it when he hears that rising cry on the summer air, "John-NEE! you've got to come in and practice your violin!" Docility—that is it—a fellow has got to be docile to avoid thunder and lightning, and to get to know HOW to play the violin. And to do every other thing that one's spirit and one's heart and soul aches to do well—wonderfully, as the OTHER FELLOW does it.

Gold-starred certificates in school, in art, in knowledge, in LIFE, are won no other way but by first being a recruit, and studying your way into the free and pleasurable side of work. When he knows things then life begins. When we know HOW to do a thing, then Joy opens the door.

I've thought—when I remembered how I loved to draw and hated to study, when I was a young thing, not knowing that I had in know a thousand things about just life itself before I could draw it, and the chiefest thing was to conquer and leave behind me Learning that was hard for me and had no apparent thing to do with art—I've thought of the thousands of heavy heads lying on school book at night. And had a hysterical kind of sympathy for them that is half laughter and half pitying understanding. The very beginning of life and study is fun. It's the beginning of the middle that have a follow [illegible] When the "notes" at the bottoms of the pages have to be read. (Later in life we read them of our own accord our appetite for knowing things is on edge then insatiable bright eyed!

But sometimes, when the heavy head lies on the heavy volume, dreams assail the youngster—dreams of beauty and love. And they, too, have their place in the big book of knowledge and life. The vision of beauty alone is a torch in a dark place to both young and old alike. Without it—and without love, it's a pretty dusty old tome!

NELL BRINKLEY.

The Marry-Go-Round

Women Are Not Suspicious

By HELEN ROWLAND

Helen Rowland

* * *

Men may have been "deceivers" ever since, but, with a single great exception, are still right in the class with the fabulous ostrich. If any woman is deceived by a man, it is because she succeeded in deceiving HERSELF. Lots of married women go all through life with the idea that a man who soothes and caresses and at the same time [illegible] to undeceive them by being particularly nice and sweet to his faults, praises sudden strides and triumphs and [illegible] And, of course, as a woman once [illegible] never occurs to him that she could possibly find anybody ever more attractive than [illegible]

* * *

All of which is suggested by a recent wife murder, in which the gentleman, simply couldn't wait for his wife to divorce him, so burned her in the cellar, and then gave a party to celebrate. Why, Why can't men be PATIENT? If the stronger vessel were filled with patience, the weaker vessel would not be filled with suspicion!

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

Daily Pattern of Boston American

By MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9437

MANY women have longed to make their own dainty lingerie . . . if only it weren't such a bother—seams and all that.

Pattern 9437 may be ordered only in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 50. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

To get a pattern of this model, send 15 cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coin preferred). Please write very plainly your name, address, style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Address all orders to Boston Evening American Pattern Department, 233 West 18th Street, New York City.

Correct Manners

Etiquette Suggests a 'Friendly Silence'

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN.

Will you please tell me if it is correct for a lady, when traveling alone, to say "Good morning" or "Good evening" to a strange gentleman if the dining-car waiter seats him at one's table, or you at his table? When stopping at a big hotel and you have to go to the dining-room alone, is it correct to speak to people at your table, or not at all? I think it is correct to say "Good morning" and a friend says that it isn't correct to speak at all. Will you please help me? F.

Your friend is right. In both cases it is best to take one place without saying "Good morning" or "Good evening." People who are accustomed to traveling take such seating-arrangement for granted, for they do not wish to intrude on the other person any more than they wish to have that person intrude on them.

The Correct Gift

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN

A young man friends of mine whom I have known for about a year has invited me to his parents' silver wedding anniversary. He will accompany me there. Is it appropriate for me to take a present, as I have never had the pleasure of meeting his parents? A.

I think that it would be a bit "forced" for you to take a present to this anniversary, but I do think that it would be most gracious of you to send, on the morning of the anniversary day, a box of flowers, addressed to the wife. On your card, which you might write, "Congratulations and best wishes to you and Mr. Andrews."

Note of Thanks

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN

I have just been tendered a miscellaneous shower by my very closest girl friend whom I have known all my life. How should I express by thanks? I see the girl two or three times a week. Is a letter correct? It was had at her mother's home and I should thank her, too? H

Even if you see this girl so often, she would appreciate your graciousness and your sense of appreciation if you write her a note telling her how deeply you appreciate it you write her a ning such a fine party for you. By all means write a note of thanks to her mother, for her hospitality and friendliness.

Girl's Prerogative

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN

1—When a boy and girl go to the theater, is it correct for the boy to put his arm around the girl, and if it isn't, how can you tell him to take his arm away without embarrassing him?

2—When a boy and girl go somewhere, is it correct for the girl to suggest it is time to leave, or is she supposed to wait until the boy suggests it? E.

1—When a boy puts his arm around a girl in the theater, he makes both of them conspicuous, cheapens both of them. The girl of taste and breeding naturally is revolted by this, and doesn't allow it. To be explicit; if she leans forward a bit, and says, with as much graciousness as she can summon, "please" she'll find at once that he will "desist."

2—The girl always has the prerogative of suggesting the time of leaving a place of entertainment.

Daily True Story

Danger

JEAN MOORE was red-headed, rich and just a little reckless. Because of her beauty she usually had her own way, and she was determined to have it now when her older sister, Carol, tried to persuade her not to go out with Tom Traden.

"He may be all right," Carol told the 18-year-old Jean, as the latter waited at dusk for Traden on the veranda of the Moore Summer home outside the resort town of Fairhaven.

"But you don't know anything about him, other than that he's stopping at a hotel in town and seems to have money. He's just a beach acquaintance. I wish you'd listen to me this once. And what would Kent Allison say?"

Kent was Jean's fiance. A young lawyer, he was to have spent the past week at the Moore home, but had been detained in New York by an important case.

"Kent would say go right ahead," Jean replied petulantly. "He wouldn't want me to stay in this musty old house and be bored to death. We'll just go to the club and dance a few hours. There's Tom's car now!"

DANCES WITH TOM

Glittering headlights swept up the driveway. The car halted and a chauffeur opened the door for Tom. Jean laughed and hurried down the steps.

"Let's not go to the Beach Club," Traden suggested as the car rolled away. "I think it would be rather quiet tonight. There's a hot roadhouse down toward Island Point—let's go there."

Jean agreed. Anything to keep from being bored. She really wasn't interested in Traden, but tolerated him because men were scarce at the resort.

A din of noise—the jungle beat of drums, the moan of saxophones, high-pitched voice, and the shuffling of feet over the dance floor greeted their ears as they entered the roadhouse.

Jean had never been there before. She knew at a glance that its patrons were of a social strata beneath her own, but that was all right. She was out tonight to avoid boredom.

"Like to dance?" Tom asked.

"Why not?" said Jean.

As he swept her on to the floor Jean realized that Traden was one of the best dancers she had ever met. His face had an unnatural pallor and there was an indefinable difference in his manner from the men she had known, but he certainly could dance. She felt genuinely happy when they returned to their table.

"How about a drink?" asked Tom.

"Just one before dinner," Jean conceded.

Tom ordered the setups for a Tom Collins and produced a flask from his pocket. "I'm an expert," he told her, and Jean after tasting his handiwork, agreed.

"Want to dance again?" Tom asked as the orchestra went into a new number. He stared at her with a peculiar intensity.

"Certainly," responded Jean, irritated. "Why not?"

This time Tom's dancing didn't seem as smooth to Jean. Their feet collided several times. Jean looked up and was astonished to see the lights over the orchestra wavering. They seemed to blink at her, as if warning. She felt Tom holding her closer and realized that it was she, not Tom, who was unsteady.

She looked into his eyes and again surprised that strange, intent stare. It was as though he expected something. A tremor of alarm ran over her. After all, who was this man? Why did he look at her so? She wanted to scream, but her lips seemed paralyzed. She stared in his arms.

"I guess I'd better take her outside," she heard Tom say, as if from far away. "She's out—too much gin."

FEELING OF RELIEF

Just then a reassuring sight erased Jean's vision. Kent Allison approaching, with two blue-coated officers behind him. One of the police had hold of Tom's chauffeur. A feeling of relief crossed her mind, and she floated into unconsciousness.

"I suppose you know you were fed knockout drops," Kent told her later. "The chauffeur has confessed. They had a speedboat near here and were going to carry you out to a larger boat at sea and hold you for ransom.

"Just one thing saved you. I'd been in court once when that man was arraigned as a suspected [illegible] and I remembered [illegible] name when you announced and Carol told me were out with him."

(All names of characters in this story are fictitious.)

Advertisement

Science Is Near Solution of Pneumonia

By DR. R. S. COPELAND

PNEUMONIA was named by one of old as "Captain of the Men of Death."

This is an appropriate name, because statistics show that about 10 per cent of all the deaths in any community can be traced to pneumonia. It respects neither age nor sex, and is particularly fatal in the very young and the aged.

Dr Copeland

New knowledge concerning pneumonia has been gained within recent years. It is now known that there are four types of the disease. Types "one" and "two" constitute about half of all the cases of pneumonia. Type "three" is the most serious form, but fortunately for mankind only about 10 per cent of the cases belong to this group. Type "four" is a miscellaneous group which, including [illegible] about one-third of all the cases.

We are indebted to the brilliant work of those scientists who have awakened hope of a cure for pneumonia. These men have recently developed a serum, the particular serum to be used depending upon the type of the disease. Experimentation on animals has given encouragement because up to date they have responded favorably to the serum treatment.

This marks, indeed, an important degree of advancement, for although our knowledge of pneumonia has greatly increased within the past quarter of a century, our ways of treatment have changed very little. It is now hoped that within a short time a dependable method of combating this disease and reducing its death toll will be at once available.

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

Advertisement

Find Way to Cut Costs of Colds More Than Half

Years of research by Vick Chemists resulted last year in development of a new aid in preventing colds—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. It is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern way of treating colds. Together with certain simple rules of health, they prepare a complete Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds.

Vicks Plan was thoroughly tested and proved last winter. In carefully supervised clinics in schools, colleges and homes, results showed that the Plan reduced the number, duration and severity of colds by half—and cut their costs even more. The satisfaction of hundreds of thousands of enthusiastic users—all over the country—confirms these tests. The Plan is fully explained in each Vicks package.

To WARD OFF Colds . . . use VICKS Nose & Throat DROPS

. . . just a few drops up each nostril at that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation. Aids Nature's defense in preventing colds.

To GET RID of a Cold . . . use VICKS VAPORUB

Its direct double action means quicker relief. The family standby in treating colds—"over 28 million jars used yearly."

Advertisement

Easy Pleasant Way To Lose Fat

How would you like to safely and harmlessly lose pounds of fat a month and at the same time increase your energy, and improve your health?

How would you like to lose double chin and reduce hips and abdomen and at the same time make solid flesh so firm and clear and youthful looking?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get a box of Kruschen Salts (not one pill or part of one) and with every meal in your tea or coffee or in a glass of hot water before breakfast—in fact in everything you eat or drink—put one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in your food. Then continue this way for a few weeks and weigh yourself again.

After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends, "One bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

But refuse imitations—safeguard your health—you lose fat SAFELY with Kruschen.

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts.

Advertisement

95c Value for 59c

COMBINATION OFFER

Get 2 boxes of New PHANTOM KOTEX and 1 box KLEENEX

95c Value

ALL FOR 59c

to introduce the New PHANTOM KOTEX

2 BOXES of KOTEX, 1 box KLEENEX —3 items for less than the price of 2!

Boxes marked "Form-Fitting" contain Phantom Kotex

The New Phantom Kotex, U. S. Pat. No. 1,857,854—form-fitting, embossed, tapered, sanitary pad, made to fit—without any cushion—even under smoothest fitting dresses. You've never known perfect sanitary comfort like this before. There's nothing else remotely like it!

You know KLEENEX, the softest, yet strongest disposable tissues. Use them for handkerchiefs, to remove cold cream...as substitute for linen, towels, napkins...for home or office use. Don't delay. Buy today.

At all drug, dry goods, and department stores

Valentine

A Novel of Love's Disillusion

By Hazel Livingston

(Continued from yesterday.)

Maybe love, real love, only can be once . . . maybe it would make been better to have married Le and been what the world calls happy with him, than to be what people call happy with Joe.

Lester wasn't like Joe, he would not always be nice . . . Sometimes 'd be cruel. He might even neg her, have affairs with other men, but in the end she'd always know that he'd come back, that no after what he did or whom he ...emed to love, he only really ...ed her . . .

Joe woke up. "Val is that you? Are you crying?"

She lay still as a mouse, feigning sleep.

Presently Joe turned over went to sleep again.

She cried a little more, trying to be quiet about it so that Joe would not wake again and question her.

At home, at Aunt Julia's when she wanted to cry she could go to bed and cry, and no one would be the wiser . . .

And this was marriage . . . this was the end-all of her dreams . . .

Mr. Joe was at the Lowells in St. Paul.

Val went alone glad that Mame had arrived in the nick of time when Joe was at work. She wanted to put off her meeting for a little while, until she was in better spirits.

The Deems Derwin Harris' had a suite. A maid admitted Val, asked her to be seated, disappeared behind a carefully closed door, to call Millie.

SAME OLD MILLIE

Minutes passed. Five, ten, 15 minutes. Val began to fidget.

Then Millie came. The same beautiful Millie . . . how in the world could she be 40 years old? She looked younger than ever . . . thinner, more radiantly rich.

"My darling child! And I kept you waiting. Can you forgive me? I was in pieces—in pieces, my dear, dressing! Ed have had you come in, but I wanted you to have a good impression. Tell me . . . I look well? Young? You like my gown?"

Millie released Val, from her arms stood back, standing gracefully for inspection, turning her head a little, appraisingly, for approval.

"Oh, Millie, you're SO beautiful!"

"Thinner. Do you notice? Darling, I've worked so hard. In New York I spent two hours every morning with Doctor Schwelke, he has the most wonderful system. I must tell you about it. But you're still so thin, so don't need it, of course.

"I'd give my very shirt! Couldn't it? Of course, mine and for a lot. Late hours rich food and liquor and all unnatural life. I had to ...sure . . . ah!—you know—Deems is right here—I wouldn't want him to talk to me not mentioning you know's name . . .

"Well, did you get my things . . . oh, of course I didn't send them after all, on account of planning to come here . . . Edith —get the white brocade box out of the top drawer of my wardrobe trunk, please. Oh, bother. It's locked and I put the key, well, somewhere. Never mind, Emily! Emily, never mind!"

GIRLISH THINGS

Val couldn't help smiling. It's the same Millie! "I love your dress."

"This little thing" Deems likes it, too. He likes the simple girlish things" (Millie raised her eyebrows and rolled down her nose the very way she used to do years years and years ago, when she wanted to make fun of a hard lady behind her back.)

And when Val laughed out loud Millie said hastily, "It's all right! I really like simple things myself. He has wonderful taste. A wonderful man. Nothing new rich about him like a certain party (Vincent! Pff!) and we have only the simplest things, and the simplest life, only very perfect. I understand, like mushrooms under glass, and my matched ashes, and like that. I want you to meet him Deems' Deemie, dear' I want you."

"Coming, my dear," a mild masculine voice answered from one of the inner rooms.

Val wet her lips nervously.

Millie sprang up, glanced in a mirror, patted her perfectly sleek coiffure, and just before the door opened she whispered:

"He's adversely old. Don't look surprised at him!"

He was old very old. Not as old as said Hermione in the rectory, but slender, almost transparent. She hand outstretched to Val his very sensitive face wearing a welcoming smile. A very thin, very old frail old man, in a dark brocade silk dressing gown.

"This is my husband," Millie was saying "My daughter, Valentine."

TERRIBLY OLD

"How alike you are. And how different!" Millie's husband said as he seated, from one to the other as if he couldn't make up mind which was the most unlifelike.

How frail he was! How terribly old! Why he must be seventy or eighty. Val thought in a little while . . . whatever made Millie do it? Not the money surely—Millie didn't care for it, and she had always had money . . . it couldn't be the money . . .

The maid was bringing tea. Millie poured, and Val watched her, admiring the grace of her lovely slim arm, the tilt of her arrogant head with its perfectly chiseled features, its clear rose and white complexion.

No wonder Millie had always had everything, all of the excitement, all the fun of life, she was so beautiful, so gay . . .

(To be Continued)

"MARY FAITH"

How a Fascinating Heroine Met Old Problems in a New Way.---By the Author of "The Flapper Wife," Etc

By BEATRICE BURTON

Kim Resents Mary's Questions as to Where and How He Spent the Evening

(Continued from Yesterday.)

But surely there must be men who didn't look for amusement and lovemaking all of the time. There must be husbands who shared the burden of illness and anxiety with their wives. Men who realized that marriage and children and home-making aren't all "beer and skittles," as Mrs. Puckett would probably have expressed it.

Kim was like a spoiled boy. Mary Faith decided. There was no use in talking to him. The thing to do was to stand by and wait for him to grow up.

He did not come home that night.

The next morning she telephoned the office. Mr. Farrell had come in a few minutes ago, the telephone girl told her, but he had gone out again.

He was safe then.

"Safe and sulking," said Mary Faith to herself. She wondered where he had spent the night and decided that in all probability he had gone downtown with Jack Maldon.

Never Grew Careless

She took extreme care of herself. She had never let herself grow careless about her appearance. Nurses' uniforms were so when the babies were coming and the household cares increased. Every morning before she went to bed she brushed her hair, her body a hundred strokes of her hair brush. She cared for manicured her nails, and she always saw to it that her clothes were spotless.

She was propped up among the downy pillows of the bed deep in the second chapter of her book when she heard Kim unlock the front door of the flat and come down the short hallway to the bedroom.

After a year and eight months of married life her heart still leaped at the sound of his footsteps. Even she never knew what mood he would be in when he stepped into the flat. The night before he had been hurtful, a word for her all the morning, he had forgotten to kiss her when he left for the office. She had been thinking of all this, telling herself that doubtless she was worried about something at the office.

As he came through the doorway she closed up the book and laid it on the bedside table.

"I want to hear all about the clam bake. I've never been to one, and I've been wondering if there's anything like corn roasts. What do they do? Build big fires on the beach and have supper there?"

Kim turned his back to her while he began to take off his necktie.

"Yeah, that's the way they do it," he answered.

He took off his coat and Mary Faith got out of bed to hang it over the back of a chair. Then she took his pajamas from their hook in the closet and laid them in his bed. She was a waited on him as if he were a servant.

"I was sure I saw you tonight," she said presently, by way of making conversation. "I felt lonesome, so I took the baby up to Mrs. Puckett's and had dinner there. On the way home, I was positive that I saw you come out of the drug store."

He swung around then and looked at her.

"Oh, you're crazy!" he said roughly. "So that's why you were cross and sulking me about the clam bake! Trying to find out whether I really went to one, or not—"

"Why, Kim, I was not!"

Mary Faith felt a sickly feeling of humiliation.

"I thought it was you only for a minute or two. And if I asked about the clam bake, it's only because I wanted to know what kind of an evening you'd had. Kim, you know I'm not the kind of woman who suspects her husband of lying and cheating—"

"Well, all right. I'll take your word for it. Right now I'm too tired to do much talking."

He Was Tired

He was tired. He staggered like a drunken man as he waved across the room to his bed and he was sound asleep a moment after as he made he head and turned over.

On Sunday afternoon Mrs. Farrell came home from dining at Ledges in Dr. Hamilton's. She looked better than Mary Faith had ever seen her.

"I had a beautiful time," she said at supper . . . "Lucy waited on me, hand, foot and finger all the time I was there. She just couldn't do enough for me. It seemed. Every morning she brought me my breakfast in bed and after or twice a week she'd have friends in to lunch, just for my entertainment."

This was her way of making Mary Faith feel that she was neglected at home and Mary Faith knew it. She knew, too, that she did not neglect her, but she felt a bit guilty anyhow.

"Perhaps we might not leave your mother," she said to him that night when he suggested a drive through the park. "It's so hot, and she'll have to sit here alone with the baby, and she won't like that after the gay life she's had at Lucy's all summer."

Kim's only answer was, "Well, suit yourself about going." He started for the front door, and she suddenly decided to go too. After all, he was more important than Mother Farrell, and they wouldn't be gone long.

On the Way Back

On the way back to the flat Mary Faith suggested that they stop at the drug store on the corner for a soda. Afterward she remembered that Kim had not seemed exactly pleased at the suggestion.

They were sitting at the marble counter when she saw him turn his head and look at someone on the other side of the store. Mary Faith turned her own head after a minute to find out whom he was looking at so steadily.

Behind the perfume and cosmetics counter stood a tall girl in a green linen dress. Her eyes, from that distance looked as if they were green, and her rich bobbed hair was black. She was extremely pretty. And she was smiling at Kim.

As soon as Mary Faith turned she stopped smiling and Kim looked away.

"Kim, why should you turn your head and grin at her, even if she is pretty?" asked Mary Faith.

Kim laughed and shrugged his broad shoulders. "You know what they say Mary Faith. A woman is as old as she looks, but a man is old when he stops looking."

Saw No Humor

Mary Faith could not see any humor in that. "I never think of noticing any man but you, Kim. I never really see anybody but you anywhere."

He patted her hand.

Two or three times the next day or two Mary Faith found herself thinking of the girl in the drug store and of the man whom she had seen coming out of the store on the night of the Shore Club clam bake.

Was it possible . . .

But beyond the point Mary Faith's mind refused to go. She was so honest and straightforward herself that it was easy for her to believe that everybody else was straightforward and honest too. Her instinct was to trust people in general and Kim in particular.

However, she was neither simple nor blind. And as the bright child weeks of late autumn went by she knew that Kim no longer belonged to her as he had during the summer. She knew it by a dozen signs. He began to have late afternoon appointments that kept him from home until eight or nine o'clock. Now and then he had to see somebody on Sunday about some legal business or so he said.

"I'm driving up to Swansenville on Sunday to see a client of ours," he would say to Mary Faith in a casual offhand way, exactly as if he had nothing to hide. "McIntyre asked me to go, and I couldn't very well refuse him."

Refused Dinner

On his return he would tell her how busy he'd been, and how he'd met so many people and how he had enjoyed . . .

"I wish he wouldn't tell me all those stories," Mary Faith sometimes thought as she listened to them.

They did not deceive her for an instant, and it filled her with shame to know that Kim could tell her such palpable lies. That feeling of shame was hardest to bear when Kim told a long rambling story about how he'd spent those hours away from home with another woman.

It was another woman. She knew it. She knew the girl in the drug store who'd smiled at Kim. Sometimes on the night when Kim came home for dinner he would deliberately turn down on the drug store for a time, from the lack of popular fiction on display there.

"I'll be back in a little while," he would tell her, as he picked up his hat and made for the door. "I'm just going to get something to read."

He might come back in a few minutes with a book in his hand. But the chances were that he would be gone for an hour or two. Mary Faith never asked him where he had been. Sometimes she pretended to be sleepy when he returned so that he would have no opportunity to lie, pay any more of his elaborate attempts to cover up.

Burst Into Tears

She often asked herself what another wife would do in her place. Would she make a scene? Burst into tears and tell him that he would have to choose between her and the girl? Threaten him with a divorce?

She knew that she never could do any of those things. Thinking about them would be as far as she would go. Thinking and worrying and watching the slow hands of the clock on the nights when Kim stayed out until eleven or twelve.

"And I suppose that's what most women do," she thought, "when their husbands find some interest outside their own home. They shut their eyes to the whole thing, just as I do, and wait for it to come to an end."

And then without warning, she found herself at the point where she would no longer shut her eyes to Kim's existing brazenly.

One Saturday early in the fall of November she had come into the flat at six after a trip to the market for the food for Sunday dinner. As she fitted her key into the lock the door was pulled open and Mrs. Farrell's frightened face appeared.

"The baby!" she gasped. "He's in a convulsion—The phone is out of order, and nobody's home in the building I rang all the bells—You call the doctor. I'll get the hot water."

To Be Continued

Advertisement

Don't take calomel!

HERE'S NEW HEALTH FOR YOUR LIVER

Now banish bad breath, pimples, constipation; feel like a million!

Tons of bile, flowing into the intestines daily, are supposed to do this work. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food just decays in the bowels, gets poisoned, and you feel sour, sunk, sick all over.

Then you need those efficient little liver pills called Carter's Little Liver Pills to get that bile flowing freely. Then you'll enjoy life as you've never enjoyed it before. Then you'll look and feel like a million dollars.

Don't be fooled by substitutes. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Look for the signature on the package. Only 25c.

E. R. Squibb and Sons make more than 500 products, including many on which human life depends. Highest standards of manufacture guard the purity of Squibb Aspirin.

SQUIBB ASPIRIN

COLOR COMBINATIONS

New Ways of Using Two Shades

SKETCHED IN PARIS

Two models from Maggy-Rouff illustrate new ways of using two colors. At left is a black coat-dress, with red threads in its woolen weave. The other is a coat of putty-colored wool, with complicated scarf-and-yoke arrangement.

Allied Colors in Unusual Ways Still Important in Fashion World of Paris

By PARIS BUREAU

Paris, Oct. 11. Two color combinations are important Paris fashions, but they are not the obvious allies they were a few months ago.

The old fam...ar method of using black or white or navy blue mixtures of beige and brown in combinations are red and navy that we have become accustomed to, all have grown unpopular in their fashion value has gradually diminished.

The new and successful color combinations are those using in one of two things either that was in which he creates a new combined unusual in the combinations of the shades them . . . It is unexpected and unfamiliar.

Last autumn evolved the red coat and the other a suit dress both chosen from the Maggy Rouff ensemble, designed by Maggy Rouff among the Wagram show how these two color plans are worked out.

The suit dress [illegible] is much [illegible] of a new silk [illegible] has a red and [illegible] matched with the wool [illegible] a red [illegible] and [illegible] a wide [illegible] collar [illegible] dress [illegible] a [illegible] one [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the

MARKETS — BOSTON AMERICAN — BUSINESS
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

STIRRING UP FEAR NOT WISE POLICY TODAY

By B. C. FORBES

President Hoover erred most unfortunately when he proclaimed to the world that the United States at one time this year could not have withstood Europe's withdrawals of gold for more than another fortnight. Even were his statement not open to debate, it would have been better had he remained silent.

What has happened?

European banks and bankers and investors have exhibited fresh alarm. They had been led to believe that our financial stability was all along as impregnable as the Rock of Gibraltar, that at no time was there the remotest danger of our being forced off the gold standard. When they accepted such statements as facts, they ceased withdrawing gold and almost immediately began replenishing their stores here with the result that we acquired a very large part of what we had lost.

POSITION STRONG

But the foreign exchanges have moved strongly against us since the President's "foreclosure." In laymen's language, this means that foreigners are now showing incredulity, not to continue sending gold to us, but to withdraw gold.

Of course their nervousness is wholly needless. Our gold, our monetary position, is thoroughly strong. There isn't the slightest danger that we will be unable to meet whatever demands may arise.

It is lamentable that anyone should deem it necessary to make alarmist statements at this time. True, our financial and economic storm has abated. True, our "troubled" banks have now become calmer. But the going is not yet so smooth that we can afford to incur avoidable risks of rocking the boat.

DANGEROUS POLICY

The political clients being as they are, surely it is the reverse of statesmanship to strive to incite the whole country into fearing that, should Governor Roosevelt prove victorious, dire things are bound to happen.

After all, prosperity is more transcendently important than party politics. No matter how ardently we may wish one candidate or the other to win, isn't it danger only, shortsighted to promulgate the notion that, if the election does not go our way we may want it to do, all prospect of the return of prosperity will be blasted?

Looking at the future wholly and solely from a business rather than a political point of view, the writer is quite confident we do not lack dynamite.

ENTERPRISE PAYS

America's worst "red" menace is red ink.

If it not refreshing to learn how different concerns have exercised sufficient managerial skill and resourcefulness to combat adverse conditions successfully?

One reader asks how the Reynolds Spring Co. of Jackson Mich., manufacturer of automobile and furniture cushion springs as well as other products for the automotive industry, were able to meet the situation when the automobile industry's demands seriously diminished. After much scouting and cogitation, "they hit upon the idea of making household and gift utensils from a new material—spoons, bows, cups, saucers, cigarette boxes, powder boxes, funnels, biscuit cutters, salt and pepper shakers etc. all very handsome and serviceable. What's more, they

"They began production four months ago and large-scale production early in September. Today the company is distributing these articles through more than 700 stores. The company's Bakelite plant in Jackson is operating 24 hours a day seven days a week, and hired 350 employes in September, it is claimed that it will have 800 more employed than were working on September 1."

President Charles G. Munn sees profits from now on.

That news may stimulate other concerns to exert no equal effective enterprise.

This country's problem of problems is to get people back to profitable work. We are all interested in avoiding rocking and upsetting the boat.

Copyright, 1932, by B. C. Forbes.

Dine and Dance

Theatrical Nights at Grove Resumed

Tonight marks the inauguration of theatrical night at the Cocoanut Grove, Piedmont st., with a galaxy of their local and movie entertaining picture stars.

Eddie Chester

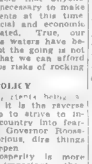
Again the week Miss Wini Shaw, torch singer will be the feature attraction. Eddie Chester has also been signed for the new numbers by Jackson & Blanchard. Dancing to Dan Lee's orchestra.

Formal ceremonies will commence the show, the Cocoanut Grove revue of 15 platinum blondes and brunettes offers a lively hour of singing and dancing. Joe Schuman & Orchestra, under the direction of Ted Roy, will furnish dance music.

American Beauties in Palais Royal Show

As a holiday attraction the Palais Royal restaurant, 241 Huntington ave., presents Miss American beauties.

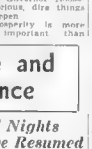


June Murphy

With Jimmy Gallacher and Russell Howard in comedy gags, and Thelma and Draper, a smart team of tap dancers, the show at this uptown place no doubt deserves to be one of the best this season.

One of the attractive American beauties is Miss June Murphy, whose charming personality and dancing is winning comment.

Faith Bacon Heads Program at Cascades



Faith Bacon

Faith Bacon, fan dancer formerly of the Follies and the Ziegfeld Follies, is now one of the attractions at the Cascade Room at the Bradford.

With Louis Walters' revue and Joe Candullo's orchestra and a number of individual dancing acts, the Cascades is getting its share of patronage.

Holiday Program at Golden Garden

The Golden Garden Restaurant, 246 Canal st., featuring Italian and American food, announces a special celebration tonight and tomorrow for Columbus Day.

This is one of the newest dine and dance resorts in the North End and it offers a snappy colored dance band. It is located near Boston Garden.

Dividends

Warren Institution for Savings declared a semi-annual dividend on deposits of 1½ per cent payable October 15, or at the annual rate of 3¼ per cent, against 4 per cent rate heretofore paid.

* * *

Institution for Savings in Roxbury declared semi-annual dividend on deposits of 2 per cent payable October 17. This is the same rate as declared six months ago.

* * *

Fidelity Fund, Inc., declared extra dividend of 15 cents per share in addition regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share, payable November 1, to stock of record October 15. The extra dividend is an increase of 5 cents per share over the previous quarterly extra.

* * *

The following public utility companies have declared regular quarterly dividends:

	Amount Payable	Record Date
Boston Gas	$ 63 Oct 15	Oct 1
Brockton Gas & Edison	80 Oct 15	Oct 1
Concord (N H) Electric	70 Oct 15	Oct 1
Concord (N H) Electric pf	1.50 Oct 15	Oct 1
Exeter & Hampton Electric	1.50 Oct 15	Oct 1
Fall River Gas	50 Oct 15	Oct 1
Haverhill Gas	50 Oct 15	Oct 1

* * *

Virginian Railway today declared regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on the preferred stock, payable November 1.

Associated Gas Has Increased Outputs

For week ended Oct. 1 Associated Gas & Electric System reports net electric operating sales in kilowatts of 50,816,603 kwh or 6.5 per cent below the corresponding week last year. This is the highest net output since the week of March 5, 1932.

For the same week gas output was 329,096,000 cubic feet, or less than 1 per cent below the same week of 1931 or the highest gas output since the week of April 16, 1932.

Berkshire Woolen Busiest in Years

Dennis T. Noonan, president of Berkshire Woolen Co., says his company is enjoying its busiest period in years with several departments working overtime. About 600 hands are employed, largest number since before the war and production past two weeks is largest in 10 years. Rush is expected to continue through November.

Grand Union Sales Off 18.6 Per Cent

The Grand Union Store Company sales for five weeks ended Oct. 1 were $2,759,801 compared with $3,388,944 for the corresponding period of 1931, a decrease of 18.6 per cent.

Sales for the nine months ended Oct. 1 were $22,918,111 compared with $26,315,221, a decrease of 14 per cent.

Bank Deposits in Northwest Larger

Minneapolis, Oct. 11—Deposits of banks in Northwest Bancorporation group increased $13,011,000 in September to $317,174,000, against $304,163,000 Aug. 31. Banks of the group in Minneapolis and St. Paul gained $5,214,000 during the month.

URGED TO TELL OF BIG RISE IN OCTOBER

BY FRANK H. MELOON

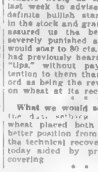
One of our many wall-smashing readers wrote us from Cape Cod last week to advise us to take a definite bullish stand on October in the stock and grain markets. He assured us the bear movement had severely punished and that when would arise to fit a bushel. He had previously heard both of these "tips," without paying either attention to them than go out record as being the reverse of bullish on wheat at its recent highs

* * *

What we would say now is that the reader's advice to buy wheat placed both markets in a better position than it was when the technical recovery that started today aided by pre-holiday short covering

* * *

"The local newspapers in each community afford the strongest weapon within our reach with which to fight the deadlock in the building industry," said Samuel O. Dunn, president of the American Builder Publishing Corporation, today, "and we are developing a plan for trying to break the ice."



Samuel O. Dunn

The American Builder is a magazine which has for years enjoyed a wide circulation in the building field.

* * *

Chairman Charles M. Schwab of Bethlehem Steel, who assures him of the greater share of anything that happens, says he believes depression has piled up work for those now unemployed. Mr. Schwab sees more work, renewed confidence and accelerated buying ahead. It is quite likely Mr. Schwab is well aware that there has never been a period of bad times which has not brought forth from it advanced prospects of purchase on that American to-date every week

* * *

President Frank D. Comerford of the New England Power Association said that orders in the aggregate showed a slight increase in operating of electric energy in New England. The slow upturn is due, in the steadier tempo, to Mr. Comerford, to the fact that orders brought forth from it advanced prospects of purchase on that American to-date every week

* * *

Argument was advanced today that the reason U. S. Steel did not show a larger increase in unfilled tonnage this week was because the bulk of its orders called for early delivery. This was hardly improvising, considering the continued low rate of steel operations. Only a short time now remains for the big corporation to show improvement that will justify maintenance of the preferred dividend at the current rate, in view of the stated attitude of the directors. The story of the consumers into the market, how ever could effect a quick change the current situation.

* * *

Interesting to many stockholders and in general to those interested in shipping was the news that the full bench of the Supreme Court on the bill in equity brought by Paul J. Bertelson as receiver of Crowell & Thurlow Steamship Co., against five directors of that company, reversed decision of the Supreme Court in ordering those directors to pay $500,000 and interest of $258,867, a total of $767,467 to the receiver, who will be ordered to bill accordingly.

London Closing Is Near Best Prices

London, Oct 11—Trading was cheerful on the stock exchange today and finds progress mostly close to the session's best. Reverse home affairs outlook brought a firm closing in Paris. The Berlin bourse firmed after early dullness.

Foreign Exchanges

Demand sterling, $3.44⅜ Lire, 5.11¼ cts. Francs, 3.91-5/16 cts.

Boston Curb

Sales	High	Low	Last
10 Border City Mf	4¾	4¾	4¾
700 Cons Mi & Pw, 4½c	4½c	4½c	4½c
300 Dartmouth Radio 50c	50c	50c	50c
100 Dollar Inv Tr	1¼	1¼	1¼
100 Daley Cigarette	1¾	1¾	1¾
500 Ohio Copper	18c	18c	18c
100 Onondaga Cop.	15c	15c	15c
300 San Real Est 3c	3c	3c	3c
100 United Verde E	25c	25c	25c
200 Yukon Gold	18c	18c	18c

New York Banks

Name and Div	Bid	Asked	Prev
Bank of Yorktown, Yonk (2)	35		35
Chase Nat (2)	32½	33½	34¼
City Nat (6)	42	43	44¾
Commercial (6)	42	43	44¾
Corn Exch (24)	1200	1300	1200
First Nat (10)	1500	1600	1500
Harriman (6)	80		80
Harbor State			80
Manufacturers (3)	30½	32½	33
Merchants			70
National Bronx	26	41	39
National Safety	8	9	8
Penn Exchange	5	8	5
Public (3)	26½	27½	26½
Trade, National	16	19	19
Trade (2)	25	28	34
Wash Heights	5	8	5
Washington	30	35	30
Yorkville	25	33	20

STATE ST.—Hears:

That bearishness has increased to a point where it is logical to begin to expect organized support, if not a natural turning movement, because of an oversold condition. It is likely to be extremely fast and only attractive to the nimble in-and-out trader. The investor and intermediate trader had best wait for signs of stabilization before venturing from the sidelines.

Market Action

The swiftness of the decline has just about convinced the majority of traders that there is little hope for the bull move. In fact, pessimism has taken such a firm grip on that rading fraternity that it is admitted on all sides that the bear market is under way once more.

Maybe this is the right idea, but there have been some recent changes in market action that point to just the opposite direction for the first place, the upturns of late have been better than others and of longer duration than their recent weakness.

Output of Yarn Is Sold Months Ahead

Tennessee Eastman Corp. is sold ahead of the rise were inaccurate in contrast to the fast upturns previously seen after new mini ums. They resembled in the beginning a market extending from 1929 has been definitely broken

Odds and Ends

In the spare of the rather regular bear pattern, we now have a period of dullness, followed by a drag, steady upswing, which was in turn followed by a downswing that is suspiciously like those to be looked for in a real bull market. Secondary reactions seem to be down instead of up.

* * *

A feature generally overlooked since June is the different behavior of the different prices after holidays July 4 saw the market turning up after the holiday. Labor Day produced a reaction. And it remained to be seen what influence Columbus Day will have.

While our calculated reaction of 50 per cent has been exceeded by the crisis the industrial has behaved somewhat better. If the turn from the lows in 1921 is examined, it is noted that it was exactly 69 per cent of their upswing while the industrials only gave up about 50 per cent.

M. E. B.

Boston Stocks

	High	Low	2:30	Chg.
Am Can	49¼	47⅝	48⅛	-1¼
Am For Pwr.	6¼	6¼	6¼
Am Ind&Corp	8¼	8¼	8¼
Am Pneu 1 pf	13	13	13
Atchison R R	40¾	37¾	40¾	+4¾
Am Tel	105	100½	103	+2½
Am Woolen pf	26¾	26⅜	26⅜	-⅛
Anaconda	9¼	8⅞	9⅛
Andes Cop	8c	8c	8c
Arca Consol.	9c	8c	9c	+1c
Atl & Heca	3	3	3
Ch cyser	13⅞	13	13⅞
Col Gas	13	12	12¾
Cosmoth Sh	2¾	2¾	2¾
Con Gas	55	52¾	55	+3¼
Cop Range	8	8	8
Curtiss W	2¼	2¼	2
E G & F Aa pr	64	64	64
E Mass pf	2	2	2
Eastern S S	5½	5½	5½	-½
do 1 pf	75	75	75
Edison	173	170	171
Employers Grp	5½	5½	5½
Elec P & S	24¼	20¼	24¼	+4¼
Engineering	2	2	2	-2
Gen Elec	15⅝	14⅞	15⅜	+⅜
Gen Foods	29	27¾	28	+1¼
Gen Motors	12¾	12¼	12¾
German C	7	7	7¼
Gillette	15¼	14¾	15	+¼
Goodyear	13⅞	13⅛	13⅝
Hudson Mot	5¼	5¼	5¼
Int Hydro Elec	5⅞	5⅝	5⅝
Int Tel	8	8	8⅛
Isle Royale	2¾	2¾	2¾
Mass Util	2	2	2
Mohawk	11	11	11
Nat Dairy	14¾	13⅞	14¼	+⅛
N E Tel	91	89	91	+2
New Amerigas	14¾	13¾	14¾	+1¾
New Amerigas pf	24	23¾	24	+1¼
Pacific Mills	8	7¾	7⅞	-⅜
Packard	3¼	3	3¼
Penn R R	13⅜	12⅜	13⅞	+1¼
Quincy	1¼	1¼	1¼
Radio Corp	2¾	2⅝	2¾	+⅛
Shawmut	6¼	6¼	6¼
Std Brands	14⅜	13⅞	14⅛
Stone & Web.	8¾	7¾	8¾	+1¼
Swift & Co	8⅝	8¼	8⅝
Torrington	33½	33	33¾	+1
U S Aircraft	2¾	2⅛	2⅛	-¼
Un Cigbde	24	22¾	23½	+1
Un Corp	8¾	8¾	8¾
United Fruit	19¾	17⅞	19½	+1¾
Un Gas & Im.	16⅛	15⅝	16⅜	+¼
United Shoe	35¼	35¼	35¼	-¼
U S Steel	36¼	34⅜	36⅛	+1⅜
Utah Metal	80c	80c	80c
Venesuel - H.	¾	¾	¾
Walt W pr pf	25	25	25
Warn Pict	2¼	2	2	+¼
Warren Bro	4¾	3¾	4⅜	-⅛
Westing	27¼	26¾	27⅛	+1⅜

BONDS

Amoskeag 6s	50	55	55

Boston Bank Stocks

*Prev.

	Bid	Asked	close
First Nat	29	31	29
Merch Nat	200	210	200
Nat Rockland	68	72	68
Shawmut	27½	29	27½
Second Nat	80	84	80
U S Trust	9	11	9

*Bid.

Today's News of Live Stocks in Wall Street

APPROACH of the holiday tomorrow undoubtedly was responsible for a good deal of short covering in Wall St. today. The drastic decline of the past week had placed the market in a position from which many believed a technical rally was due.

Rails Are Leaders in Day's Upturn

Rails led in the breaks during the past week, therefore they were naturally the leaders in periods of upturning. Union Pacific, Atchison and Southern Pacific displayed ability to forge ahead somewhat rapidly.

U. S. Steel Shakes Off Its Heaviness

When today's rallying set under way, U. S. Steel was a strong leader, shaking off the weakness which developed yesterday from Wall Street's disappointment in the gain of only slightly more than 200,000 tons in unfilled orders for September. The preferred was up sharply.

All markets joined the rally. Bonds scored sharp gains under the leadership of rails. Curb issues were better than others and cotton extended their recent weakness.

Expect Woolworth Dividend Thursday

Although not ordinarily payable until December 1, it is expected that directors of Woolworth will meet this Thursday. The regular quarterly dividend of 60 cents a share will be voted. A special dividend is expected, even in view of the fact that earnings for the year are expected to just about equal the $2.40 a share requirements on the stock. At present rate has been maintained since the initial payment on this basis was made in September of 1929, following the exchange of 2½ shares of $10 par stock for each $25 par share previously outstanding.

Pools Turning to Merchandising Stocks

Some pool sponsors reputed to be up with their partners are reported to be turning to some of the merchandising and department store stocks in the belief that they may be able to do better there, now that the winter and holiday buying season is at hand.

Report G. M. to Pay Something on Common

According to the latest gossip on General Motors, it is now understood the company has determined to make some payment on the common stock when the dividend comes up for consideration in December. In spite of the fact that the preferred dividend is not expected to be covered by this year's earnings reports now current indicate that the management will make some distribution on the junior issue, even though it be at a lower rate than the present basis. With the earnings outlook hardly cheering, and in view of the recent "share-work" action of the company, such a step, if taken, could hardly be interpreted as more than a gesture.

Liggett & Myers "B" Firmness Remarked

With most of the active issues now selling between fifteen to more than twenty points under their recent highs, one statistical service points to the action of Liggett & Myers "B" as a noteworthy contrast. During the period of general pressure it points out, Liggett & Myers "B" has only five points from its best level of the year.

Action of Tobacco Shares Compared

The stock is held out as an example of the relative merits of tobacco shares. American Tobacco as an industrial, last week was selling 17 points below its high while both Lorillard and Reynolds were only half way between the high and low of the year. President Hoover's action in the issue in favor of the stock holds may be attributed to the expectations of a very extensive export business during the year and to the reports that large blocks of the stock have been taken out of the market.

American Telephone Yield Is Discussed

When Telephone last broke under par substantial scale-down buying orders appeared in the market. These orders were priced so as to make a fairly attractive average buying level rather than attempt to pick the bottom. Telephone went to 70¾ on the last dip.

No one now questions the forecast that Telephone's dividend will not be earned this year. Therefore buyers under par will take into consideration a lower dividend. For then, Telephone will yield at par 7 per cent on a $7 annual rate 8 per cent on $6 rate etc.

Shenandoah Holders to Meet

A special meeting of Shenandoah Corporation shareholders has been called for Nov. 10 to consider reduction of the maximum number of shares authorized to be issued to 1,000,000 shares of common stock, giving the common from no par value to $1 par value. A similar change of Blue Ridge Corporation stock will be voted on at a special meeting of the shareholders of that company.

* * *

Shenandoah Corporation reports net assets equal to $33.27 a share on the $5.50 par value preferred stock as of Sept. 30 compared with $8.34 a share on June 30.

Policy Holders Hit by Federal Taxes

New York, Oct. 11 (AP)—Higher taxes now in effect were decried today as largely responsible for a 10 per cent reduction in dividends which the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co. has apportioned to its policyholders for 1933.

James Lee Loomis, president announced today that next year's dividends would be $1 per cent of the 1932 rate. He stated that an increase in federal taxes, amounting to nearly 100 per cent, and a 50 per cent increase in mutual rates were major items of expense for his and other companies.

New York Curb

	High	Low	Last
Air Inv ev pf	5¾	4⅝	5¾
Alexander Ind	¼	¼	¼
Allum Co of Am	52	48½	52
Am Rayon	8	8	8
Am Cities Pwr B	4	3¾	4
Am Cyanam B	4¼	4¼	4¼
Am Equities	4¼	4¼	4¼
Am F Pw ww	4¾	4¾	4¾
Am Founders	1¾	1¾	1¾
Am Gas & Pw	27¾	25¾	27¾
Am Superpwr	4¾	4¼	4¼
do 1 pf	57	57	57
Arcturus Rad	¼	¼	¼
Ark Nat'l Gas	2¼	2¼	2¼
do A	2	2	2
do pf	4¾	4¾	4¾
Assoc G & E pf	15¾	15¾	15¾
Assoc Gas & El	11¾	11¼	11¾
Assoc G & E wr	3-16	3-16	3-16
Asso Tel Util	1¾	1¾	1¾
Atlas Corp	1¾	1¾	1¾
do war	2¾	2¾	2¾
Atlas pf A	24¾	24¾	24¾
Bruef Ind Lonn	11¾	11¾	11¾
Blue Ridge	2¾	2¾	2¾
do cv pf	8¾	8¾	8¾
Borne Scrymser	7	7	7
Brazil Trac	4¾	4¾	4¾
Bulova Watch pf	12	12	12
Bwana M K	⅜	⅜	⅜
Cable Rad Bdcg	1¾	1¾	1¾
Cana Marconi	1¾	1¾	1¾
Cent Pub S Md A	⅜	⅜	⅜
Cent Sts El pf	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cities Serv	3¾	3¾	3¾
Cleveland El Illum	28	28	28
ColumOh & El	3¾	3¾	3¾
Columbia Syn	¼	¼	¼
Cmwl & Sou	7-16	7-16	7-16
Cons Copper M	⅛	⅛	⅛
Cons Gas Balt	60¼	60¼	60¼
Cord Corp	4¾	4¾	4¾
Creole Petrol	2¾	2¾	2¾
Deere & Co	10¾	9¾	10¾
DeForest Radio	¼	¼	¼
Eisler Elect	1¾	1¾	1¾
Elec B & S	20¾	20¾	20¾
Elec B&S cum pf	43	42	43
Elec Pwr Assn	5¾	5¾	5¾
El Bnd & Sh pf	44¾	44¾	44¾
Empire G&F 7pcpf	18	18	18
Fajardo Sug	24¾	24¾	24¾
Ford Motor Ltd	3¾	3¾	3¾
Ford of Can B	15¾	15¾	15¾
Foundation Co	4¾	4¾	4¾
Franklin Mfg	2¾	2¾	2¾
Gen Elect Ltd	2	2	2
Gen Pub Svc 6pfc	32	32	32
Gold Seal Elec	3-16	3-16	3-16
Goldman Sachs wt	2¾	2¾	2¾
Gulf Oil	28¼	28¼	28¼
Hollinger Mines	4¾	4¾	4¾
Hudson Bay	2¾	2¾	2¾
Indian Terr Oil A	3¾	3¾	3¾
Ind Pipe Line	4¾	4¾	4¾
Insurance Sec	1¾	1¼	1¼
Int Petrol	⅞	⅞	⅞
Irving Air Ch	2	2	2
Isabon Sup A	1¾	1¾	1¾
Lefcourt pf	6¾	6¾	6¾
Lone Star G	6¾	6¾	6¾
Long Island Lt pf	83	83	83
Louisiana Land	1	1	1
Memphis N G	31	31	31
Mercantile Stores	19¼	19¼	19¼
Mid Cont Pet L	7-16	7-16	7-16
Nat Refins Hess	17	14	15¾
Nat Fuel Gas	11¾	11¾	11¾
Nat Pwr & Lt	4	4	4
Nat Sug Ref	22¼	22¼	22¼
New Eng Pwr pf	50	50	50
New Jersey Zinc			50
Newmont Min	11¾	11	11½
Niag Hud Pw new	3¾	3¾	3¾
Niag Hud P B war	2¼	2¼	2¼
Nipissing Mines	¾	¾	¾
Penn Electric	2	2	2
Ohio Copper	3-16	3-16	3-16
Pacific W Oil	13	13	13
Parker Rust Pr	23½	23	25
Pennroad vte	2¾	2¾	2¾
Pioneer Gold	¼	¼	¼
Prudential Inv	4	4	4
Pub Svc No Ill no p	42¼	42¼	42
Rwy & Lt Sec	19½	19½	19½
Republic Gas	¾	¾	¾
Rike Kumle	4¾	4¾	4¾
Safety Car H&L	27	27	27
St. Anthony Gold	1-16	1-16	1-16
St. Regis Pap	31	31	31
St. Regis Pap pf	80	80	80
Salt Creek Prod	4¾	4¾	4¾
Sec Allied Corp pv	8	8	8
Shenandoah	3¾	3¾	3¾
Silex Co	19¾	19¾	19¾
Silica Gel vtc	⅜	⅜	⅜
Smith A O	19	19	19
South Pa Gas & El	13¾	13¾	13¾
S Cal Ed pf A	26¾	26¾	26¾
S W Pa Pipe	31	31	31
St Oil of Ind	20¼	20¼	20¼
St. Oil of Ky	11	11	11
St. Oil of N Y	11	11	11
Swift Internat	16	16	16
Swift & Co	19¾	19¾	19¾
Swiss Am E pf ww	37¼	37	37
Technicolor	3	3	3
Tenn Elec Pwr	4¾	4¾	4¾
Utd Air & Trans pf	39	39	39
Un Founders Corp	1¾	1¾	1¾
United Gas Imp	14¾	14¾	14¾
United L&P A	4¾	4¾	4¾
United L&P cv pf	19¾	19¾	19¾
U B Electric	1	⅝	⅝
U S Finishing	2¾	2¾	2¾
Utility Equity	2¾	2¾	2¾
Util P&L	2¾	2¾	2¾
Vick Financial	4¾	4¾	4¾
Waigreen Co	12	12	12
Walker G & Worts	5	5	5
Watson J W			2
Woolworth Ltd	9¾	8¾	9¾

SPECTATOR—Says:

The heavy selling which hit the market had some of the earmarks of a climax and induced a bit of short covering. Of far more importance was the appearance of aggressive buying for the first time since the current decline got under way. These, combined with the extent and speed with which stocks have gone down in less than a week, indicate that a rally ought to start from somewhere around current levels.

65-70 Level

Technically the market can rally to around the 65 industrial level on the Dow Jones averages. There is some thought that a rebound will not occur in the 70 level but something dramatic will have to happen to bring this

Considerable European buying came into the market

A number of brokerage houses reported orders from abroad

Some of this buying started on Saturday. It was apparently premature but in the longer run Europeans have been several jumps ahead of American speculators, as evidenced in the July-August rise.

While this continental buying is speculative, it is significant since it comes as heroic efforts are being made by the European powers to reach some accord on disarmament

Steel Outlook

Disappointment with the fact that steel's unfilled order's were up only 15,000 tons in September may be attributed to the hope that the gain would be much larger.

The important thing is that the corporation was able to increase the backlog and output at the same time. And as long as Steel can do this the main trend of the gain is [illegible]

After all, backlog figures at times mean very little since they represent future orders which may be cancelled at any time. Current operations alone hold forth the hope of eventual profit

New York Bonds

| | | |

RECOVERY SEEN FOR LEADERS ON DULL DAY

New York, Oct. 11—Recovery for numerous leaders was registered in dull trading on the New York Stock Exchange today with extreme gains of 1 to more than 4 points recorded for numerous shares.

Pre-holiday short covering was in part responsible for the rises.

SELLING SPENDS FORCE

The recent selling appeared to have spent its force at the opening and prices recovered 1 to more than 4 points in many issues. During the third hour, a renewal of offerings slipped back a point or two, but the list hardened again later. Bonds also improved.

Such issues as American Telephone, Union Pacific, American Tobacco B, Case and Eastman rose about 3 to 4 points, then slipped back a couple of points only to encounter fresh support on the reaction.

U. S. Steel lost part of a 2-point rise. Miscellaneous issues up 2 or more during the morning included American Can, American Smelting, International Harvester, duPont, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Northern Pacific, North American, Consolidated Gas and Westinghouse.

Brokerage quarters were in a somewhat confused state all day over the market. The advance was felt to reflect short covering to a substantial degree, but some fresh buying was reported, both from domestic and foreign sources. Foreign business was not large, but buying orders were felt generally to be exceeding selling orders. The dollar was again firm in the foreign exchange market.

Corporate news included the announcement that Nash Motor and ordered the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents, including its quarterly period ended August 31, earnings amounted to only 6 cents a share.

Reports from the automobile centers indicated that extreme quiet was still prevailing, and it was felt that substantial revival would not be seen until active production of new models gets under way late in the year. General Motors dividend action, due in a few weeks, was the subject of considerable conjecture in Wall Street.

H. F. Sinclair, chairman of the executive committee of Consolidated Oil Corp., said he had received a telegraphic summary of the order by the Texas Railroad Commission reducing the oil allowable by something more than 70,000 barrels. Mr. Sinclair said that he regarded it as a constructive step and one that should have a marked influence in stabilizing conditions in the oil industry.

"It ought," Mr. Sinclair said, "to be what was promised in the bad situation into a very encouraging outlook."

Holders of National Biscuit have been interested to learn that most of the company's cash resources are in New York City bonds. Brokers believe the company will maintain the present dividend rate over the balance of the year and that before long prices of staples will be advanced.

Brokers say that a lot of selling of stocks is the last few days has come from the West and that most of this was liquidation.

There has been some buying of United States Steel around these levels on the belief by traders interested that there will be further increase in steel activities.

Strongbo Adding Machine Co. at the National Business Show in New York a year ago introduced a new standard typewriter, its first venture into the strictly writing machine field. It met with immediate approval, but slump in typewriter demand generally kept the volume low. The Burroughs machine, however, shared in the increased typewriter volume of August and September, with the latter month the best in the company's short typewriter history.

Insolvency Index at Year's Lowest

Dun's Insolvency Index for the first week of October has dropped to lowest figure in the past year. The latest Insolvency Index was 124.4, against 122.1 for September and 193.5 for the week in 1931 to date. The comparison with a year ago shows a notable change this week. Dun's Insolvency Index a year ago advanced to 147.9 from 114.0 for September, while for the year 1931 from January to October it was 138.0.

Progress showing during the current year was in the first three months when the index stood at 172.8, the highest for any corresponding period ever recorded. For September and the first week of October, however, there has been a marked reduction.

Utility Is Seeking Purchase Approval

Petitions were filed with the Public Service Commission of Maryland by Consolidated Gas, Electric, Light & Power Company, of Baltimore, asking approval of its purchase of all of the outstanding securities of Havre de Grace Gas Company, and asking that terms contained a request to approve the construction of a 16-mile high pressure gas main connecting the respective systems.

All the outstanding securities of Havre de Grace Gas Company have been purchased from the Newcastle Utilities Corp., a subsidiary of Delaware, former owners and operators. Consolidated Gas supplies the territory served by Havre de Grace with electricity.

Monte Carlo to Wait

New $2,000,000 Monte Carlo Sporting Club, scheduled to open its doors in December, will await the return of "better times" before opening.

NEW YORK STOCKS — NET CHANGES

Yesterday's sales 2,300,000
Week ago 1,200,000
Year ago 3,450,000

1932 to date 363,394,666
1931 to date 465,906,186
1930 to date 454,661,115

1932 High	1932 Low	Stk. in $		Sales	Open	High	Low	3:00	Net Change
9¾	1⅛		A
30⅜	12	2	Adams Express	4200	6¾	7⅛	6¾	6¾	+ ⅛
16⅝	4¼	1.60	Adams Millis	100	15⅝	15⅝	15⅝	15⅝	+1
16⅝	4¼	1.60	Addressograph	100	10½	10½	10½	10½
36⅝	30⅜	3	Affiliated Prod	100	8	8½	8	8⅜	+ ⅛
3⅝	⅜		Air Reduction	1200	31¾	31¾	30¾	31¼	+⅜
16⅝	7⅛	.90	Airw'y Elec.	100	2	2	2	2	— ⅛
16⅝	7⅛	.90	Alaska Juneau	3900	10⅛	11¼	10⅛	10⅝
8¾	3⅛		Allegh'y Corp	4200	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛	+ ⅛
8¾	⅝		Allegh nf ww.	300	2⅜	3	2⅜	3⅜
8	3		Allegh nf vtc.	300	2⅝	3	2⅝	3	+ ⅛
15	5½		Alleghany Sti	30	6½	6½	6½	6½	— ⅛
48⅝	18⅜		Allied Chem'cal	2600	70½	71⅝	69¾	71⅛	+1⅝
15⅜	4		Allis Chalmers	1200	7⅜	8⅛	7⅜	8⅛	+ ⅛
10	4½		Aloha Port C	200	8⅜	8⅜	8⅛	8¼	— ⅛
22⅜	12	1	Amerada Corp	300	20⅝	21½	20⅝	21½	+3
15⅜	3½		Am Arzl Ch	1300	7⅛	8	7⅛	8	— ⅛
12⅜	4		Am Bank Note	200	12½	13	12½	13	— ⅛
9¾	1		Am Best & nf	20	4	4	4	4	— ⅛
90⅛	40	.80	Am B Shoe Pr	100	11	11	11	11
90	40	7	A R Shoe nf	80	70½	70½	70½	70½
70¾	29¾	4	American Can	30400	48	49¾	47½	49¼	+2½
17	3¾		Am Car & Fdry	500	6¼	9	6¾	8¾	+1
37⅞	18	2.25b	Am Chicle	100	32¾	32¾	32¾	32¾
24⅜	11		Am Com Alco	2500	10	10¼	9¾	10¼	+2½
22	3		Am For Pwr	14400	6¼	7⅜	6¼	7⅛	+ ⅛
21⅛	2⅜		Am Hide&Lea	200	10½	12	10½	12	+1½
21⅛	2⅜		Am For P 2pf	500	8	8	7	8	+1
16⅛	4	1	Am Hawaiian	200	4¼	4¼	4¼	4¼	+ ⅛
6⅜	1		Am Hide&Lea	200	3½	3½	3½	3½	— ⅛
27	4⅝		Am H & L nf	100	12	12	11½	11½	—1⅛
51⅝	21¼	4.20	Am Home Prod	4100	37⅜	37⅝	37⅛	37⅝	+ ⅝
21⅝	7½		American Ice	200	6⅜	7	6⅜	6¾	— ⅛
17	3¾		Am Insul	100	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼	— ⅛
15⅛	3¾		Am Locomot'v	100	8⅜	8⅜	8⅜	8⅜	+ ⅛
15⅛	3¾	.80	Am Mach&Fy	2000	11	12	11	11¾	+ ⅛
9⅛	1		Am Metal	100	3	3	3	3	+ ⅛
7¾	1	1.50	Am News Co	10	24	24	24	24
17⅜	3		Am Pwr&Lt	11700	8½	9⅛	8¼	8¾	+1⅛
49⅜	10	5	Am P & L 5 nf	100	22¼	22¼	22¼	22¼	— ⅛
29⅜	4		Am P&L 6 nf	100	28	28	28	28	— ⅛
12⅜	3⅛		Am R&St San	17400	6⅜	7⅛	6⅜	7⅛	+ ⅛
18⅛	3⅜		Am Rolling M	8100	10	10¼	9¾	10¼	+⅜
29⅛	13⅜	3	Am Ship&Com	200	18⅛	18⅛	18⅛	18⅛	+1⅛
27⅛	5⅛		Am Smelt&R	7800	13⅜	14	12⅞	14	+2⅜
36⅜	20	2	Am Sugar Ref	1100	6⅝	7⅝	6⅝	6⅝
36⅜	20	2	Am Stores	100	31	31	31	31	—1½
86⅜	40½	6b	Am T & Tel	41400	104	105½	103½	104½	+⅝
86⅜	40½	6b	Am Tobacco	100	68	69	66	69	+2½
68¾	44	6b	Am Tobacco B	7100	71	72½	70	71	+2
115⅛	95½	6	Am Tob pf	100	114½	114½	114½	114½	— ⅛
30⅛	10⅛		Am Type Fdr	100	19	22	19	19⅜	+2⅜
34½	11		Am Water Wks	4700	19¾	21	19¾	20⅝	+1⅜
10	1⅜		Am Woolen	3700	5	5½	4⅝	5⅛	+ ⅛
3⅜	⅜		Am Woolen nf	100	26½	27½	26½	27½	+1⅝
6⅜	1¼		Am Zinc & L	100	3⅜	3⅜	3⅛	3⅜
19⅜	3		Anaconda Cop	1900	6¼	6⅞	6¼	6⅞	+⅛
19	3		Anaconv W C	100	7⅜	7⅜	7⅜	7⅜	—1⅛
17½	5¼	1.20	Anchor Cap C	100	8¾	9½	8¾	9½	+ ⅝
2⅜			APW Paper	100	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛
2⅜	⅝		Armr of Ill A	1100	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜
3			Armour of Ill B	300	¾	¾	¾	¾
15⅝	3		Armr of Ill nf	100	7	7	7	7	+ ⅛
3⅜	⅜		Arnold Constb	100	2¼	2¼	2¼	2¼
3⅜	⅜		Art Loom Co	100	3½	3½	3½	3½
3			Asso Apn Ind	900		2	2	2
3			Assn D Goods	100	6¼	6¾	6¾	6¾
54	17⅞	3	Atch T & S F	19400	37⅞	40⅞	37⅞	40	+4
44	18⅜	3	Atch S&F pf	100	60	62	60	62	+2
44	9¾		Atl Coast L	1200	19⅝	20¾	19⅝	20¾	+2½
21⅞	6¾		Atlantic Ref	4100	11⅜	14⅜	11⅜	14¼	+3⅛
2⅜	⅝		Atlas Stor	100	2⅛	2¼	2⅛	2¼
151⅛	28¾	4e	Auburn Auto	10800	40¾	40¾	29	40¾	+3
68¾	11⅜	4	Austin Nich pf	100	15½	15½	15½	15½
7⅝	1½		Aviation Del.	25200	6	7⅛	6	6⅝	+ ⅛
			B
12	2		Baldwin Looc	100	5½	6⅛	5½	5¾	+ ⅛
35	8		Baldwin Lo nf	30	15⅝	16½	15⅝	16½	+1⅛
21⅜	3⅜		Balt & Ohio	7500	11½	12⅜	11½	12	+⅛
21⅜	3⅜		Balt & Ohio pf	100	14	14	13½	13½	—⅜
35⅜	9½	2	Bancor & Ass	100	22	22	22	22	—3½
3			Banz & Ar nf	80	80	80	80	80
3⅜			Barnsdall Co	1500	3⅜	4	3⅜	4
43½	13⅜		Beatrice Cr	2000	14	14	13⅜	14
18⅜	4½		Beld Hosiery	100	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾	+ ⅛
18⅜	4½		Bendix Avia	27800	8⅞	10½	8⅞	10¼	+1½
21⅜	6¾		Bendix Inv	1100	8⅜	9	8⅜	8¾	+ ⅛
29⅜	7⅝		Bethlehem Sti	8300	17	17⅝	16	17	+1
74	10		Beth Stl Tec of	100	32	32	32	32	—1¼
10	3¾		Bigelow Sanf	100	6½	6½	6½	6½
22½	4¾		Blaw Knox	200	11	11	11	11	—1⅛
14⅜	3¾		Bohn Alum	100	11	11	11	11	—1⅛
14⅜	3¾		Borden	2000	25⅜	26⅜	25⅜	26⅛	+⅝
14⅜	3¾		Borg Warner	1200	8	8⅜	8	8⅜	+ ⅛
11⅜	2⅜		Brires Mfg	800	4½	4¾	4½	4¾	+ ⅛
11⅜	2⅜		Bklyn Manhat	4600	15½	19	17½	18¾	+2⅜
10⅜	2⅜		Bklyn Queens	100	4¾	4¾	4¾	4¾	— ⅛
10⅜	2⅜		Bklyn Un Gas	1600	16	16	15⅞	16	+ ⅛
7¼	1½		Buco Erie Co	200	4¼	4½	4	4	— ⅜
4⅜	⅜		Budd Whe	100	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜
4⅜	⅜		Budd Whe pf	300	2	2	1⅞	1⅞
5⅜	1⅛		Bulova Watch	400	2¼	2¼	2¼	2¼	+ ⅛
13¼	6½	.80	Burroughs Ad	800	8¾	8¾	8½	8⅝	— ⅛
8⅝	2⅜		Bush Ter deb	100	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜	3⅜	— ⅛
85	12¼		Bush T B	10	39½	39½	39½	39½	+4¼
24¾	7		Byers (A M) Co	4300	12⅝	14⅜	12⅝	13¾	+1
			C
19	4½		Calif Packing	800	9	10	9	10	+1
7¾	1⅛		Cal & Hecla	1300	4½	2½	3½	3½
15	6	1.20	Can Dry G A	1600	9	9	8¾	8¾	+ ⅛
20⅜	7¼		Canadian Pac	13300	13¾	14⅜	13¾	14⅛	+⅛
3⅜	10⅛		Cannon M Co	500	18	18	18	18	— ⅛
10	4½		Can Admin	200	5½	5½	5½	5¾	+ ⅛
65⅜	16⅜		Case Thr Mac	38300	47	49¾	47	49¾	+3½
75	30		Case Threst nf	10	55	55	55	55	—2
15⅜	4⅜	.50	Caterpillar T	2400	6¼	7¾	6¼	7¾	+1⅜
12⅜	1⅞		Celanese	500	6	6¼	6	6¼	+ ⅛
74⅜	1.50		Cent Aguir A	100	11	11	11	11
96	80¾	7	Century Rib nf	10	65	65	66	65	—1
15⅛	3¾		Cerro De Pas	1100	16	16	15⅞	16	+ ⅛
30⅜	16⅛	2	Checker Cab	100	25	25	25	25	+2
20⅜	4⅜	2	Chesapeake C	4400	10⅜	12⅛	10⅜	12	+2
31⅜	9⅝	2.50	Ches & Ohio	11700	20⅜	21⅞	19⅞	21⅝	+2
5⅜	1½		Chi Gr West	300	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾	— ⅛
5⅜	1½		Chi Gt W nf	400	9¼	9¼	8½	8½	— ⅜
4⅛	⅜		Chi M & St P	200	2	2¼	2	2⅛	+ ⅛
4⅛	⅜		Chi M&StP nf	400	3⅛	3½	3⅛	3⅜	+ ⅛
5	1⅛		Chi & Northw	8500	9⅝	9⅝	8¾	9	+ ⅛
6⅜	1		Chi Pneumatic	800	3½	3¾	3½	3¾
24½	2		Chi R I & Pac	100	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼	+1⅛
24½	2		C Rl&P Dec nf	100	8	8	8	8	— ⅛
68	5.50		Chrysler Mot	11200	11⅜	14⅛	12⅜	14	+1⅝
28⅜	11½	2	Ctty Ice & F	100	11⅜	11⅜	11⅜	11⅜	— ⅜
68	5.50		Ctty I & F nf	10	54½	54½	54½	54½
12⅛	2		City Stores	100	4	4	4	4
120	74½	7.25b	Coca-Cola	100	92½	92½	92½	92½	+2⅜
11⅜	1½		Colgate Palm	1900	11¾	13⅜	11¾	13⅜	+1⅝
10⅜	2⅜		Collins & Aik	800	4½	5½	4⅜	5½	+ ⅛
10⅜	2⅜		Colo Fuel & Ir	800	6	6¼	6	6⅛	+ ⅛
30	8		Colo & So 1st	100	14	14	14	14	+ ⅛
41⅞	13½	2	Colum Carbon	2500	25	26⅜	25	26⅝	+2⅛
41⅞	13½	2	Col Gas & El	7300	25⅜	27⅜	25⅜	27⅛	+3½
79⅜	40	5	Col G&E 6e pf	400	70½	70½	70½	70½
79⅜	40	5	Columbia Pic	100	6¼	7¾	6¼	7¾	+1⅜
11	3¾		Comm Credit	700	7¾	8¼	7¾	8¼	+⅜
20	3⅜	3	Com Cred A.	100	24	24	24	24	—1
27⅜	10⅛	2	Com Credit pf	100	19½	21	19½	21	+1½
9⅜	3⅛	.60	Com Solvents	1500	8¾	9	8¾	9	+ ⅛
68⅛	47⅜	6	Comw'lth&Sou	1500	3⅜	3⅜	3	3⅜	+ ⅛
68⅛	47⅜	6	Comw & So nf	100	44	44	44	44	+2
11⅛	6½	1	Conroleum	1700	8⅛	8⅛	8⅛	8⅜
11	4		Conserve Cla	400	7	7	7	7
24⅛	8		Consol Cigar	100	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾
24⅛	8		Consol Film In	100	2¼	2¼	2¼	2¼
11⅜	2¼		Con F Ind nf	400	7¾	7¾	7¾	7¾	+ ⅛
54⅜	25⅜		Consol Gas	10200	57	64⅜	57	64⅜	+6⅜
54⅜	72⅛	8	Consol Gas nf	100	95¾	95¾	95¾	95¾	—1
13⅜	2		Consol Laund	500	6	6	6	6	— ⅛
9	4		Consol Oil	4500	6¼	6¾	6¼	6¾	+ ⅛
9⅛	4		Consol Text	400	5¾	6	5¾	6
4⅜	1⅛		Cont Can	2700	24	25	24	25	+1
4⅜	1⅛		Cont Can pf	2700	41¾	44¾	41¾	44¾	+2⅜
25⅛	6¼	1.20	Cont Insur	3200	14¾	15⅜	14¾	15⅜	+ ⅜
9⅜	2⅜		Cont Motors	1000	2¼	2¼	2¼	2¼
9⅜	2⅜		Cont Oil	4500	8¼	8¾	8¼	8¾	+ ⅛
55⅜	24⅜	2	Corn Products	8100	44¾	47¾	44¾	47¾	+4
13⅜	2		Cron of Wheat	200	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾
19⅜	4		Coty Inc	800	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	— ⅛
49⅛	15		Crown Cr & B	100	8¾	8¾	8¾	8¾	— ⅛
49⅛	15		Crucible Stl nf	40	23¾	23½	23¾	23¾	—2¾
6	1		Cub Am Sugar	400	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛
86	47		Curtis Publish	1600	12	14	12⅜	13⅞	—1
86	47		Curtis Pub nf	1400	65	66	64½	64½	—2½
4⅜	1		Curtis Wright	1600	2	2⅛	2	2⅛	+ ⅛
4⅜	1		Curtiss Wr A	600	2¼	2½	2¼	2⅜	+ ⅛
			D
9¼	1		Davison Chem	900	3¾	3¾	3¾	3¾	+ ⅛
15⅛	6¼	.40	Deere & Co pf	200	9½	9½	9½	9½	+ ⅛
92⅛	46		Dein & Hud	1400	87	88	85	88	+2
45⅜	8¼		Del Lack & W	15600	25½	26⅜	23⅜	26⅜	+3⅝
6⅜	1		Den Rio Gr nf	200	3⅛	3⅛	3⅛	3⅛	— ⅛
16	1		Devoe & R A	100	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾	— ⅛
18⅛	12		Diamond Mat	900	17⅛	17⅝	16⅜	16⅝	—1⅛
12⅛	7½	1.10b	Dome Mines	1600	10½	10½	10½	10½	— ⅛
16⅜	3½	1.20	Dominion Stre	2100	15¾	15¾	15¾	15¾	+ ⅛
18⅜	9	.75	Douglas Aircr	2100	18¾	19¾	18¾	19½	+⅝

1932 High	1932 Low	Stk. in $		Sales	Open	High	Low	3:00	Net Change
57	32	4	Drue Inc	9800	33½	34¾	33½	33¾	+1
99⅝	22	2	Dunont DeN	18200	33¼	35⅜	33¼	35	+2¼
105¾	80⅜	5	Dunont DeNm	400	101½	103½	101½	103	+1½
98⅜	87	5	Dunvas L t of	130	98	98	97⅜	97⅜	— ⅜
			E
87⅜	35⅛	3	Eastman Kod	3900	50½	50½	48⅝	49¾	+3
3⅜	⅜		Eaton Mfr Co	200	5½	5½	5½	5½
3⅜	⅜		Edmonn Sch	100	2	2	2	2
32⅜	8½	1.20	Elec Auto Lit	5500	15⅛	16½	15⅛	16	+1⅛
3	1		Elec & Mus	1400	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜
46⅜	20⅛	2.80	Elec Pwr & Lt	400	20	20	20	20	— ⅛
64	10⅜	7	Elec P & Lt nf	700	25⅝	26	25	26	+ ⅛
23⅜	10⅜	3	Elec Stor Bat	800	21½	21⅝	21½	21⅝	+ ⅛
31⅞	14⅝	2	Endicott John	100	29	29	29	29	+ ⅛
2⅜	¼		Erie Pub Serv	100	10¼	10¼	10¼	10¼	— ⅛
51	16	5	Enr P Serv nf	100	32	32	32	32	—2
51	16	5.50	E P S nf ww	400	34¼	34¼	34	34	—4½
11⅜	2		Erie R R	1400	5	5¾	5	5¾	+ ⅛
15⅜	2⅜		Erie RR 1 nf	400	6¾	7	6¾	7	+ ⅛
			F
6⅜			Fairbks Morse	200	4	4	4	4	— ⅛
15⅝	6½	.60	Fed Deor Strs	200	11½	11½	11	11
7⅜	2⅜		Fed Lt & Trac	100	10½	10½	10½	10½
3⅜	1⅛		Federal Lt Tr	100	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜	1⅜	— ⅜
2⅜	⅛		Fed Screw Wk	200	⅞	⅞	⅞	⅞
10⅜	3		Fed Water A	600	4	4	4	4	— ⅛
27⅜	6	1.20	Fidelity-Ph Fi	500	13½	13½	13½	13½	— ⅛
18⅞	10½		Firestone T&R	1200	12¼	12¼	12	12
68	45	6	Firest T&R pf	100	59¾	59¾	59¾	59¾	+ ⅛
54⅜	39	2.50	First Nat St.	12400	47¾	48¼	47¾	48¼	+1⅛
7⅜	⅜		Fisk Rub Co	400	¾	¾	¾	¾
2⅜	⅞		Fisk Rub 1 nf	1400	¾	¾	¾	¾
2⅜	⅞		Fisk Rub 2 nf	100	¾	¾	¾	¾
15⅜	3		Foster Wheel	1400	7¾	8¾	7¾	8¾	+1⅛
22⅜	10¼	1.15	Fourth Nat In	1700	17¾	17¾	17	17	—⅜
5⅜	1		Fox Film	5400	2⅛	3	2⅛	2⅞
25⅜	2⅛		Freeport Tex	4400	18¾	20	18½	20	+1¾
			Fuller C	110	21	23¾	21	23¾	+1¼
			G
3½	⅛		Gabriel Snb A	100	2¼	2¼	2¼	2¼	+ ⅛
3⅜	⅛		Gamewell & Co	32	12	12	11¾	11¾	—1¼
9⅜	⅛		Gen Am Inv	300	3¼	3¼	3¼	3¼	— ⅛
17⅜	6		Gen Am Tk Cr	2400	14¼	15⅛	14¼	15½	+1⅛
17⅜	6		Gen Am Tk Cr	400	7	7	7	7
3⅜	⅜		Gen Baking	2900	13¾	14⅛	13¾	14	+ ⅛
3⅜	⅜		Gen Bronze	800	2¼	2¾	2¼	2¾
3⅜	⅜		Gen Cable new	100	2¾	2¾	2¾	2¾
3⅜	⅜		Gen Cable A	100	10	10	10	10	—1
38⅜	20	4	Gen Clears	100	32	32	32	32	—1
28⅜	6¼	.40	Gen Electric	14500	14⅜	16	14⅜	15½	+1
22⅜	10¼	.60	Gen Foods	2900	13⅛	13⅝	13⅛	13⅝
2⅜			Gen G & E A	1600	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛	— ⅛
22⅜	19¾	2	Gen Motors	3100	27⅜	29¾	27⅜	28¾	+1⅛
43⅜	28	3	General Mills	2800	40	41½	40	41½
24⅜	7½		Gen Motors	24800	12⅜	13½	12⅛	13¼	+1⅛
104⅜	68	7	Gen Mt Bear	400	74	74	74	74	—2¼
109	85⅛	6	Gen Outdr Ad	200	3½	3½	3½	3½
14⅜	2⅜		Gen Cable A	100	6¾	6¾	6¾	6¾	— ⅛
14⅜	7¼	.80	Gen Pub Serv	1700	3¼	3¼	3¼	3¼	— ⅛
14⅜	7¼		Gen Pub Serv	1700	12¾	12¾	12¾	12¾	+ ⅛
3⅜	1⅛		Gen Realty	1400	1½	1½	1½	1½
3⅜	1⅛		Gillette Saf R	7900	15⅝	16⅛	14⅝	16	+ ⅛
72½	45	5	Gillette Saf nf	100	15⅝	16⅛	14⅝	16	+ ⅛
3⅜	⅜		Gimbls Bros	700	2	2	2	2	— ⅛
3⅜	⅜		Gliddn Co	2100	5⅝	5⅞	5⅝	5⅞	+ ⅛
76	35	7	Gliddn nf	10	64	64	64	64
76	35	7	Gliddn nf	200	4½	5	4½	5	+ ⅛
20⅜	6¼	1.60	Gold Dust	1400	15⅝	16½	15⅝	16½	+1⅜
97	66		Gold Dust nf	100	95½	95½	95	95	—1
12⅜	2⅜		Goodrich Co	2400	7	8¼	7	8¼	+1⅛
12⅜	2⅜		Goodrich nf	400	12¼	12¾	12¼	12¾	+1⅛
69⅜	19⅛	2	Goodyr T&R	1

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

Radio station which recently dropped the use of announcers' names says it has received so many letters of protest that the practice will be resumed.

Well, you can't blame the fans for wanting to call their shots.

* * *

HURRAY! WE WANT STARRET!

(Campaign Leaflet)

"Mr. Starret, candidate for Congress in the 14th District, is fond of music. He is appreciative of good music. Although he has enjoyed sitting through ponderous symphonies, while the harmonies, the melodies, the motives and the fugues were explained to him step by step, his favorites are 'Dixie' and 'Onward Christian Soldiers.'"

* * *

SAYS Genevieve, the kitchen cynic:

"It's not the secrets of success that need explaining. It's the mystery."

* * *

DISCUSSION CORNER

(Interview—Carveth Wells, author and explorer)

"Russia is a country of starvation, where nothing works, where farming is done by hand, except on tractor equipped farms maintained solely for propaganda."

"Russia is the greatest menace to the world and by supplying technical men to Russia the United States and other countries are creating a monster that will devour them."

* * *

Bankers early cultivate
A manner friendly and sedate,
But when requested for a loan
They soon employ a different tone.

* * *

—Bill Wiley.

CLYDE'S A CASE!

(News Item)

LOS ANGELES — Clyde Roe's idea of a practical joke is dunking cigar and cigarette ashes in spaghetti she served to guests, his wife, Ida Roe, reported in winning a divorce.

* * *

Gals predistined to be sporty.
Run to gigolos at forty.

* * *

Adam Scofflaw's Djournal

Drowsed late (oh, blessed balm!) and then up to sit on the bed where yawned an hundred times whilst my zanny singe my hair by candlelight, and then to breakfast where I let loose a torrent of unmuddled logick and is pleased me to see how her eyes gape as she hearken to a maester of thunder.

CALL AGAIN MRS. TEAFTALLOW!

This little lady kindly consented to pose before the camera while we congratulated her for what we believe is one of the most sensible suggestions of the year. When she knocked shyly at our office door we were inclined to speak gruffly. She was so timid—and seemed so alone in the world. Then she thrust forward a bouquet of pussywillow sprigs—first of the season—and said, in a voice which was ill at ease—

"I'm just a nobody I guess. I don't belong to any women's clubs or anything. But I want to make a suggestion. I just want to propose that radio artists be put under, instead of on, the ether."

* * *

I wish I had a lot of dough
So that I, too, at last could know
Like those with fortunes to endure
How blessed it is to be poor.

Bill Wiley.

* * *

Sizzler, 1913—

"You may be a card, but you don't take no tricks."

* * *

And another thing to ponder on is what happens when an irresistible gold digger meets an immovable Scotchman.

* * *

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Sympathetic Aunt Bella—Don't you think it is a true saying that it takes two to make a failure of marriage?

—ANXIOUS.

Ans.—
Two what? Weeks?
Aunt ("Snapper") Bella.—

* * *

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

Will somebody pick a card, any card?

* * *

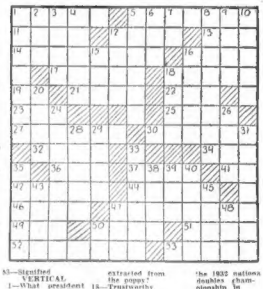
The same to you, thanks.

* * *

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

Daily Crossword Puzzle

By EUGENE SHEFFER



HORIZONTAL

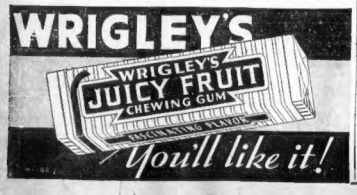
1—What name was assumed by the operatic soprano, Nellie Armstrong?
5—What French writer was the author of the story from which the opera "Carmen" was taken?
11—Song from an opera
12—Fishing rod
13—White linen vestment
14—What English prime minister was the Earl of Beaconsfield?
16—View with amorous glances
17—Taut
18—Sharp-pointed barbed instrument
19—Therefore
21—Poses for portrait
22—Be affected with pain
23—Anglo-Saxon money of account
25—Of maximum quality
27—Gives courage to
28—Stay
30—Outer covering
34—Born
35—Aeon
36—Eject
41—Compass point
42—Sea eagle
43—What was the author of "Ma-ons of the Epirus"?
46—According to tradition, what woman made a flag of Stars and Stripes ring in 1776 after a sketch by Washington?
47—Which state is first in the production of sugar beets and rhodium output?
48—Greek letter
49—Partner
51—Mark remaining after a wound is healed
52—Canopies over beds
53—Signified

VERTICAL

1—What president of the U. S. was secretary of state under Fillmore?
2—Biblical name
3—Discovers
4—Anger
5—What was the given name of the inventor of the cotton gin?
6—Note of the musical scale
7—What strait is between the mainland of South America and Tierra del Fuego Islands?
8—Gilt's name
10—Who was the first president of Germany?
12—The bubonic plague
15—Bird of the cuckoo family
16—What narcotic is extracted from the poppy?
18—Trustworthy
20—Native compounds
24—In what state are the world-famous Hot Springs?
26—Recliners
28—Who was the partner of Gladhill in the match which won for them
30—Organization to further the aims of Territorialism
31—What is the most popular fashionable resort of Rhode Island?
33—Railroad stations
35—French cap
38—Masculine
39—Organization to further the aims of Territorialism
40—Snorkel
43—Fixed customary
45—Worthless
47—Vehicle
48—What was the northern limit of ancient Palestine?
50—Personal pronoun

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS

Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.



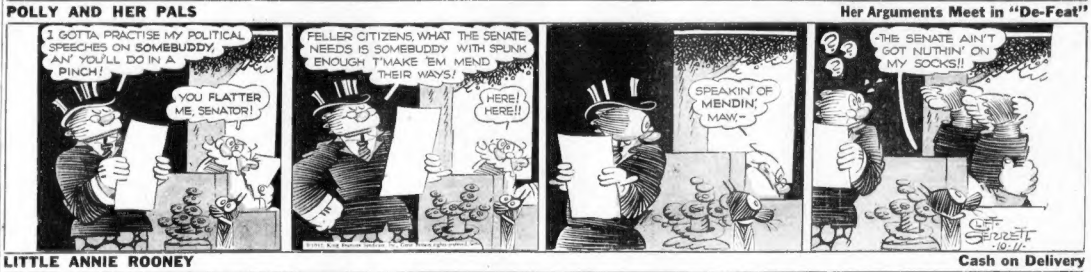
THIMBLE THEATRE, Starring POPEYE — Now Showing—"The Mysterious Voice"

COOK KING! OSCAR FOUND A HUNK OF GOLD
WELL, BLOW ME UP AND DOWN!
SPLASH
OSCAR, ARE YA CRAZY!? WHAT'D YA THROW THAT PIECE OF GOLD IN THE OCEAN FOR?
BECAUSE, I FOUND A BIGGER HUNK
TAKE NO GOLD FROM THE LAND OF DOOMA
WHO'S SPEAKIN' PLEASE?

BRINGING UP FATHER — Corned Beef and Cabbage for 350!

YES-THIS IS DINTY MOORE'S-
YOU WANT TO SPEAK TO DINTY? JUST A SECOND-
FIND OUT WHO IT IS-
IT'S A LADY
YOU WANT TABLES FOR, 350 FOR A CORNED-BEEF AN' CABBAGE DINNER? SURE-I'LL HAVE THE GANG HERE-GOOD BYE-MISS LOTTA VOTES
©1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
GEO McMANUS

POLLY AND HER PALS — Her Arguments Meet in "De-Feat"



I GOTTA PRACTISE MY POLITICAL SPEECHES ON SOMEBUDDY, AN' YOU'LL DO IN A PINCH!
YOU FLATTER ME, SENATOR!
FELLER CITIZENS, WHAT THE SENATE NEEDS IS SOMEBUDDY WITH SPUNK ENOUGH T'MAKE 'EM MEND THEIR WAYS!
HERE! HERE!!
SPEAKIN' OF MENDIN', MAW,-
-THE SENATE AIN'T GOT NUTHIN' ON MY SOCKS!!
CLIFF STERRETT

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY — Cash on Delivery

AIN'T IT GRAND, ZERO? WE HAVE A SWELL JOB—AN' ALL WE KIN EAT—I'LL BETCHA PRETTY SOON YOU'LL BE AS FAT AS A LITTLE ELEPHANT
YOU KNOW WHAT PETE THE BOSS SAID TO ME?—HE SAID I WAS A SWELL DISH-WASHER—HE HAD TO GO AWAY ON BUSINESS—AN' WHEN HE COMES BACK—HE SAID I WAS GONNA GET MORE MONEY
I'M THE OWNER OF PETE'S LUNCH ROOM OVER AT RICHMOND—AN' I KNOW WHERE TO FIND THE KID YOU'RE HUNTIN' FOR 18
WHERE, SHE?? TELL ME QUICKLY!!
HOW ABOUT THE THOUSAND BUCKS REWARD??
YOU'LL GET IT—JUST AS SOON AS YOU LEAD US TO THE LITTLE MISS HIDING PLACE DARRELL

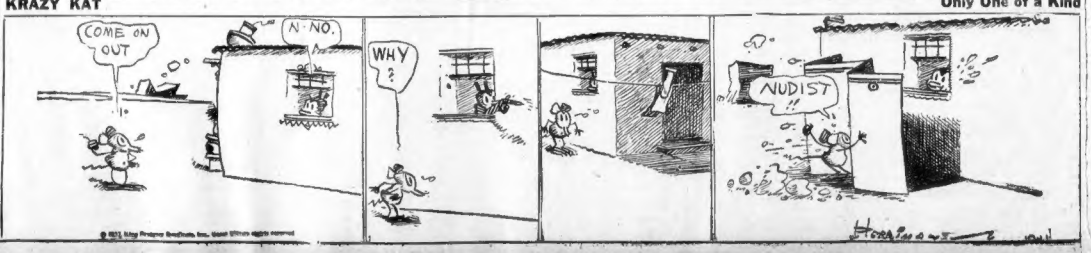
BARNEY GOOGLE — On The War Path

GEE! — I'D HATE TO SPILL THE BAD NEWS TO SULLY--- THE BOYS ARE BETTIN' EIGHT TO FIVE THAT THE BIG RUSSIAN RUBS OUT SULLY IN TEN MINUTES..
HA! HA! HEY! SULLY---C'MERE--- (I'LL TELL HIM THE GANG'S GOT HIM FIGGERED TO FLATTEN THE GRAND DUKE IN TWO MINUTES---)
WHAT THE...? WHERE IS HE?? SULLY...SULLY!!!
AT THIS VERY MOMENT—THE BIG DUKE IS HOT ON SULLY'S TRAIL, AND SULLY, HAVING LEARNED THAT THE WOLFHOUND IS LOOKING FOR HIM-SETS OUT ON A HUNT OF HIS OWN... IF THEY MEET-...?

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK — The Enemy Camp

BOY I'M WORRIED—I DON'T THINK WE OUGHT TO RELY ON NAMBI ALONE TO FETCH TIM BACK SAFELY FROM THAT OBEE-JI-I BUNCH
I'LL HAVE TO PROVE TO MY SATISFACTION FIRST THAT THEIR PRISONER IS OUR TIM—!
BEETLE, I WANT YOU TO CHECK UP ON THAT OBEE-JI-I WARRIOR CAMP AND SEE IF YOU CAN RECOGNIZE THEIR WHITE CAPTIVE! WATCH YOUR STEP AND DON'T GET CAUGHT YOURSELF!
BEETLE MAKE UM GOOD SPY, MASSAH BOY—AND SLIPPERY-LIKE UM EEL!
SILENTLY MAKING HER WAY ALONG THE EDGE OF THE DENSE FOREST, NAMBI SUDDENLY GLANCES UPWARDS AND SEES AN OBEE-JI-I WARRIOR GAZING INTENTLY IN THE DIRECTION OF THE WABAMI VILLAGE!
UUGH

KRAZY KAT — Only One of a Kind



How Nominees Stand In Nation-Wide Poll

Washington, Oct. 1'—The tabulation that follows shows the total vote thus far recorded for President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt in the nationwide Presidential poll of the Boston Evening American in co-operation with all other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

It also shows the majority each candidate has in each State in which he is leading.

In addition, it gives the gain of each candidate on the latest returns received from each State, as compared with the last preceding report from the State. These State reports are usually a week apart.

The final feature of this table shows the net gain of each candidate in each State where he has improved his position, as compared with the last preceding report from that State.

State	TOTAL VOTE Hoov.	Roos.	MAJORITY Hoov.	Roos.	LATEST GAIN Hoov	Roos	NET GAIN Hoov.	Roos.
Alabama	515	3,628	....	3,113	60	+325	....	265
Arizona	507	1,081	....	574	89	186	....	97
Arkansas	2,822	5,231	....	2,064	17	348	....	286
California	10,214	18,364	....	8,150	1,653	1,847	....	193
Colorado	2,816	2,736	80	....	344	447	....	103
Connecticut	4,478	2,617	1,859	....	293	133	162	....
Delaware	656	760	....	47	32	103	....	56
Florida	993	2,857	....	1,864	92	143	....	50
Georgia	357	3,336	....	2,979	29	251	....	222
Idaho	901	1,132	....	231	107	123	....	16
Illinois	7,651	17,058	....	9,354	2,094	2,419	....	325
Indiana	7,690	6,583	861	....	1,603	1,603	33	....
Iowa	4,843	3,457	....	1,115	552	536	....	4
Kansas	4,194	3,772	422	....	491	370	150	....
Kentucky	6,445	8,092	....	3,649	929	1,896	....	967
Louisiana	482	2,490	....	1,998	32	452	....	420
Maine	1,837	1,134	803	....	273	160	113	....
Maryland	1,565	3,724	....	2,159	457	1,103	....	646
Massachusetts	7,651	3,508	4,143	....	1,020	831	1,055	....
Michigan	7,809	8,866	....	1,057	1,039	1,435	....	396
Minnesota	4,455	5,884	....	1,429	1,448	1,738	....	290
Mississippi	158	2,282	....	2,124	6	157	....	151
Missouri	6,446	10,455	....	4,009	1,243	1,944	....	701
Montana	1,401	1,625	....	224	166	179	....	13
Nebraska	2,257	4,167	....	1,910	143	267	....	124
Nevada	185	469	....	284	23	55	....	32
New Hampshire	1,037	924	113	....	297	139	158	....
New Jersey	9,633	7,540	2,093	....	2,113	1,248	865	....
New Mexico	734	973	....	239	123	166	....	43
New York	20,503	19,189	1,416	....	2,987	2,584	403	....
North Carolina	1,389	7,981	....	5,592	209	1,101	....	892
North Dakota	1,040	1,485	....	448	363	445	....	82
Ohio	11,442	11,357	175	....	2,080	2,015	65	....
Oklahoma	2,043	4,934	....	2,891	243	653	....	410
Oregon	1,392	1,221	339	....	138	125	13	....
Pennsylvania	13,857	14,925	....	1,068	2,641	2,551	90	....
Rhode Island	1,382	1,058	324	....	476	416	60	....
South Carolina	71	1,501	....	1,430	5	183	....	178
South Dakota	971	1,413	....	442	185	155	....	30
Tennessee	1,539	3,243	....	1,704	272	624	....	352
Texas	1,658	9,095	....	7,967	127	968	....	841
Utah	907	1,488	....	521	40	48	....	8
Vermont	1,103	653	451	....	239	136	82	....
Virginia	1,028	3,264	....	2,236	162	665	....	503
Washington	2,592	4,483	....	1,891	458	823	....	367
West Virginia	2,728	5,301	....	2,573	446	1,143	....	697
Wisconsin	4,199	7,107	....	2,908	353	1,068	....	133
Wyoming	416	468	....	52	73	80	....	7
Total	172,197	235,836	12,579	76,218	29,733	36,576	3,292	9,045
Net majority and gain				63,639				5,543

GAIN FOR HOOVER IN R. I.

By COLE E MORGAN

Washington, Oct. 11 (AP)—Unless the Roosevelt campaign puts on a good deal of steam in Rhode Island in the remaining four weeks before election, Democratic Governor Roosevelt should carry the state by a 35,000 to 40,000 majority.

This is indicated from a detailed analysis by counties of returns in the nationwide postcard presidential poll of the Boston Evening American in co-operation with all the other Hearst morning, evening and Sunday papers in the United States.

Rhode Island normally is Republican by 40,000 to 50,000 majority. It gave President Coolidge a 41,000 in 1924 and in 1920 gave President Harding 52,000. The majority indicated for President Hoover this year is substantially near these figures.

The poll replies from Providence county which casts 182,000 of the State's 236,000 votes show a 58 per cent leaning to Hoover. This would mean a 39,000 majority in that county.

Newport and Kent Counties, with between 15,000 and 20,000 votes each, showed Hoover leading in the poll ballots by 61 and 64 per cent, respectively. This would indicate between 5000 to 6000 majorities in Newport and more than 5000 in Kent.

Bristol and Washington Counties, casting approximately 20,000 votes combined, appear to be splitting practically even, according to the poll.

New Attempt Made to Pacify Sandino

Mexico City, Oct. 11 (AP)—Letters from Nicaraguan political leaders received here today said the Liberal party, alarmed by the spread of Gen. Augustino Sandino's insurgent activities, have sent a peace commission to Northern Nicaragua in attempt to discuss terms with him.

Attempt to Wreck Express Is Foiled

Wels, Austria, Oct. 11 (AP)—An attempt to wreck the Vienna-Paris express near Marchtrenk failed last night when a track-walker discovered the bolts had been removed from 40 feet of rails. He flagged the train.

Alfonso's Premier Stricken

Madrid, Oct. 11 (AP)—Jose Sanchez Guerra, who was premier of Spain when Alfonso was King, was reported slightly improved today. He was stricken yesterday with partial paralysis affecting the right side of his body.

Births

MANN—To Mr and Mrs. John Mann of 10 Tolman St., Neponset, Oct. 9, at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, a daughter.

RALPH—To Mr. and Mrs. Domenic Nanno of 43 Thacher St., Oct. 9, at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, twin sons.

Deaths

AARONS—In South Boston, Oct. 9, Emanuel (Sidney), husband of the late Samuel Aarons and daughter of the late Rabbi and Mrs. Joseph Berquist, of Halifax, Nova Scotia. Funeral from her late home, 24 Dorchester Park, Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 2:15; services at St. Matthew's Synagogue, Broadway (near E St.), at 2:30. Relatives and friends invited.

CLARK—In Dorchester, Oct. 9, Mary E. Clark, wife of the late Ernest Clark. Funeral from her late residence, 1 Ave. Arlington, Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 8 a. m., thence to St. Peter's Church, Dana de Pitie Church at 9 a. m. Relatives and friends invited. Kindly omit flowers.

COSLEY—In South Boston, Oct. 8, Thomas F., beloved husband of the late Thomas and Mary Durant Cosley. Funeral from his late residence, 7 Sorrento, and Richard F. Rigney, 97 F St., Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 8 a. m. Requiem mass at St. Augustine's Church at 9 a. m. Relatives and friends are invited. Late member of Michael J. Perkins Post, A. L.

CREEDON—In Cambridge, Oct. 9, Nora M. Creedon (nee Reardon), beloved wife of Patrick J. Creedon. Funeral from her late home, 119 Thorndike St., Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 8 o'clock. Solemn high mass at the Sacred Heart Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends respectfully invited to attend.

FITZGERALD—Oct. 9, 1932, Annie Fitzgerald. Funeral from the home of her brother, Michael Fitzgerald, 39 Gravelville Rd., Watertown, Tuesday, Oct. 11. Time to be announced later.

Money to Loan

YOU CAN DO IT TOO!

YOU can solve any family financial problem with AN "INDUSTRIAL BANKERS" LOAN.

Our service is prompt and confidential. The cost is low. SMALL MONTHLY PAYMENTS in keeping with present-day conditions and salaries.

PHONE—WRITE—OR VISIT THE MOST CONVENIENT "INDUSTRIAL BANKERS" OFFICE

BOSTON OFFICE
73 TREMONT ST. Tremont Bldg.
2nd Floor. License 22. Lafayette 1127

BROCKTON OFFICE
190 MAIN ST. Olympia Bldg. 2nd Fl.
License 123 Brockton 2112

BROOKLINE OFFICE
209 HARVARD ST., Coolidge Cor. Bldg.
Cor. Beacon St. License 149. Asp. 0045

CAMBRIDGE OFFICE
689 MASSACHUSETTS AVE. Trust St. at Central Sq. License 71. Porter 2070

CHELSEA OFFICE
645 BROADWAY Chamber of Commerce Bldg. License 195. Chel. 2260

DORCHESTER OFFICE
561 DUDLEY ST. Uphams Corner
2nd Floor. License 66. Columbia 1279

EVERETT OFFICE
471 BROADWAY Howard Bldg.
2nd Floor. License 197. Everett 2116

HAVERHILL OFFICE
110 PLEASANT ST. Rotary Bldg.
2nd Floor. License 107. Haverhill 2472

Money to Loan

INDUSTRIAL BANKERS, Inc.

AUTO and FURNITURE LOANS
ON YOUR OWN SIGNATURE; COLLATERAL REMAINS IN YOUR POSSESSION
OPEN SATURDAYS UNTIL 4 P. M.
COLONIAL 7240 PLAN
Liberty 7360 LICENSE 142 437 Park Sq. Bldg.

PILGRIM PLAN
LOANS on AUTOS and FURNITURE, or SIGNATURE
under State supervision.
Pilgrim Industrial Service Corp., 85 School St., Boston.
Liberal Terms. Prompt Service.

LOANS FURNITURE, AUTOS
Open October 15. License 37.
Capital Finance Co., 31 State St.
Rm. 706. Cap. 9500. Opp. Customs House

Monuments

MONUMENTS—Fine stock, large size. Very low prices. Tree. C. Craig, 112 Water St., Quincy, Mass. Granite 1807-R.

Funeral Directors

J. WATERMAN & SONS
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Local and Suburban Service
CHARLES A. ROLLINS
360 Meridian St.; East Boston 6363.

Lost and Found

FOUND BY POLICE

3S4906—1 broken signal machine, 7 Webster electric gongs.

Call Miss Mann, Liberty 4000.

BLACK FOX fur-piece lost in Charlestown, Sept. 25. Reward. Charlestown 2454-W.

FOUND—1 brown and white setter, male dog. Call Allan Rogers, Dover 0323.

LOST—Two valuable hours. Loser can earn good reward by calling or writing 4 Morris Rd., Roxbury from 9 a. m. Rooms 6 Co., 724 Washington St., Boston, every afternoon. Inspection. Write or phone, Hancock 4269.

Beauty Aids

$5 PERMANENT WAVES $5
Given by expert! Finger Wave 50c; Marcel 35c; Shampoo, Shampoo 25c. Sunday, Monday and Friday evenings, also STUDLEY BEAUTY PARLOR, 125 Tremont St., Rm. 303-4. Hry. 7634.

ELECTRIC NEEDLE SPECIALIST
HAIR Its tonics' tones permanently removed by needle or wax.
Physicians' references Molly Rapport.
225 Tremont St., Boston. Rm. 310. Hrv. 7780

PERMANENT WAVE, $1
REALISTIC $6. LANOIL $4.50
Both Include Shampoo No Finger Waving
5 WINTER ST. Rm. 710. LIBERTY 7634.

100 Girls Needed to Have Beauty Work Done Absolutely Free. Call or write Academy, 218 Mass. Ave. Ken. 220

$1 SPECIAL—Shampoo, Finger or Marcel Wave
HARRY, 453 Wash. St., Rm. 817. DEVY. 8047.

THRIFTY Fancy Schoolboy Haircuts ringing in every branch, expert tonsorial; 6 seats' service, 25c. 1 Boylston Pl., Rm. 1, Gymnasium Floor, Boston. 1125 Tremont St., Rm. 503, Bos. 7634.

2 Finger Waves and Shampoo, 50c
This Month Only. Shampoo Extra.
ARNETT, 6 Winter St., Rm. 910. Bos. 7162.

60c Shampoo and Finger Wave 50c. Beauty Work Sales, 453 Wash. St., Room 308. DEV. 6513.

Special Shampoo and Finger Wave 50c
Edith's, 25a Beauty Shop, 263 Wash. St., Newton Cor.

Detective Agencies

SCOTT DETECTIVE SERVICE, 533 Wash. Street, Boston. Hancock 1870. Nights and Sundays, Holidays Ashmont 1326.

Help Wanted—Female

STENOGRAPHERS AND TELEPHONE

Sell Hosiery, Lingerie and X-Mas Cards at all-year sales plan to your friends and fellow employees. Highest commissions and your own prices. Royal Crewe, 76 Summer St., Boston.

WELL BRED WOMEN
Introducing a new line of refined social acquaintances. Chance to earn good money. Phone for particulars Aspinwall 8262.

Help Wanted—Male

JUNIOR SALESMEN
3, UNDER 22, of neat appearance, with high school or college training, for specialized selling work in the office equipment field; small weekly salary. Apply DIRECT ORGANIZATION, 73 Tremont St., room 720.

CHRISTMAS CARD SALESMEN—Our exclusive five-way line sells on every conference; pens, Xmas cards; box asst's largest assortment; 100% profit; experience not needed; pay daily. Stauder Engraving Co., 15 School St., Boston. Room 511.

3 SPECIALTY SALESMEN
To introduce something new and different. Commission. Apply 9 to 10 a. m. Room 1, 1 Bigelow Sq.

MEN to join sales staff of Tremont Building. Apply 210 Tremont St., Room 401, Boston.

WANTED—Barber; expert in hair-cutting. Singer waving. Call Mystic 2877-W.

Sales Help—Female

CHRISTMAS card salesladies; 100% profit; selling beautiful 21-folder $1 assortment; also gift wrappings; samples on approval. Studard Studios, Dept. 914, Fitchburg, Mass.

Laundering

Curtains laundered, dried, fluffed, $1. Expert References. Hig. 1596.

REAL ESTATE

Houses for Sale

SHARON 1 DAY ONLY
SPECIAL SALE
Wednesday, Oct. 12—Columbus Day
Fine 1931 fire building and steel box in the heart of Sharon, valued at $250 sale to be sold for $199 cash or less, $10 down, $5 monthly. Each lot 5000 or more square feet. PHILIP A. BRONDOR, 136 South Main st., Sharon.

SPECIAL FOR INSPECTION OCT. 12TH
Taken on foreclosure, nearly new single, 6 rooms, sun parlor, tile bath, fireplace 1-car garage, steam heat; ideal location; handy to everything; cost $8500, now $4900. 61 Quincy St., Watertown. Friend Lumber Co. Mystic 5450

BRAINTREE—5-room bungalow, modern, rubber floor, garage, Spanish finish inside. Braintree 1261-M.

Lots for Sale

$25 Starts a Summer Home at $5.50 weekly MIRROR LAKE
Will build 3-room frame next season on lot if secured now, balance $280 on time, free use of row boats, bathing beaches, 2 diving floats and pine grove; good fishing and bathing; beautiful lake and scenery. A 180, Boston American.

Farms and Land for Sale

CHARLESTOWN, N. H.—Hill top, 100 acres, 6-room house, big barn, new orchard, shade, wood timber. $1200; terms to suit. page. Clare, 26 Cerey St.; Everett 0170.

EQUIPPED FARMS, business chances; catalog free. Strout Agency, 813B Old South Bldg., Boston. Lib. 7155.

Houses for Rent

BEACHMONT—Furnished 6 room house, all mpts., $28 month. Park 4421-R.

BRIGHTON—8-room house, all improvements, garage, rent reasonable. Dudley 0416-M.

MARLBORO ST.—Nice, sunny, corner, 3 baths. $75 mo. Lal. 5634.

Rooms for Housekeeping

BEACHMONT—3 or 5 furnished rooms; heat, light, gas included. Revere 0096-J.

CAMBRIDGE—Clinton St., 3 rooms, private housekeeping room; also other rooms. $3.50 up.

CAMBRIDGE—71 Hammond St., kitchenette, 4 rooms, all mpts., $4.50 per week. Uni. 9473-J.

CAMBRIDGE, 127 Chestnut St.—Kitchenette, some with private baths; single rms. $3.

CHARLESTOWN—2-room suites; everything furnished; parking. $6-$7. Chas. 788-M.

CHARLESTOWN—Furnished unfurnished rooms; adults, parking, near car. Chel. 0151.

ROXBURY—4 Pickering Ave.; 3 large sunny rooms; newly decorated, steam heat; tumble water, near cars. Lan. 0466.

ROXBURY—63 Waverly St., room with kitchenette; everything furnished. High. 1746.

ROXBURY—99 Moreland St.; basement housekeeping rm., everything furnished. $5.

SOMERVILLE—Very desirable housekeeping room, $4 up; modern; adults. 25 Kensington Ave. Tel.

SOUTH END—Furnished 1-2-room kitchenette suite, private bath; $4.50 up. Lib. 6581.

ST. BOTOLPH ST.—Modern furnished kitchenette suites; new, clean and good location; reasonable. Back Bay 7634.

HEART of the City—52-54 Chandler St., nicely furnished heated rooms, $4, $5, $6.

2 Real Sunny Rooms, $4 Each
Steam, set tubs, gas range, $5.50 Cen. 4746.

3 MAIN AVE.—Front, 3 rooms, suitable for business couple; other rooms; $2.50 up.

ASK you looking for a room? If you are and do not find what you want here, call MISS CROSBY, LIBERTY 4000, and she will furnish you with a complete list without charge.

Rooms With Board

BROOKLINE—Room, twin beds, board; business couple preferred. Aspinwall 0097.

CAMBRIDGE—Well-heated rooms, with board; quiet, near Harvard Sq. Porter 4167-W.

Homes for Invalids

COMFORTABLE home for elderly people, semi-invalids, ex-valescents, all privileges, reasonable rates. Mrs. Ingram, Swedish massage if desired. Car will call for you. 122 Mount St., Hyde Park. Hyd. 0530-W.

ROOM, board; best care given aged person and bed patients. $10 up. Gen. 0838.

SOMERVILLE—Sunny rooms for elderly people or convalescents. $12 up. Com. 9084.

Rooms Without Board

ALLSTON—Furnished room in private family; business person. $5.00 week. Asp. 2990.

BRIGHTON—Nicely furnished rooms, white family; parking space or garage. Stadium 0389.

DORCHESTER—175 Winthrop Rd., nicely furnished rooms, heated, $4, $5; parking. Lib. 6272.

37 W NEWTON ST. $5, $6, $8 week; same rate for 1 or 2 persons. Steam heat, hot water, use of piano. Also 1 single room, $3.

228 MASS AVE.—Heated room, private family, $4 week. Ken. 9346-W.

335 TREMONT ST.—Boston, well heated rooms; rents reasonable. Devonshire 6815.

TREMONT—Sunny rooms, steam, bath. Floor, $5-$6; young men only.

WEST NEWTON ST.—Attractive, sunny, $5-$6, private family. Talbot 0744.

WEST ROXBURY—Large, sunny rooms, newly renovated, $35, garage optional. Mat. 0286.

WEST ROXBURY—5-8 rooms, modern, steam heat, garage, $42-$45. Parc. 4126-R.

WINTHROP—Large, sunny rooms, steam heat, completely renovated, sun parlor, resident family, $4 week. Win. 2990-M.

2-4-6 ST. GERMAIN St., Back Bay, sec. and front apartments, four rooms and bath, inhester Tel. Cap. 1949. 73 Tremont St., Room 843

5 ROOMS, tile bath, one floor, steam heat, 9 Dover Park, Roxbury. Call 2 to 6. 0504

$35—Attractive 5 rooms, all improvements. 118 Corey Rd., Aspinwall 0415.

$40—Sunny, heated, 6 rooms, bath, best. $30; 2 adults. Call after 2 p. m.

34 W. RUTLAND SQ.—2-3 rooms, electric refrigerator, gas, linen; $6.50-$8.50. Kenmore 0100.

ARE you looking for an apartment? If you are and do not find what you want listed here, call MISS CROSBY, LIBERTY 4000, and she will provide you with a complete list without charge.

Furnished Apartments

BACK BAY—174 St. Botolph St. 3-room kitchenette apartment, $7.50. Bay 7634.

BEACON ST., Coolidge Corner — Furnished, heated, 2 rooms, gas, electric, $45. Aspinwall 0262.

CAMBRIDGE—Heated 3 rooms, kitchen, bath, furn., $30. Call 1-2 p. m. Porter 0693-M.

QUINCY—Modern furnished 4 rooms, heated, $40. Kenmore 2015. Ken. 6237.

ROXBURY—Widow wishes to share her suite with couple or students, board optional. Reasonable. Dud. 0416-M.

Walnut Ave., Suite 2

SOMERVILLE—2-room suite, first floor, $25-$27.50. 21 Prescott St.; Som. 1907-R.

WINTHROP HIGHLANDS—Heated, 4-5 rooms, furnace, $45-$50. 80 Sagamore Ave.; Ocean 1737-W.

Business Prop. for Sale

QUINCY—Will sell or exchange green house and about 40,000 ft. lands. Call at 855 Sea St., or Quincy 2-0-1-1-W.

Clothing

SUITS TOPCOATS $2.98 3 FOR $7.50
$30 & $40 SUITS, TOPCOATS, OVERCOATS $5 and $6 PANTS None Higher
UNIVERSITY CLOTHING CO.
103 WASHINGTON ST. 103

SUITS—Heavily blues, $4.95; pants, $1.85. TUXEDOS, $8.95, 100 WORSTED SUITS, $9.95. Goodman's, 4 Green St., or 1073 Wash. St.

Miscellaneous for Sale

SECOND HAND sewing choppers, cutting scales and meat slicer, for sale, cheap. 16 Bingen St., Phone Kenmore 1370.

Exterminators

Roaches, Bedbugs, Rats
Safty Pynos Destroys Moths, Germs
Free Size or service furniture. Safety by experts. Anywhere. Highland 8079. Fumigant Co., 29 Inois St. Hub. 6270.

Automobiles

NASH
2 DAY SALE
TUESDAY and All Day WEDNESDAY, THE HOLIDAY
Like Old Times
All you have to do is just drop in here to be convinced of another bona fide opportunity in get yourself just the car most suitable to your needs—priced even lower than you intended to pay. Doesn't that mean real saving for you?
1928 DODGE D. A. COUPE $295
1930 HUDSON SPORT COACH $345
1932 Nash Twin Ignition 8 Sedan $1045
1929 PACKARD SEDAN $545
NASH CARS
'29 Spc. 6 Sedan $695
'29 Adv. 6 Sedan 445
'29 Adv. 6 Sedan 495
'29 Adv. 6 Coach 395
'30 Adv. 8 Sedan 625
'30 Adv. 8 Coach 595
'30 Adv. 8 Amb. Sedan 745
OTHER MAKES
'28 Packard Sedan $795
'29 Graham Spl. Tumble seat 345
'31 Hupmobile 5 Sedan 995
'31 Hupmobile 5 Coach seat 875
'30 Packard 7-Pass. Sedan 1495
'30 Packard 7-Pass. Sedan 1650
'30 Buick Coach 795
'30 Buick Sedan 895
'30 Willys Knight Coupe 195
'27 Adv. 6 Amb. Sedan $195
'28 Adv. 6 Amb. Sedan 295
'28 Spc. 6 Conv. Coupe 195
'27 Stud. 6 Sedan 75
Open Evenings
NASH NEW ENGLAND CO.
Wed Cor 630 Commonwealth Ave. Brighton
Kenmore 1400-1401

USED TIRES
Also!
New, Goodyear, General, Federal, Fisk
6.00-20 $4.25 $4.50
30x3½ Cl. 32x4 Cl.
30x3½ Cl. 32x4 Cl.
32x4 Cl. 32x4.50 Cl.
29x5.00 $4.00
31x5.00 Cl.
Mail Orders Filled, send check or money order
ROYAL TIRE CO.
300 Columbus Ave., Boston

1931 Chevrolet Sport Coupe
The Lima Model, very snappy car with rumble seat, tires excellent, mechanically perfect, upholstery and finish like new. Priced right, and with an O. K. that means it.
J. J. DELANEY, INC.
1500 Blue Hill Ave., Mattapan. Dorchester 2090.

REPOSSESSED CARS
A LARGE finance company has on hand a number of repossessed Automobiles, many of which are almost new and sold originally for the amount of notes due. For further information write to Box T-15, Boston American.

1930 CHEVROLET COACH
An exceptional buy. In excellent condition throughout, tires are new, motor is tuned and out. Low mileage. Terms. Sold with an O. K. that means it.
J. J. DELANEY, INC.
1500 Blue Hill Ave., Mattapan. Dorchester 2090.

1930 Dodge 6 Sedan $285
4-door Sedan, clean upholstery, 6 wire wheels and fender wells, original Dazo finish, like new. Guaranteed 60 days. Liberal terms. L. P. G., 358 Ocean Ave. Revere 1340.

Ask About 90 CASH DOWN
Plenty of Cars $100, $125 up
THE HENLEY KIMBALL CO.
780 Beacon St. Open Evenings Ken 4016

Autos Wanted
We pay most cash. Now as before selling. 1189 COMMONWEALTH AVE Tel. Aspinwall 8500

100 FORDS WANTED
Cash waiting—highest prices paid. 84 Prospect st., Cambridge, University 8826.

"HIGH CASH" for Fords, Chevrolets, 6 wire wheels; driven 5000 miles; impossible to tell from brand new; not 20000 miles. Phone Cambridge 8845. Finance Co., 457 Stuart St.; Com. 6533.

1929 CHEVROLET COUPE, $165
Stanley Harlow Chevrolet Corp.
540 Main St., Watertown 0067

WILLYS 6 Coupe, 1931, in good condition; reasonable. Mrs. Hurley, Chelmsford 0243-W.

FORDGE D. A. SEDAN N. $275—Very clean. Jack's Garage, 783 Blue Hill Ave., Mattapan. Dorchester 2090.

METAL GARAGE Catalog Free. Vhiltredge P. B. Co., 972 Broad St., Lynn.

'26 FORD Coupe, good tires, $35. Motor Car Co. of N. E., 850 Commonwealth Ave.

Automobile Schools

$10 Guaranteed License Course $10
Instruction Permit, $5. Hrv. 4339
$5 COMPLETE LICENSE COURSE $5
217 Berkeley St. HUB. 4339

Dancing

BOSTON'S FOREMOST RELIABLE REFINED SCHOOL
Private Lessons $5
Uptown Schools Downtown
330 Mass Ave., at Hunt. Dancing
Next Door Spaulding's Restaurant
Back Bay Studios
Newest ballroom, steps, fox-trot, waltz, tango, Lindy Hop. Beginners guaranteed to learn here. Experienced young ladies and gentlemen to instruct you quickly. Open 10 A. M. to 10 P. M.
OPEN HOLIDAY AS USUAL—10 A. M. TO 10 P. M.

MY REPUTATION IS YOUR PROTECTION
DURRELL'S
377 TREMONT ST. DEVONSHIRE
BALLROOM Guaranteed in 4 Lessons and TAP DANCING ALL STYLES TAUGHT

Made School--Modern Dancing
EDNA HUNT—EVELYN JACKSON
177 HUNTINGTON AVE., COMMONWEALTH 9063
Introductory Free Lesson—Enroll Now
Private 10 A.M.-10 P.M. Class 7pm & 8 P.M. Fee.

PAPARONE STUDIOS
All Kinds of Dancing Taught
1088 Boylston St. (near Mass. Ave.) Tel. Com. 9071

MISS WISEMAN CIR. 8668
Learn Latest Fox-Trot—Waltz—Tango
$1 Private Lessons, Beginners, $1
Practice Classes, Wednesday and Saturday Evenings
Studio, 1 Huntington Ave., Boston
2 PRIVATE LESSONS, SHIRLEY HAYES $1
530 MASS. AVE. TEL. CIRCLE 9068

Oil Burners

Oil Burners and Oil Heating Stoves REPAIRS FURNACE BOILER RANGE
WAVERLY, 52 UNION ST., BOSTON

OIL BURNER SERVICE ANY MAKE
Installed, serviced, repaired, CARROLL INSTALLATION & SERVICE. 12 Waverly St., Camb. University 2263.

SALT direct, standard rock oil content guaranteed and complete, $13.95. Standard Oil Co., 1 Broadway, Boston. Hub. 5870.

RANGE OIL BURNERS, guaranteed 5 yrs., $6.50 up. Direct to dealer. COKER SALES Co., 60 Washington St., Chelsea. 0624

$1 Range Oil Burner Guaranteed 5 Years
$1 Approval, Ricard Sales Co., 77 Roxbury St., Boston. Hub. 5867

Setter Grade Range Oil Burners $8.50
Complete—Guaranteed
Factory Office, 51 Sawyer St., Bos. 6702.

RETTER-GLOW range burners, $14.95; guaranteed 5 years, installed free. Phone way 4615-M.

Fuel

ANTHRACITE HEATER COAL $11
HARD COAL BRIQUETTES $9.50
PROMPT DELIVERY. ARL. 4040

The Boston Evening American assumes no financial responsibility for typographical errors in advertisements, but will reprint that part of an advertisement in which the typographical errors occur. Advertisers will please notify the classified department immediately of any error which may occur.

MISSING ARTICLES FOUND
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

Legal Notices

IN BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS
BOSTON, October 7, 1932.
ORDERED: That due notice be given, that this Board is of the opinion that, in and over the following-described parcels of land, consisting of:

A parcel for the use and construction of Atherton avenue, Hyde Park district, as widening of the present Atherton avenue northwesterly; with the name of Alvardo avenue as the name of the avenue as widened.

The laying out and construction of Alvardo avenue, Hyde Park district, as a highway, from Walley street westerly; the name of the avenue as constructed, La-fayette Park, Dorchester district, as a highway, from Norfolk street westerly; with the name of Julian Park or some other distinctive name.

Substantially as shown on plans in the office of the Board, that it intends to pass orders for making said improvements, and that a hearing thereon will be held at 10 A. M., of October 20, 1932, and the office of the Board, No. 1 City Hall Annex, at the time and place for public hearings in the matter.

A true copy of an order passed by said Board on said 7th day of October.
CORNELIUS A. BRADLEY,
Secretary.
oct. 8, 10, 11-32

BOSTON AMERICAN
Entered as second class matter at the Postoffice of Boston, Mass., under Act of March 3, 1879, also at the Postoffice of Providence, R. I.
Published daily, Sunday & Holidays by HEARST NEWSPAPERS, 8 Winthrop Square, Boston. NEW ENGLAND NEWSPAPER PUBLISHING CORPORATION

Fuel

Domestic rates (Subscriptions by MAIL, payable in advance): Daily and Sunday, $6.00. One Year $8. Foreign rates. One Month $1.25. Six Months $6.50. Twelve months $12. Single copy 3 cents. Single copy at counter or stand in the Boston Postal District, Subscriptions payable strictly in advance.

Medical

FREE, X-RAY
Examination, consultation and trial treatment absolutely free to all who call before Nov. 1st. Many cases pronounced hopeless by light treatment are accomplishing wonders in restoring health and happiness. Call and let us tell you what your disease may be. Daniel J. Kelley, M. D., Graduate Harvard Medical Mass., fulfills the above offer. Office hours: 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., 7 to 8 p. m. Sundays, 10 to 1 p. m. Tues. and Fri., 2 to 4, and 7 to 8 p. m. Sundays and holidays.

BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASE
TREATED BY THE LATEST METHOD
ECZEMA—PSORIASIS
INTRAVENOUS INJECTIONS WHEN NECESSARY
Hours 9 to 5 W. Mulcahy, M. D. 9 to 8
Sundays 9 to 1 Street

Jewelry—Diamonds

DIAMONDS RESET
WHILE YOU WAIT—See it
In modern mountings
18 Kent Gift $5 Set
$20 Value
JAGER BROS. & CO.
333 Wash. St., 6th Floor, Room 618

Legal Notices

IN BOARD OF STREET COMMISSIONERS
BOSTON, October 7, 1932.
ORDERED: That due notice be given, that this Board is of the opinion that, in and over the following-described parcels of land, consisting of:

A parcel for the use and construction of Atherton avenue, Hyde Park district, as widening of the present Atherton avenue northwesterly; with the name of Alvardo avenue as the name of the avenue as widened.

The laying out and construction of Alvardo avenue, Hyde Park district, as a highway, from Walley street westerly; the name of the avenue as constructed, Lafayette Park, Dorchester district, as a highway, from Norfolk street westerly; with the name of Julian Park or some other distinctive name.

Substantially as shown on plans in the office of the Board, that it intends to pass orders for making said improvements, and that a hearing thereon will be held at 10 A. M., of October 20, 1932, and the office of the Board, No. 1 City Hall Annex, at the time and place for public hearings in the matter.

A true copy of an order passed by said Board on said 7th day of October.
CORNELIUS A. BRADLEY,
Secretary.
oct. 8, 10, 11-32

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION BY MORE THAN 80,000

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1932

50 Years of Service

The Knights of Columbus

Fifty years ago, in a New England community, a little group of earnest men organized the Knights of Columbus.

Their purpose was to honor the Genoese navigator who discovered America. And it was, by emulation of his virtues, to spread courage, fidelity and the simple Christian attributes among the people of the land he had opened to the world.

The succeeding fifty years have been epochal in the life of this fraternal organization so modestly created. It stands out today as one of the most impressive and influential of all our fraternal societies.

* * *

Its membership is measured by the hundreds of thousands. Its charities are unbounded. It has established beautiful homes and assembly halls where its members may derive the benefits of cultural education and fraternal friendship.

The Knights of Columbus is today an important institution in the life of this country. Here it has greatly flourished, and properly so, because New England was its original home. As it now celebrates its half-century of progress, we wish it well and the happy future that seems assured to it.

Every Little Bit Helps

But More Needed to Perfect Cape Cod Canal

"You should be gratified that $277,000 has been appropriated to dredge the approaches to the Sagamore Bridge. This is entirely in line with your repeated and insistent demands for enlargement and improvement of the Cape Cod Canal.

The above comes to the Boston Evening American from an official at Washington.

We shouldn't look a gift horse in the mouth, of course. The dredging thus to be done is important to adequate use of the Canal.

But we shall be better pleased when the government decides to expend the $20,000,000 that will enable this valuable channel of tidewater commerce to be utilized to its utmost capacity. Well, New England, we have made a start, anyway. So let's all pull together and keep on going toward our ultimate goal.

Dry Logic

The usage of the terms "fruit punch" and "fruit cocktail" is one fraught with heavy danger to modern youth, say the women dry leaders at conference in Ontario. Equally as insidious is the referring to apple juice as "cider" and "root beer" as "root beer," because of the wicked suggestion of alcohol.

The officials recommend terms like "fruit nectar" and "fruit cup."

These are an incentive to virtue, like the Victorian euphemism of "piano limbs."

From the viewpoint of psychologists, who hold that suggestion is powerful, the officials are justified. From the viewpoint of common sense they are just plain silly. Though, come to think of it, the idea is not so silly as the "anti-setup" law with us, which can run into the bastile hotelkeepers who serve customers with ginger-ale and ice—possible ingredients of a highball.

New Voices Needed

It was a lament of the anthropologist, Professor George Dorsey, that music had become monotonous, as if it were tailored for the public, like one suit for Uncle Sam. The more dulcet sounds are still gotten only from the piano, that musical beast of burden, the violin and the flute group.

A club has been started in New York to provide new music. Or rather, to revive the old. The players will caress the ear with tones from the clavichord, bina, theorbe, sordine, archlute, althord and tymbal. Nor will the kit and the doodlesack, this latter a cousin of the bagpipe, be overlooked.

Dr. Johnson vowed that the loveliest music was that of ten bagpipes in a closed room, all playing different tunes. Those who dislike mammy crooners and loud-speaker uproar will think bagpipes, in comparison, lovely indeed.

The Advancing South

Alabama has taken a notable step forward in tolerance. Its House has passed a bill allowing the sale of near-beer. This fluid had been under a ban for years because, as the bill phrased it, "it looks like, smells like and tastes like beer."

To whom? What profiteth it a man to have a powerful legal intellect, or enough to get elected to office, if he have no more sense than to be fooled by near-bear? No doubt these legislators could be fooled also by near-rye and pseudo-Bourbon, for their taste-buds must be atrophied.

There are people that Prohibition won't benefit, it would seem. Still, the case of Alabama is not hopeless. Four years ago she abolished chain-gangs and today admits that a man can drink near-beer and not be an outlaw.

Kindly Mrs. Storrow

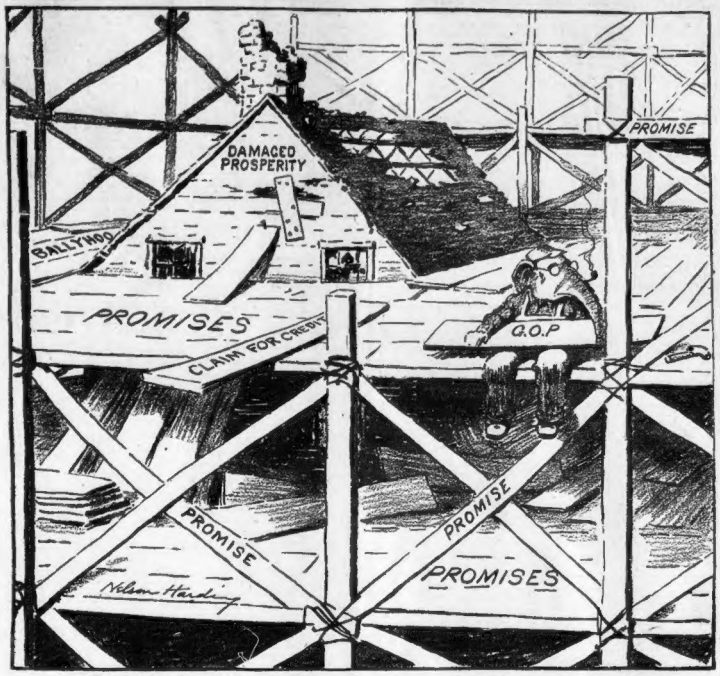
Mrs. James J. Storrow of Boston was accorded high honor by the National Girl Scout Convention at Virginia Beach. If there is any lady who merits distinction and upon whom it can be conferred without arousing envy in others, it is Mrs. Storrow. The benefactions of herself and her late husband are epic in Boston. Mrs. Storrow's interest has ranged from the development of the Charles River Esplanade to the finding of work for released prisoners anxious to rehabilitate themselves. Her devotion to civic and philanthropic movements has been unceasing.

Chopping and Depression

John D. Rockefeller started his fortune in a time of business panic. There are some who have initiative, even today. In Newmarket, N. H., a man bought stumpage rights in a public forest at $1 a cord, and started chopping. Some thirty others followed his example. They have now cut more than 200 cords, and are still working. Their industry will not only provide some profit for themselves. The town will get its share of the fuel, to be given to the poor, without cost, when the chill blasts of Winter come.

More Scaffolding Than Repairs

By Nelson Harding



There is a lot of scaffolding
Erected, it is true.
It's high, wide and elaborate
And quite impressive, too.

In fact, there's so much scaffolding
Around the job today
That folks ask why the real repairs
Are not well under way?

O. O. McIntyre

Day by Day in Europe

Power of Mussolini

VENICE, Oct. 11—A refreshing sleep, and Venice, from a lancet window, seemed lovelier than ever. In the clarity of a blasing sun, sad, mellow palaces, domes and minarets shimmered darkly in canals and church spires seemed swimming sword blade in the dreamy light.

A dew-spangled rose lay across each breakfast plate, and I wondered where they grew in this network of waterways. The waiter said, the city was cleaner than ever before, attributing its spruceness to Mussolini. It was breakfast so I didn't tell him about the dead cat floating in Grand Canal last night.

After New York's sharp perpendicular, all architecture seems out of kilter—like a modernistic scene on a revue back drop. Signor Silvey, over a steaming cup of American coffee, did not think the city would last long. But he has been gondolaing in the moonlight. And seems wan.

Outside of Cologne, Germany, I never heard so many morning bells. some harsh, some silver-tongued and one with a long sustained soprano note. No one appears to be in a hurry, save the police, who, briskly staccato, move about like clock-work soldiers.

I have heard Venetian women have a grace and sculptural beauty no others have. This may be true of dancing girls at festivals, but those I have seen are rather stodgy, white-stockinged and unexpressive. Most of them would look at home in the brooding doorways of Mulberry street.

* * *

Throughout the languor of Venice is felt the alert undercurrent of Italy's dominating dynamo, Mussolini. A current story concerns his handling of a vendetta, in which five were stilettoed in a hamlet in Sicily. The total male population numbered 258. All refused to talk, and the entire 258 have been banished for life—with no hope of reprieve.

* * *

The best known American in Venice is Dorothy Caruso, widow of the idolized tenor, Enrico. She has a venerable palace in town and a villa at the Lido, is active in charity and a social leader in the colony from the States. She adores the Venice that Caruso loved, but her plump daughter Gloria at 13 reputedly longs for New York.

* * *

I am not music-conscious, but, being so full of fun and everything, I like the Venetian brand. The orchestra tries to drown the singers and the singers in purplish apoplectic strains try to drown the orchestra. When all this fails, they suddenly combine and in extraordinary obbligato try to raise the roof. It gives music a certain something.

Venetian vittles, outside a large variety of sea specialties, is mostly veal, pasta and spaghetti. I've been urged to toy with the toy octopus that abounds. It is called calamaretti, but I made no promises. Then there is the popular fritto di mare, a jumble of tiny fish netted in lagoons. Venetians always are so steamed up about their moonlights, castles and old paintings, they have never given serious thought to a juicy T-bone steak. I'll trade my Peru bond for a single share in a "T-Bone Tomasso Shack" in any side calle. And toss in my Columbus, O, union depot necktie to boot.

* * *

In a bit of man-about-towning, I found singular charm in the midget public squares, so pleasantly pastured on every hand. Such breathing spots, though savored in small doses, offer frequent and sudden escapes.

* * *

We dined at the never-closed Florians, with its quadrangle of outside chairs. Two tables away, an unhappy American tourist, depressed by copious helpings of local panther-sweat coupled with homesickness, was having an ultra fancy cry. I've been in Europe almost long enough for second papers myself and I wanted to join him. I have a new aniffle that is a honey.

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

Don't Wait for 'Some Day'

REMEMBER when you were fifteen, and all your gorgeous dreams of what would happen some day?

Elsie Robinson

What a marvelous place That Some Day Land was going to be, and what a marvelous person you were going to be when you reached it!

Now, of course, you were only fifteen, and everything was all wrong. But some day—!!!—Some day everything would be different. Some day you would have the breaks, and people wouldn't be always crabbing at you the way they did. They'd seek you out and appreciate you and give you a chance to show what wonderful things you could do. For, of course, you could do wonderful things any time you wanted. You only needed a little appreciation, that was all! Then they'd see!

For some day, when you really got your chance and people started being nice to you, you were going to surprise everybody. You make them feel awful cheap for the way they had treated you. You would make them feel cheap by being so splendid to them. And you'd get your mother a diamond pin, and your sister a new silk dress, and you'd give Dad the swellest pipe there was!

And everybody would admire you because you were so kind, and good, and brave, 'n' honest, 'n' noble, 'n' handsome, 'n' smart, 'n' tidy, 'n' rich, 'n' powerful. Yes, everybody would just bust with admiration!

Some day! What wonderful dreams they were, when you were fifteen! And how you smile over them now, looking back through the years!

BUT DO YOU REALLY HAVE TO LOOK BACK SO VERY FAR? HAVE YOU TRULY OUTGROWN THOSE FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD DREAMS OF THAT MAGIC SOME DAY LAND?

Millions of human beings haven't. Millions of us stay fifteen all the days of our life. And the adolescent dreams, that were touching and silly and lovable at fifteen, harden into the vicious habits of twenty-five and thirty-five and fifty.

For it's so easy to postpone action until "some day" time; so easy to wait until we "get the right breaks."

That letter you were going to write your mother—

That little check you were going to send your Dad—

That course of study you were going to take—

That kind word you were going to say—

That bad habit you were going to break—

That old quarrel you were going to heal—

How many months, or years, have you had these things in mind?

Some day, when you got around to them, when you had time, when things broke right, you were going to do all these things.

But they've never been done yet! And they never will be done if you wait for "some day."

For that perfectly convenient some day will never come. Things will never break just right. There will always be some hitch, some handicap, some reason for not getting busy. You will never find the perfect place and the perfect time and the perfect opportunity. They don't happen in this imperfect world.

And the test of a man's maturity is his realization of this fact. A child waits for some day. The really mature man doesn't.

The mature man takes his world as he finds it and adapts his need to it. He makes the best of things while the making is good. He pays his debts as he goes along.

Don't wait for some day!

Live your good intentions now!

(Copyright, 1932, for the Boston Evening American.)

By Edgar A. Guest

Just Folks

Things

We build our hopes on this and that and spend our time and strength for things.
We want the chair with golden rungs to own the touch of pride it brings.
We must have all the modern gear, the newest clocks, the latest books,
Brass ornaments beside the hearth! For service? Not at all! For looks!
Things crack the whip about our ears and drive us at our fastest pace.
We wear the bit of luxury; the bridle rein of silk and lace,
The saddle of possession's urge; our flanks the spur of fashion stings
And day by day and week by week we all obey the whim of things.
Things fair to see or good to own, things made for use or loveliness,
Have come to be the rule by which we measure failure and success.
In things of silver and of gold and marble of exquisite shape
Mankind has found a slavery, which none of us can quite escape.

(Copyright, 1932, Edgar A. Guest.)

Daily Bible Text—

"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the House of the Lord."—Psalm cxxii, 1.

By the Rev. C. V. Russell, All Saints Church, Methuen. Next text by the Rev. I. W. Williamson, Tremont Temple, Boston.

Hearst Papers Advocate

1—The five billion dollar loan to relieve unemployment and put billions of dollars into immediate circulation.

2—Adoption of 5 per cent sales tax and reduction in income taxes, releasing income to finance industry.

3—Immediate modification of the Volstead act, permitting light wines and beers, reviving industry and employment, providing government income, ending racketeering and restoring American personal liberty.

'Hold on to Hoover' Until You Sink

By Claude G. Bowers

IF ANYTHING were lacking to show the desperate fears of the regime in power in Washington it is shown in the claque over the Des Moines speech of Mr. Hoover, so transparently organized.

The Hoover writers sat with their pencils poised over the paper; the press was prepared with interviews from such ardent champions of the average man as Jim Watson; and columns are being written to convince us that, after all, he who was to "eliminate poverty," give us a "chicken in every pot," "maintain the standard of living for the workingman" and "put agriculture on a par with industry" is the "miracle man" he was painted four years ago.

But it is just too bad that at this juncture, in the midst of the claque, the stock market suffered "the severest reaction since October" with stocks declining two to eight points the day after; and that private charity should announce that there are 1,250,000 jobless men in New York City alone—an increase of hundreds of thousands since the last appeal for funds was made.

* * *

Falsehood Is a Poor Straw to Grab

As we pointed out before, Mr. Hoover in his "marvelous speech," which the claque knew would be "marvelous" before it had been written, did not scruple to misrepresent facts. When he told the farmers that the Democrats proposed to drop the duties on farm products he must have misrepresented deliberately; for the Democrat platform makes no such pledge, and Mr. Roosevelt, at Sioux City, as Mr. Hoover well knew, said specifically the opposite.

Some Republican papers editorialized on Roosevelt's opposite statement, and Mr. Hoover must have known the truth when he deliberately stated that which is not true.

A drowning man notoriously will grasp at a straw to save himself, but falsehood is a poor straw at which to grab.

* * *

Few Men Have Been Given Jobs

Equally unfair and untruthful in their implications were Hoover's attacks on the public construction measures urged by the Democrats in House and Senate to put men to work. He calls the House measure a "pork barrel," and implies, of course, that indefensible projects were included in the bill.

And the truth is that not a single project was in the bill which had not been passed upon and approved by the Hoover Administration. And the truth is no program of public work would have been adopted but for the fight made by the Democrats in Congress under the leadership of Wagner and against the bitter opposition of Mr. Hoover himself.

Having been forced to yield, because of the desperate appeals of welfare workers and the rising indignation of the people, the same Mr. Hoover, who notoriously opposed everything of the sort until compelled to surrender, now has the temerity to claim credit for the "pork barrel" that should have put men to work long ago.

We say "should" because it is also notorious that the Hoover Administration refused to turn a wheel to take advantage of the opportunity to put men to work through the instrumentality of the Democratic Wagner bill he had tried to kill.

It was not until ten weeks after work could have been commenced and men put on wages that Mr. Hoover agreed to start; and he did not agree to start until Senator Wagner had exposed the do-nothing policy in frequent statements and speeches.

And Al Smith calls our attention to the fact that even now few men have been given jobs. What arrogance, what effrontery, for Mr. Hoover to peer at the very measure for which he claims credit.

* * *

Mr. Hoover Will Know What Is Meant

It was at Fort Wayne that Mr. Hoover spoke of "sportsmanship" in politics and deprecated "harsh personalities." A few million people with memories reaching back to 1928 will recall the kind of "sportsmanship" which characterized the Hoover campaign, and the kind of "personalities" spread through the national committee with the knowledge and unquestionably with the consent of the leader regarding Al Smith.

These "personalities" had nothing to do with Al Smith's public record; Mr. Hoover will know what is meant.

The attacks upon Mr. Hoover are upon the policies and the public record of the President on which he is asking a vindication. His committee is putting out a slogan —"Hold on to Hoover"—which is about as antiquated and amusing in the light of what has happened to those who held on to Hoover, as "Prosperity at Home and Prestige Abroad." To attack that record is not to indulge in personalities. The attacks are on the head of the Administration under which we have descended to such depths of human misery as we never have known before.

* * *

Lost the Confidence of the People

If Mr. Hoover has lost the confidence of the people; if there is more resentment of him than of any other President in history, it is because the people have concluded—on the record—that he has not played fair with them.

They have not forgotten the unprecedentedly reckless and grotesque promises and statements with which he won their support in 1928. Business had been put upon the basis of "permanent prosperity" by the Mellon regime; and Mr. Hoover was going to "eliminate poverty." And poverty that threatened starvation came to millions immediately in the wake of his induction into office.

Even then they were not ready to condemn that they had voted for a mythical man who did not exist.

It has required three years of unfair dealing with the public, of misrepresentation of conditions by Mr. Hoover utterly to deprive him of the confidence of the people.

He misrepresented business conditions instead of warning the public until the moment the crash came; they resent it.

He misrepresented and sought to conceal the state of unemployment for two years; they resent it.

He bitterly fought the Wagner measures for the relief of the jobless: they resent it.

He yielded to Joe Grundy, the notorious lobbyist, who had "raised a million dollars" for his election, over the protest of economists and business men on the prohibitive tariff act which has driven away the best customers we ever had; they resent it.

He, too, transparently stood for the power combines against the people; they resent it.

He opposed all proposals to use Federal money to supplement the absolute requirements of local communities for the prevention of the starvation of children until every welfare organization in the land was lined up against him; they resent it.

There is a firm conviction that his Administration has an understanding with the debtor nations about the foreign loans, and is deceiving the people now; and they resent it.

This resentment of Mr. Hoover is not made by party tactics; the Democrats control too few of the agencies of publicity for that; they have too little money to spend on that; and this resentment comes from the grass roots—the people themselves who feel they have been betrayed and have not been served. He decided long ago under which flag he would serve—and it is not the flag of the average man.

(Copyright, 1932.)